GALA TIME COMING FOR ODD FELLOWS

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS FOR GATHERING AT PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, Aug. 25.—The eighty-first annual communication of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., to be held in this city September 18 to 23, promises to surpass in splendor and importance all previous demonstrations of the order.

Perhaps the most brilliant event of the week, from a spectacular standpoint, will be the grand parade of the order on the third Tuesday of September, the 19th, in which the Patriarchs Militant, the military branch of Odd Fellowship, will form a conspicuous part.

Probably not less than 5,000 chevaliers will take part in this display, while the encampments, subordinate lodges and Rebekah lodges will contribute their share to form the marching hosts.

Present indications show that of the 1,125 lodges in Pennsylvania, at least one-half the number will send large delegations to swell the line of the parade, while equal enthusiasm is shown by the jurisdiction of New Jersey, and her numerous lodges, encampments and cantons will doubtless represent a conspicuous division of the imposing exposition.

The general commanding the Patriarchs Militant, M. A. Raney, of Marengo, Iowa, has been for months putting forth herculean labors in stirring up the interest of his department and his reports of the executive committee indicate the greatest outpouring of the uniformed rank of the order ever before seen at a session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge. From every State in the Union, wherever the banners of Odd Fellowship float over canton headquarters, will come regiments and divisions, companies and brigades, and it is more than probable that Philadelphia has never seen a like demonstration by a fraternal organization.

Of the Sovereign Grand Lodge itself, there are 217 members of the order composing it, consisting of officers, past officers and duly elected representatives from the different jurisdictions. These with their wives and relatives will swell the number to probably 600 persons directly associated with the sovereign body. The headquarters will be at the Bellevue-Stratford, while the sessions of the Sovereign Grand Lodge will be held at the Temple, Broad and Cherry streets.

The programme for the week promises many notable events besides the parade. The Second Regiment armory, Broad and Susquehanna avenue, has been secured as the headquarters of the Patriarchs Militant. Here will be held the numerous prize drills by the cantons, as well as the exemplification of the Patriarchs Militant work and the grand decoration of chivalry, to be followed by a splendid military ball in the evening and the decoration of chivalry conferred upon ladies.

The exemplification of the degree work of the order in the various branches, including the encampments, lodges and Rebekah lodges, will be an important event of the week and will occupy the first three days. These exhibitions will take place at Lulu Temple, Broad and Spring Garden streets, and the many handsome prizes offered has stimulated the interest of a host of degree staffs from various jurisdictions.

The State Grand Lodge has appropriated $10,000 for expenses incident to this session for entertainment, and there is no question that the sum will be expended in the most practical way for the "good of the order." A general circular will soon be issued giving all details concerning the events of the week, accommodations at the hotels, etc. An official souvenir is also being prepared in the form of a book handsomely printed and bound.

The general committee having in charge the entire arrangements for the session is as follows: Charles Chaffant, Joseph H. Mackey, Edward C. Deans, M. Richards Muckle, Samuel A. Steel, Cleon Gicquelais, Henry Steuernagel, Hermann W. Roller, W. Edward Marsh, Philip J. Vetter, George Hawkes, Peter Fritz, Samuel McKeever, Usher A. Hall, Robert Graham, J. Harvey Beitel, Wilson K. Mohr, Amos H. Hall, George F. Young, David E. Dale, William H. Kiess, H. Henry Hughes, W. Oscar Miller, Thomas F. Gross, A. D. McIlhaney, Jesse S. Batroff, A. J. Andrews, Henry C. Moore, Louis Sulka, Eugene Dunning, M. E. Chubbuck, Thomas J. Murtha, George H. Banes, William E. Gross, B. H. Hart, Andrew B. Wallace.

ROCK OF GIBRALTAR ARRIVES AT THE INSURANCE COMPANY'S HOME OFFICE

The Prudential Insurance Company of America, well known for its world-famed trade mark, "The Prudential Has the Strength of Gibraltar," has just received, at its Home Office, in Newark N. J., a great slice of the rock from the famous English fortress on the Mediterranean.

By arrangement with the American consul at Gibraltar, R. L. Sprague, this rock was quarried from the parent rock and forwarded to America on the North German Lloyd steamer "Koenig Albert," with certificate from the Admiralty Contractor at Gibraltar to prove its authenticity. Photographs showing the place from which the rock was cut out from Gibraltar have also been received by The Prudential.

The employes of The Prudential have a feeling of sentiment for the Rock of Gibraltar, the use of which as a trade mark they feel has been largely instrumental in bringing about, through good advertising, increased popularity for The Prudential, and a public appreciation of the Scope and Strength of the Company, resulting from its Progressive and, at the same time, Conservative administration.

The Prudential selected Gibraltar as its trade mark because of the great and renowned strength of that famous fortress. The rock which came to America is of grayish-white limestone of such an unusually dense and compact mass, and offering such difficulties to the stone cutter, that the judgment of The Prudential officials in selecting Gibraltar as a trade mark is well verified.

The English authorities at Gibraltar readily gave their consent to sending the Rock to The Prudential, and the only cost involved was that covering the shipment. Small portions of the Rock will be sent out as souvenirs to certain of the Company's employes.

NOTICE!

"In behalf of your proprietary article called AZIENZA CREAM, as a remedy for diseases of the skin, I desire to add my appreciation of its wonderful properties as a cure in a case of Bone Tumor or Abscess of five years growth on my husband's back, which I have cured in less than five weeks time by constant application, and now it is as well as any part of his body. It was cut out once by a specialist and had again grown to a large size, was as hard as a bone and of a very dark purple color. The AZIENZA at once allayed the pain and began to soften it, and in less than eight days, by my pressure upon it, suddenly to my surprise it discharged a quantity of pus, impregnated with a hard, cheesy substance. I kept it open and cleansed it as it discharged and every day would dress it with a plaster of AZIENZA CREAM, until it was entirely healed up. I cannot speak too highly of AZIENZA CREAM and its merits. For inquiry regarding this case you may apply Mr. and Mrs. James, Embury Ave., care Hiller, Ocean Grove, N. J. FOR THE GENTLER SEX

SIGNS OF THE SEASONS.

When the maiden meandering down by the ocean,
And hikes for home with a shivery motion,
We know it's Fall.

When the shivering, shuddering fits o'ertakes us
And pierce our souls with an icy splinter,
And the blasts of Boreas rudely rake us,
We know it's Winter.

When the young man's fancy fondly lingers
And the peaky poet begins to sing,
And the imps of indolence fret our fingers,
We know it's Spring.

When the wandering, wearliness William wendeth
His wobbly way as a boozy bummer
On the railroad route that never endeth,

WHAT FASHION DICTATES.

Chiffon velvets will be used on fall dresses.

Among the successful dress novelties will be a new changeable velvet in three shades called scarabee.

The mixture of materials of every varying texture as a trimming will also be a whim of the coming season.

Cloth encrusted on voile or on lace is among the charming effects.

The tailor-made suit will look less custom made because of the braid to be used for trimming.

The shortwaisted effect is carried out in the fashionable garments for street wear.

The old-fashioned vivid tones, such as violet, indgio blue, cherry and old gold, have reappeared, but their use has not been carried to excess.

There is no end of pretty chemisettes. Those shown in the shops are very expensive.

The close-fitting bodice now fashionable has created a demand for tailor-fitting underwear.

FOR CHILDREN.

Dont' flaunt your worldly possessions and social prestige before poor children who are forced to live humbly. Remember that they would occupy better positions were it in taeir power to do so.

Don't laugh at the misfortunes of others, nor turn to ridicule another child's stupidity. Dullness of intellect is a curse of birth and the child so handicapped should rouse your deepest sympathy and receive from you any assistance it is possible for you to render.

Don't make light of another's disfigurements. The child who must go through life with a harelip or crossed eyes is truly an object to solicit out pity.

Don't destroy life wantonly. Kill no harmless bird, insect or animal for the mere pleasure (?) of taking life. Cruel boys and girls are disliked by their fellows and grow up to be unsuccessful men and women.

Don't mistake arrogance of manner and loudness of speech for ease and independence. Those who thrust themselves on the attention of the public belong to the vulgar.

Don't think it smart to "show off." That sort of conduct is excusable only in the monkey.

Don't think you know more than your elders do. They have gone over the same road you are now traveling and know all its pitfalls.

STUDIES OF THE VERNACULAR.

IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1904, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company).

Oh, Mag, did you ever see the man—ugly as a cannibal he may be and old as the cannibal's great-grandfather—that couldn't be persuaded he was a lady-killer?

His manner changed altogether. He plumped down on the lounge and patted the place beside him invitingly, giving me a wink that was deadly.

"But, Mrs. Dowager!" I exclaimed, coquettishly.

"Oh, that's all right, little one! She hasn't even missed me yet. When she's playing bridge she forgets even to be jealous."

"Playing bridge," I murmured, sweetly, "'way off in Philadelphia, while you, you naughty man—"

Oh, he loved that!

"Not so naughty as—as I'd like to be," he bellowed, heavily witty. "And she isn't 'way off in Philadelphia either. She's just round the corner at Mrs. Gates', and—what's the matter?"

"Nothing—nothing. Did she recognize me?"

"Oh, that's what scared you, is it? She didn't recognize you. Neither did I, till I got that second glimpse of you with your hat and jacket on. But even if she had—ho! ho! ho! I say; do you know, you couldn't convince the bishop and Henrietta, if you'd talk till doomsday, that that red coat and hat we advertised weren't taken by a little girl that was daffy. Fact; I swear it! They admit you took the coat, you little witch, but it was when you were out of your mind—of course—of course! 'The very fact that she left the coat behind her and took nothing else from the house shows a mind diseased,' insisted Henrietta. Of course—of course! 'And her coming for no reason at all to your house,' adds the Bishop. . . . Say, what was the reason?"

Maggie, I'll tell you a hard thing: it isn't when people think worse of you than you are, but better, that you pink earth-stars they are, the sweet, feel most uncomfortable. I got pale and sick inside of me at the thought of my poor little bishop. I loved him for believing me straight and—

"I've been dying of curiosity to know—what was in your wise little head that day," he went on. "Oh, it was wise all right; that wink you gave me was perfectly sane; there was method in that madness of yours."

"I will tell you, Mr. Ramsay," I said, sweetly, "at supper."

"Supper!"

His bellowing laughter filled the place. Maggie, our little flat and our few things don't go well with sounds like that.

"Oh, you're all alike, you women!" he roared. "All right, supper it is. Where shall we go—Rector's?"

I pouted.

"Oh, they do! Well, tell 'em to begin sending."

I thought he'd follow me out in the hall to the 'phone, but he was having some trouble in pulling out his purse—to count out his money, I suppose. I got Central and asked for the number. Oh, yes, I knew it all right; I had called up that same number once, already, to-day. Brophy's? Why, Maggie Monahan, you ought to know there's no Brophy's. At least none that I ever heard about.

"ALL RIGHT, SUPPER IT IS."

With my hand over the mouthpiece, so that nobody heard but Edward, I ordered a supper fit for a king—or a chorus girl! What didn't I order! Champagne, broiled lobster, crab meat, stuffed pimentoes, kirschkaffee—everything I'd ever heard Beryl Blackburn tell about.

"Say, say," interrupted Edward, coming out after me. "That's enough of that stuff. Tell him to send in a Scotch and soda and—what—"

For at that moment the connection was made and I cut in sweetly with:

"Mrs. Edward Ramsay?—just a minute."

Mag, you should have seen the man's face! It was red, it was white; it was furious, it was frightened.

I put my hand a moment over the mouthpiece and turned on him then. "I've got her on the 'phone at Mrs. Gates' house. Shall I tell your wife where you are, Edward? . . . Just a moment, Mrs. Ramsay, hold the wire; some one wants to speak with you."

"You little devil!" His voice was thick with rage.

"Yes, you called me that some time ago, but not in that tone. Quick, now—the door or . . . Waiting, Mrs. Ramsay?"

He moved toward the door.

"How'll I know you won't tell her when I'm gone?" he growled.

"Merely by my saying that I won't," I answered, curtly. "You're in no position to dictate terms; I am."

But I could, without leaving the 'phone, latch the chain on the door behind him, leaving it half open. So he must have heard the rest.

"Yes, Mrs. Ramsay, waiting." I croaked like the driest kind of hello-girl. "I was mistaken. It was a message left to be delivered to you—not some one wanting to speak with you. Who am I? Why, this is Central. Here is the message: 'Will be with you in half an hour.' Signed 'Edward.' . . . Yes, that's right. thank you. Good night."

I hung up, gave the door a touch that shut it in his face and went back into the dining-room to throw open the windows. The place smelled of alcohol; the moral atmosphere left behind by that bad old man sickened me.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Contrary to the general opinion in Mexico and abroad, President Diaz is not a very wealthy man. Intimate friends of the Mexican executive, who have knowledge of his affairs, declare that his fortune does not exceed $1,000,000. The salary of President Diaz is $50,000 a year. He is now serving his twenty-fifth year as President.

Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States Supreme Court, was mistaken for an itinerant German musician at the Savoy Hotel, London, recently, and given a poor room on that account.

A. S. Barnes, of Elkins, W. Va., is in point of service the oldest railway postal clerk in the employ of this government. He was born in Connellsville, Pa., and has served under every President since Lincoln.

Mr. Cleveland has survived his entire first Cabinet, with the exception of Mr. Vilas.

The center man of the whole population of the United States is Henry Marr, a farmer, who lives near Columbus, Bartholomew county, Ind. The Census Bureau has found that the exact center of population at the census of 1900 was on his farm, in latitude 39 degrees 9 minutes 30 seconds north, and longitude 85 degrees 48 minutes 54 seconds west. The spot has been marked by a monument.

T. W. Davis is the champion bicyclist of his age in the world. He is 77 years old and has ridden 107,781 miles on his bicycle. He began riding at the age of 61.

The Duke of Atholl, a Scotch peer, holds nineteen titles, and possesses the privilege of presenting a cast of falcons to his sovereign at the coronation. When the reigning monarch visits Blair Atholl, ancient usage decrees that the Duke of Atholl, on bended knee, should present a white rose to his royal guest. When the Atholl meeting takes place, in early autumn, the duke marches at the head of his clansmen in true feudal fashion.

Mrs. Abbie Gardener Sharp, the sole survivor of the Spirit Lake massacre of 1857, is living at Pillsbury's Point, Lake Okoboji, Iowa.

Because Professor P. G. Holden, of the Iowa Agricultural College, induced the farmers of his State in large numbers to select for seed purposes only the most perfect kernels and to adopt scientific methods of preparing the ground for planting and tillage afterward, he is credited with having added 100,000,000 bushels to Iowa's last corn crop.

Paul Kester, the playwright, has bought the ancient Augill Castle, near Kirkby Stephen, Westmoreland, England, for $15,000, including a ghost which is reputed to stalk about the rooms accompanied by moving lights.

If a Chinese dies while being tried for murder the fact of his dying is taken as evidence of his guilt. He has departed, but somebody must suffer, and his eldest son, if he has one, is therefore sent to prison for a year. If he has no son, then his father or brother gets a flogging. It's all in the family, and somebody has to pay for it.

Several French scientists, including Joseph Jaubert, the expert meteorologist, and Comte Henri de la Vaulx, will ascend in a balloon at Burgos, Spain, to witness the eclipse of August 30.

Layor Poplegir, who has lived in three centuries, being 107 years old, recently passed through Liverpool on his way home from Canada, where he has been on a farewell visit to his three sons, the eldest of whom is more than 80 years of age. The centenarian shows remarkable mental and physical vigor. From London he intends to proceed to Jerusalem, where he hopes to end his days.

AMUSEMENTS

The triumphs of the Carnival will find their echoes at various times during the coming week at Pain's Port Arthur, Manhattan Beach. Of the special nights Monday will as usual be for the children and several of the Sunday-schools in the neighborhood have organized to take the children over, and there will be a lot of new and funny pieces for them. Kings County Council, National Union, will have an evening on Tuesday, and on Thursday and Saturday there will be extra large programmes.

Petite Jessie Mae Hall, the comedienne, who will appear at the Plainfield theatre tonight in her interesting musical drama, "The Street Singer," has a remarkable career to recommend her to theatregoers. Although still very young, she has been almost constantly before the public since she was three years of age. The pleasant place she has won in the hearts of her admirers by the happy combination of a pretty face, a fascinating manner, a pleasing voice, her graceful dancing and acting, and musical ability, bids fair to remain, and her admiring friends predict a successful season on Broadway for this little star in the very near future. B. E. Forrester, her manager for the next five years, decided to place her before the public this season in a novelty drama entitled "The Street Singer," and from all reports it is one of the season's huge successes.

Editor W. W. St. John has returned from a pleasure trip in New York State.

Mrs. Edward Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, is visiting Mrs. Leander Lovell, of Westport, Mass.

DIAMOND DUST.

Another record game of baseball was played yesterday at Philadelphia between Philadelphia and the Chicago Nationals. It took twenty innings to decide the contest and Chicago won by a score of 2 to 1. Philadelphia scored its only run in the thirteenth inning, while Chicago scored one in the same inning and one in the twentieth. A feature of the contest was that Chance, first baseman of the Chicagos, had thirty put-outs, half the number credited to his team. Sparks and Ruelbach were the opposing pitchers, eighteen hits being made off the former's delivery, and thirteen off the Chicagoan. It required four hours to play the game.

GOLF.

After reaching the semi-final play in the golf tournament of the Misquamicut Club, of Watch Hill, R. I., Robert Abbott, of this city, representing Yale, met defeat at the hands of P. M. Byers, by 3 up and 2 to play. Abbott was successful in the third round, beating C. A. Pope by 3 up and 1 to play, and he was paired with Byers in the semi-finals. Both played good golf and they had a large gallery following them. The many friends of Abbott confidently expected that he would be successful in the tournament and win out, but they were disappointed.

P. M. Byers and W. C. Carnegie, both of Pittsburg, are in the final play today.

MENTAL ANGUISH—$5,000.

Elizabeth Girl After Recreant Lover for that Amount.

Elizabeth, Aug. 25.—Miss Alice Kinchler, of this city, has sued George Stoffiette, of 477 Monroe avenue, for $5,500 damages for breach of promise of marriage.

Miss Kinchler sets forth in her declaration that on December 15, 1903, Stoffiette asked her to become his wife and that she accepted him. Some time later she went to much trouble and expense in the preparation of her trousseau, which cost her $500. This item is included in the $5,500. The other $5,000 is for mental anguish and for injury to her social standing because she was jilted.

She declares that she was also prevented from becoming the wife of another man.

She says that she is still willing to accept Stoffiette as a husband if he wishes to make good his promise. Stoffiette has given $4,000 bail before Supreme Court Commissioner Robert E. Chetwood to await trial.

Saved on Brink of Dam.

Bound Brook, Aug. 25.—A party of young people, including a young woman from New Brunswick, had a narrow escape from being dashed to death over the dam in the Raritan River, near Bound Brook, Wednesday.

Fred Koechlin, of Bound Brook, was rowing the party. When near the dam his oars caught in some unseen object and were jerked out of his hands. The current at this point of the river is exceedingly swift, and the boat was swept down the river. The women in the party were panic stricken, seeing certain death before them.

Just before the dam was reached the boat struck a log, which saved the occupants. The young man and his assistants managed to get the boat near the shore, and the thoroughly frightened and half-fainting young women were carried ashore.

Going to Europe.

Robert Pruden, of East Second street, who has been spending some time in Northern New York for the benefit of his health, sailed for Europe today from Montreal, Canada. He will travel through parts of Wales, and visit London and Paris, returning to this country about October 1. His stay in New York has improved his health greatly and he expects to return home completely restored.

Funeral of Wesley S. Dunn.

The funeral services of Wesley Starbuck Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Johnson Dunn, were held from the home of the parents in Westervelt avenue, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. E. V. Stevenson, of Grace church, officiated. The interment was in Hillside cemetery.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Herbert Case, the precentor at the First Baptist church, during the absence of the regular choir, is doing excellent work which is appreciated. He generally sings at least one solo every Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Henry E. Mott, of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, will occupy the pulpit of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. He will also preach on Sunday morning and evening, September 3.

The pulpit at the Crescent Avenue church will be supplied on Sunday morning by Rev. Henry Elliott Mott, D. D., of Westminster church, Elizabeth. The offering will be for the benefit of the American Bible Society. No evening services are being held during August.

The preacher at the First Baptist church on Sunday is Rev. Hervey Wood, of the National Temperance Society. It is said by those well acquainted with him that he has no equal in a vigorous putting of the truth on the liquor traffic. "If all temperance advocates kept nearer the lines followed by Mr. Wood," one of his admirers says, "the great cause would be redeemed from the disrespect into which it has fallen so often."

CLOSED PORTALS.

The Women's Relief Corps will meet tonight and consider several matters of importance.

On Labor Day afternoon there is to be a flag raising at the new public school building in Cranford, and the members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. throughout the county will have charge of the exercises. Franklin, Somerset and Benevolent Councils, of this city, have been invited and will send large delegations, as will also the other councils throughout the county. The local members will make the trip by trolley. The flag to be raised on the school building is to be presented by the Cranford Council, and an attractive programme has been prepared.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Whitfield Dower, of East Fifth street, was removed to the hospital yesterday for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Van Arsdale, of Washington, D. C., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. August Powlison, of Somerset street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Symons, of Westerly, R. I., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Symons' father, P. H. Latourette, of East Fifth street.

The Misses Edith Glaentzer and Amy Moore, of New street, have returned to their duties at the local telephone office after a week's vacation spent in Northern New York State.

HIS MANY AFFLICTIONS.

Asbury Man Has Had More Than His Share.

Asbury Park, Aug. 25.—J. Ehimer Willever is critically ill with dropsy and heart disease at his home in Asbury and the family has abandoned hope of recovery. Mr. Willever has had his full measure of affliction during his lifetime. He has been a cripple for nine years and blind for the past four years. His afflictions were due to the fact that he attempted to thaw out some sticks of dynamite in his kitchen stove, an explosion resulting.

Mr. Willever was sitting in front of the stove waiting for the dynamite to thaw and he was badly injured by the explosion. His right arm was blown off and the sight of one eye destroyed and his hearing was affected so that he has since been deaf.

Dived From Asbury Casino; Dying.

Asbury Park, Aug. 25.—Frank Markey, of New London, Conn., aged 25 years, stage carpenter with "The Seminary Girl" company, which appeared at the Casino here last night, dived from the top of the Casino late yesterday afternoon into a foot and half of water, and striking on his head was rendered unconscious. He weighs 190 pounds. Life guards brought him ashore, and when he revived it was found that he was paralyzed, being unable to move any part of his body except one arm. He was taken to the Long Branch hospital and may die.

NEW THEATRE OPENS

heartily and continually. I feel that I can pledge in Mr. Counihan's behalf that every representation made by him will be carried out to the letter.

"We must not overlook the happy omens that attend this performance. In the first place, dear old Somerset, of her own volition, has come over and annexed herself to Union county. To her county chairman and his fellows we extend a right royal welcome and urge them to repeat the operation often. Whether it was due to Divine Providence or the sagacity of Mr. Counihan, we are especially fortunate in having for our initial performance George Ade's masterpiece of political wisdom. In these troublous days in Plainfield, when political clubs are as thick as the dews from heaven, when father is arrayed against son, and brother against bother; when grandpa has his knife out for the whole bunch, there are many valuable lessons to be learned from 'The County Chairman,' and I hope and pray as a result thereof there may be but one political pasture in Plainfield, where the roaring lion may lie down with the bleating lamb and the ebullient calf play fearlessly with the wicked goat."

Within a few seconds after Judge Runyon concluded and withdrew amid another enthusiastic outburst, the curtain arose and the first real dramatic performance seen in Plainfield in five years was on. From the very moment that the general store and favorite lounging place of the village of Antioch was revealed, "The County Chairman" scored a hit. The play is one of the best of its class on the American stage, and it carried the audience by an overwhelming majority. There is not a dull moment in it and it proved particularly appropriate because of the turbulent condition of local and county politics at the present time. The various members of the cast came in for frequent applause and George Thatcher, Plainfield's former resident, received an ovation. When he came upon the stage as "Sassafras Livingston" it seemed as if every person in the house had known him for years and was bent on giving him a welcome home. The play was interrupted while he bowed incessantly from left to right, but he made no further acknowledgment.

The only part of the stage mechanism that did not work as the performance progressed was the curtain, which had not been hung until 7 o'clock. It sagged slightly in being lowered, but did not make any material trouble. The weights have since been adjusted and it is now in perfect order. The play lasted until 11:45 and at the close a large part of the audience remained to inspect the house, and were escorted about by Manager Counihan and his representatives. There are many additional touches in decorations to be made before Mr. Counihan will be prepared to say that the theatre is in a full state of completion, but they will be accomplished without interfering with coming attractions.

A feature of the house which escaped observation until last night was the main entrance and lobby. The latter is finished in buff decorations and frieze work overhead studded with incandescent lights. The floor is tiled in a striking pattern effect. Large palms and plants placed about it last night added to its appearance and gave the patrons a pleasant feeling of cosiness.

The work on the theatre and materials furnished were by the following: Architects—Fuller Claflin Co., New York. Carpenters—Kenover & Scully, Atlantic City. Mason and Plasterer—William C. Smith, Plainfield. Decorating and Painting—Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield. Carpets and Draperies—Shirley & Johnson, Plainfield. Skylights and Roofing—William Jones. Upholstering—A. J. Stiglitz. Electrical Effects, etc.—Laing & Craig, Plainfield. Chairs—American Furniture Company, Grand Rapids, Mich. Box Chairs—John Wanamaker, New York. Florist—Charles Stanley, Plainfield. Brick—Albert Rajotte, Dunellen. Lumber, Masons' Materials, etc.—Boice, Runyon & Company, Plainfield.

Little Girl Entertains.

Renewing interrupted companionships, Marion Linbarger, the ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. John Linbarger, of Brooklyn, entertained a number of young folks at the home of her aunt, Mrs. P. A. McVoy, of East Front street, yesterday afternoon. The Linbargers spend the summer here every year, and the reunion party for Marion has been a feature of their stay for several years.

JERSEY BOSSES TO TAKE BACK SEATS

REPUBLICANS THINK IT TIME FOR THEM TO KEEP IN THE REAR.

Trenton, Aug. 25.—Longheaded Republican politicians believe that this is a year when it would be wise for the party to keep bosses and rings in the rear.

If they are allowed to push themselves forward in controlling primaries and conventions and in making of nominations, it will very likely be resented by the voters and bring disaster to the ticket.

The power and impudence of rings and bosses have been growing in the Republican party of this State of late years, and the people have been getting restless under it. Last year resentment could not be shown because the Presidency and other great political interests were at stake.

But this year the situation is entirely different. There is nothing to elect but the Legislature and some county and municipal officials.

This leaves the people free to indulge their independence and to settle their scores with the bosses.

The rule of these bosses and machines has in many counties become so absolute of late years that the holding of county conventions is an empty show and a burlesque upon government by the people.

The nominations to important public offices are not made by the representatives of the party chosen by the voters at the primaries. They are picked out in advance and stamped for approval by the boss or the machine. The county convention almost invariably accepts the ring branded candidates, because the delegates are also ring marked and the primaries are run by the ring lieutenants.

The candidates for many important public offices have already been picked out by the machines in many parts of the State, while in others they are now casting about for the men on whose shoulders to place the mantle of ring indorsement.

But there is a rising spirit of revolt against this bossism in several counties, notably Essex, against Boss Lentz.

There is nothing so important at stake this year, many people feel, as this issue of boss rule, and they purpose to take the opportunity to put the bosses out of business. There is every reason to believe that the independent voter will be very much in evidence all over New Jersey this year.

Chidsey Sale Date Set.

A meeting of the creditors of the Chidsey Free Delivery was held in the office of Receiver R. W. Lewis, of the Union County Trust Company, at Elizabeth, yesterday, when arrangements were completed for the sale of the entire contents of the stables operated by John M. Chidsey. The sale will take place next Monday at the Chidsey stables, Prince street and Irvington avenue, Elizabeth.

Big Industry for Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, Aug. 25.—The American Bronze Company has begun the erection of a big plant in this city. The building, which is located on Magnolia avenue, adjoining the Jenkins Rubber Works, will be 300 by 100 feet, and one and a half stories high. The industry will furnish employment to several hundred hands.

Car Mangles Fighting Dog.

Too intent on the battle to hear the approach of the car, a cocker spaniel and a fox terrior were run down by a Fourth street trolley while fighting in the tracks at Spooner avenue yesterday morning. The spaniel was so badly injured that it had to be shot. The terrior escaped with a thump from the fender. The spaniel was owned by Dennis Kilbride, of West Fourth street.

SHOULD WIVES HAVE SECRETS?

As husband and wife are one, they should have no secrets one from another. A wife can never rightly and safely do anything which she would not like her husband to know. She may forget to tell him a thing, or it may seem to her too trivial to be worth speaking of, but she should have nothing in her life which is intentionally hidden from him. The only secrets which she may rightly keep from him are other people's, but of these she should hear as few as possible. Confidences thrust upon her without her consent she is not bound to respect, and she should be very careful to whom she gives her word not to repeat anything which may be told her. It is a safe plan when asked to keep a secret to say: "Don't tell me if you would mind my telling my husband," and if the friend who would confide in her is a man, she should do so as a matter of duty.

May Race Motor Cycle.

Charles Fuchs, of Liberty street, a one-time bicycle enthusiast who has transferred his ardor to motorcycling, said this morning that he was thinking of entering the power races at Vailsburg next Saturday with his Indian whizzer. Fuchs is an expert in handling the gasoline bikes, and can almost make his machine jump fences.

Mrs. Rogers Increases Her Lead.

In the weekly competition for the Gaston cup at the Plainfield Country Club yesterday afternoon, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers won the first three points with a net score of 90, and Miss Daisy Elsberg won two points with a 92. They were the only contestants. The scores: Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, 87, plus 3—90; Miss Daisy Elsberg, 105, 13—92.

Miss Williams Captures Audience.

Miss Zenaide Williams, who played the part of "Lorena Watkins, the flirtatious milliner," in "The County Chairman" last night, in private life is Mrs. George Thatcher. She is a decidedly pretty young woman and captured the audience with her clever portrayal of the part.

Caught Big Bass.

In a letter sent to a friend, Counsellor F. J. Blatz, who went to Lake Hopatcong, Monday, boasts of a notable angling feat on the Lake the day after he arrived at the resort. He landed three large bass, one of them being the biggest caught there in six weeks, and nearly the record size for the season.

A NEW TOWN AT PICTON

Company Incorporated at $125,000 to Develop Big Tract of Land.

WORK STARTED.

Engineer VanEmburgh, of This City, Making Preliminary Surveys—Handsome Homes to be Erected.

Back of the incorporation of the Picton Realty Company, which filed articles with the Secretary of State this week, is a scheme to start a new town at what is now known as Picton. The organization is capitalized at $125,000 and it has already acquired the greater part of the property needed for the purpose. The incorporators are William Bloodgood and Mulford Scudder, of Picton, and William J. Taylor, formerly of this city, who developed Netherwood property a few years ago.

Joseph D. Plumb, a promotor, who is now stopping at Van Court Inn, Roselle, has taken the initiative in the matter, and is planning to hustle the improvements along. H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer, of this city, has been making the preliminary surveys and the work of laying the farm lands into streets and lots will be started at once.

The work of grading Central avenue and Boynton Boulevard is now well under way and as soon as the streets are laid out a large gang of men will be put to work to macadamize them. A number of persons have already signified their intention of erecting handsome dwellings in the new town. The tract covers a large area and comprises chiefly beautiful farm land.

One great advantage will be the fact that the town is located close to the Picton station on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, where a god train service is maintained. Besides, it is not far by trolley to the New Jersey Central at Westfield or the Pennsylvania at Rahway, and it is within easy driving distance.

Owing to the fact that the land is so level, the work of grading will be comparatively easy and in some cases it will scarcely be necessary to change the grade. It is proposed to furnish the town with all modern improvements. The land is high and dry and the drainage is perfect. At present 500 acres will be developed.

The new town is situated in three townships—Clark, Cranford and Westfield, and it is two miles from Westfield on the county road, also having the advantage of the trolley, which runs through the town.

DR. IRVINE WELL LIKED.

Workingmen Frequently Have Him Adjust Labor Difficulties.

Rev. Dr. A. F. Irvine, of New Haven, Conn., who is to speak at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, is a person of great executive ability and much talent. He has always kept in touch with the workingman, and frequently in labor troubles he has been appealed to by both employer and employe. Last summer he was given much praise by the New Haven press for his efforts in adjusting the trolley strike in that city, and only last week he was selected by the Trolley Men's Union, of New Haven, to help draft a proposition to be presented to the president of the railway company.

The men have every confidence in Dr. Irvine, and they will not employ a lawyer, trusting him fully to settle the trouble. He is sure to make a stirring address tomorrow, and all men of the city are invited to hear him. Tomorrow morning and night he will preach at Warren chapel.

Carl Haynes, tenor soloist of the Mt. Vernon M. E. church, of Washington, and Miss Eva Wells, of Westfield, will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting.

Trouble Ahead for Fish.

Six old companions of the rod will make their annual assault on the fish hosts off Barnegat next Friday, when J. Hervey Doane, Harry Coward, H. C. Van Emburgh, F. T. Ostrom, Dr. G. D. Herring and Fred J. Pope go to the anglers' resort. They will spend a week on a forty-foot schooner, manned by a crew of two men. The week will be pleasant, because a professional cook is to manage the galley. The party has made the trip every summer for six or seven years.

Child Buried.

Carl, the six-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ilson, of Scotch Plains, who died Thursday morning, of marasmus, was buried yesterday after a simple service at the house, conducted by Rev. Mr. Englund, pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church. The interment was in the Methodist cemetery, this city.

—Neuman Brothers are now receiving peaches from their own orchard. Big supply at the store Monday.

PUBLIC SERVICE TO ADD MANY NEW CARS

FIFTY TO COST $5,000 EACH HAVE ALREADY BEEN ORDERED.

A general house cleaning is coming to the Public Service Corporation this fall, and before it is over much of the old rolling stock of the company will have disappeared and $600,000 of the company's money will have been spent.

The improvement will come in the shape of newer and larger cars than the ones now in use. About fifty have been ordered at a cost of $5,000 each. Aside from this, a mass of new switches will be installed, and though the company is not now in a position to announce its plans, several new lines are expected to be installed, principally in Hudson county.

The cars that will go on this fall will be of the most approved pattern, and will compare favorably with any now in use. Like the new summer cars that were installed this summer on the Turnpike and Plankroad lines and the Newark-Elizabeth line, they will be operated only from one end. Not only this, but one side of each car will be completely closed in, and it will be impossible to obtain an entrance only from one side.

These cars will be put on the lines as fast as they can be built. Some of the little stuffy boxes will be taken off and larger cars will be put in their place. The new cars will be put on those lines that will give up their present large cars to supply the smaller lines.

It is probable that the old cars will either be sold or auctioned off, as were the old cars formerly used by the elevated roads in New York.

Traffic Supreintendent Ackerman, of the Public Service Corporation, tells of being in South America and of seeing a little railroad there in operation. The locomotive and cars had at one time done duty on the old Sixth avenue elevated road in New York, and the natives who bought them did not think it worth while painting out those traces of their metropolitan origin.

It is probable that many of the old Public Service cars will find their way to South America to do duty on some of the trolley lines now being started in that sphere of revolutions.

BUYER WILL GET BACK MONEY HE PAID FOR COW

THE ANIMAL DIED AND THE SELLER HAS TO STAND THE LOSS.

Because the animal became sick and died a few hours after it was delivered, William Lindsay has been ordered by the District Court at Elizabeth to refund $100, the cost of a cow sold to James O. Dewalt, of this city. The story back of the case has a peculiar feature, in that the cow delivered was a substitute for one that died of a sudden sickness that developed before it could be shipped.

Dewalt ordered a prize cow from Lindsay some time ago, and paid $100 for it. The animal picked out died before Lindsay had a chance to deliver it. He wrote to Dewalt, informing him of the cow's death, and stating that if he so desired another equally good would be shipped.

Dewalt told Lindsay to ship the second cow, and in due time the animal was received, but it had only been on the place a few hours when it developed lockjaw, and despite all efforts made to save it, died.

After the cow's death, Dewalt wrote to Lindsay demanding the return of the $100 he had paid for the cow, and also reimbursement for the expense of doctoring the animal. Lindsay replied that he would comply with the demand as soon as he was able to raise the amount. Dewalt at once began suit.

The case was tried in the District Court yesterday before Judge Robeson, of Bayonne, and resulted in the court finding for Dewalt. Lindsay will have to pay $100 and costs, amounting to $129.44. Dewalt was represented by William Newcorn and Mr. Lindsay by V. W. Nash, Jr.

Theatre Party from Fanwood.

Palmer H. Jaduin, of Brooklyn, who is spending the summer at "The Homestead," Fanwood, gave a theatre party Thursday night at the New Plainfield to see "The County Chairman." Those in the party besides the host were Mr. and Mrs. W. Bussing, Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew, Miss Ada Clarke, Richard H. Clarke, Jr., Miss Laura Carpenter, L. Clay Marshall, Miss Eva Kingsland, Miss Adelaide Pendergast, J. Lynch Pendergast. After the performance the party returned to the home of Miss Kingsland for supper.

Rev. J. O. Randall, of Attleboro, Mass., will preach in the First M. E. church tomorrow morning. The evening service will be in charge of the Epworth League.

A SLAVE TO CIGARETTES

HIS ARREST FOLLOWS

Temporarily crazed, it is believed, by the excessive use of cigarettes, Vernon Waters, a young man who until recently lived in this city, made violent and terrifying threats to kill against his wife and her father, James Ross, at his home in Bound Brook Thursday afternoon. He was arrested on their charge and brought before Recorder Brampton, of Bound Brook.

The court put him under $300 bonds to keep the peace. Mrs. Waters has returned to the home of her parents, who are old residents of Bound Brook and well known in that vicinity.

Waters is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Waters, of East Third street. He was a familiar figure about this city, and is known to a large number of local people. While not rated as a wildly dissipated young man, he was generally regarded as a mild sort of "sport," and the stories of his slavery to the cigarette evil that reached them from Bound Brook did not surprise his old associates here.

Mrs. Waters was an employe of a local dry goods firm when she met her husband first. She is well known here. The couple have been married scarcely more than a year.

AUTO STRIKES WAGON; HORSE NEARLY KILLED

PARTY RUNNING MACHINE RECKLESSLY CONTINUES ON.

A party of four men in an automobile, running their machine in a reckless manner through West Front street, yesterday afternoon, narrowly averted serious trouble. The auto was coming down the hill near Grant avenue, just as Mr. and Mrs. John Entwisle, of Catalpa avenue, were driving across Front street.

The machine struck the rear of the one seat wagon, throwing the horse down and almost breaking its neck. Fortunately, Mr. and Mrs. Entwisle escaped injury. The automobilists did not stop, but ran up on the sidewalk in front of George O. Stevens' coal yard, and took to the road again beyond the office. A resident in the neighborhood tried to get police headquarters on the telephone to ask them to be on the lookout for the machine, but headquarters did not answer, some one having left the receiver off the hook.

Several persons noticed the automobile party before it reached Dunellen and remarked about the reckless and daring manner in which it was running the machine. Owing to the speed at which it was travelling it was impossible to get the number and the occupants were all strangers here.

Christened "Social Promoter."

Mrs. Wallace Guilford, a former resident of North Plainfield and later a parton of the Park Avenue Hotel, has, according to Society Notes, been "affectionately christened the social promoter" at the Long Beach Hotel, L. I., where she is spending the summer. Mrs. Guilford has won this sobriquet by her tactful chaperonage of the young people and her skillful management of "beach parties," where, at driftwood fires, corn is popped, apples are baked, marshmallows toasted and so on.

Altering His Cottage.

MEAT PRICES SOARING

Rise Has Been Gradual For Weeks And End Not in Sight.

CAUSE NOT KNOWN

Wholesalers Make Vague Statement That "First-Class" Cattle is Scarce."

Once more the price of meat is soaring. The rise has been gradual for two weeks, and the end is not yet. So far the retailers have only advanced the price to the consumer on one thing, lamb, but a rise in the other meats and the different provisions appears to be inevitable.

One of the wholesale agencies has not yet raised the rates, but it gives unmistakable symptoms of joining the jump.

The retailers during the past week have been compelled to pay 13 cents a pound for lamb, instead of 11 cents, to one house, and beef has advanced on an average of half a cent. They have been given to understand that the rise will continue. All provisions are higher in the same proportion.

The dealers have been vouchsafed no reason for the advance beyond a vague statement that "first class cattle is scare." It is a fact generally known that cattle—plain, ordinary everyday cattle—are plentiful. It appears to be the trust's desire to have the dealers and the consumers believe that cattle of the standard to which the purity-loving trust adheres, against every temptation to substitute, are not plentiful enough to meet the demand for meat. Rather than ship inferior beef the trust braves criticism and puts up the price.

The butchers do not appreciate the fine spirit of the shippers. They say the labor situation is unruffled, that cooler weather has increased the consumption of meat, and that everything tends to a decrease rather than an increase in price. One of them unkindly suggested this morning that the trust managers were trying to make up the fines they expect to pay for violating the Federal laws.

"We have been told that the advance is not alarming," said one of the butchers this morning. "They want us to believe that the advance is a normal one in the line of trade, and one that is dictated by natural conditions. That is bosh. They are simply putting on the screws. What can we do about it?"

PLANS COMPLETED FOR NEW FACTORY BUILDINGS

PRESIDENT KROM WILL SOON AWARD THE CONTRACTS.

Another important industry is to be located soon in the West End, where between 200 and 300 skilled mechanics will be employed. The new concern is the Krom Machine Company, a combination of two plants now being operated in Jersey City. Arthur Krom, of West Fourth street, is the president of the company, and it is largely through his efforts that the new plant is to be built here. The site selected is on West Front street, opposite DeKalb avenue.

The plans for the factory were recently completed and Mr. Krom has received all the bids for the construction work. He will be prepared in a few days to award the various contracts, and it is expected then that the work will be started and pushed rapidly toward completion before cold weather arrives.

The company is engaged in the manufacture of mining machinery, and as a large number of orders have been received, the plant will be able to run on full time from the first.

Little Dog's Tragedy.

A little black and white fox terrier, which hadn't lived long enough to become wagon-wise, was run down by a big truck in a tangle of vehicles at Park avenue and Second street this morning. His chest was crushed. Patrolman Overbaugh saw the accident from the corner, and the little dog was only in misery for a half a minute. Overbaugh is the champion revolver shot of the department, and one bullet sent doggie to where there are no wagons. It looked like a well bred dog and had a collar on.

Lack of Bricklayers.

The apparent slowness of the work on the Plainfield Trust Company's new building is due to the small force of bricklayers. They are very hard to get these days owing to the extensive operations throughout the State.

The Holy Cross choir will meet this afternoon for regular practice. A full attendance is required.

CHILD STRANGLED IN CRIB

Mrs. Chevers Finds Its Dead Body Hanging Between Foot Bars.

RODS HELD THROAT

Family Has Been Preparing to Move to Massachusetts and Body Will Be Sent There.

Squirming about in his crib, last night, the seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Chevers, of 1500 West Front street, jammed his throat between the foot bars and choked to death before his plight was discovered.

Mrs. Chevers placed the child in the crib shortly after 8 o'clock, and tucked it, as she thought, securely. After soothing it to sleep, she left the room for a few moments to attend to some little household duty. When she went out the child appeared to be sleeping soundly and peacefully.

Scarcely ten minutes later she returned. The baby's body hung over the foot of the crib between the bars at its foot, feet downward, its throat caught tightly by the two steel rods on either side. It was quite dead.

Mrs. Chevers shrieked and snatched the child from the death grip of the bars. A doctor was summoned, but the baby was beyond all help.

It is supposed that the infant woke and tried to creep from the crib, although it is possible that it slipped through the foot bars in tossing about in a restless sleep.

Mr. and Mrs. Chevers had completed arrangements for their removal to Foxborough, Mass., today. They did not alter the plans and will leave today for their new home. The body of the child will be shipped to Foxborough this afternoon, for burial there.

YOUNG MAN VARIES WORKING BY STEALING

HAD TWO JOBS IN ONE WEEK AND STOLE IN BOTH.

Ferdinand Meyer, twenty-three years old, whose home is on Duer street, was arrested last night by Detective McCarthy, charged with robbing R. J. Shaw, the druggist, of $8.60 and several valuable razors. The police say he is a confirmed thief, and hold him responsible for the disappearance of a watch from the pocket of one of the workmen at the new theatre last week. Chief Kiely said this morning that Meyer had made a full confession to him.

The young man disappeared with Shaw's money and razors after working in the store three days. He was employed there on August 16. Mr. Shaw told the police of the robbery, but did not swear out a warrant gainst Meyer, and the officers made no attempt to arrest him.

Early last week Meyer became a carpenter's assistant at the theatre. Wednesday one of the carpenters, E. A. Smith, missed a gold watch. He reported it to the police, and when the latter heard that Meyer was among the theatre workmen they decided it was time to put him behind bars.

Meyer will be arraigned before Justice Mosher this afternoon. He was held for the Grand Jury last March for stealing a ring from a jeweler's shop.

ROBERT ABBOTT WINS.

Gets Cup and Medal on the Misquamicut Links.

Robert Abbott, of the Plainfield Country Club, and a student at Yale, where he is a member of the golf team, won the cup and also won the silver medal for best gross score in the thirty-six hole handicap at the Misquamicut Golf Club links, yesterday. He made a score of 148.

Abbott is one of the most promising players at the Plainfield Country Club and there is a bright future before him in golf. He has shown great consistency in his playing in every tournament in which he has entered and his friends predict a prominent place among the best golfers in the near future.

Enlarging House.

Hughes Fawcett, of Rockview avenue, is having a large addition built to his handsome residence. It will go on the rear of the house, rising two stories in height. F. L. Lancaster is the architect and Stahl & Kinney are the builders.

Collier vs. Gavett in Final.

Paul Collier and Theodore O. Gavett, respective winners in their semi-final matches of the Y. M. C. A. tournment, will meet this afternoon in the final match on the Cedar Brook court. Play is expected to be fast.

NO BOOZE WILL MARK THE ROCK CLAMBAKE

INTOXICANTS CUT OUT OF BILL OF FARE BY NITTINGER.

As far as Promotor F. A. Nittinger can provide the clambake to be held at Washington Rock on September 9, which has been planned as part of a sustained campaign to popularize the historical spot as a resort, will be a temperance affair. Mr. Nittinger will refuse to furnish beer or any other intoxicant at the bake, and will do what he can to discourage the idea that a clambake must be washed down with alcohol to make it successful. He is not a crank on the drink subject and will make no attempt to prevent people so disposed from bringing their own beer or stronger drink, but he believes a good bake is better enjoyed without intoxicants.

It is aimed to make the feast an old-fashioned affair, with the time-honored features of preparing the edibles preserved from "modern camp improvements" that make for haste but not the improvement of the flavor of clams and other component parts of a real clambake. If the weather is right the bake will probably be attended by a large crowd. Inquiries regarding it have been so numerous as to indicate that the lovers of good eating in Plainfield and Dunellen are much interested in the spread. Dunellen, being interested in the development of the Rock, is beginning to regard the bake almost as a municipal affair, and many boroughites will attend it.

The basket party to be held on the Rock Labor Day will by its nature attract a good many families who live within walking or easy driving distance of the Rock. Should the two events be successful, as there is every reason to believe they will be, the Rock boom will receive powerful impetus. The Dunellenites who have organized to push the Rock park project through have not given up hope of getting the patriotic organizations of the State interested in their plans. Should the societies and lodges come in, the scheme would certainly succeed.

BIG DOG SENDS GIRL INTO FIT OF TERROR

SHE THOUGHT IT WAS GOING TO ATTACK HER.

A big St. Bernard dog owned by John E. Bryant, of Putnam avenue, has a habit of saluting his friends by placing his forefeet on their chests. The dog ran up to a little girl in front of the house early yesterday morning, evidently mistaking her for Mr. Bryant's young dauguter Jessie, and half-raised to salute her in his usual way.

He saw his mistake and dropped to his four feet with a disappointed snuffle, but his actions threw the girl into a paroxysm of terror. She thought the big dog was going to attack her, and screamed for help. The dog trotted quietly away, but the child kept screaming in a nervous fit of fear which she seemed unable to throw off. Several women attracted by the cries tried to soothe her, and did quiet her enough to stop her screaming after a few minutes, but the screams were followed by incessant sobbing. The sobs they could not check, and the child ran home, fifteen minutes later, still sobbing. Her name was not learned, and none of the women recognized her as a child of the neighborhood. One of the women who tried to quiet her, an ex-nurse, said the effects of the shock might lead to serious effects.

Were Under Age.

Edward Kenner and Clinton Conover, of the borough, who recently went to Philadelphia to enlist in the navy, have returned home. They were unable to enlist on account of being under age. This was not discovered until after both lads passed a good physical examination. The naval officer in charge of the recruiting station expressed regret that the young men failed to come up to the requirements, but said that he could not break the rules and admit them.

They Want a Commissioner.

There will be a public meeting at the Lincoln school house, Lincoln, Friday night, September 1, at 8 o'clock, where citizens of all political parties are invited to attend to discuss and demand that Piscataway township shall have one commissioner out of five to be elected in November. These commissioners are to represent Middlesex county in place of the present Board of Freeholders. It has been arranged to have prominent speakers address the meeting.

MURDERER LONG AMUSED

TELLS ABOUT IT

"Golly, It Was Funny," Exclaimed the Man Who Is Now in the Shadow of the Gallows.

Quite a commotion was caused in the State prison at Trenton last night when Charles Long, the confessed murderer of Matthew Cunningham, burst out in unusual laughter. The jailers rushed to the cell of the murderer and thought that he had lost his reasoning powers. But they were told the cause of his unusual laughter by Long himself.

He looked at the inquiring jailors for a minute and then burst out in another ripple of laughter, saying in a squeaky voice:

"Golly, it was funny to see him."

One of the jailors asked him what was funny, and Long told of the time he was sitting along the road near Stelton and a policeman walked up to him and said: "Throw up your hands; I want you."

Long said: "You know I wasn't afraid. I jus' walked back to the tree and picked up my shoes and tied them. The policeman? Ha! Ha! Ha! He jus' looked at me, and when I got my shoes on I jus' scooted up de pike for all I was worth. The policeman he didn't come to until I was out of sight. He fired on me, but I had done gone dusted."

The story Long told amused him very much, and he continued to chuckle long after his jailors went on their rounds.

The policeman Long had reference to was Patrol Driver O'Gorman, of the local police force, who was the first Plainfield officer to catch sight of the murderer. O'Gorman claimed at this time that the murderer jumped up and ran as soon as he caught sight of him and that though he emptied his revolver after the fleeing figure, it ziz-zagged in such a way none of the shots took effect.

TOWNSHIP SLATE.

Republicans Discuss Candidates for North Plainfield Offices.

An informal meeting of the Republicans of North Plainfield Township was held at Maul's Hotel Thursday night, when an impromised slate was fixed for the coming election. There was a large attendance of Republicans and much enthusiasm was shown. After a general discussion, this ticket was made up:

For town clerk, John J. Clark; for member of Town Committee, Edmund F. Duchane; assessor, A. P. Voorhees; commissioners of appeal, John Mooney, J. W. Beetham and Hippolite Texier; surveyors of highways, Charles C. White and A. J. Steinberger; justice of the peace, Chris H. Blume; pound keeper, A. Perret and Emil Clementz. Amounts to be appropriated: For roads, $2,000; for poor, $500. Town Committee salary, $50 per annum. Permission was given the Town Committee to have a map prepared of the township for tax purposes. H. Texier was selected for delegate to county convention; W. H. Titus, alternate.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Already one of the many bad effects from the way the cars enter the loop at the trolley station has been experienced by passengers of the road. The rain which fell yesterday has made the sand near the loop a mass of mud, and people intending to be transferred to through cars and wishing to avoid the rain have been greatly inconvenienced in their efforts to get to the waiting room. The trouble is due to the fact that the cars now come in on the loop in such a way that they face backward to the waiting room. All this could be avoided if the cars would enter from the opposite side. The sooner the company realizes the necessity for a change in the plan now being pursued, the better it will be for all concerned.

KNEW BUILDING UNSAFE YET GAVE NO WARNING

ALREADY STORE SUPPORTS CRUMBLED BEFORE COLLAPSE.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The coroner's examination of workmen who were digging a cellar under the Myers department store at the time of its collapse, Aug. 8, has shown that the men were warned of the approaching disaster nearly an hour before the structure fell and killed thirteen persons.

The most significant testimony was that of John Mitchell, the foreman employed by the contractor in charge of the job. It had been shown that the laborers dug away the earth about the bases of the pillars supporting the centre of the building, leaving them resting on high mounds of earth. Mitchell said that when he arrived on the morning of Aug. 8 the first thing that attracted his attention was that a large piece of earth had fallen from the southeastern corner of pier No. 8—the pier that has been the principal object about which the investigation has wound—and that a half hour before the crash came he and others saw that pier No. 9 had begun crumbling. He said that the whole force of men was kept working at pier No. 8 for that half hour with a desperation born of the knowledge that the safety of the entire building depended on getting it shored up in time.

Five minutes before the crash came the superintendent of the job left the gang in the cellar, saying he was going above to warn the employes off the floor. At the last minute, realizing that their efforts to save the building were useless, the workmen rushed out. All escaped uninjured except Mitchell, who was caught in the wreck and badly bruised.

It has not yet developed that any of the 350 persons in the stories above received proper warning, with the exception of those in the basement. Here the sagging of the floor drove all the clerks to a place of safety just as the building fell. The investigation is still in progress.

MAKING PROGRESS AT THE DISPOSAL PLANT

CONTRACTORS USING MODERN MACHINERY IN RUSHING THE WORK.

Richards & Gaston, of Somerville, who have the contract for the improvements at the sewage disposal works, are making excellent progress, much to the satisfaction of the street and sewer committee, as well as Street Commissioner Gavett. The contractors are using improved machinery in doing the work and in consequence the progress is more noticeable.

The improvements at the sewage farm includes the construction of eight more contact beds, another septic tank and when this is completed it is expected that Plainfield will be cared for for years and it will be possible to make many more connections to the sytem.

At the last meeting of the Common Council a sum not to exceed $500 was appropriated for the purpose of looking into the advisability of installing a pumping station in the West End of the city to provide for that section not possible to sewer by gravity. This has been a matter for serious contemplation on the part of the street committee and the members hope to be able to solve the question in the near future. Another section of the city to be similarly treated is that in the vicinity of Watchung, Belvidere and Hillside avenues. The residents living in that section cannot secure the benefits of the sewer gravity and a pumping station will have to be installed in that part of the city sooner or later.

Slated for Dunellenites.

Joseph Sweeny and William Firstbrook, of this city, will act a humorous sketch entitled "A Stupid Servant" at an entertainment to be held by William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. Is it Right?

Is it right that a property owner should lose $4 20 to let a dealer make 50 cents? A dealer makes 50 cents more on fourteen gallons of ready-for-use paint, at $1 50 per gallon, than our agent does on eight gallons of L. & M. Paint and six gallons of linseed oil, which makes fourteen gallons of the best paint in the world, at $1 20 per gallon; the property owner loses just $4 20. Is it right?

It only requires 4 gallons of L. & M. and 3 gallons linseed oil to paint a moderate sized house.

J. H. HYDE NOW SELLS COSTLY PRIVATE CAR

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF HIS PLAN TO LIVE IN EUROPE.

New York, Aug. 26.—What is regarded as further confirmation of the largely circulated rumor to the effect that James Hazen Hyde is to take up his residence in Europe, was added yesterday when it became known that he had sold his private car, the Bay Shore, to Edwin Hawley, president of the Long Island Railroad. It is understood that the car, which was a magnificent combination of ivory and gold, costing $50,000, was sold at a big sacrifice.

Mr. Hyde's proposed departure for Europe became public gossip when his summer palace on Long Island was sold for $400,000, a sum half its value, and little more than half the amount offered for it prior to its owner's resignation as first vice-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Ever since the widespread scandal in insurance circles, precipitated by the investigations into the methods employed by prominent officials of the Equitable, and culminating with Mr. Hyde's enforced resignation, his desire to leave the scenes of his financial Waterloo have been well known. The talk of a contemplated residence in Europe was started by the sale of his residence, and recent developments have daily added strength to the rumor.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

A. H. Enander, of Watchung avenue, is an expert sanitary plumber and his work always stands the test.

I. Shrager, Madison avenue, will clean and press your clothes, and when they are done they will look like new.

Brokaw's creamery on East Front street is an ideal one as to cleanliness and quality of milk, cream, butter and eggs.

Frank Neidig, on Somerset street, will furnish you with the choicest cuts of meats as he has always done for his customers.

Candy and soda should be pure. Impure sweets do more harm than any other adulterated food. Buy of Henry Mehrtens, East Front street.

This is the time to put in your coal supply and Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue, are the ones to fill your order. Their coal is the highest grade.

Rugg & Cline, of West Third street, are thoroughly experienced in the coal business, and they will sell you the best coal, full weight, at low prices.

E. F. Dorman, of North and Park avenues, represents the best life and accident insurance companies and if in need of anything in this line consult him.

Whatever the season, whatever the weather, a glass of pure beer makes a grateful drink at meal time. Especially if it is L. Hoerster's bottling. Somerset street.

If there is a prescription that you want carefully filled take it to B. J. Schreiner, corner of Park avenue and East Second street. Only reliable work is done there.

W. H. Kirch, the carpenter and builder on Duer street, will cheerfully furnish estimates to whoever is contemplating the erection of a building of any kind.

Don't let your teeth go without attention. They may not be in shape to better when you finally go to a dentist. Take your dental woes to Dr. T. G. Atwood, West Front street, now.

It is high time to think about the rugs and carpets you are going to put on your floors this winter. You can do as well at Van Camp & Franklin's store, on Front street, as anywhere in this vicinity.

Furniture values are always attractive at Powlison & Jones' store, East Front street. Now is your chance to get porch chairs and settees at moderate prices. Indoor furniture in large variety of kinds and styles. Look the stock over.

It isn't at every grocery in town that you can find a complete line of goods always in stock. You can at Neuman Brothers', Watchung avenue, and prices are so low that you will really find it an object to trade there, once you give a trial order. Fruits and vegetables, delightful in flavor, are always on sale there in their season.

In connection with the retiring sale, Hill & Shupp, the dry goods merchants, are conducting a great ten-day sale in broken lots of merchandise. Everything in the furniture, housefurnishing, carpets, wash goods and embroideries will be sold at a discount. Read the firm's advertisement and see the countless bargains offered.

Harvey Moore, of this city, has been spending a week with Rahway friends. Although eighty-five years old he travels a good deal, and will go shortly to Delhi, Canada, to visit relatives.

RUMORS OF REVOLT AT THE COUNTY SEAT

ELIZABETH TIMES SAYS INDEPENDENT FEELING IS GROWING.

The following article in the Elizabeth Times Thursday leads to the belief that all is not harmony with the Republicans at the county seat:

"The report that Captain Robert L. Patterson had resigned from the Republican City General Committee was verified by him in the presence of a Times man this morning, when he was asked concerning the truth of the rumor. But this is not all. The unharmonious conditions in the Republican party up county are spreading down this way. Today the announcement was made by a man whose name will be made public in the course of a few days, if present plans carry, that independent Republican clubs are being formed in the Eleventh and Twelfth wards for the purpose of booming George Van Voorhis against Captain Robert L. Kirkland for the shrievalty. Another important announcement was made yesterday by a man very closely in touch with United States Senator John Kean that the latter was in favor of Captain Robert Kirkland for sheriff, and that Hamilton Kean is also doing everything in his power to secure delegates for him. The statement that Hamilton Kean is working for Dr. Lawrence, of Summit, is false, and was branded as such last night in a conference between the Kean man and Captain Kirkland and a number of other citizens who are prominent in Republican politics.

"Another important announcement was made today. Everard K. Tucker, who heretofore has neither affirmed or denied his candidacy for the Assembly, has come forward and has announced himself as a candidate for the office. Robert M. Kellogg is also a candidate for this office, as well as several others, including Charles Trimble.

"The situation downtown is warming up. The Republicans of the Third ward will gather Monday night at the First German Presbyterian parish hall at Third and Broadway. There will be a general jubilee for Captain Kirkland, whose chances seem to be getting brighter day by day.

"The Republicans of the Fourth ward are not idle either. They will hold an open meeting in Quien's hall Friday evening, and the Fifth warders will meet August 28.

"The fight against boss rule in Plainfield has reached here. The strongest Republican wards of the city, the Tenth, Eleventh and the Twelfth, are showing the red feather of revolt. They demand recognition. They want a change. The political situation has been going one way for some time, in fact since one member of the city committee, who is also a member of the county committee, became active. Then things went in one direction, and dissatisfaction has followed. Appeal to those higher up brought no results, and now a change is demanded or there will be some interesting times this fall.

"Business pressure has prompted Captain Patterson, one of the hardest workers of the party, to resign. When interviewed this morning Captain Patterson was loathe to make any statement. Finally he said: 'My business is growing fast, and it now requires all my attention. I cannot give to both politics and business the time and attention they deserve. It was a case of dropping one or the other. I dropped politics. I have fully considered the matter, and I cannot be changed. There is plenty of time before election to name my successor and to fill the vacancy.'

"'Do you favor Captain Kirkland for the shrievalty?'

"'Yes, I certainly do. He is the right sort of a man we want in that office, and in retiring I will say that I intend to do all in my power to secure his nomination. He is my choice, and I am going to try to secure delgates for him.'

"Hamilton Fish Kean, County Chairman James C. Calvert and James White are all out for Everard K. Tucker for the Assembly nomination."

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To David Arthur, Jr., and Mrs. David Arthur, Jr., his wife:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein John J. McIntyre is complainant and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, demur or answer to the complainants bill on or before the sixteenth day of October next, or in default thereof, such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by David Arthur, Jr., to the complainant on lands in the Borough of North Plainfield, Somerset County, New Jersey, said mortgage dated June 11, 1900, and registered in the Clerk's office of Somerset County, in Book (V No. 4) of Mortgages for said County, on page 151, etc.

And you David Arthur, Jr., are made a defendant because you claim to own an interest in said mortgaged lands.

And you Mrs. David Arthur, Jr., are made a defendant because you are the wife of David Arthur, Jr., above named, and because you claim or may claim an inchoate right of dower in and to said mortgaged lands.

Dated, August 15, 1905.

ASBURY DECORATES FOR BABY PARADE

RESORT'S GREAT CARNIVAL COMMENCES NEXT MONDAY.

Asbury Park, Aug. 25.—Hotels are beginning to array themselves in flags and bunting preparatory to the opening of the Baby Parade Carnival, which will start off with a dash next Monday afternoon, weather permitting. The royal pavilion is being erected in Ocean avenue, north of the Arcade. This outdoor court will hold Her Majesty and are party of maids, courtiers and pages. A golden throne will be placed in the centre and the steps leading to this will be carpeted with crimson velvet. Opposite the queen's pavilion a grandstand, which will accommodate several thousand persons, is to be built.

There was great excitement among the maids of honor last night when the costumes for the fete were tried on and nine pretty girls were fitted for the new Grecian robes in which they are to make their appearance at the coronation Monday night. Titania, Miss Clara Belle Logan, of Brooklyn, is keeping her robe a secret, and not even her loyal girl subjects know what she is going to wear at the formal ceremony.

Miss Evelyn Deering, of Brooklyn, who is spending the summer at the Hotel Brunswick, has been chosen to play the part of Princess Cinderella. Miss Deering is a strikingly beautiful girl, with classic features and a wealth of dark hair.

The royal invitations issued by Her Majesty commanding her subjects to appear tomorrow night at Coleman House Castle to attend a banquet are of dainty and original design. In the upper left hand corner is a miniature photograph of Titania, surrounded with a gilt beading, and on the opposite corner is the official seal of the Asbury Park Carnival Association. Each embossed vellum card is signed by Her Majesty.

GIRL SUED FOR $25,000; BREACH OF PROMISE

CHURCH MEMBER GETS JEALOUS OF PASTOR'S ATTENTION TO HIS FIANCEE.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 26.—Adolph Kreis, a member of one of the most prominent families of St. Louis, has filed suit for $25,000 for breach of promise against Miss Mary J. Wilson, daughter of John D. Wilson, one of the wealthiest men in the city. The suit has caused a stir in St. Louis social circles that has not been equaled in years.

Kreis is the organizer and one of the pillars in the Presbyterian church at Jennings, a suburban village, while Miss Wilson, a beautiful girl with innumerable friends and admirers, is one of the leading Christian Endeavor and Sunday-school workers in that church.

It is because of the church that Kreis and his former fiancee have quarrelled. The Rev. Mr. Topping, the pastor, has been so assiduous in his attention to Miss Wilson that Kreis became jealous, and the pastor had him arrested some time ago on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon. After the arrest the case was compromised, Mr. Topping agreeing not to prosecute.

Kreis' petition is very short and recites none of the details of the case, except that Miss Wilson agreed on July 4, 1903, to marry him; that though he has been, and now is, ready to carry out his part of the contract, she refuses.

"Miss Wilson agreed to marry me in the spring," said Kreis, at his home yesterday "but, as I now recall it, she did not say what spring. Three months ago she broke the engagement. I gave her many costly presents, but I have them all back, except a china cabinet and a dog. I mean to get those back, too.

"All went well between us until the preacher appeared on the scene. I thought he called too often. I began to complain, and one day, three months ago, I noticed that Miss Wilson was not wearing my engagement ring. I called her attention to it, and she said she had forgotten it. One word led to another, and she finally told me that I could consider our engagement broken."

Miss Wilson denied she had even been engaged to Mr. Kreis.

Mrs. Corra Ryno and daughter, of Codington avenue, left today for Phillipsburg to visit her sister.

Morgan T. Townsend, of North Plainfield, has gone to Lowden county, Virginia, where he will visit T. U. Dudley, of the borough.

Dr. Ralph Waldo Emerson, of West Front street, who has been spending his vacation at Swartswood Lake, has returned home.

Mrs. Thomas Dorgan, of Spooner avenue, is visiting her former home, Sugar Notch, Pa., with a view to being present at the burial of her brother, a soldier in the U. S. Army, who died recently at Monterey, California, and whose remains are now on their way to Sugar Notch for interment.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The West Ends, of Somerville, still continue their winning streak.

When you feel like criticising a player, just stop and think how you would act if in his position.

"Jimmie" Montross has been engaged to pitch one of the Labor Day games for the West Ends, of Somerville.

The Star A. C., of Newark, will finish out the season on the grounds of the Orange A. C., the latter club having disbanded.

There is no other team in the State that is playing as consistent baseball as the Daabsters. They put up a fast article every week.

If Captain Mallen felt entirely blameless last Saturday, why did he hide beneath the grandstand until the crowd got away?

Badgley, formerly of the Plainfield team, has been engaged to pitch for the Washington, Warren county, team for the rest of the season.

It now looks as though the Giants are sure winners of the National League pennant and will have to defend the world's championship title.

Frank Burke, of the Elizabethport Stars, thinks that his team can put it all over the Daabsters. Other managers have had the same hallucination.

William Mullen, captain and manager of the Florodora nine, wants to play either the cops or the firemen. The Florodoras have a fast amateur combination.

The American League clubs are having one of the most exciting races for the pennant yet witnessed in baseball, and it is seldom that a game is marred by rowdyism.

Frank Sparks, who pitched for the Philadelphia Nationals in the twenty inning game with Chicago on Thursday, was not considered strong enough for the New York Giants.

If local fans think that it is in Plainfield and Westfield that the umpires are troublesome, let them visit the Polo Grounds some time. On Wednesday one of McGraw's players was benched for throwing his hat in the air.

Noodles Hahn, the former pitcher of the Cincinnati team, denies that he is going to retire from the game. He says that he will accept the best engagement that is offered him conditionally, and that if he fails to make good he will ask for his release.

A local fan happening to be in Buffalo when the Baltimore Orioles played the Bisons the first part of this week, attended the game, and he says that for miserable errors it beat any exhibition he had seen. He says that the Baltimore players piled up errors in every inning in the first contest of a double header.

GOLF.

There is a report that Crosby, the professional at Arsdale, has resigned his position.

It is expected that play will be resumed for the weekly competition cups at the Park Golf Club today.

C. B. Morgan, of the Plainfield Country Club, who has been taking part in the golf touranment at Deal, will return home tonight.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, professional at the Plainfield Country Club, has decided to enter the open golf tournament at Fox Hills. It will be one of the biggest events in golf this season.

TENNIS.

The Labor Day event in tennis at the Plainfield Country Club will be junior mixed doubles for cups presented by Henry L. Hall. Boys and girls under eighteen years are eligible.

Miss Helen Besler, of the borough, has returned home from a sojourn in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. Singer, of Newark, has been visiting her father, Samuel Dreier, of West Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Dufford, Jr., of this city, have been visiting relatives at Middle Valley, Hunterdon county.

Mr. and Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, of the borough, have returned from Belmar, where they spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Homan, who have been spending the summer in a cottage on the mountains, expect to return to their home in Madison avenue, September 1.

—The joint committee from the Union and Somerset county Board of Freeholders will meet on Monday to receive plans for the new West End avenue bridge.

Plainfield, N. J., August 26, 1905.

In response to The Daily Press' appeal, "A Friend" has donated the necessary $3.74 to make the King's Daughters' Baby Camp donations aggregate an even $100. The amount is highly satisfactory but there is still room for more.

An Elizabeth paper says Hamilton Kean remains conservative in regard to the Senatorial question. As a "standpatter" Ham has all other Union county politicians beat to a frazzle but he has another guess coming as to his position in the matter.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mamie Mehl, of Liberty street, is visiting at Waterford, Me.

Mrs. David Bodine and daughter, of Lincoln place, have returned from a visit to Stewartsburg, Pa.

Miss Grace Dunn, of East Fifth street, has returned from a visit with friends at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mrs. Baltus Melick, of North Branch, has returned home after a visit with Plainfield friends.

Andrew Love and daughter, Miss Love, of Duer street, are home from Yardley, Pa., where they spent two weeks.

Mrs. Harry H. Brokaw and son, Duke, of Providence, R. I., are visiting Mrs. Isaac Brokaw, of Duer street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Worth, of Washington avenue, are entertaining Mrs. Stella Powers, of Phoenixville, Pa.

Harold Willard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Willard, is spending a week with friends in Piscataway township.

Miss Sarah Ball, of Washington avenue, who has been sojourning in Oregon, Alaska and Washington, has returned home.

Miss Mary Robley, who has been spending her vacation at Mystic, Conn., has returned to her home on Myrtle avenue.

Mrs. Collis T. Pond and daughter, Miss Rita Pond, of Willow avenue, are spending ten days at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

W. C. Cooper, of New York, general agent for the Preferred Accident Insurance Co., has been visiting Plainfield friends.

Mrs. Anna Southard and daughter Ethel, of Somerset street, are spending two weeks with relatives at Newark and Irvington.

Mrs. Charles McCarthy and children, of Manson place, leave tomorrow for Troy, N. Y., to spend two weeks with relatives.

Alvah Clark Mack, of Somerville, has been spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Reed, of Myrtle avenue.

Borough Collector and Mrs. George F. Brown, of Grove street, will return home next week from Breeze Hill House, Lisbon, N. H.

The Misses Burnet, of Madison avenue, have returned from Lake Minnewaska, where they have been guests at the Cliff House.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Musson, of West Front street, returned last night from Washington, where they spent a portion of their vacation. Mr. Musson will occupy his pulpit at Faith chapel, tomorrow, morning and night.

—The Swedish Pilgrim church has purchased a fine Mathushek piano to be used for public worship. A. E. Willard, of West Front street, made the sale.

—The Dr. Livingston medical show on the MacDonald property, East Front street, is drawing large crowds each evening, and John James, the banjo player and singer, is delighting the people with his songs. Dr. Livingston's nephew, who is in charge of this show, says he will remain in this city another week, as the demands for the root and herb preparations has been much larger than first anticipated.

FIVE HOPATCONG BOATS LOSE THEIR LICENSES

STATE DEPARTMENTS OFFICIAL DECLARES THEM TO HAVE ROTTEN HULLS

Trenton, Aug. 26.—As the result of a special inspection ordered by Governor Stokes at the instance of Assistant Secretary J. B. R. Smith, of the State Department, a formal demand was made yesterday for the return of five State licenses issued to steamers on Lake Hopatcong. The steamers condemned as unsafe are the Alaimetcong, the Musconetcong, the Narritcong, the Lackawanna and the Hopatcong.

The inspection, made by William H. Lewis, formerly one of the board of steamboat inspectors of New Jersey, was the result of a controversy between two of the present inspectors as to whether a license should be granted to one of the boats on the lake, leading to a quarrel between the rival black and white lines and grave charges that the machinery of the boats was defective. In some cases the hulls were so rotten that they could be punctured with the finger. There was also a general disregard of the requirements for life preservers and for the maximum number of passengers.

The investigation has also disclosed the fact that the State laws on the subject are so defective as to make their enforcement doubtful. Amendments to these will be recommended by Governor Stokes in his next message to the Legislature.

Charles Clift, owner of the Gladys, and Moses Spencer, owner of the H. W. Fuch, refused to allow an inspection of their craft. The Secretary of State wrote yesterday to their owners, asking them to submit to inspection.

The Public May be Shut Out.

One of the most picturesque spots in New Jersey is the Chimney Rock ravine, and it is visited by thousands of people every year, many of them from this city, who admire its beauties. On the east branch of the Middlebrook are located the reservoirs of the Bound Brook Water Company, just above Buttermilk Falls, along which is a smooth path for the convenience of visitors. To prevent the possible pollution of the water, signs are posted about informing people of the nature of the reservoirs. These signs are sometimes destroyed by thoughtless boys, and for the third time this summer they were torn down this week. If this practice is continued it will be necessary for the water company to erect fences to keep the public away from its reservoirs altogether, which would be a pity, as it would deprive visitors of much pleasure, simply because of the ruthless acts of destructive boys.

—Frank Vail and family now occupy the house at 89 Grandview avenue.

—Alton Giles, of West Fourth street, an apprentice plumber, cut his hand severely yesterday in attempting to join two pieces of gas pipe. After a physician dressed the hand, Giles was able to return to work.

THIEVES BLOW OPEN POSTOFFICE SAFE

THREE BRIDGES RESIDENTS AWAKENED BY THE EXPLOSION.

Flemington, Aug. 26.—Burglars blew open the large safe in the Three Bridges post office early yesterday morning. Enough nitro-glycerine was used to blow a dozen safes to atoms. About 2 o'clock there was a terrible noise, which shook some of the nearby buildings and awoke nearly half of the town.

The thought of burglars did not enter the minds of the residents and it was not until 6:30 o'clock that the robbery was discovered by Postmaster Charles H. Wood. A large piece of the safe was blown through the building.

Everything in the building was knocked about, and the window lights were all blown out. A large hole was blown into the ceiling, just over where the safe stood, and the floor beneath the safe was ripped up.

Pieces of the safe stuck through the weatherboards of the building, which has the appearance of having been struck by a Japanese shell. About $6 in cash and $140 worth of postage stamps was taken, together with Postmaster Wood's valuable papers. One of the packages of stamps had just been received from the government and contained $116 worth.

The burglars did not touch the mail matter and no effort was made to open the money drawer, which contained a small amount of cash and stamps. Entrance was effected by removing a pane of glass and raising the sash.

The meat market of Frank Van Sickel was also broken into, but nothing of value was taken. Surounding towns have been notified to be on the lookout for suspicious characters, but no trace of the burglars has been found as yet.

KILLED BY WAGON.

Bernardsville Man Victim of Peculiar Accident.

Bernardsville, Aug. 26.—On his return from New York Thursday afternoon and as he was entering his country estate, near here, Walter P. Bliss was startled to see the dead body of one of his employes lying on the ground. The dead man was Raymond Abel, who resided with his wife in Mendham. Abel, assisted by an Italian, was drawing a load of ice with one of the farm teams, and it is supposed that while descending a steep hill the horses became unmanagable, because when the wagon was found it was in three sections.

The rear wheels were in one place, the wagon body in another, and the horses, with the forward wheels, were in some bushes along the road. The ice was scattered badly.

Just how the accident happened it is not known. When Mr. Bliss arrived on the scene, he found the Italian sitting in a dazed condition beside the road. He had been considerably bruised about the head and body, but his injuries were not serious. He did not seem to know what had happened, and was apparently unable to give any account of the mishap.

Abel's body was mangled, and it is believed that he was crushed beneath the load, resulting in instant death.

Mr. Bliss summoned Dr. G. S. De Groot, of Mendham, who gave such aid as the Italian required.

Election Officers Appointed.

Tasteful composition has a large share in the production of the specimens although ink and paper have done their share, the typography has given the stamp of distinction to nearly every piece. A thorough appreciation of the suitability of certain type-faces to different kinds of printing has been the chief factor in producing this good work. Refers to Stafford, Printer

THE DUTIES OF THE ELECTION BOARDS

WHAT THEY MUST DO BEFORE THE VOTING DATE.

With the approach of election there is great interest taken by the voters as to when the various election boards are to meet and what their duties and the duties of the election officers are. The following chronological index of the duties relating to the election of November 7 will be read with much interest at this time and should be preserved for future reference:

August 23—On or before this date the township and municipal clerks should have suitable rooms in which to make the registry of voters and to hold the primary election, September 12, and the general election.

August 25—On or before this date the county board of election shall appoint the boards of registry and election for the respective election districts of the county.

August 29—On or before this date the county boards shall publish notices of the meetings of the boards of registry and election, and of the primary election in not more than six newspapers designated by the board.

September 1—The terms of office of the members of the district boards of registry and election begin and they are to take the oath of office before performing any duty and forward it to the county clerk.

September 2—All petitions endorsing persons as candidates for public office or as delegates to political conventions shall be filed with the municipal or township clerks on or before this date and the poll clerks give notice of the time and place of holding the primary election by posting notices in their district.

September 4—The Board of Registry and Election should have their canvassing and registry books from the county clerk by this date and on this day the county board of elections meets to fill vacancies in the district boards of registry and election.

September 5—On this date the boards of registry and election have their first meeting and proceed to make a house-to-house canvass to be finished by September 8th. Any vacancies caused by death of any candidate to be voted for at the primary election or by the declination of any candidate are to be filled by the filing of a new petition signed by a majority of the people on the petition upon which the original candidate was endorsed.

September 11—On this date the county board of elections meets to fill vacancies in the district boards and the municipal or township clerks should have the election booths up for the primary election and the booths supplied with black lead pencils. These clerks on this day in the morning deliver to the boards of registry and election the ballots and ballot boxes for such board for the primary election and take a receipt therefor.

September 12—The district boards of registry and election on this day sit for the second time as a registry board to add names not yet on, remaining in session from 1 to 9 p. m., and voters can apply for registration personally or have their names put on by affidavit. The primary election is held at the same time, between 1 and 9 o'clock, and at the end thereof the district boards canvass the votes and announce the result.

September 13—On this date the clerks of election post a copy of the register for public inspection.

October 7 to October 30—During this time notice is given by posted notices put up by the township or municipal clerks of the place and purpose of the general election and the offices to be filled thereat.

October 13—On or before this date all certificates and petitions naming candidates for office to be filled by voters of the entire State, or of any congressional district, or of any political division greater than a single county shall be filed with the Secretary of State.

October 23—On or before this date all certificates and petitions naming candidates for county offices shall be filed with the county clerk and the Secretary of State certifies to county clerks the names of candidates filed at his office.

October 30—The county election boards meet on this date to fill vacancies in the district boards.

October 31—On this date the district boards of registry and election have their final meeting for the registration of voters, sitting from 9 o'clock, and on or before this date orders for official ballots are to be given to the county clerk by duly qualified voters desiring the same.

November 1—On this date the judges of the boards of registry and election deliver to the county board of elections all affidavits made before them registering voters, and a copy of the completed register is delivered by the chairman of each district registry board to the county board of elections.

November 2—On or before this date a copy of the completed register made on October 31st is filed with the township or municipal clerk and one copy retained for use on election day. All official ballots are to be printed and be in possession of the county clerk on this date. The names of challengers must be filed with the county board of election, who will issue to them permits, and on this date the county board sits from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., to add names to or erase names from the registry lists throughout the county.

November 3—The county clerk is required to have the official ballots ready for delivery to those who have ordered and paid for the same.

November 4—This day the county clerk delivers the official ballots and envelopes to the township or municipal clerks and the county board holds its final meeting from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. to register voters.

November 6—On this date the clerk of townships or municipalities deliver the ballots and envelopes to the clerks of the various election boards; the clerks have the voting places ready for election; the county board of elections meets to fill vacancies in district boards; the Common Pleas Judge sits in court to revise and correct the registry of election and the county board, before 8 o'clock in the forenoon, delivers to the county clerk the registers in their possession on the Saturday preceding election.

November 7—Election day—The Common Pleas Judge sits at the Court House to inquire into the legality of persons registered. The election is held according to the usual custom.

November 8—The checked register used at the election and the ballot box keys are deposited with the county clerk.

November 13—The county election board meets at the Court House at noon to canvass the vote.

Among the more important problems with which the big Western railroads have to deal, is how to protect the valuables and the treasures in the safes of express cars from train robbers. How serious this problem is, only those inside the executive offices of the railroads can testify. Fortunes have been lost. In fact so great is the aggregate of the sum that those in authority hesitate to give figures. To estimate the damage caused by a sensational train robbery is well-nigh impossible, as often the indirect losses following a hold-up are greater than the booty itself. For months following a train robbery, the business of the road is stagnated. The confidence of the traveling public is shaken; hundreds of passengers abandon their journeys or turn their fares into the coffers of rival companies.—Pearson's Magazine for September.

The mountain sheep of the world appeal quite strongly to everyone who cares for hoofed animals. These bold and hardy mountaineers usually dwell where the face of Nature is ridged with frowning rocks and seamed with awful canyons. It must be remembered, however, that wild sheep are not always found upon crags and precipices; for, being bold and venturesome, they ascend to mountain plateaus and descend into valleys of all sorts. In our original wild West they formerly pushed far out into the "badlands," wherein their ever-coveted "scalps" and "saddles" were very far from being secure. In the early days, they even lived along the clay bluffs of the upper Missouri and Yellowstone Rivers. —From "Heads and Horns," by W. T. Hornaday, in the September Scribner's.

"The direction of my career was completely changed," said United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge to the writer, "by a careless laugh. When I was a youth in Illinois I heard that the Congressman from our district intended to hold an examination to determine what young man he should appoint to West Point. I pitched in and studied hard for that examination, and found it easy when I came to take it. Most of the other fellows seemed to be still struggling with it when I had finished, and I was so confident that I had made few mistakes that I was in a pretty cheerful frame of mind. This is why I laughed when one of the strugglers asked a rather foolish question of the professor in charge. The latter evidently felt that the dignity of the occasion had been trifled with, for he scored one per cent. against me. When the papers came to be corrected this loss caused me to fall one-fifth of one per cent. below the boy who stood highest on the list. He is a captain in the army now where I suppose I should be had it not been for that laugh. I believe in the power of cheerfulness. Looking back, I am rather glad that I laughed."—Success Magazine for September.

Democratic Sarcasm.

We seem to have arrived at the point at which it can truthfully be said "a Republican can do no wrong." —Burlington Gazette.

Auto's Weakest Part.

Many automobile accidents are caused "by the disarrangement of something connected with the steering gear." Experts tell us that this is the weakest part of an auto, and it is a wonder that the manufacturers have not taken the hint and learned something from experience. —Paterson Call.

Illogical and Untenable.

Looked at from every point of view, the position blindly taken by Paterson representatives that the Passaic River is of right an open sewer, that it should be continued as such, and that all that is needed is to "restore the stolen waters," is utterly illogical and untenable.—Newark Advertiser.

NOTICE!
"In behalf of your proprietary article called AZIENZA CREAM, as a remedy for diseases of the skin, I desire to add my appreciation of its wonderful properties as a cure in a case of Bone Tumor or Abscess of five years growth on my husband's back, which I have cured in less than five weeks time by constant application, and now it is as well as any part of his body. It was cut out once by a specialist and had again grown to a large size, was as hard as a bone and of a very dark purple color. The AZIENZA at once allayed the pain and began to soften it, and in less than eight days, by my pressure upon it, suddenly to my surprise it discharged a quantity of pus, impregnated with a hard, cheesy substance. I kept it open and cleansed it as it discharged and every day would dress it with a plaster of AZIENZA CREAM, until it was entirely healed up. I cannot speak too highly of AZIENZA CREAM and its merits. For inquiry regarding this case you may apply Mr. and Mrs. James, Embury Ave., care Hiller, Ocean Grove, N. J. Signed, July 12, 1905: Mrs. C. W. James, Mr. C. W. James." Leading Druggists, 25c-50c

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

ABOUT VEILS.

Sadly enough, woman is never content to let well enough alone.

To be sure, she has accepted the altogether smart and neat veil which is caught up and securely pinned at the back. The feminine Tom, Dick and Harry cannot compete successfully, as such a veil management means a hat on smart, trim lines, a well-coiffed head and smartness generally. Not so the floating, bedraggled horror which, if revived, is bound to be worn by every feminine from the corner apple woman up the sartorial scale.

A French actress, however, has seen her chance to be conspicuous, and she has worn a hat with next to no brim at the front, and one turned high at the back. And over this tremendous piece of headgear she wore a ring-spotted, broad-hemmed veil, tossed back over the hat. The voluminous ends reach the base of her neck.

One such example, a fresh veil on a smart woman is well enough. The horror comes with the thousands of veils when they have been taggy, and even are not too clean.

The correct morning veil may be either bordered with crepe or with a dull black grosgrain ribbon, and it may be of any mesh that will prove effective over the face. The fashion of the long mourning veil draped in the back is decidedly on the wane, even though much lighter weight materials are now employed. Only for the deepest of widow's mourning is the long black veil employed, and even then it is no longer worn over the face, but is pinned back, and a fine meshed face veil with either of the borders already indicated is employed in front.

The long veil—and there are some who still cling to its use—is best fashioned of either a coarse Brussels or a fine La Tosca net, and this, like the face veils, may be either bordered with crepe or ribbons.

For the face veil, when the border is not used, any of the usual meshes will do, but velvet or chenille dots are not considered mourning, and where the dotted veil is liked the dots must be of mourning silk only. In fact, there are so many and such distinctive little touches where correct mourning is concerned that it will well repay those who are compelled to wear this garb to give some thought to the question, determine what is correct and follow that to the letter.

WHEN GIRLS MAKE LOVE.

The students of psychology and sociology know that women have cultivated an attitude of effeminate coyness along with the thousand and one conventionalities that have been thrust on them. In spite of these opinions, in the days gone by it was almost common for the women as the men to do the courting. Today there are parts of the world where young women feel they are doing nothing wrong by taking this pleasure and responsibility on themselves.

In Polynesia there are no women's clubs and the doctrines of woman's rights have never been heard, and still these half emancipated young girls feel they have the right to extend an offer of marriage to an equal or to an inferior. Their proposals are sometimes accepted, again rejected. When their love is unanswered they do not commit suicide or take poison, as an American novelist might make us believe. They may grieve a little while, only to console themselves with the thought, "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again." These proposals are often spoken in most romantic words.

A Fijian maiden desperately in love with a young man, asked his father if she might love his son, and receiving no encouragement, she said:

"Let me only live outside of his home. I will sleep upon the woodpile. If I may only light his cigarette for him I shall rejoice.

"I may only hear his voice from a distance; it will suffice. Life will be pleasant to me."—Exchange.

SOME RECIPES.

Scrambled Eggs with Tomatoes.—One cup canned tomatoes, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, little pepper. Cook four minutes and add four slightly beaten eggs. Cook until of a creamy consistency, stirring all the time.

Blueberry Biscuits.—One pint flour, two teaspoons butter, one-half teaspoonful salt, milk to moisten, four level teaspoons baking powder, one-quarter cup sugar, one cup berries washed, dried and floured; mix salt, baking powder, sugar, milk and flour; put in butter and mix stiff enough to keep in shape when dropped from spoon; add berries, which should be floured, to keep from settling; drop by spoonful in gem tins; bake twenty minutes.

Mustard Pickles.—One dozen cucumbers, two quarts green tomatoes, two quarts small onions, two heads cauliflower; cut in small pieces, add plenty of salt and let stand over night. Place over fire and allow to come to a boil in salt liquor that forms over night. Drain; add eight peppers cut in small pieces. To two quarts of boiling vinegar add one cup sugar, three tablespoons mustard, three tablespoons flour, one-half ounce tumeric powder, mixed together with a little cold vinegar. Pour over cucumbers, etc.

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1904, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company).

I leaned out and looked at the stars and tried to think of something sweet and wholesome and strengthening.

"Ah, Nance," I cried to myself with a sob—I had pretended to take it lightly enough when he was here, but now—"if you had heard of a girl who, like yourself this evening, unexpectedly met two men she had known, and the good man ignored her and the bad one followed her—oh, Nancy—what sort of a girl would you think she was at heart? What sort of hope could you imagine her treasuring for her own future? And what sort of significance would you attach to—"

And just then the bell rang again.

This time I was sure it was you. And, O Maggie, I ran to the door eager for the touch of your hand and the look in your eyes. I was afraid to be alone with my own thoughts. I was afraid of the conclusion to which they were leading me. Maggie, if ever a girl needed comfort and encouragement and heartening, I did then.

And I got it, dear.

For there was a man at the door, with a great basket of azaleas—pale, innocent things—and a letter for me. Here it is. Let me read it to you:

MY DEAR MISS OMAR:

Once on a time there was a Luckless Pot, marred in the making, that had the luck to be of service to a Pipkin.

It was a saucy Pipkin, though a very winning one, and it had all the health and strength the poor Pot lacked—physically. Morally—morally, that young Pipkin was in a most unwholesome condition. Already its fair, smooth surface was scratched and fouled. It was unmindful of the treasure of good it contained, and its responsibility to keep that good intact. And it seemed destined to crash itself to pieces among pots of baser metal.

What the Luckless Pot did was little—being ignorant of the art by which diamonds may be attained easily and honestly—but it gave the little Pipkin a chance.

What the Pipkin did with that chance the Pot learned to-night, with such pleasure and satisfaction as made it impossible for him not to share it with her. So while he sent Burrett out to the conservatory to cut azaleas, he wrote her a note to try to convey to her what he felt when, in that nicely polished, neatly decorated and self-respecting Vessel on exhibition in Mrs. Gates' red room, he recognized the poor little Pipkin of other days.

The Pot, as you know, was a sort of stranded bit of clay that had never filled the use for which pots are created. He had little human to interest him. The fate of the Pipkin, therefore, he had often pondered on, and, in spite of improbabilities, had had faith in a certain quality of brave sincerity the little thing showed; a quality that shone through acquired faults like a star in a murky sky.

This justification of his faith in the Pipkin may seem a small matter to make so much of. And yet the Pot—that sleeps not well of nights, as is the fate with damaged pots—will take to bed with him to-night a pretty, pleasant thought due jus to this.

But do not think the Pot an idealist. If he were, he might have been tempted to mistake the Pipkin for a stately, more pretentious Vessel—a Vase, say, all graceful curves and embossed sides, but shallow, perhaps, possibly lacking breadth. No, the Pipkin is a pipkin, made of common clay—even though it has the uncommon sweetness and strength to overcome the tendencies of hand fashioned for those common uses of life, deprivation of which to anything that comes from the Potter's hands is the most enduring, the most uncommon sorrow.

O pretty little Pipkin, thank the Potter, who made you as you are, as you will be—a thing that can cheer and stay men's souls by ministering to the human needs of them. For you, be sure, the Potter's "a good fellow and 'twill all be well."

For the Pot—he spells shortly, or rather, he is to be carted abroad by some optimistic friends who, I hope he does not share—to a celebrated repair shop for damaged pots. Whether he shall return, patched and mended into temporary semblance of a useful Vessel; whether he shall continue to be merely the same old Luckless Pot, or whether he shall return at all, O Pipkin, does not matter much.

But it has been well that, before we two behind the veil had passed, we met again, and you left me such a fragrant memory.

LATIMER.

* * * * * * * *

O Maggie, Maggie, some day I hope to see that man and tell him how sorely the Pipkin needed the Pot's letter!

CHAPTER IX.

IT'S all come so quick, Maggie, and it was over so soon that I hardly remember the beginning.

Nobody on earth could have expected it less than I, when I came off in the afternoon. I don't know what I was thinking of as I came into my dressing-room, that used to be Gray's—the sight of him seemed to cut me off from myself as with a knife—but it wasn't of him.

It may have been that I was chuckling to myself at the thought of Nancy Olden with a dressing-room all to herself. I can't ever quite get used to that, you know, though I sail around there with all the airs of the leading lady. Sometimes I see a twinkle in Fred Obermuller's eye when I catch him watching me, and goodness knows he's been glum enough of late, but it wasn't—

Yes, I'm going to tell you, but—it's rattled me a bit, Maggie. I'm so—so sorry, and a little—oh, just a little, little bit glad!

I'd slammed the door behind me—the old place is out of repair and the door won't shut except with a bang—and I had just squatted down on the flood to unbutton my high shoes, when I noticed the chints curtains in front of the high dressing-box waver. They must have moved just like that when I was behind them months—it seems years—ago. But, you see, Topham had never served an apprenticeship behind curtains, so he didn't suspect.

"Lordy, Nancy," I laughed to myself, "some one thinks you've got a rose diamond and—"

And at that moment he parted the curtains and came out.

Yes—Tom—Tom Dorgan.

My heart came beating up to my throat and then, just as I thought I should choke, it slid down to my boots, sickening me. I didn't say a word. I sat there, my foot in my lap, staring at him.

Oh, Maggie-girl, it isn't good to get your first glimpse after all these months of the man you love crouched like a big bull in a small space, poking his close-cropped black head out like a turtle that's not sure something won't be thrown at it, and then dragging his big bulk out and standing over you. He used to be trim—Tom—and taut, but in those shapeless things, the old trousers, the dirty white shirt, and the vest too big for him—

"Well," he said, "why don't you say something?"

Tom's voice—Mag, do you remember, the merry Irish boy's voice, with its chuckles like a brook gurgling as it runs?

No—'tisn't the same voice. It's—it's changed, Maggie. It's heavy and—and coarse—and—brutal. That's what it is. It sounds like—like the knout, like—

"Nance—what in hell's—"

"I think I'm—frightened, Tom."

"Oh, the ladyfied airs of her! Ain't you going to faint, Miss Olden?"

I got up.

"No—no. Sit down, Tom. Tell me about it. How—how did you get here?"

He went to the door, opened it a bit and looked out cautiously. Mag—Mag—it hurt me—that. Why, do you suppose?

"You're sure nobody'll come in?" he asked.

MILLIKEN BROTHERS TO BUILD ROLLING MILLS

FORMER PLAINFIELDERS PLAN GREAT PLANT ON STATEN ISLAND.

It is expected that within three months the Milliken Brothers, formerly of this city, who employ many Elizabeth men in their extensive plant on Staten Island, directly opposite Elizabeth, will begin the construction of rolling mills for the purpose of rolling structural shapes and plates. The necessity for this has arisen through the growth of their business and a desire to keep pace with their export trade, which has increased extensively in the past few years. The erection of the new plant will mean the employment of more men and increased opportunities for workingmen in this vicinity.

A reporter yesterday had a talk with Superintendent Marlow, who is at the head of the Staten Island plant. Mr. Marlow stated that estimates are now being made of the cost of the contemplated additions to the plant. These will not be completed until about three months from today. Until then it will not be possible to say just how large the rolling mill will be, nor how many additional men will be taken on. When the figures now being gone over by experts have been submitted to the firm, it is planned that the work of construction shall begin. It was stated that the purchase of a site for the new works is unnecessary, for the company already has sufficient holdings in land on Staten Island to meet the contemplated improvement and enough also for yet more buildings, should the future needs of the concern demand them.

The report was denied that in the recent reorganization of the company some new interests were taken in. The $2,500,000 of capital stock of the reorganized firm is owned entirely by Edward F. Milliken and Foster Milliken. Two new men of reputation in the steel business have been taken into the Milliken concern. They are George L. Reis, general manager of the Illinois Steel Company and lately general manager of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, at Buffalo, and Alexander F. Hamilton, lately chief engineer of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company.

In addition to his statement that experts are figuring on the cost of rolling mills, Mr. Marlow gave out the following typewritten statement:

"Several reports have appeared in the daily press relative to the business of Milliken Brothers, and as these reports, in many cases, are incorrect and misleading and published without their knowledge or consent, they desire at this time to make the following statement:

"This firm has now been engaged in the steel and iron business in New York City for nearly fifty years. The business has grown very rapidly in the last few years and now extends to all quarters of the globe. In order to more conveniently handle this business, it has been decided to conduct it under the name of Milliken Brothers, Incorporated. The new corporation of Milliken Brothers has a capital of $2,500,000, and the stock is held entirely by Edward F. Milliken and Foster Milliken—the sole owners of the present business—and no new interests are included in the new arrangement. The business in future will be conducted the same as in the past.

"As far as the reports are concerned on the building of an open hearth steel plant and rolling mill to roll the raw material used by them, no plans have been definitely decided on, nor will any definite action be taken in connection with this matter for several months yet.

"Milliken Brothers, Incorporated, may decide, however, to build rolling mills for the purpose of rolling structural shapes and plates, as the necessity for doing so has become apparent to them in order to hold and control their vast export business, and their location on tide water is advantageously situated for export trade. George L. Reis, formerly general manager of the Illinois Steel Company and lately general manager of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, at Buffalo, N. Y., and Alexander K. Hamilton, lately chief engineer of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, have entered their employment. No association of outside interests or manufacturers is contemplated in case this proposed steel plant should be built.

"They are not engaged in the purchase of any additional property at Staten Island, as they already have a site more than ample for their present bridge and structural steel plant and rolling mill, should they decide to build the latter. This site is probably one of the largest in New York City, covering several hundred acres of ground, with over one-third of a mile of water front. It is located on the north shore of Staten Island."

From other sources it was learned that the building of the rolling mills is practically a certainty.

From its little view-point, the Westfield Standard attributes its loss of games to Plainfield to luck and dumb umpiring, not recognizing the fact that in nearly every game Plainfield has outbatted and outfielded its opponents. Here are a few gems from this week's issue of the Standard:

"Waller was certainly sore over the loss of such a well fought game. In fact, every local man was nerved to win."

"The position now is that Westfield must win all of the remaining games to capture the series. While this is not probable, it is possible, and there will be no let down by the local management to make the fight to a finish. Of the five games played, Plainfield has but one over which they are entitled to crow. The teams are fit to fight every game brilliantly and luck and dumb umpiring has been the factor which has robbed Westfield of two games."

"It is poor judgment for an umpire to 'get back' at a player. Henning had no right to call Mallen out on strikes. When Mallen objected to a strike decision he left the box to do so, and it was Henning's legal duty to order Mallen back to the box. There was no ruling permitting Henning to call the final strike when Mallen was out of the box."

"The training of men like Bertwhistle and McCormick was noticeable in the game. Both are about equal as recognized sluggers. Yet McCormick's judgment in his attempts to place hits shows his betterment in training over Bertwhistle. Bertwhistle's anxiety to put the ball out of the lot Saturday gave no results, while McCormick placed three hits to his credit by using his head."

AMUSEMENTS

The attraction at the Plainfield theatre Tuesday night of next week will be the great success of last season, "The Sign of the Cross." It is to be presented by an excellent cast and with a superb mounting of scenery. Popular prices will prevail and the seat sale is now on.

In "Deserted at the Altar," which comes to the Plainfield theatre tonight, we are taken by the author, Mr. Kingsley, first to the home of an Adirondack Mountain guide and introduced to the leading characters in the midst of the most charming surroundings. The Adirondacks in their most beautiful garb, the trees with their autumnal coloring and the mountain peaks in the distance. Here the pretty daughter of the guide becomes enamored with one of their summer boarders and eventually runs away to New York to be married to him. But here trouble begins and in a most realistic church scene, before the very altar, the bride is deserted by her lover through the trickery of their enemies. Then follows an exciting race between an automobile in which the bride is being carried off, with a bicycle in hot pursuit. Next we are taken to a counterfeiter's den where the hero has been held a prisoner and we are shown a thrilling rescue by Secret Service men. In the final act we are again in the mountain home where the daughter and her sweetheart are finally re-united with her parents and the guilty all brought to justice. The scenic effects are elaborate and combined with the electric display make a most gorgeous picture. The production is in the hands of a strong cast and a first-class scenic performance is guaranteed.

"The Street Singer" Pleases.

Jessie Mae Hall and her excellent company gave a highly creditable performance of Hal Reid's musical comedy, "The Street Singer," at the New Plainfield theatre last night. Miss Hall won favor from the first by her clever work, and frequent applause was given throughout. In the third act, where Miss Hall appears as "The Street Singer," with the hurdy-gurdy, she was showered with coins from occupants of the boxes and in the main part of the house.

CZAR MAY BE YIELDING

Said to Have Sent Dispatches to Witte Which Gives Hope of Peace.

ENVOYS ADJOURN

Sessions of Portsmouth Conference May be Postponed to Allow Time for Interchanges Regarding Compromise.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26, 2.20 A. M.—According to information coming from a member of the imperial family the Associated Press learns that a despatch was sent to Mr. Witte yesterday, which is considered at Peterhof as offering a decided hope of peace.

The "Slovo's" Portsmouth correspondent, Mr. Briantchaninoff, reporting the arrival of an eagerly expected despatch, quotes Mr. Witte as saying that his endeavor to influence St. Petersburg was more successful than he expected.

The correspondent adds that there is grounds for hope, as an agreement in principle has been reached, and tne question now hinges on the amount of the sum.

Everybody in St. Petersburg is awaiting the developments of today in the peace move and hoping that a compromise is being effected, the most likely basis of which, it is believed, would be no indemnity, but a payment for Sakhalin, to be left for future adjustment.

In fact, it was asserted yesterday in an exceptionally well informed quarter that this was the only possible basis for a compromise.

The belief is expressed in some quarters that there will be no session at Portsmouth today and the Associated Press is informed on excellent authority that a further adjournment could be taken as a most hopeful sign, as it would prove that serious efforts looking to a compromise were continuing.

Up to 8 o'clock last evening Ambassador Meyer had received no message from Washington. The idea that President Rosevelt might again communicate with the Emperor through the American Ambassador finds credence in certain official quarters.

The exchange of telegrams between Portsmouth and the Foreign Office continues, but the nature of these despatches is a most carefully guarded secret. It can be asserted, however, on the best authority, that any suggestion to Russia from any source whatever that she assent to the payment of indemnity would be most unwelcome, though a sincere desire for peace leaves her open for the suggestion of a compromise on other grounds.

Russia is showing no nervousness regarding the outcome of the negotiations. The Emperor is calm and serene and evidences of confidence in his decision and the couse he is pursuing in the conviction that Russia has conceded all sne can are noticeable among all intelligent classes.

JERSEY BRAVES GOING TO RED MEN'S COUNCIL

PAST SACHEM NEWCORN, OF THIS CITY, TO MAKE THE TRIP.

The great council of the United States, Improved Order of Red Men, will meet in Nashville, Tenn., five days, beginning September 10. The delegates from the great council of this State will be Judge Frederick P. Rees, of Trenton; former Mayor Joseph E. Nowery, Camden; James Cummings, Camden; Harry Lamsen, Paulsboro; Harry Mack, South Amboy; Dr. Walter Whitmore, Oceanic; James Snyder, Belvidere, and Blanchard White, Pemberton.

The New Jersey delegation, together with the representatives of the other eastern States, will make the trip to Nashville in a special train, leaving Broad Street station, Philadelphia, September 8. The train will go through the Cumberland Valley to Hagerstown, Md., where a short stop will be made. They will then proceed down the Shenandoah Valley over the Norfolk and Western Railroad to Luray Caverns. The next stop will be the Natural Bridge, then to Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain, and will arrive in Marshallville at 6:55 p. m. September 10.

The following members of the order will accompany the delegates to the council: Past Grand Sachem William Necworn and wife, of this city; Past Grand Sachem Reuben Bowen, Bridgeton; Past Grand Sachem Arthur Stiles, Atlantic City; Great Chief of Records Daniel M. Stevens, Camden; Great Keeper of Wampum William J. Smythe, Jr., Long Branch.

The session of the council will be held in the Senate chamber of the Tennessee capitol.

After the council adjourns Mr. and Mrs. Newcorn will spend some time in sightseeing before returning home.

Miss Ethel Lorton, of Watchung avenue, and Miss Ethel Van Winkle, of Central avenue, returned home today after a delightful month's vacation spent at Gladstone, Bernardsville and other places of note in Somerset county.

NEW YORK AHEAD IN THE SEA GIRT TOURNEY

WINS FIRST HONOR IN THE UNCOMPLETED INDIVIDUAL.

Sea Girt, Aug. 26.—New York won first honors in the uncompleted National Individual match yesterday. Captain George W. Corwin, of the Seventy-first Regiment, put up the top score for slow fire with a total of 182 points out of possible 200 for 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards and captured the gold medal offered for the highest aggregate at the slow fire ranges.

Captain B. B. McAlpin, of the Seventh New York, was a close second with a total of 180. The score of Sergeant Doyle, of the Seventy-first, out of a possible 50 at 600 yards, was the best individual feat of the day's work, for he ran off nine bullseyes and one three in rain driven before a wind which at one time attained a velocity of twenty-eight miles. The weather conditions were miserable.

Following an hour of clear weather, in which the 300-yard range was finished, a northeaster struck the range. The last shot at 600 yards was fired at 4:30 o'clock. Considering the conditions, the scores made by the more exeprienced shots, who were undaunted by the baffling change, were little short of remarkable.

No attempt was made at rapid fire at the conclusion of the slow fire, but today the first relay of competitors will lineup for the 200-yard range. Rapid fire at this range and at 500 yards occupied most of the morning hours. Skirmish runs and the individual pistol match were run off.

The total scores for slow fire made by fourteen leading men for the four ranges were: Captain Corwin, New York, 182; Captain McAlpin, New York, 180; Lieutenant Austin, Georgia, 179; Boatswain Hamilton, navy, 180; Sergeant Gale, Illinois, 177; Lieutenant Ranney, New York, 177; Major Walsh, Montana, 177; Sergeant Lent, New York, 177; Sergeant Lynn, Florida, 176; Corporal Stevens, S. M. C., 176; Captain Darlington, Washington, 176; Lieutenant Colonel Reichelderfer, 176; Sergeant Hadson, New Jersey, 176; Private Durward, Massachusetts, 176.

WEALTHY RESIDENTS WANT NO UNSIGHTLY POLES

BERNARDSVILLE COLONY ORGANIZE TO PROTECT ITS BEAUTY.

Somerville, Aug. 26.—The rich folk of the New York colony in the Barnards Hills do not like to see telephone and electric light poles along the country roads, and they are taking action to have all wires in the district placed underground. The colony has organized the Mine Brook Property Owners' Association, which announces that its object is to protect Mine Brook and the highway and valley between Far Hills and Bernardsville against the intrusion of objectionable enterprises, elements or structures.

One of the objectionable enterprises which the association is prepared to fight is the electric light company controlled by State Senator Samuel Childs, of Childs restaurant fame. The association has notified the electric light company that it is opposed to its present system of overhead wires, which greatly mars the beauty of the country highways, and that it will oppose any further extension of pole lines on the highways along the property of the members.

As the members of the association own about all the property between Far Hills and Bernardsville, a distance of five miles, the electric light company will be forced to comply with the wishes of the association or go out of business. The association urges, however, that the company and the property owners who desire electric light and telephone service come together under an arrangement by which the wires can be laid underground on a plane that will proportion the extra expense between the company and the property owners.

The members of the association are former Judge John F. Dillon, F. W. Lindabury, Charles S. Horan, Charles F. Squibb, Grant B. Schley, Grant B. Schley, Jr., George Bergen, C. Parker, Edward R. Greene, B. Kaufman, John H. Dillon, W. G. Ladd. The officers are: R. V. Lindabury, president; G. B. Schley, Jr., treasurer, and William H. Page, Jr., secretary. The members have agreed to plant maple trees every thirty feet on each side of the Mine Brook road between Far Hills and Bernardsville.

The association will oppose the colonization of Italians in the Mine Brook district and the construction of trolley roads that will tend to mar the beauty and seclusion of the district. The Bernards Hills, known as the Berkshires of New Jersey, contain more palatial residences than any other section of the State. It is said that 150 millionaires daily drive to the pretty little railroad station among the hills and are carried to New York and other cities.

THE FORUM.

Editor The Daily Press:

In last week's issue of H. H. Webb's paper appears an editorial which states in effect that the officials of the borough are dishonest and are not treating the people fairly.

I have been making search for evidence of such dishonesty or unfair treatment of the public. The most glaring instance which I have so far discovered is the following: For some years past H. H. Webb has been conducting a printing office, containing expensive printing presses, type and machinery suitable for that business, at No. 39 Somerset street, by means of which he has been printing the newspaper which contained the editorial in question. The assessor's books show that Webb has been assessed for the purpose of taxation upon that property at the sum of $300. A short time ago a responsible man endeavored to buy the outfit, and Webb asked for it $4,000, and said it was well worth it. He paid taxes on a valuation of $300 on property which he says is well worth $4,000. There is honesty and fair treatment with a vengeance.

Having discovered the value which Webb placed upon this property, I asked the assessor, while the borough Council was recently examining his books, whether he, the assessor, considered $300 a fair valuation of Webb's property for taxation. The assessor said he really thought it was too low; that he had wanted to increase it a year ago, but that Webb would not agree to an increase. Just why he thought it necessary to get Webb's consent in order to perform his duty as assessor, he did not explain. Possibly he thought that Webb would call him dishonest and unfair to the public if he made the valuation higher.

The Council increased Webb's assessed valuation to $1,000. Upon nis own statement it ought to be double that.

Perhaps he will call that dishonesty and unfair treatment.

What Webb wants is to do all the public printing, and to get hold of some of the money paid into the treasury by other taxpayers who are not so fortunate as to have the assessor consult their wishes in placing valuations upon their property. He objects to paying taxes upon the same basis as other citizens. Yet he sets himself up as a moralist, and charges the borough government with being dishonest and unfair.

This is a fair sample of an element in the borough which has been trying to fool the public for the past year or two, but without much success.

ROWDYISM MARS GAME AGAIN; WALLER ARRESTED

Westfield Pitcher in Rage, Throws Ball At Umpire.

CROWD PILES ON HIM

Thrown Down and Kicked, Cops Rescuing Him Just in Time —Commuters Win, Seven to Two.

Attended by vivid flashes of temper from J. Waller, which culminated in a thrilling head-on collision between John and the Hon. J. Cloutem Merity, the ump, the onrushing Commuters pushed themselves to within one jump of the glad rag on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. They collected four useless but ornamental marks, thus: 7 to 2.

From out the personal difference between Red and the ump, to which bald reference has been made, a little riot and a lot of frenzied excitement sprouted. At the game in Recreation Park, the week before, we lost a half of the gory double-header. We were hoggish Saturday afternoon and took the decision in both numbers. We won the riot by one broken face, which was the margin by which the other explosion was lost. The fuss is claimed for us because our ump raised a real big lump on Red's earnest countenance, and two of our lion-hearted chivalry kicked out one of his front teeth and booted a kink in his left shoulder after the ump got him down. Although the honors of war are clearly tied, no arrangements for a deciding grapple have been broached. If somebody will get the enemy down in the next mixup we will bet our chivalry can be counted on to kick out a decision.

Red was severely punished for his disregard of the proprieties to be observed in a quiet country game, with only a leagueless pennant at stake. In addition to getting mauled, he was pinched and had to listen to a Sunday School talk from City Judge Runyon.

Red blew himself out of the game and into the coop in the seventh inning. The Commuters were five runs to the good and the Pirates had only two. Red had been petulant since the first inning, when the Commuter band started to card, and he was feeling real vexed at Merity for the way things were going. This is the usual fate of the hard working ump, especially if he belongs to the opposition management. Whenever a flinger sees his side losing he scowls at the ump and refuses to see any good in him. Jack was mad at his mates, too, because he thought they hadn't worked like they should, and not being in a position to express his sentiments properly to them, he threw all his peevishness at the inflexible arbiter.

Kiernan opened the fateful inning with a two-base smash to right and went to third on Cosgrove's safe bunt. Dan Connolly stabbed one to Tommy Barry and Happy streaked for home. Happy shot his number nines, thrust gracefully in front of him, across the plate as Cotter jerked the ball out of the air and pushed it at the plowing Commuter. The ump said Pete was O. K. and Paddy silently tossed the ball back to Red. It was a close decision, but nobody outside of the umpire was in the right position for judging. As Happy slid in with his underpinnings to the fore, Red, from his box, was not in the best position for judging the side on which the haid-breadth decision should fall.

But against the best telepathic advice, fired at him from the strained and nervous admirers of the Hague Tribunal in the populous grandstand, Red glared with scorn and hate at the ump. Then, with thick and unadulterated emotion coursing up and down his face, he chucked the ball at Merity's solar plexus. There was a wide out curve to the fling and the plexus kept on working. The intrepid ump walked firmly in the direction of the bombardment and the bombarder sallied forth. They met halfway with outstretched hands, Jack's outstretch halting gracefully on Red's righthand cheekbone, and Red's horizontal extension ending suddenly on Jack's lovelock. Thereupon they fell in one another's arms and kicked up a lot of dust. Jack got a hammerlock hold, executed a sidestep, and put Red down for a fall.

Then the chivalry and the cops flocked to the center of hostilities. Two of the chivalry beat the cops out, and heroically assisted Jack by jumping on all the available portions of Red's anatomy. If Cop John Payne, who is a new man and loves to do his duty, even when a Westfield player is being kicked stiff, hadn't raced up and pulled the intrepid kickers off, Red would now be looking for an engagement in the New Jerusalem League, where umpires cease from troubling and hitting is no more.

When Red was dug from underneath the pile of Merity and shoe leather, one of his bicuspid biters was missing and his left shoulder blade was too sore to work. He had a general feeling of lassitude and a visible bump where Jack's honest hand collided with him. Jack was unmarked and as fresh as a daisy. He is celebrated throughout the metropolitan district as the only ump who can fight in any class and get the decision without losing gore or sections of his natural covering. This is a useful accomplisnment in an ump, particularly one who earns his keep in a Westfield-Plainfield series. If Jack keeps on he will qualify to run the New York-Pittsburg games.

The flinger and the ump, surrounded by a cordon of cops with real clubs in their hands, were the center of a thick and surging crowd. Red's life was demanded several times in audible tones, but the cops refused to give it up and rubbed their refusal in by chasing the crowd back to their seats. Red was placed under arrest by order of Chief Kiely, who loves all umpires except Dick Watt and frowns on every attempt to reduce their number by violent means.

When Red was steered across the field, with his salary arm tightly clutched by the hand of the law, the populace yelped with joy. Close on the heels of the pinch procession came J. Merity, the thumping ump, unscarred and breathing easily. Wild cheers greeted him, the beauty as well as the chivalry hailing Jack as a hero. Thus did the hardworking ump come into his own.

It took fifteen minutes to restore quiet to the ballyard. When the dove of peace finally descended and the struggle went on, James Lawrence Bertwhistle advanced from left field to the firing line. Jim is the substitute twirler, and is expected to nil in these unexpected holes without sloshing around too much. One Johnson, who had been playing in right, sniffed to Jim's place, and an earnest-looking youth named Cunningham took up the burden in right.

Bert was regarded as a joke in the box, but there wasn't so much to laugh at after he discovered where the rubber arrangement was located. He passed three, but he struck out two, which is as much as Red did in six and a half innings, and Deegan did in the whole nine, and he stopped the hitting. Cosgrave and Connolly came in in the seventh, but they were Red's left-overs, and Bert hadn't had time to settle down.

Until overshadowed by the explosion and expulsion of the Pirate slingmeister, the game was a real enjoyable exhibit. Errors figured now and then, but both teams were lively. Opportune hitting and teaminess did the trick for the Commuters, and Deegan's foxiness in distributing welts saved his mates from suffering the consequences of landing two hits less than the enemy.

Three new men gambolled in the Pirate uniform. Johnson covered rightgt in Harry McCormack's place and Morris had Patience's job at second. Cunningham was on the bench, going into right, as we remarked once before, when the riot shift was made. In the agitation attendant on the excitment the Pirate press agent failed to hand out copy on the new men, and we don't where they come from or anything biographical in regard to their past history or mode of life and religion. Johnson got two hits and Morris one, and they worked well in harness. Cunningham didn't have a chance to expose himself in his true colors.

All this time, while we have been following the gay fortunes of the lighthearted ball players, the sad and penitent Red has been sitting moodily in the jug, using the forced smile overtime. Red thought he was going to be sent to jail for life and fined a bunch of money, but the cops and the judge gave him a cute little surprise. The officers didn't lock him up in a cell like a real naughty youth, and sent a hurry-up call for the judge. When his honor came, he had a pow-wow with Managers Daab and Denman and they framed up a scolding and a suspended sentence for the riot breeder.

The judge gave Red a real nice talking to. He told Red he liked him and his style of playing a heap, and put the salve on so thick Red began to wonder why they didn't give him a house and lot instead of pinching him. In soft and eloquent tones the judge went on to point out that the patrons of the game didn't travel into the country to see a nine-inning prize fight, but demanded nice, clean, spotless baseball. Closing with the tremolo pedal on, the judge told Red that he would be satisfied if he, the ump-hunting flinger, would electrify the audience by parting from Jack Merity, the subduer of bad ball players, in peace and loving kindness.

At a signal from the judge, the ump rose from a seat and ranged himself beside Red, and the thrill-

BURIED BENEATH BRICKS

JUMPED WRONG WAY

Dug Out and Sent to Hospital—Not Badly Hurt—Objected to Riding in Patrol Wagon.

Caught by the fall of a sixteen-foot wall, Charles E. Hurley, colored, forty-four years old, of Scotch Plains, an employe of Aleck Kane, the house wrecker, was buried beneath a mass of bricks on Park avenue this forenoon. When dug from beneath the pile he was in a half-conscious state, and his head and face were cut in half a dozen places. He was taken to the hospital, where doctors said it didn't look as if he was seriously hurt.

Hurley is one of a gang of men engaged in tearing down the row of old buildings between Clifton & Campbell's office and the Trust Company's building, to make way for the proposed McCutchen structure. He and a Slav laborer, whose name nobody could pronounce, had jacked up the rear wall and one of the side walls, preparatory to ramming them over.

While the men were pottering at the jacks, both walls began to topple. The other workmen yelled to Hurley and the Slav and both sprang away. The Slav jumped clear, but Hurley leaped directly under the rear wall as it came crashing down.

He was knocked flat on his back and disappeared from sight beneath the bricks. Three workmen and Patrolman Overbaugh, who was standing a few feet away from the scene of the accident, rushed to the pile of bricks and dug through the mass with their hands. They cleared Hurley's form in a few minutes, and Overbaugh sent in a call for the patrol wagon. Somebody called out the ambulance, but the police wagon was on the scene first and carried the injured man away. While the men were still digging Hurley free, Dr. Endicott joined the crowd. He examined the man and advised his removal to Muhlenberg.

Hurley was too dazed to realize where he was being taken, and objected to riding in the hurry-up wagon. He thought he was arrested, and tried to break loose from Overbaugh and a workman who was helping the officer put nim in the wagon. They were forced to hold him in the wagon all the way to the hospital.

BAD BOYS LEFT FREE.

State Home Overcrowded and Judges Are Suspending Sentence.

New Brunswick, Aug. 28.—The State Home is full to overflowing and the judges have been informed by the authorities there that they have no more room for newcomers.

Judge Woodbridge Strong, the oldest judge in the State, on being asked by Justice Hayter, of this city, to commit an Italian boy to the State Home on the complaint of the father, said he could not do so.

"It seems," said the judge, "as if the misbehaved boy under sixteen years of age would have his liberty, for a time at least. There is no room in the State Home, and under sixteen they cannot be sent to the State Reformatory at Rahway. The law also provides that boys of that age must be kept separate from other prisoners."

Sylvester Randolph's Funeral.

The funeral services of Sylvester F. Randolph were held Saturday afternoon from the late home in West Eighth street, where there was a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. J. W. Musson, pastor of Faith chapel, had charge of the services, and he also made a few appropriate remarks. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. Lester G. Leggett, formerly of this city, who also made a short address, and Rev. George Mooney, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, who read the Scripture. There was a large display of floral tributes. Interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Plainfielder Goes to Convention.

Civil Engineer F. A. Dunham left this morning for Port Huron, Mich., to attend the National Convention of American Road Makers, to be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. It is expected that the meeting will be one of great interest to those who are interestd in the question of better roads, as many of the representative men from all parts of the country have signified their intention of being present and taking part in the proceedings of the convention. Mr. Dunham has been appointed by the Governor as delegate to the convention from New Jersey.

TIMBO CLUB'S OUTING PROVES A GREAT SUCCESS

SECOND ANNUAL AFFAIR ENJOYED AT LAKE HOPATCONG.

With Lake Hopatcong as their destination, 125 members and friends of the Timbo Social Club went on the organization's second annual outing, yesterday. Though last year's affair was enjoyable in many respects it was not a marker to its successor and it will probably stand as the best for years to come.

The trip to New Jersey's largest and prettiest water sheet was made in three special cars attached to the regular excursion train from New York. One of them was a combination baggage loaded with the good things of life, heavily iced and presided over by a corps of five picked waiters. The Beneddi Brothers, of Newark, the well known vocalists and musicians, were on board and furnished entertainment both ways. The Timboites landed first at Minnisink, at which place a lunch was served and after an hour of athletic games and other diversions, adjournment was made to the American House, where a full course dinner awaited them. While it was in progress, President Timbo was called upon for a speech and responded with an oration that surprised even his most intimate friends. He warmly thanked the gathering for the large turnout and for the many honors conferred upon him during the club's existence and in closing touched upon the Russian-Japanese conference at Portsmouth the proceedings of which he has followed with great interest and is thoroughly conversant.

The remainder of the day was passed in "taking in" the various amusements the lake affords and the return trip was commenced at 6:30. The committee which arranged and to whom credit is due for the complete success of the whole affair comprised Henry Wierenga, chairman; Frank Schuck, James J. Kane, Theodore Larew and H. P. Greenwood.

LARGEST ATTENDANCE OF THE SEASON AT THE MEETING YESTERDAY.

That interest in the work at the Netherwood Home is still very keen was shown by the largest attendance of the season at the meeting yesterday afternoon. The meeting was in charge of a delegation from Hope chapel, Elizabeth, presided over by Clarence A. Titus, an interested worker in the camp since its organization. Mr. Titus surprised the large gathering by showing them the vast knowledge the children had of Scriptures, taught them at the Home. A solo, "Saved by Grace," was rendered by Miss Florence Smalley, and hymns, led by L. D. H. Gilmore, of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, followed. The speaker of the day was the Rev. William B. Hamilton, pastor of Hope chapel, Elizabeth.

The songs, "Riches of Love" and "Go, Gather Them Up," were given by a male quartette of the Hope chapel, Elizabeth, composed of A. L. Loveland, Thomas Beale, Aaron Crane and C. A. Titus. E. H. Guest and DeWitt Frazee, on the cornet, and Miss Augusta Hooker, of Elizabeth, on the organ, acted as accompanists. Next Sunday will be the final meeting of the season after which all the children will be taken to their homes in New York.

HE WAS IN THE FUSS.

Young Man With Two Names Pinched On Ball Field.

There was one other arrest at the ball game besides "Red" Waller's, as a consequence of the assault on Umpire Merity Saturday afternoon. A young man who joined the rush to the struggling pair refused to behave himself when the cops told him to stand back, was taken to the station along with the pitcher. He gave his name as John Langdon, but a man who knows him said later that his right name was Delaney. He is a moulder in the Pond Tool Works foundry.

He was arraigned a short time after his arrest, when the Waller case had been disposed of. He was inclined to be fresh, and wanted to argue about his arrest after Judge Runyon had suspended sentence, but he subsided when Andrew McCardell, boss of the Pond foundry, who was in the court room, told him to take what was given to him and be satisfied. It was probably a good thing for Langdon-Delaney that Mr. McCardell was there to give him advice, because Judge Runyon's face had begun to take on his ten-dollar-or-twenty-days expression.

CRAP SHOOTERS RAIDED

Borough Cops Swoop Down on Game and Bag Six Prisoners.

OTHERS GET AWAY

Chief Weiss Executes a Clever Move in Getting Inside the Picket Line Before the Alarm Could Be Given.

Chief Marshal Weiss and Marshals Myers and Emmons, of the borough police force, raided a crap game under the Farragut avenue bridge yesterday afternoon. When the cops swooped down on the gamblers a crowd of about forty young fellows were under the structure. Six of them were captured, the others getting away by quick sprinting.

The prisoners are Peter Uhdal, August Sutterlein, Fred Ammon, John Caulfield, Edward Britton and one "Squinty" Drake. They will be arraigned before Recorder Doud in the borough police court tonight.

Chief Weiss was told last week that crap games, in which fifty or more boys and youths usually engaged, had become weekly features under the Farragut avenue bridge. He made plans at once to break the game up.

The chief and his men drove down to the bridge concealed in the rear of a grocery wagon. The wagon was driven close to the bridge and the cops jumped out with a rush. A lookout spotted them and yelled a warning. The gang broke and ran in all directions. Some jumped into the brook and sacrificed Sunday clothes to the freedom of the Union county bank. Each cop had just time to round up two men before the gang was out of reach.

The prisoners gave $10 cash bail for their appearance tonight.

FOUR CASES ON POLICE COURT LIST TODAY

FOREIGNER GETS TEN DAYS FOR VAGRANCY—MOULDER BANISHED.

Charles English, arrested Saturday night for drunkenness, on East Front street, was released under suspended sentence on his promise to leave town. English is an itinerant iron moulder.

Foster Sprague, charged with helpless drunkenness, was allowed to go without conditions.

A Bohemian with an unpronounceable name and a scant acquaintance with the English language, was arraigned as a vagrant. He was picked up on Liberty street Saturday night. He got ten days.

William H. Breem, a deaf painter, was charged with throwing beer at a bartender and otherwise disturbin the calm and quietude of a Front street saloon Saturday night. He looked penitent and Judge Runyon waved his hand toward the street door. Breem correctly interpreted the sign and hurried out.

DR. LONG SELLS.

His Property on Park Avenue is Bought by Sigmund Frucht.

Through the real estate agency of Albert Lederer, Dr. Monroe B. Long, of Park avenue, has sold his residence property to Sigmund Frucht, and the latter intends to locate his bicycle business there. The property is 74x165 feet, and the purchase price is about $11,000.

Dr. Long has purchased the Stewart property on Park avenue, below Eighth street, through the agency of John P. Emmons, and he will move there about October 1, when Mr. Frucht will get possession of his property.

Helen G. LaMair Dead.

Helen G. LaMair, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John LaMair, of Steiner place, North Plainfield, died yesterday, following a short illness. The funeral services will be held from the home of the parents tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

EX-MAYOR FISK'S BROTHER IN A $900,000 SCHEME

WITH SIX OTHERS PLANS TO BUILD AN "APARTMENT CLUBHOUSE."

An apartment house conducted on the general plan fo a clubhouse is the latest solution to be applied to the problem of how to get the best out of life in New York with the least worry. The experiment is to be tried by a group of wealthy New Yorkers, headed by Wilbur C. Fisk, of the banking firm of Harvey Fisk & Sons, and a brother to former Mayor Charles J. Fisk.

The seven members composing the group have formed a close stock corporation, known as the Home Club, which has purchased a site at 11 to 15 East Forty-fifth street, near Fifth avenue. The design for the apartment house has been drawn by Gordon, Tracy & Swartwout,, architects, of 224 Fifth avenue, of which firm Tracy is a Plainfielder, and it was filed Saturday with the Bureau of Buildings. The structure and site will represent an investment of $900,000.

The building is to be nine stories, with a frontage of seventy-five feet. Each of the seven upper stories is to be laid out in one apartment, each containing somewhat more space than a five story private dwelling of the usual type on an ordinary lot. The two lower floors will be used to carry out the club features of the experiment.

The ground level will be given up to a spacious entrance and driveway and a large garden, together with reception and billiard rooms and offices. On the second story will be the club drawing rooms, library, smoking room and a big dining room.

There will also be dining rooms in the individual apartments, but no kitchens. Members of the club may be served either in their private dining rooms or in the public dining room. In either case the service is furnished from the club's kitchens. Special elevators, containing electric heaters, will connect with the butler's pantry in each apartment. A roof garden will be enjoyed in common.

The building is designed throughout to meet the requirements of a home life involving neither the responsibilities of housekeeping nor the cramped conditions of an apartment hotel. Corporate ownership of apartment houses by their residents has in a few instances been tried before in New York, but this, so far as known, is the first apartment club.

HALLIWELL FREED; WILL LEAVE STATE

FARMHAND WHO TERRIFIED OAK TREE HOUSEHOLD ESCAPES PROSECUTION.

Lee Halliwell, who was jailed on August 4 upon the complaint of David M. Kellogg, a wealthy New Yorker who lives on the Holly place at Oak Tree, on the charge of assault, was released Saturday by Judge Strong under a suspension of sentence. Halliwell promised to leave the State upon the court thus disposing of the case and told the Judge if he ever came back he would be willing to have them put him in jail.

When court convened Saturday Prosecutor Berdine said he had notified Lawyer Kellogg to be in court, but that the lawyer had told the officer that he had business in New York and could not get there. Another witness was in Newark and another in Boston.

Judge Strong said the lawyer had been to see him about the case and he had Halliwell brought over from jail. He is a clever looking young fellow of athletic build and well dressed. The Judge told him that Mr. Kellogg was not desirous of having the man punished if he would stay away from him. He had not suffered any great physical injury but was humiliated by the insult he had received at Halliwell's hands.

Halliwell told the court he lived at Nashville and had been in New York but four months. Kellogg got him through an employment agency. He expressed a willingness to remain out of the State if released and the court let him go with that understanding.

Halliwell has served in the army at Manila. He and the lawyer had some dispute over the amount of his wages and Halliwell knocked him down and raised a disturbance that terrorized the household and attracted all the neighbors within hearing.

Discussed New Primary Law.

The Somerset County Democratic Committee met at Somerville, Saturday. The greater part of the session was devoted to the discussion of the new primary law. Those from North Plainfield were D. J. Carney and Walter Linbarger.

WALLER'S ACT DEPLORED

MAKES A STATEMENT

Expresses Sorrow That It Happened But Still Thinks That Merity Gave a Rank Decision.

Universal regret has been expressed among the patrons of the Westfield-Plainfield series, irrespective of partisanship, over the act of "Red" Waller, the Westfield pitcher, in losing his temper and flinging the ball at Umpire Jack Merity at Saturday's game. Waller himself regrets the incident, and said so frankly after it had ended.

Some fear that the series would be abruptly terminated on account of the rowdyism that had cropped up in the last two games was expressed in many quarters after the contest Saturday, but the proceedings in police court, which terminated in a warm hand clasp between Waller and Merity, Waller's own manly acknowledgment that he had done wrong, and the general feeling among the players that their tempers had been allowed to go far enough, make it very improbable that the series will be called off.

Manager Denman, of the Westfield nine, was among those who realized most keenly the unfortunate features of the affair. He was inclined to give up hope of carrying the series on after the game, but brightened a bit after the hearing in court. Judge Runyon sent everybody away feeling the Golden Rule spirit so keenly that prospects of more trouble seemed very dim.

Among the things the judge said in his talk to Waller was that the incident might be a blessing in disguise. It was perhaps the one thing needed to wake the players and everyone else connected with the series to an acute realization of the fact that the tendency to rowdyism that has marked the games must be checked, and checked effectually.

If Waller's regret over the occurrence, which was undoubtedly sincere, was as deep as it appeared to be, trouble from him, at least, is not to be looked for in the remaining games. He was thoroughly ashamed of himself after the game, and he blushed like a schoolboy while the judge spoke to him from the bench. He seemed eager to shake Merity's hand and wipe out as far as possible every memory of his hasty action. Merity, on his part, was frankly delighted with the opportunity of restoring pleasant relations, and not the slightest hint of vindictive one-sidedness is even remotely likely in his future dealings with Waller, or any other member of the Westfield team, on the diamond.

That his regret over the affair might be made plain to the patrons of the game here and in Westfield, Waller made the following statement to the reporters at the police court for publication:

"I am very sorry the thing happened. I thought the decision was a rank and deliberate robbery, and I still think it was very rank, but I certainly should not have thrown the ball. I lost my temper, and anger knocked baseball out of my head; my temper got the best of me; that's all there is to it. I wish to apologize to the patrons of the game, and I hope they will believe that, personally, every consideration of consequences aside, I regret the incident as much as they do. I wish I could drop my temper overboard and forget where it sinks."

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Dunellen played its fastest game of the season against the Imperials, of Perth Amboy, Saturday, on the local grounds, winning by the one-sided score of 13 to 4. "Phil" Smith is still unable to be in the game on account of a lame foot, Squier filling in to perfection. Nelson donned the mask and wind-pad, and received him in first-class shape. The batting of Dunellen throughout was of the heavy order.

Traffic on the trolley line at the loop was delayed for a half hour between 8:30 and 9 o'clock Saturday morning. One of the cars went off the track in taking the turn too fast.

Albert Randolph, who has been confined to his bed by illness for the last few days, is reported as being greatly improved.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The game Saturday afternoon between the home team and Cuban Giants, of Plainfield, ended in a wrangle in the eighth inning, with the score 8 to 7 in favor of the home team, the Cubans leaving the field when Umpire Winters refused to change his decision in calling a strike on MacCauley, catcher of the locals, when he was struck by an inshoot he had struck at. Winters claimed that the rule of a batter being out when hit by a pitched ball struck at only applied on the third strike, and as this was the first strike on the batter he refused to change the decision. The colored team claimed the rule applied to any pitched ball struck at. As the question could not be settled the visitors left the field, forfeiting the game, 9 to 0.

Charles Miltner, of Glenside, broke his collar bone Saturday night, by being thrown out of his wagon. Mr. Miltner was on his way to the depot. While driving down the hill near his home the wagon struck a waterbreak on the hill, and the sudden jolting of the springs threw him over the dashboard into the road directly in front of the wagon wheels. Before the horse could be stopped two wheels has passed over Mr. Miltner's chest and neck, breaking the collar bone. The injured man was taken home and Dr. Westcott summoned to set the fracture.

There were several hits made in Saturday's game between Westfield and Plainfield at Crescent Oval, which will not show in the official score. "Red" Waller's losing his head on Umpire Merity's close decision at the plate in the seventh inning came near starting a full fledged riot and landing "Red" in the hospital instead of the patrol wagon. Only the good work of the Plainfield police prevented a more serious ending to the disgraceful scene.

The "Old Guards" held the second of the series of clambakes the cranks have arranged for the season, yesterday, on the Webster place, near Glenside. Many of the cranks from here, Plainfield, Westfield and New York were out and did justice to the menu arranged by Caterer Schmidt, who has had charge of the bakes ever since the club inaugurated these events several years ago.

Two old familiar faces seen together at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon and intently interested in the game were "Billy" Lee, formerly of the old Crescents, and "Jack" Harkins, who did the slab work for the West Ends, of Somerville, during the exciting period of years ago when a victory by either team meant the band played.

The property of the late Daniel Allen, corner of Park and Westfield avenues, will be sold September 2 to settle the estate.

AFTER THE PLUMS.

Many Aspirants for Appointment As County School Superintendents.

Trenton, Aug. 28.—Thirteen county superintendents of schools are to be appointed by the State Board of Education on October 3 next, and already a scramble has set in for these plums. The woods are full of candidates and strong pressure is being used by the friends of the various aspirants.

A law passed last winter increases the salary of all county superintendents to the uniform sum of $2,000, and this increase makes the position a very desirable one, especially in the smaller counties where the pay of teachers and school principals is comparatively small.

All applicants will be put through a rigid examination as to experience and qualifications, and those best equipped for the position will be appointed. This announcement was made yesterday by Edward Russ, of Hoboken, acting chairman of the committee which has the matter in charge. Other members of the committee are William R. Barriclo, of Jersey City, and Everett Colby, of Essex.

VACATION DAYS.

EDITORILLAY DISCUSSES EX-MAYOR RANDOLPH'S OPEN LETTER.

"More than ordinary significance attaches to the letter recently written by former Mayor Randolph, of Plainfield, and published in the papers of that city. In its direct application it is local, but in its broader sense it is a vigorous, well directed blow at 'bossism.' Its charges and accusations could be laid with undoubted propriety and accuracy against the authorities of other cities, and its appeal to the voters of Plainfield in behalf of an independent movement for the public good might be made with great timeliness and appropriateness wherever bosses dominate and machines rule.

"It should be understood, in order to fully appreciate Mr. Randolph's letter, that Plainfield is overwhelmingly Republican. Out of 3,803 votes cast at the last election, 2,173 were Republican, but so easily is this vote manipulated by the twin bosses that in 1903 a normal Republican majority of nearly 1,100 was turned into a Democratic plurality of 904 on members of the Assembly; all because the county Republican convention nominated for sheriff a Plainfield man whom the bosses did not want instead of the man they demanded. Add to these instructive facts the further truth that Mayor Randolph is a Republican of Republicans, that he was elected Mayor by the Republican voters, that he is president of the New York Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, and that he was formerly president of a Western railroad, and some idea may be gained of his intelligence and influence and of the conditions that have impelled him to take up the fight against bossism.

"His charges are specific. He declares that the political leaders are already distributing the offices so that the plain voters will have nothing to do but confirm the selections; that boss administration has been carried too far; that enefficiency and extravagance infest several of the city departments; that there is large room for reform, even along the lines of purity, morality and respectability. The ordinances are not enforced, the police are far from a high mark of proficiency; more taxes are levied each year without corresponding benefits; the fire department and building inspection are much below a standard proportioned to their cost, and the city has been made to pay the cost of at least two junketings of certain officers under the name of convention expenses.

"These are the indictments drawn by a lifelong Republican against Republican bossism in a Republican city, of which he was once the chief executive. There are more of them. To unauthorized extravagance are added irresponsible administration by councilmanic committees and the intolerable arrogance of local political tyrants. The latter have the audacity to declare that persons who have fallen into disfavor with them shall neither receive nominations nor be elected to office. Their power to carry out such threats is shown by the election figures already given.

"Mr. Randolph's declarations have a familiar sound. They seem to fit conditions that exist in places far removed from Plainfield; but he has the courage of his convictions, and is not afraid to utter them, while too many citizens in other cities are content to endure political slavery without a word of protest. This declaration of independence has roused the Plainfield people. Already his letter has been followed by two others from taxpayers of wealth and influence, and they seem to voice the popular sentiment. The revolt against bossism in the city of the plains is strong and growing, and the prospect is good there for political independence and municipal reform. Like the anti-boss movement in Middlesex county, it gives promise of better citizenship and better government. The sentiment that actuates Mr. Randolph, Dr. Anderson and those with them is not confined to Plainfield. It is organizing and strengthening itself throughout the State, and every manifestation of it is to be heartily encouraged as a blow at the worst enemy of political freedom in this country."

It has been suggested that Managers Daab and Denman place an order for an automatic umpire.

Too much praise cannot be given the police for the able manner in which they handled the crowd.

It is admitted by many baseball managers that Dave Driscoll is the best first baseman in the semi-professional ranks.

Mike Leonard strained a tendon near the groin in reaching for a ball a week ago and he was unable to run bases on Saturday.

It is a whole lot to the credit of the Westfield team that the game was finished. The public paid to see the game and was entitled to the full nine innings.

mer Princeton star second baseman, may play that position for Plainfield after Labor Day. He is now at Plattsburg, N. Y., and will return after September 4.

Now that Waller and Merity have made up and all is lovely again, it is to be hoped that the two teams will be given loyal support in the remaining four contests.

"I will not stand for 'Red' Waller's action in throwing the ball at Merity," was Manager Denman's statement. This is the proper spirit, and should be commended.

The man who said that the Plainfield-Westfield games were fixed should now speak up. No more bitterly-fought contests have been played anywhere this year.

Thanks to a good police force and better judgment on the part of the crowd that the disturbance only lasted fifteen minutes, and no one but "Red" Waller was hurt.

"Red" Waller apologized to Umpire Merity and the latter forgave "Red" and both promised to forget the incident of Saturday, all of which proves the true sporting blood.

No fair-minded person questioned Merity's decision in the seventh when Kiernan came home. Cotter made a poor catch of Barry's throw and Merity being close to the plate was especially well able to judge the play.

McKenna, formerly of the Orange A. C. team, was on the bench Saturday and watched the game with interest. It would not be surprising to see this fine twirler on the Plainfield lineup soon. Mac is always a favorite.

It was a real pleasure to watch the actions of Manager Daab on Saturday. Very cool and self-possessed his best judgment prevailed, and he did everything in his power to quell the disturbance and have the game continue.

Brogan was unable to play here on Saturday as the New York Central team demanded his services. He is employed by the railroad company and it is only through courtesy that he has been permitted to play here.

It is possible that Welles, the for-

A representative of one of the leading newspapers in Havana now travelling with the All Cubans, is desirous that Manager Daab take his team to Cuba next winter, believing that it would be able to arrange a fine series of games with teams in the Cuban League.

WALLER ARRESTED

ing sight of a scrappy player and a spunky ump clasping hands, with the space between them illuminated by the effulgence of gentle and forgiving smiles, took form.

The proceedings were witnessed by a large and interested assemblage of chivalry. It was an inspiring scene and one that is suggestive of what might be accomplished by attacking the umpire situation with a new method of adjustment. Maybe if more players were pinched the game would become real lovely and quiet. This is worth thinking about.

PLEASANT WEATHER BRINGS OUT MANY GOLFERS

W. D. BOGGS WINS FIRST HONORS AT COUNTRY CLUB LINKS.

The delightful weather of Saturday attracted an unusually large number of golfers to the Plainfield Country Club, and the course was filled with players throughout the afternoon. However, very few posted their scores for the Golf Committee cup. The members seemed to care more about playing the game for the mere enjoyment of it than for a record.

W. D. Boggs won first honors with a net score of 77, while Harold Serrell finished second with a 78 and W. P. Riggs took the one remaining point with an 84.

W. D. Boggs, 96, 19—77; Harold Serrell, 103, 25—78; W. P. Riggs, 101, 17—84; Arthur Murphy, 93, 5—88; J. F. Raymond, 107, 18—89.

The standing for the golf committee cup to and including August 26 is as follows:

The good work continues. "A Friend" has sent a dollar to The Daily Press for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp, making a total of $101. Who will be the next?

"A good advertisement may belong to the union and yet work Sundays and overtime," observes White's Sayings. It is like a stone thrown into a millpond. The commotion it causes does not end with the initial splash—it sends forth a ripple in ever-widening circles that sometimes extend to the farthest shores. Not long ago The Record told of an "ad" that made a sale eight years after it was published. Advertising is about the only servant that will cheerfully continue to work for you after the final pay-day.—Philadelphia Record.

PAUL COLLIER WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

DEFEATS T. O. GAVETT IN FIVE HARD SETS IN Y. M. C. A. FINALS.

Play in the final round of the Y. M. C. A. tennis tournament, which took place on the courts of the Cedar Brook Club Saturday, was fast throughout, the contestants for premier honors being Paul Collier and Theodore O. Gavett, each gaining a place in the finals by winning their respective matches in the previous round. Seldom has such close scores and playing been seen on the courts, where the matches were played.

Some of the most accurate and well placed strokes characterized the play and as a result the match, which was to be the best three out of five, went to the limit. Speed told in the first set and so fast was Collier's playing in this set that Gavett was taken completely by surprise and he lost the set, 2—6. The second set was a repetition of the first, Collier continuing his speed and won this set also, 6—3.

With but one set required to win the match and title, Collier began to take things easy and Gavett took advantage of the fact, bracing up and winning a close set, 6—4. Likewise, in the next, while Collier was lagging, Gavett improved and won the fourth set by the same score, 6—4.

The next set, which was the deciding one was nip and tuck from start to finish. Collier arose to the situation, and in the hardest fought set of the match, won by the score of 6—4, at the same time winning the match and title. A handsome medal will be his reward.

William Briggs, of the Bronx Tennis Club, acted as referee. Joseph Gavett and Treadwell Slawson were linesmen.

DR. IRVINE PLEASES.

Spoke Yesterday at Y. M. C. A. and Warren Chapel.

Rev. Dr. A. F. Irvine, of New Haven, Conn., besides speaking at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, yesterday afternoon, preached yesterday morning and last night in Warren chapel to good sized congregations. His sermon in the morning was an explanation of the third chapter of Philippians and those who heard him were well repaid. He is an earnest, scholarly speaker, full of originality, and holds the closest attention of his listener.

Dr. Irvine's address at the Y. M. C. A. was heard by a large gathering of men, and his hearers were much impressed with his original methods in speaking.

M'CARDELL'S TEAM DEFEATED IN THE TWELFTH

After holding a substantial lead for eight innings, Andrew McCardell's baseball nine from the Pond Machine Tool Works, allowed its opponents, the buffers and polishers from the Singer Sewing Machine Company, of Elizabethport, to tie the score in the ninth inning and eventually win out in the twelfth by a score of 7 to 6. This was the return game for the one a week ago at the Port, and was played on the Clinton Avenue grounds Saturday afternoon.

The Plainfield team scored six runs, two each in the first, fifth and eleventh innings, while the players from the Port scored one each in the first, second, seventh, eighth, two in the eleventh and one in the twelfth. Dodge, the local twirler, was very puzzling to the opposing team, allowing but five scattering hits, and striking out thirteen batsmen.

Three pitchers were used by the Singers, seven hits being made in all off Gaffney and Cavanaugh in the first five innings, while the home team had difficulty in getting three hits off Baker, who finished the game. By clever playing Plainfield's chances to score in the twelfth were nipped on a combination of pretty plays.

It is quite likely that a third game will be arranged to decide the championship. After the game the teams and their friends retired to Henry Windham's Hotel, where a supper was provided. The incidents of the diamond were forgotten and the time was spent in discussing politics and the coming election.

The teams lined up as follows:

PLANS FILED FOR THE MONO STORAGE BUILDING

STRUCTURE WILL BE BUILT OF CEMENT BLOCKS AND IRON.

Plans for the new storage building to be erected on Fillmore avenue, near the freight house, by the Mono Investment Company, have been filed with Building Inspector T. O. Doane, and it is expected that work of construction will be commenced soon. The building, which will be 58x112, will be as near fire-proof as possible. There will be three stories and the structure will have 122 rooms for storage.

The building will be constructed of cement blocks, concrete and iron and the curtain walls will be of concrete blocks, and these, together with the piers and partitions, will be reinforced. There will be an elevator in the building to carry goods to the various floors, and there will also be a driveway in the rear of the structure, at which point goods can be loaded or unloaded. This will be under cover as a protection in bad weather.

Provision has been made for two offices in the front of the building, and the entire equipment will be modern and up to date in every respect. The building is to be used for the storage of furniture chiefly. During the past few years there has been a great demand for these structures, and no doubt others will be erected in the near future. Owing to the location of this building, it will be very convenient to the New Jersey Central for the shipment or receiving of goods. There will be twenty-six rooms on the first floor and forty-eight each on the second and third floors.

BOY KILLS A WOMAN.

Found a Loaded Gun and Pointed It At Domestic In Fun.

Trenton, Aug. 28.—Carlan Ayers, an eleven-year-old boy, living at Yardville, just below here, Saturday night shot and killed Mrs. Bertha Ireland, a domestic working in his parents' house. The boy was rumaging in a closet when he came upon a loaded shotgun. He played soldier with it for a time, and then thinking to scare Mrs. Ireland, went up to her room, where she was combing her hair, and pointing the weapon at her, exploded it. The charge of shot tore the woman's head in a frightful manner. As soon as the lad saw the result of his supposed play he dropped the weapon and called for help. Coroner Disbrow went at once to the scene of the accident, and, investigating it, reported to the Prosecutor of the Pleas that the affair was clearly an accident.

It is said that there will be no arrest of young Ayres. The lad is in a frightfully nervous condition and under the care of a doctor at his home.

JAPANESE GET DELAY

NO WORD FROM MIKADO

Slight Hope that He Might Be Induced to Compromise—Russians Ready to Leave.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 28.—After a long conference between Mr. Takahira and M. Wittee in the latter's room last evening, it was announced that the conference would be resumed on Tuesday at 4 p. m., instead of today, as planned. No new proposition was advanced by Mr. Takahira at this interview.

This last expedient was, it is believed, resorted to because of the apparent utter hopelessness of the situation. At the meeting Saturday the Japanese became alarmed over the imminence of a rupture. The hour of secret and unrecorded session between the four envoys, with even the secretaries banished from the room, marked the abandonment of diplomatic pretenses and the laying of all the cards on the table. It resulted in the demonstration to Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira that the Russians were determined to break off the negotiations unless the Japanese gave in.

Baron Komura's request at that time for a further conference today was, it understood, based on the hope that the Mikado's Government might be induced to compromise. Even then, apparently, the Japanese were hopeful that the Russians might shrink from the responsibility of actually breaking up the conference. But all day yesterday the Russians were busy with their preparations for departure. Some of them were even packing their trunks.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The regular services will be resumed at the Church of the Holy Cross on Sunday, after a vacation of one month.

The choir of the Church of the Holy Cross will meet on Saturday night at 7:45 o'clock for rehearsal and a full attendance is desired. The choirmaster is especially anxious to secure several additional boy voices for the choir.

Rev. Hervey Wood, field secretary for the National Temperance Society of New York, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church yesterday. In the morning he delivered a very strong Gospel temperance sermon, in which he told of the conditions to be found in England, Germany and France, as well as this country. He drew comparisons showing how in England the laws regarding the liquor traffic are strictly enforced, while in this country there is a tendency toward laxity. Mr. Wood expressed the opinion that three-fourths of the saloon keepers in this country are foreigners, and they aften conduct the business to suit their own convenience. However, the speaker paid a great compliment to this country for the excellent progress made in handling the liquor traffic and he spoke of the work his society is doing in this direction. Last night Mr. Wood preached a Gospel sermon. There were large congregations at both services.

Figured in Fire.

H. H. Coward, of East Front street, who has been spending his vacation at Spruce Run, Me., has returned home. While away a fire broke out in the house where he was stopping and for a time the whole building was threatened with destruction. Mr. Coward was among those who rendered valuable assistance in extinguishing the blaze and thus saving the property, and he was highly complimented for his work.

Railroad Bridge on Fire.

The West End hose wagon was summoned to the Grant avenue railroad bridge yesterday morning to extinguish a fire caused by the dropping of live coals from a passing engine. The damage was slight.

ENGINEER MAY HAVE A FRACTURED SKULL

Walter Emmons, of Union street, employed as night engineer at Muhlenberg Hospital, is detained at his home as the result of a peculiar accident. Early last Tuesday morning, while on duty, he laid down on a cot to get a little sleep, after fixing his fire, and as he reclined he struck the back of his head on a projection from the boiler. At the time he did not give the injury much thought, although he was unable to return to work the next night.

It was not until Saturday that his condition became such that Dr. Marcus L. Clawson was summoned. It was then that Mr. Emmons spoke of the injury to his head. An examination disclosed the fact that a piece of bone was pressing against the brain, and the physician is afraid that the skull is fractured. Another examination will be made today.

MELLICK A CANDIDATE.

Former Councilman Willing to Go Back Into Office.

George P. Mellick, a former councilman, has announced his willingness to accept a nomination to the council. He is a Second ward resident. Mr. Mellick made a high reputation as a civic officer in his term as councilman.

Simultaneously with Mr. Mellick's announcement comes the intelligence that Councilman T. D. Wilson has definitely stated his refusal to stand for a renomination. Mr. Wilson is one of the councilmen supposed to have been marked for retirement by the "leaders."

Praise for New Theatre.

Matt Nasher, the well known advance man for George Cohan, was in town today arranging for the production of "Running For Office," the big musical play, at the Plainfield theatre, Labor Day night. Mr. Nasher came from New York to attend the opening of the playhouse, being an intimate friend of Manager Counihan. He declares it to be one of the handsomest in the State. Mr. Counihan has also received congratulatory messengers from George Cohan, Sam Harris, Nixon and Zimmerman and other well known theatrical men from New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis.

Wanamasa Club Wins.

The Wanamasa Boat Club, composed of Plainfield Young men, had entries in the water carnival of the Deal Lake Boat Club, on Deal Lake Saturday, one of the social events of the season. The entry of the Wanamasa Club in the four oar race came out first, and each of those representing the club in the event received a handsome silver cup, appropriately engraved. Fred Martin, G. H. Whitney, Walter Sampson and Stryker Hoagland were members of the winning crew. The club's entry in the two oar was fouled on the home stretch, when it had a big lead.

Miss Curry at Westfield.

Miss Sara Curry and twenty-five of her charges were the guests of the First M. E. church of Westfield, yesterday morning at the church services. Dr. G. E. Wright, the pastor, spoke briefly on the work and introduced Miss Curry. After the children had given their programme of song and recitation, Miss Curry gave a brief outline of the work that has been done and is intended to be done at the home. The congregation made a generous offering for the benefit of the work.

Fresh Air Child Improving.

Susie Rubsky, the young girl at the Netherwood Home, who was taken ill last Tuesday, is being attended to by Dr. Currie. He has pronounced the case as pneumonia and peritonitis of the stomach. The girl's condition this morning was slightly improved.

Kiely Takes Vacation.

Chief of Police Kiely started on his vacation today. He will be gone at least a week, and may stay away two. Sergeant Frederickson is acting-chief.

Honeyman Party Home.

The Honeyman party of tourists returned home this morning after a delightful trip abroad. The party left here on June 20 and travelled extensively through several foreign countries. Not a single accident or mishap occurred to mar the pleasure of the trip. The Plainfield members were Mr. and Mrs. William Sandford, Miss Sandford, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sandford, Miss Laura Runyon, Miss Brokaw, Miss Ege, the Misses Gilbert, Louis Chase and A. V. D. Honeyman.

Coney Island's Wonders.

Coney Island, with its Luna Park, Dreamland and countless other attractions, is daily visited by many thousands of people who come from all parts of the world. It is the greatest amusement place in the country, and that is why the Plainfield Grocers' Association will conduct an excursion to that point next Monday. It will be the last excursion of the season and promises to be the best.

Wont Return to Panama.

Stanley Mosher, who held a position at Panama, and who recently returned home on account of the illness and death of his mother, has decided not to return to Panama. He has accepted a position in the engineering department of the Erie Railroad and commenced work today. He will be located at Cuba, N. Y.

In Justice Smalley's Court.

Tallman against Keiderling, on contract; returnable next Monday. Tallman against Flack, on contract; returnable next Friday. Meyer against Lippincott on contract; returnable next Saturday. The demand in all cases is for $50. F. J. Huff is lawyer for the plaintiff.

Death of Young Son.

Louis C. Pleydell, aged two years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Pleydell, of Grandview avenue, died yesterday. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the parents. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

Borough Democrats to Meet.

The North Plainfield Democrats will meet in the Somerset street school at 8 o'clock tonight to discuss probable candidates for the coming borough election.

In Justice Hand's Court.

J. Smith against Bebout, on contract. Demand, $50. F. J. Huff, lawyer for the plaintiff.

Fred E. Smith and family, of West Fourth street, returned Saturday from a two weeks' stay at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Charles Hook, of East Third street, was removed to the hospital this morning for the treatment of dysentery.

Dr. S. P. Stoddard, of Indianapolis, Ind., was the guest yesterday of his sister, Mrs. F. W. Runyon, of Madison avenue.

George Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace V. Miller, of Asbury Park, has returned after a visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel D. TenEyck, of West Front street.

NEGRO SKULLS STOLEN FOR BACHELORS' DENS

PHILADELPHIA POLICE SEEK TO STOP THE PRACTICE.

Two policemen are guarding the bones of forgotten negroes at old Lebanon cemetery, Nineteenth street and Snyder avenue, Philadelphia. Skulls and bones dislodged from resting places on each side of Nineteenth street, which is being cut through the cemetery, yesterday attracted those with a taste for the weird.

For many nights, men carrying large canvas bags have been seen flitting stealthily through the cemetery, and, as a result, a number of negro skulls found their way into the dens of downtown bachelors. The method of getting them only added to the value of the grim souvenirs.

Hundreds of bones are being unearthed by the workmen. The work has proved so gruesome that many of the Italian laborers have quit. Two Italians who were digging a grave yesterday, threw up the job when they unearthed the body of a stylishly dressed negro in his coffin.

Hundreds of boys watch the work each day and keep their eyes on stray skeletons which, are gathered at night. Oliver Venning, who has charge of the abandoned cemetery, says that it is impossible to gather up all the bones in the graves. In some graves, he said, there were eighty-four infants' bodies.

There are still nearly 8,000 bodies in the broken sections of the cemetery. The city awarded Lebanon cemetery $45,000 for land damages and the cost of removal of the bodies.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Some of It Is Pretty Bad.

Every once in a while we read of a man dying in Atlantic City of alcoholism. What is the matter with Atlantic City whiskey?—Trenton State Gazette.

Queer.

Rev. Dr. Herr, of Jersey City, speaking at Orange Sunday, told of an editor converted through hearing a sermon on the "Prodigal Son." Queer that an editor should be converted, and queerer still, that he should be a Chicago editor.—Hoboken Observer.

Language of the Summer Girl.

The language of the Summer girl is as different from that employed by the everyday man and woman as the soft Italian is from the gutteral Platt Duetsch. A college professor, proficient in a dozen modern languages, could no more understand the language of the average Summer girl than a Piute Indian could comprehend the lingo of the Bowery. She has a language all her own, just as she has charms past those of any other creature sent to earth by Omnipotence to make the lot of man a thing of beauty and joy forever.—Atlantic City Press.

The Francis Law Does Not Apply.

Last week Judge Martin decided that the salary of Hiram Allison, one of Lakewood's famed and "finest" police force, could not be "garnisheed" for debts that it was claimed that he owed. The case was brought under the law put through by Asa Francis, of Long Branch, when president of the Senate, allowing grocers and provision dealers to get judgment against the salary of their debtors and compel the payment of a percentage each week till the claim was settled. Irons and Brokaw, Lakewood grocers, had a judgment against Allison, and tried to collect in this way, but the judge held in the case of a public officer the law did not act.—Toms River Courier.

Masonry at a Low Ebb.

Ancient Free and Accepted Masonry has come to a very low ebb in this city when the proceedings of a lodge meeting, at which two of the venerable members are made the recipients of a gift of needed money, are published, without Masonic censure, in extenso in a public newspaper, and illuminated by graphic account of the self-glorification of the donors and the grateful tears of the recipients. In no element of its work is the secrecy of Masonry more praiseworthy than in the fraternal help which is given to the needy—in the true charity which lets not the left hand know what the right hand doeth. To make public the lodge's donation to two aged and needy members was not only un-Masonic—it was inhuman and brutal—to those whom it was intended to benefit.—Trenton True American.

Stokes' Latest Appointees.

The Hudson Observer is all at sea over Governor Stokes' new Franchise Commission. It knows former Governors Voorhees and Murphy, of course, but wonders "where His Excellency dug up Frank T. Lloyd," is uncertain of John C. Payne's political affiliations, and makes Mr. Budd a member of the State Board of Assessors "by grace of Governor Stokes." One may excuse the Observer's ignorance of Mr. Payne's politics, so numerous and frequent have been the changes in Hudson county recently; but it surely should know that Mr. Lloyd is prosecutor of Camden county and one of the rising men in South Jersey affairs; and that Mr. Budd was appointed to the State Board of Assessors by Governor Murphy. In rounding up Mr. Payne it may be safe in classifying him as a Fagan-Record Democrat—whatever that is.—Trenton Times.

Glass Factories to Reopen.

The glass factories in South Jersey are preparing to open up for the industrial season, and reports have it that the prospects are better than they have been in any previous year. The factories are to be heartily congratulated upon the outlook for business, but it must be remembered that in the glass towns have hitherto been found the largest number of children working under age in violation of the State law. Not that Millville and Glassboro and Bridgeton and Schetterville and the other factory towns in South Jersey are the only ones in which children are unlawfully employed; some have been found in Jersey City, in Elizabeth, in Paterson and in Newark; but South Jersey has had a larger proportion than the upper section of the State, and South Jersey made the strongest fight against the enactment of the child labor laws. The opening of all factories for the fall work, in any part of the State, will undoubtedly be taken by the State authorities as a signal to keep a sharp lookout for violations of the law. The manufacturers are not always morally to blame, though the law holds them legally responsible, as the parents themselves will sometimes give false testimony with reference to their children's ages.—Newark News.

HOW FULL'S A GOAT?

"Pop, how full's a goat?" asked Tommy of his father, who was searching for his name in the morning newspaper's account of the annual banquet of the Fast Man's Club, held the night before.

"What 're you talking about, Tommy?"

"That depends upon how much it eats."

"What does it eat?"

"Anything, everything."

"Does it eat tin cans?"

"I guess so."

"Does it gnaw the paper off the bill-boards?"

"I've heard so."

"Does it eat grass?"

"Of course, of course it does."

"Yes, and the leaves and the limbs, and it would eat the roots if it could get at 'em."

"Do you eat tin cans, Pop?"

"Nor gnaw the paper off of the bill-boards?"

"No! No! No! I'm in no mood to be joked with this morning, Tommy."

"Nor eat grass?"

"Eat grass? No, of course I don't eat grass?"

"Nor eat the bark off of the trees, and the leaves and the limbs?"

"Who, me?"

"Yes, you."

"What for?"

"Because you're asking me such foolish questions. What do you ask them for?"

"Because I want to know how full a goat is."

"What do you want to know that for?"

"Because I heard Ma tell the cook this morning that you came home last night as full as a goat."

PERSONAL NOTES.

—Dr. A. L. Peterman has accepted the presideny of Graham College, Graham, Virginia.

—Queen Helena, of Italy, has written a book of poems in Servian, and they have been translated into German for publication. They are of a high order of merit.

—The president of the London Society of Women Jounalists is Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, the wife of the member of Parliament of that name. She was born in Texas and educated at Washington.

—William Pinkney Whyte, ex-Governor of Maryland, is now 81 years of age and able both mentally and physically. He has been Controller of the Treasury, Attorney General, Governor, United States Senator and Mayor of Baltimore.

—Prof. C. G. Wheeler, former president of the Chicago College of Pharmacy, and Professor of Chemistry in the University of Chicago, has been offered a professorship in the National University of Argentina at Buenos Ayres.

—Sir Chentung Liang-Chang, the Chinese Minister, has been advised by cable of the appointment at Peking of special representatives of the various branches of the Government who will visit the United States and Europe to make a close study of governmental systems. Most prominent of these officials is Tung Fong, Viceroy of Hunan, who, during the Boxer outbreak in 1900, bore a prominent part in the protection of the missionaries.

—Miss L. Bernie Gallagher, the assistant photographer in the National Museum at Washington, is the only woman in that branch of the Government service and her work has been singularly successful. She has been a most valuable aid to the veteran in photography, Prof. Thomas W. Smillie, who for thirty-five years has been the photographer of the museum and who has photographed more eclipses, probably, than any other man in the country.

NOTICE!
"In behalf of your proprietary article called AZIENZA CREAM, as a remedy for diseases of the skin, I desire to add my appreciation of its wonderful properties as a cure in a case of Bone Tumor or Abscess of five years growth on my husband's back, which I have cured in less than five weeks time by constant application, and now it is as well as any part of his body. It was cut out once by a specialist and had again grown to a large size, was as hard as a bone and of a very dark purple color. The AZIENZA at once allayed the pain and began to soften it, and in less than eight days, by my pressure upon it, suddenly to my surprise it discharged a quantity of pus, impregnated with a hard, cheesy substance. I kept it open and cleansed it as it discharged and every day would dress it with a plaster of AZIENZA CREAM, until it was entirely healed up. I cannot speak too highly of AZIENZA CREAM and its merits. For inquiry regarding this case you may apply Mr. and Mrs. James, Embury Ave., care Hiller, Ocean Grove, N. J. Signed, July 12, 1905: Mrs. C. W. James, Mr. C. W. James." Leading Druggists, 25c-50c

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

For pinafore cake, cream together a cupful and a half of sugar and a cupful of butter. Stir in the beaten yolks of four eggs. Add half a cupful of milk, a cupful and a half of flour, sifted, with two teaspoonsful of baking powder and half a cupful of cornstarch. Fold in, at the last, the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs.

There is rejoicing in a certain family of youngsters when the fragrance of hot pot is sniffed in the air that emanates from the kitchen. The mater familias prepares it herself. She secures a couple of pounds of beef (rib cut) in advance. This she puts into a pot with a couple of minced onions, five or six little green whole peppers, a few chives, a handful of seeded raisins, a cupful of tomatoes, eight or ten olives, a bit of thyme, a big tablespoonful of drippings, and a cupful of water and vinegar. The pot is covered tightly, and the mixture is simmered slowly until the meat is cooked to pieces. Then a tablespoonful of butter that has been well coated with flour is stirred in.

Banana souffle is an attractive looking and a delicious tasting dessert. Line a glass dish with macaroons. Have ready some whipped cream which has been incorporated with banana pulp and sweetened. Heap this in the center of the dish and garnish the top with candied cherries, bits of angelica and broken blanched almonds. To prepare the filling, first whip the cream stiff. Then push the pulp of the bananas through a fine sieve and without delay mix them with the cream. There should be an equal quantity of banana pulp and cream (before it is whipped). For a cupful of each a quarter of a cupful of sugar will be wanted.

FASHION WHIMS.

The season's fashion of wearing slippers and stockings to match the frock or gown extends also to the children and the little shoes matching the color of the slip an dthe ribbons complete a most fascinating toilette for a small tot.

For the child of 7 unless she be small of her age the waistline must be reckoned with, as the very long waist for a tall child of that age is dangerously near absurdity, also the very short stand-out skirt.

Guimpes aer quite fashionable for grown-ups this season, and naturally are more than ever so for children, for whom they are always more or less in vogue.

Guimpe frocks are usually quite plain with self trimmings only and the guimpe alone is elaborated. It may be collarless with elbow sleeve or have a Dutch neck with same, or the sleeves may be the bishop style; but the finish at the wrist or sleeve band must be the same as the yoke.

Insertions of fine valenciennes between tucked bands of the material or bands that are featherstitched or French-knotted are much approved for the finish of the guimpe, though the insertion joined with a very fine French revering is also a pretty finish.

Bows and rosettes of shaded ribbon are employed to a great extent and ribbons of all kinds play a leading role in the decoration of small garments. Wide sashes with large bow at the back are not tabooed, but are less in favor than formerly. It is such a becoming and juvenile fashion that many smartly gowned children wear them with frocks that have waists of medium length.

THE UP-TO-DATE GIRL.

The up-to-date girl has been a subject of much discussion. Her character has been attacked and dissected, and still she is a problem to be solved. She is very often confounded with the masculine, bold or athletic girl. In truth, she is neither, and yet is a mixture of all. Her interests are many sided, and her faculties are well trained. The modern girl, who is the best product of her times, has, first of all, full control of the faculties with which she was endowed. She has the power to reason logically. In her business dealings she is businesslike. If need be, she can earn her own living and yet lose nothing of her womanliness.

In spite of all that is said to the contrary, the domestic side of her nature has been trained. She is a wife, mother and housekeeper of an exceptional degree. Her social instincts, which are brought into play early in life, are cultivated, and she becomes our ideal hostess. One of the first lessons that is inculcated in the modern girl is the necessity of adapting herself to her surroundings. This may be said to be the keynote to her success. If one is in harmony with one's environment half the battle of life has been fought.

With all these qualities, she naturally must be broad minded, a ready sympathizer in trouble, an intellectual companion, a business woman and an ideal home maker. If she lacks any of these qualities she has not as yet reached the perfection of her kind. The up-to-date girl must possess all of these qualities to a certain degree. When she assimilates them to a proportionate degree she will be ideal. She is "the heir of all the ages."

The Misses Marsh, of Madison avenue, have returned from their vacation of several weeks' length, spent at Belmar and Lake Hopatcong.

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1904, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company).

I turned the key in the lock, forgetting that it didn't really lock.

"Oh, yes, I'm sure," I said. "Why?"

"Why! You have got slow. Just because I didn't say good-by to them fellows up at the pen, and—"

"Oh! You've escaped!"

"That's what. First jail-break in 15 years. What d'ye think of your Tommy, old girl, eh? Ain't he the gamest? Ain't you proud of him?"

My God, Mag! Proud of him. He didn't know—he couldn't see—himself. He, shut in like a wild beast, couldn't see what this year has done for him. Oh, the change—the change in him! My boy Tommy, with the gay, gallus manner, and the pretty, jolly brogue, and the laughing mouth under his brown mustache. And this man—his face is old, Mag, old—oh!—and hard—and—and tough, cheap and tough. There's something in his eyes now and about his shaven mouth—oh, Maggie, Maggie!

"Look here, Nance." He caught me by the shoulders, knocking up my chin so that he could look down squarely at me. "What's your graft? What's it to be between us? What've ye been doing all this time? Out with it! I want to know."

I shook myself free and faced him.

"I've been—Tom Dorgan, I've been to hear the greatest actors and actresses in the world say and do the finest things in the world. I've watched princesses and kings—even if they're only stage ones. I've read a new book every night—a great picture book, in which the pictures move and speak—that's the stage, Tom Dorgan. Much of it wasn't true, but a girl who's been brought up by the Cruelty doesn't have to be told what's true and what's false. I've met these people and lived with them—as one does who thinks the same thoughts and feels what others feel. I know the world now, Tom Dorgan, the real world of men and women—not the little world of crooks, nor yet the littler one of fairy stories. I've got a glimpse, too, of that other world where all the scheming and lying and cheating is changed as if by magic into something that deceives all right, but doesn't hurt. It's the world of art and artists, Tom Dorgan, where people paint their lies, or write them, or act them; where they lift money all right from men's pockets, but lift their souls and their lives, too, away from the things that trouble and bore and—and degrade.

"You needn't sneer; it's made a different Nance out of me, Tom Dorgan. And, oh, but I'm sorry for the pert little beggar we both knew that lied and stole and hid and ran and skulked. She was like a poor little ignorant traveler in a great country where she'd sized up the world from the few fool crooks she was thrown in with. She—"

"Aw, cut it!"

"Tom—does—doesn't it mean anything to you? Can't it mean lots to both of us now that—"

"Cut it. I tell you! Think I killed one guard and beat the other till I'd broke every bone in his body to come here and listen to such guff? You've been having a high old time, eh, and you never give a thought to me up there! I might 'a' rotted in that black hole for all you'd care, you—"

"Don't! I did, Tom; I did." I was shivering at the name, but I couldn't bear his thinking that way of me. "I went up once, but they wouldn't let me see you. I wrote you, but they sent back the letters. Mag went up, You look it, my girl, you look—My eye, Nance, you look good enough to eat, and I'm hungry for you!"

Maggie, if I'd had to die for it I couldn't have moved then. You'd think a man would know when the woman he's holding in his arms is fainting—sick at the touch of him. A woman would. It wasn't my Tom that I'd known that I'd worked with and played with and— It was a great brute, whose mouth—who had no eyes, no ears, no senses but—ah!

He laughed when I broke away from him at last. He laughed! And I knew then I'd have to tell him straight in words.

"Tom," I gasped, "you can have all I've got; and it's plenty to get you out of the way. But—but you can't have—me—any more. That's—done!"

Oh, the beast in his face! It must have looked like that when the guard got his last glimpse of it.

"You're kiddin' me?" he growled.

I shook my head.

Then he ripped it out. Said the worst he could and ended with a curse! The blood boiled in me. The old Nance never stood that; she used to sneer at other women who did.

"Get out of here!" I cried. "Go—go, Tom Dorgan. I'll send every cent I've got to you to Mother Douty's within two hours, but don't you dare—"

"Don't you dare, you she-devil! Just make up your mind to drop these new-fangled airs, and mighty quick. I tell you you'll come with me 'cause I need you and I want you, and I want you now. And I'll keep you when once I got you again. We'll hang together. No more o' this one-sided lay-out for me where you get all the soft and it's me for the hard. You belong to me. Yes you do. Just think back a bit, Nance Olden, and remember the kind of customer I am. If you've forgot, just let me remind you that what I know would put you behind bars, my lady, and it shall. I swear, if I've got to go to the chair for it!"

Tom! It was Tom talking that way to me. I couldn't bear it. I made a rush for the door.

He got there, too, and catching me by the shoulder, he lifted his fist.

But it never fell, Mag. I think I could kill a man who struck me. But just as I shut my eyes and shivered away from him, while I waited for the blow, a knock came at the door and Fred Obermuller walked in.

"Eh? Oh! Excuse me. I didn't know there was anybody else. Nance, your face is ghastly. . . . What's up?" he said, sharply.

He looked from me to Tom—Tom, standing off there ready to spring on him, to dart past him, to fly out of the window—ready for anything; only waiting to know what the thing was to be.

My senses came back to me then. The sight of Obermuller, with those keen, quick eyes behind his glasses, his strong, square chin, and the whole poise of his head and body that makes men wait to hear what he has to say; the knowledge that that man was my friend, mine—Nancy Olden's—lifted me out of the mud I'd sunk back in, and put my feet again on a level with his.

ON A RAINY DAY.

There are going to be rainy days in the country, when the children will be compelled to seek amusement indoors and every mother and older sister knows what that means, especially in a boarding house where there are sure to be such very unsatisfactory people as invalids and other folk who wish to be quiet—or at least to make the noise themselves.

This is one way to keep peace and quiet while having a good time. It is much more fun if there is an attic available, but failing of that choose some room apart and preferably overlooking the garden, for the young people may need inspiration. Paper and pencil are all that is needed and the mistress of ceremonies propounds the following questions, which, with their answers, tell the story of "A Garden Courtship:

1—What was the lady's name and the color of her hair?
Marigold.
Sweet William.
Snowball.
4—Upon what musical instrument did her brother play?
Trumpet.
5—At what hour did he awaken the household by playing on this instrument?
Four o'clock.
6—With what was he punished?
Goldenrod.
7—What was her lover's name?
Jonquil.
8—What kind of confectionery did he bring to her?
Buttercups.
9—How did she become engaged?
Aster.
10—What flower did she offer him?
Tulips.
11—To whom did she refer him?
Poppy.
12—What flowers bloomed on her cheeks?
Roses.
13—What did he lose when they were married?
Bachellor buttons.
14—Who married them?
Phlox.

It is best to choose partners in solving the questions, and a little care will give to the tiny folk who "want to play" such partners as will obviate any unfairness.

PERSONAL NOTES.

—Mrs. M. D. Halpin, of Shawnee, O. T., nas the private bookcase used by President Franklin Pierce during his occupancy of the White House.

—Herbert R. Morgan, of the Naval Observatory, Washington, has been appointed astronomical director of the Morrison Observatory of Pritchett College, Glasgow, Mo.

—Mrs. Russell Sage has become a life member of the Audubon Society, accompanying her membership fee with a letter stating that she wishes to be actively associated in the work of bird and animal protection.

—George C. Rumbold, who superintended the construction of the Great Eastern steamship, has just died in East Orange, N. J. For many years he was superintendent of cabinet construction work in the Lackawanna train shops at Scranton.

—Dr. M. U. O'Sullivan, senior surgeon in St. Vincent's and the Woman's College and fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland, is making a tour of this country studying hospitals, and from here will go to Melbourne, Australia.

—Rev. Joseph Plumb Cochran, who for many years has been a missionary physician in Persia, has just died in Uramia. He built the first hospital in that country and was at one time the only civilized physician in a community of 500,000 persons.

—Evans Holbrook, a successful lawyer in Chicago, is to become instructor in the law department of the University of Michigan, from which institution he was expelled as a student several years ago for kidnapping the toastmaster of the Freshman class.

—Six of Maine's ex-Governors, with Governor Cobb, recently attended the annual meeting of the Association of Governors and their staffs, held at the encampment of the State militia. There were ex-Governors Connor, Roby, Cleaves, Burleigh, Powers and Hill. There are three other ex-Governors living.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Former Mayor John F. Wilson, of the borough, was among the interested spectators at Saturday's baseball game, between Plainfield and Westfield. It was his first game this year and he enjoyed the contest very much.

Captain Mallen deserves credit for the way he acted on Saturday. He showed that he can be a gentleman and it was largely due to him that the game was finished. Manager Denman did not want to play it out, but Mallen and Bertwhistle insisted.

HOBOKENS BEAT CINCINNATI.

In a pitchers' battle, in which "Willie" Deegan was more effective with men on bases than Baker, the Hobokens whitewashed the Cincinnati Reds yesterday on St. George Cricket Grounds, the score being 3 to 0. Several times the National Leaguers had men on bases with none out, but at such times Deegan put on more steam and the necessary hits were not forthcoming. "Happy" Kiernan got two hits, while O'Neill got a single. The Reds got five hits off Deegan. The playing of Kiernan and Brogan was a feature, "Happy" getting a two-bagger, and Brogan a three-bagger. The score:

The N. J. Centrals beat the West Ends Saturdays afternoon in a brilliant game of ball, the credit of which goes to Pitcher Thompson, of the Centrals. Only three hits were made off his excellent delivery, though his team made six errors. The West Ends could not hit safely when men were on bases, and three of the runs made by the Centrals were on wild throws by the West Ends. Next Saturday Pennington will play Somerville. Score.

TENNIS.

The tennis contingent of the Plainfield Country Club is showing much interest in the open tournament of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association, which begins at the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, tomorrow and continues for six days. Those entered from the club in the men's singles, are Frederick W. Goddard, Wylie Brown, H. D. Bulkley, H. J. Cochran. In the men's doubles, Frederick W. Goddard and Howard Carter, H. J. Cochran and Wylie Brown, T. M. Day., Jr., and Owen Fleming are entered, while the mixed doubles' entry includes Miss Sara E. Schuyler and T. M. Day Jr. Some of the best players in this country will compete and spectators will have an opportunity to witness a high class of tennis.

The Westfield Club's tournament for mixed doubles ended very successfully Saturday afternoon. Good tennis was played and the matches were enjoyed by a large gallery of ladies and gentlemen.

The tournament was won by Miss Robinson and Clifford Miller, of the Ilderan Outing Club, of Rahway, who defeated Miss Leman and A. L. West, of the Bergen Point Lawn Tennis Club, in the final round, 6—4, 5—7, 6—3.

The semi-finals were also played Saturday afternoon, Miss Leman and A. L. West, of the Bergen Point Lawn Tennis Club, defeating Mrs. Edgar and Lindsley Dunham, of the Ilderan Outing Club, of Rahway, 6—4, 4—6, 6—4. Miss Robinson and Clifford Miller defeated Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith, of the Bergen Point Lawn Tennis Club, 6—4, 5—7, 6—3.

The prizes of the tournament were cups.

GOLF.

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Miss Edith Tracy and Miss Margaret Goddard will represent the Plainfield Country Club, in a team match to be played at the Morris County Golf Club on September 24. The women of the local club are now planning a series of such matches with other clubs.

ROD AND GUN.

THROWING STONES LEADS TO A SMALL RIOT

While the Harrison brothers, three in number, residents of the Great Swamp district, near Green village, were driving from New Providence to Berkeley Heights, Saturday afternoon, they were attacked by a young son of Joseph Monico, who threw stones at them. The brothers jumped out of their carriage and, catching the lad, gave him a good trouncing.

At the same time the boy's father appeared on the scene and he was treated in similar fashion. Mrs. Monico, with the aid of a bean pole, rescued her husband after a lively fight, and the Harrison brothers beat a retreat to Gus Denelein's road house, at Berkeley Heights. Mrs. Monico, angered by the affair, gathered several neighbors together and all started for Denelein's place, where they found the Harrison boys. A pitched battle followed, in which the saloon was cleaned out. During the scrap some one fired a revolver, shooting one of the Harrison boys in the arm. The guilty party could not be found. Continuing from there, the Harrisons went to Joe Kuntz's saloon, where, after an attempt to wreck the place, they hurried away. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the Harrison brothers, but thus far they have eluded capture.

TOLD BY THE TONGUE.

When a doctor looks at a patient's tongue he finds out a good many things about the patient other than the state of his digestion. He estimates pretty accurately, if he is a wise doctor, his disposition, says an exchange.

For instance, a man who talks well puts out his tongue in a manner entirely different from that affected by the comparatively silent man. The eloquent tongue inclines to the right side of the mouth, the reticent tongue to the left side. Most orators, debaters and successful preachers and lawyers have a right-sided tongue, whereas persons whose disposition is marked by peculiarities, eccentricities and selfishness are left-sided.

The tongue that shoots out straight without turning or wavering indicates a solid, reliable man of affairs. The property of widows and orphans and public institutions is likely to be safe in his hands, and if he lives long enough he will eventually enjoy a fair competency of his own.

Tongues that turn up when under the doctor's eye indicate an impractical nature. Their owners have little sense of the value of money. They are dreamers and reformers, and contract debts which those whom they have been trying to reform are frequently called upon to pay.

Then there is the melancholy or pessimistic tongue. That has the downward droop. A man born to poverty and general bad luck reveals his unfortunate state by the hopeless dropping of his tongue. Also, there is the cruel tongue. It flattens and broadens when extended. Physicians who have prescribed for the world's famous tyrants have left to posterity no description of their patients' tongues, but if they had they would undoubtedly have given to every despot a tongue of the flounder type.

The tongue whose edges curl up belongs to the artistic temperament. Qualities that commonplace persons are wont to speak of in tones of reverence—emotionalism, sentiment, imagination of a high order lie wrapped up in that curling tongue. Unfortunately, jealousy and a certain degree of miserliness lurk there, too, so it is just as well to handle that kind of a tongue with care.

Persons who love life and are destined to cling to it for many years close their teeth down tight over the extended tongue.

Everybody is acquainted with the man to whom neither his own nor anybody else's secrets are sacred. By his tongue may be also be known. It protrudes further, when under examination, than any other tongue. It is a tongue possessed by very nervous people, by the chatterers, by the superficial. Opposed to that is the short-distance tongue. It is a tongue that is both a pleasure and a torment to the doctor. It annoys him because it cannot be coaxed out far enough to enable him to make a thorough examination, but it pleases because it usually belongs to the chronic invalid and adds more dollars to the doctor's bank account than all other kinds of tongues put together.

EARLY SCHOOLING.

It has been stated by eminent educators that the ideal place for a child from infancy to its tenth year is a home on a farm. A child should first develop physically, and this can be best attained out of doors. A child who learns to control his muscles early in life has a far better chance in this world than the premature "bright child." In the early years the mental progress of the child may be allowed to take care of itself. When he is able and yearns for knowledge, the mother is the best teacher.

Children, they claim, are nowadays over developed mentally, and thereby their health is injured. Very often it is necessary for them to give up schooling for a time and rest. Such conditions are not normal and should not exist. It has been proven that a child who had no definite schooling from the ages of 6 to 10, but hearty outdoor exercise, and was then placed in school, was in far better condition and advanced more rapidly than the child who had been studying since his sixth year.

The faculties of a child of 10 are naturally more keen and quicker to grasp matters than a younger child. His progress is rapid and it is not lonk before he outstrips the other children.

BOROUGH DEMOCRATS TO HAVE STRAIGHT TICKET

THINK CHANCES GOOD

Former Assemblyman Swackhamer Declines Mayoralty Nomination and Gives His Reasons.

It was unanimously decided at a meeting of Democrats held in the basement of the Borough High School, last night, to place a straight Democratic ticket in nomination this fall, and a committee comprising S. S. Swackhamer, W. J. Conroy, David Bodine, James Daly, Frank Krewson and Andrew E. Kenney was appointed to prepare a ticket for the approval of the party. The committee got together after the meeting and it is expected that in a day or two it will be ready to report. A mayor, two councilman and two justice of the peace are to be nominated in the borough, and there is a Senator and an Assemblyman also to be nominated.

It was not without strong opposition that the advocates of the straight ticket gained their point, for nineteen of the forty-four Democrats present favored a citizens' ticket and the question was warmly debated for over an hour. The fusion idea has been successful heretofore and this will be the first time in several years that a straight ticket will be nominated. David J. Carney, a member of the executive committee, was chairman of the meeting and he threw it open at once for discussion after stating its object.

Justice D. D. Smalley was the first speaker and he spent some time in telling his fellow-Democrats how Plainfield controls the key to the situation. He favored a citizens' ticket and said that is was the only way to be successful at the polls and defeat the purpose of the enemy. His plan was to nominate Democrats, but make a citizens' ticket. He denounced the control which certain Plainfielder's have of the gas, electric light and water and said that unless a strong effort was made to break away from this the people of the borough would be charged even still higher rates.

The Justice thought it would be better to throw away the voting machine and only when that is done will justice be obtained.

S. S. Swackhamer remarked that he thought the time had arrived when a straight ticket would be successful. He expressed the opinion that the new way of voting by machines had a tendency to discourage many voters, because it is difficult to cut a ticket, which would mean that a straight Republican ballot would be cast. He referred to the borough division ticket of the enemy, the Republicans and he favored a straight Democratic ticket at this time. With this kind of a ticket the Democrats would be able to get a large vote from the other side.

He considered the question a serious one and declared that it was the great opportunity of the Democrats to win out and triumph, if no mistakes are made. He urged all to act in unison. However, if the majority favored a citizens' ticket he said he would stand by that decision and help fight to the last ditch.

Levi Kline favored a straight ticket for with a split ballot he thought the Republicans would benefit thereby. "In his opinion one-third of the voters "haven't brains to vote a citizens' ticket right."

Lambert Bodine, who was a member of the election board, said that he watched the voting last year and noticed that many intelligent voters were puzzled in the use of the machine, and if this be true what was to be expected of the more illiterate man. He favored a straight ticket.

W. J. Conroy thought a citizens' ticket would complicate matters, and he favored a straight ballot.

Charles Keller thought there would be three tickets in the field anyway, as a limited number of citizens have the right to make up a ticket by following the provisions of the law.

Walter Linbarger was strongly in favor of a citizens' ticket. He said that there are not enough Democrats in the borough to elect a ticket, while with a citizens' ticket there would be good chances for success. Later on when it was decided by a vote to have a straight ticket, Mr. Linbarger moved to make the vote unanimous and this was done.

David Bodine wanted to know how a straight ticket could be successful, when the only man who could successfully head the ticket for

BURGLARS IN SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD

TWO HOUSES ENTERED; BY AMATEURS, IT IS BELIEVED.

Thieves, believed to be the same ones in each case, operated in Scotch Plains and Fanwood Saturday and Sunday nights. Only one house in each place was entered, and from the way in which the robbers went at the jobs they are supposed to have been amateurs.

The Scotch Plains victim was Thomas S. Whitenack, of Forest avenue. Entrance was gained on Saturday night by the porch and a second story window. The thieves confined their work to Mr. Whitenack's bedroom, and went away satisfied with a watch of little intrinsic value and a small sum of money that was in Mr. Whitenack's clothes. On the table of a room downstairs was a purse containing a considerable sum.

The Fanwood robbery was committed at the house of Mr. Seaman next night. Entrance was gained in the same manner as at the Whitenack place. The haul amounted to only odd bits of silverware and a small sum of money.

Fearing a recurrence of the epidemic of second-story work which swept over the village and borough several years ago, the residents are urging the authorities to make a determined effort to run the thieves down without loss of time.

CRAP SHOOTERS ENRICH THE BOROUGH TREASURY

TOTAL OF $60 COLLECTED FROM THE SEXTETTE LAST NIGHT.

Though they entered a plea of not guilty as charged, Peter Uhdal, August Sutterlein, Fred Ammon, John Caulfield, Edward Britton and 'Squinty" Drake, caught in the crap game raid Sunday, were fined $10 each by Recorder Doud in the borough court last night. They made the mistake when arrested of depositing the amount as bail, and it was declared forfeited on the spot. Nine times out of ten over in the borough the bail a prisoner puts up is what it will cost him to get out of his tangle.

Because the cops didn't actually see them in the act, the charge against the young men was disorderly conduct, and their lawyer, William G. DeMeza, raised a point to show that flipping the bones beneath a bridge couldn't be juggled into some other complaint. Judge Doud didn't see it the way he did, and gave the clients to understand it was to let go of the ten or get free transportation to Somerville.

The arrest of the sextette is but the beginning of a crusade against crap shooting in the borough, as Chief Weiss is determined to break up the practice.

Hardly a Sunday goes by but what dozens of young men gather in out of the way spots and gamble for hours, and complaints have been entered until the police docket has become overloaded. The more experienced players have "pickets" stationed to note the approach of a blue-coat, and as a rule it is hard for an officer to get near them.

BURTON-KANE.

Former Plainfield Young Woman Wedded at Paterson.

Miss Margaret Kane, of Paterson, and formerly of this city, and Guy Burton, of Paterson, were married Thursday afternoon last in the rectory of St. Joseph's church, Paterson, by Rev. Father Gerlerd. The bride was gowned in white mull and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and maiden-hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Kane, of Raritan, who wore a gown of bluecloth.

Edward Donnelly, of Paterson, was the best man. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. Donnelly, where supper was served. Following a short wedding journey the couple will reside at 1065 East Twenty-fifth street, Paterson, where a completely furnished home awaits them.

Tatters Was Oslerized.

Tatters, a throughbred Airedale terrier owned by Edward McCarthy, was chloroformed last week to release it from the misery of an incurable attack of the mange. Tatters was a general favorite with everybody in the neighborhood, and his death has made almost as much of a stir there as if the mayor had been chloroformed. He was remarkably intelligent.

TALK ON FIRE DRILLS

Supt. H. C. Krebs Tells Borough Board of Education About Them.

BOND ISSUE AWARDED

Plainfield Trust Company Buys $4,000 Worth of Five Per Cents.—Contractor's Bond Cancelled.

General and informal discussion of minor details connected with the final steps attendant on throwing open the new school building and reports from committees, occupied most of the time of the monthly meeting of the Borough Board of Education last night. Superintendent H. C. Krebs was present, and contributed an outline of the fire drills to be instituted next term to the discussion.

Mr. Krebs' sketch of the drill system was highly interesting. Before the superintendent spoke, Mr. Laing, of the committee in charge of the alarm system, reported that fire bells of two sizes are to be placed in all the halls of the combined buildings. Twelve inch alarms will be placed in the upper and lower halls in the center of the building, and bells four inches smaller will be distributed in the other halls. Break-glass buttons, which operate automatically when the glass plate tnat covers them is smashed, will be scattered in sufficient numbers through the different halls. Any one of these buttons will ring all the bells. They are to be used only in case of actual fire. The drill alarm is sounded from a blank button in the superintendent's office.

"The drills," said Mr. Krebs, "will be held irregularly and unexpectedly, by design. They are chiefly useful in preparing pupils for real alarms by reason of their unexpectedness. The number of alarms in a given time varies with the seasons. I do not like to send the pupils out into the streets in inclement weatner, so that in winter, for instance, the drills are not to be frequent. In spring and fall as many as three drills a week may be held.

"In the beginning the pupils must be taught to expect the drills. For a time they will be told just when to expect them. Then, after a bit, we will tell them that a drill will be held on a certain day, giving them no hint as to the time. When they have become accustomed to the drills the warnings will cease, and drilling in earnest will begin.

"In my school at Somerville the building was cleared in a minute and a half at the most, and sometimes in a minute or less. The interior plan of the building and the location and number of the exits, of course, have a good deal of bearing on the way the drills work. The method of marching out that is perfect in one building will be useless in another. In the beginning of the drills here we will have to watch the way the halls are cleared to decide upon the best and quickest method. We can try several plans, and choose that which shows up best."

The system of belling, with automatic buttons, that is installed in the Somerset school will be duplicated in the Watchung school, although on a smaller scale. The drills, too, will be the same.

The members of the Board are much interested in the matter. Up-to-date in practically everything else that is worth having in a school system, the borough schools for some reason have hitherto been lacking in the fire drill, and the Board is naturally pleased that so important a detail of modern school management is no longer to be missing.

Early in the meeting the Board disposed of the $4,000 bond issue voted at the special election held July 12. The bonds were awarded to the only bidder, The Plainfield Trust Company. The bid was at par and interest. The bonds bear five per cent. interest. This action finally closes a matter that has hung fire since spring, when the voters first authorized the issue. After the election the attorney general discovered that a flaw in the ballot nullified the proceedings, making it neeessary to hold the election over again. The award is subject to the approval of the Trust Company's counsel.

W. C. Smith, the mason who had the contract on the new building, appeared before the Board to request the return of his bond, covering the amount of his contract. The bond expired yesterday, but the building is not yet completed, although close to the finishing touches. Mr. Smith's contract, however, has been fully executed, and he asked for his bond on that ground.

"It is not my fault that you have employed slow carpenters and plumbers," he said, "and I do not feel like paying for an extension of the bond and keeping $2,400 of my money tied up."

As the last payments on the build-

BRIDGE PLANS ACCEPTED

Freeholders Ready to Award Contract For West End Avenue Structure.

WILL COST $7,500

When Completed Will Be One of the Most Attractive in This Part of the State.

The joint committee from the Union and Somerset County Boards of Freeholders, met yesterday at the office of County Engineer Frank J. Hubbard, and accepted the plans for the new West End avenue bridge, which it was voted to build at a meeting held last week. This structure is to cost not over $7,500 and the contractors will be given until November 15 next to complete the work. A penalty of $20 a day will be imposed for every day after that time. After accepting the plans the freeholders decided to meet on Tuesday afternoon, September 5, at 2:30 o'clock and receive bids for the construction work.

The plans, which were drawn by Engineer Hubbard, call for a span of seventy feet with a centre pier. The width will be sixty-six feet, allowing eight feet on each side for sidewalks, which will be covered with twenty-four inch eight pound steel I beams, with brick and cement arches. The roadway will be macadamized and the walks cement.

The abutments will be sixty-six feet long, six feet at the bottom and three feet at the top. The wing walls will extend from the extreme end of the wing walls on each side, being ninety-eight feet long. The floor beams will be tied with angle irons at the end of outside wing, with intermediate ties of inch round iron securely bolted, making the structure stiff and unyielding with an absence of vibration.

When completed the bridge will be one of the most attractive in this part of the State and will be in keeping with the improvements being made in the West End of the borough by the syndicate.

As a further means to help carry off surplus surface water, large catch basins with twenty-four inch piping will be extended from each gutter on either side and on the borough side a storm sewer will be built from Myrtle avenue to Green brook. These catch basins on the city side will be located fifty feet away from the bridge and will help a great deal in carrying away water in heavy rains.

At the meeting yesterday, Union county was represented by Freeholders Westphal, Robison, Scudder and Marsh and Somerset county by Freeholders Logan, Demler, Whitenack, Codington, Emmons and Hoagland.

SHE WANTED TO SHOW WHERE A DOG BIT HER

Margaret Bell, the belle of the colored fast set, appeared in the borough police court last night as complainant against Edward Mundy, whose dog she alleged had bitten her. Margaret lives on Race street, and Mundy on Harmony street, and their yards adjoin.

Margaret said the dog bit her on the thigh. She said she could show the marks. Recorder Doud hastily assured her that he would take her word, but Margaret insisted on presenting the exhibit. She put her hand inside her waist and started to unloosen mysterious things.

A commotion ensued among the spectators in the court room. Half of them broke for the door, and the Recorder blushed furiously.

"I'll take your word, I tell you," he said, holding his hands before his eyes. "Don't you dare try to prove those bites."

Margaret finally consented to keep the bites under cover, and a sigh of relief came from the perspiring court.

Mundy told the court that the dog was not vicious, but that little colored boys in Margaret's yard annoyed him.

The Recorder scolded both sides and dismissed the complaint. Margaret was disappointed, and told the court so, but the Recorder refused to take vengeance for the undisclosed bites.

Realty Deal Denied.

Manager C. W. Runyon, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, denies the story in the Courier-News last night that the company has purchased a strip of land on East Fourth street, back of the company's present building. He says no such deal has been effected.

ALBERT WANTS DIVORCE

MARRIED BY JUSTICE

Petitioner Declares He Was Deserted Immediately After the Ceremony—Well Known to Local Fans.

Charging that she left him immediately after the marriage ceremony had been performed by a justice of the peace, Joseph Albert, of Scotch Plains, has applied for a divorce in the Court of Chancery from his wife, Katherine Munroe Albert, of this city. Chancellor Magie has referred the case to Special Master John H. Van Winkle, of this city, to take testimony and report upon the truth of the charges made by Albert in his petition.

Albert is a well-known ball player, and is familiar to the fans of this city as one of the heaviest hitters and fastest fielders on the old Scotch Plains team managed by George Johnston. He played on the bench for the local nine during the latter part of last season, and is now outfielder on the Somerville West Ends.

At the time of her marriage Mrs. Albert was a Miss Katherine Munroe, and was well known in Scotch Plains, where she lived. The couple were married on October 18, 1902, by Justice of the Peace Joseph Clark, of Scotch Plains.

In his petition Albert declares that on the day he was married and "immediately after the said marriage," his wife deserted him to live with her brother, Duncan Munroe, of Scotch Plains, and about November 1, 1903, went to this city, where she is employed as a domestic in the family of James S. Pray, of 235 East Sixth street. He charges that she has steadfastly refused to live with him or have anything to do with him.

QUESTIONER TURNS INTO A HEAVY HITTER

WHEN EDWARD THOMAS' FOREBEARANCE CEASED HENRY ELLICK GOT HURT

Mrs. Henry Ellick and Mrs. Edward Thomas, who live in the same house on West Third street, near Plainfield avenue, have not been on good terms for some time. Last week Thomas went upstairs to the Ellick rooms to ask for an explanation of a harsh term applied by Mrs. Ellick to Mrs. Edward. Ellick and his wife threw him out.

Thomas stopped Ellick at Plainfield avenue and Third street yesterday afternoon to ask him for an explanation of that occurrence. He said he was particularly interested in the incident, and really would like to know what led Mr. Ellick to precipitate it. Ellick punched him in the face.

Then the forbearance of the inquiring Thomas ceased. He stopped looking for information and licked Ellick within an inch of his life. Cop Higgins, who has been sent back to his old haunts in the West End while Roundsman Flynn is filling in vacation vacancies, heard of the scrap a few hours later and promptly hunted down both men.

When Judge Runyon heard the tale in the city court this morning, he looked with approving eye on Thomas. He fined Ellick $5. The money was paid.

Mrs. Potter Here for Visit.

Mrs. H. S. Potter, of El Paso, Texas, arrived in Plainfield early yesterday morning and is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, of East Second street. Mrs. Potter left El Paso Thursday afternoon and spent a day in Chicago and part of a day at Niagara Falls. She expects to return to El Paso in about eight weeks.

City Democratic Plans.

The Democrats of the city have practically decided to run a straight ticket at the coming fall election, but they deny most emphatically that a ticket has been chosen as yet. The city committee will call a meeting in a few days when there will be an informal discussion as to the ticket to be presented.

Acting-Sergeant McCue.

During Sergeant Frederickson's turn at the chiefship, pending Chief Kiely's return from his vacation, Doorman McCue, the dean of the local police force, will be acting-desk sergeant at the station house, on duty from 7 p. m. to 5 a. m.

—Neuman Brothers are receiving a nice lot of Bartlett pears and plums each day. They are of the very best quality and are being sold at lower prices than anywhere else in the city.

A FINE FOR MARRYING

Sixteen Young Men Pledge Themselves to Travel Through Life Alone.

ORGANIZE A CLUB

Between Retreats from Husband-Hunting Girls Will Discuss Politics and Other Things.

Sixteen careful and canny young men, with a thirst for information, organized a bachelor's club with a threefold object last night. They aim to keep designing girls at a safe distance, learn something of the political situation in Plainfield, the State and the nation, and to promote sociability.

The organization was effected in the Kensington Hotel. The name chosen was the Bachelors' Club, and permanent quarters will be secured at an early date. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday night.

These are the officers: President, Albert Yaeger; vice president, Daniel Randolph; treasurer, George Finger; secretary, Walter Sharkey. Daniel Randolph, Percy Phillips and Robert N. Crane were appointed a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws.

The members are pledged to avoid marriage as determinedly and desperately as possible. If any member should fall from the high ideal of celibacy to which he is sworn, he will be under penalty of furnishing the club with an expensive dinner. He will not be allowed to say when the dinner shall be held, but must abide by the choice of the secretary as to that.

In the interim between retreats from husband-hunting girls the members will study and debate on the principles of the various political parties. It is possible that the organization will later go into politics actively. A number of additions to the membership are in prospect.

Plans have already been laid for the first social affair. This will take the form of a supper and smoker, to be held on September 15. Invitations will be sent to City Judge Runyon, James E. Martine and other political workers, and it is hoped to have several short talks from them on the political situation in the city and State.

MRS. HIBBARD DIES AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS

END CAME AT HER HOME EARLY THIS MORNING.

Mrs. Rebecca Wickersham Hibbard, wife of Councilman Henry D. Hibbard, of East Seventh street, died this morning following a short illness. She was born at Alleghany, Pa., and was the daughter of Col. Samuel M. Wickersnam, of the 169th (Pa.,) Civil War Regiment. The family moved to this city eight years ago, when Mr. Hibbard became identified with what was known as the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Company, now the Manganese Steel Safe Company.

Mrs. Hibbard was a member of Grace church, and very active in all of its interests. She is survived by a husband, a son, Lyman, and daughter, Dorothy; also three sisters, Miss Lillian G. Wickersham, who lived here; Miss Elizabeth O. Wickersham, of Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. R. A. Hadley, of Sheffield, Eng., and three brothers, George W. Wickersham, Esq., of New York, and Morris and Thomas Wickersham, of Pittsburg.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late residence on East Seventh street.

County Election Board Meeting.

The County Board of Elections will meet at Elizabeth today to arrange important matters prior to the coming elections.

FATHER AND SON TO WED

Dr. A. E. Main to be a Principal at a Triple Ceremony Tomorrow.

FORMER LOCAL PASTOR

The Misses Mattie and Mabel Dixon Surprise Parent by Asking That Their Marriage Be Celebrated With Sister's.

Closely following upon yesterday's closing of the Seventh-day Baptist General Conference, at Shiloh, there will be an interesting event at that place at 2 o'clock. Three daughters of John T. Dixon, a well known citizen of that village, will all be married at that time. Miss Anna will marry John N. Austin, of Westerly, R. I.; Miss Mattie will wed Rev. Arthur E. Main, dean of the Theological Department of Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y., and former pastor of the Plainfield Seventh-day Baptist church, and Miss Mabel will become the bride of George Main, who is the son of Rev. Arthur E. Main.

In consequence of the two latter unions one of the thre young women will become the mother-in-law of her sister. The date for Miss Anna's marriage had for some time been set for Wednesday. Yesterday the two other young ladies, who had been attending Alfred University during the winter and who were to have been married later, surprised their father by informing him that they wished all three of the ceremonies to come off on the same day. Their wish was granted and there will be a triple wedding tomorrow in the Dixon household.

Dr. Main succeeded Rev. Dr. Lewis as pastor of the local Seventh-day Baptist congregation and remained here three years. He resigned in order to accept the appointment at Alfred University and it was there that he met his future bride, as did his son. Dr. Main has now been away from Plainfield about three years, but returns frequently on visits.

DEMOCRATIC SLATE.

Prepared for North Plainfield Township Last Night.

The Democrats of North Plainfield Township assembled in the parlor of Maul's Washingtonville hotel last evening for the purpose of selecting candidates for the town offices. William Demler was elected chairman and Francis E. Bodin, secretary.

The ticket was carefully voted on, and the following candidates nominated: For township clerk, George Mobus; for member of Town Committee, Benjamin Clark, of Scotch Plains; assessor, George Trust; commissioners of appeal, Thomas Taylor, Theodore Lewisson, Edward Canning; surveyors of highways, John Mobus, Ray Smith; justice of the peace, Francis E. Bodin; poundkeepers, T. McGann, Charles Sherman. Amounts to be appropriated: For roads, $2,000; for poor, $500; Town Committee salary, $50 per year. Francis E. Bodin was selected for delegate to county convention, and William Demler, State convention.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Funeral services over the body of L. N. Britton were held from his late home yesterday morning. Britton was forty-six years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Britton, and a resident of Dunellen for five years. Interment was made in Rosedale cemetery, Orange.

To boom the reopening of Washington Rock as a pleasure resort, A. J. Nittenger is offering tea and coffee free to everyone visiting the place. A large sized crowd visited the rock Sunday afternoon and almost 200 people enjoyed the clambake there.

Dunellen will line up against Clinton Avenue on Saturday. "Phil" Smith, who returned from Lake Hopatcong today, and who has suffered from a cut ankle, is improved sufficiently and will occupy the slab.

Rev. N. J. Sproul, former pastor of the Presbyterian church, was the preacher there on Sunday and a large congregation was present to greet him.

A number of local young men and women are contemplating entering the Plainfield Business College at its opening on September 5.

Mrs. J. Roach, of Bound Brook, has returned from a two week's stay with her sister, Mrs. P. Mohan.

Miss Lila Stites is visiting friends in Bayonne, where she will remain until the opening of school.

Alvah Gray and family are expected back today from a two weeks' stay at Mt. Pocono.

E. Pennock has purchased a new horse and wagon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A serious automobile accident was averted Sunday afternoon on the corner of Front street and Park avenue by the coolheadedness of one of the chauffeurs. A novice driving a car attempted to turn from Front street into Park avenue at a fast clip. Another touring car, in charge of an experienced man, attempted to turn from Park avenue to Front street at the same time. Seeing his danger just in time to avert a headon collision, he ran his machine up on the sidewalk. The novice during the excitment started to follow the same course, but finally brought his machine to a stop. This is only one of the many narrow escapes witnessed on this corner every week.

Mrs. Jacob Shackleton and daughter, Miss Salina, are spending two weeks with relatives and friends in Hackettstown, Andover and other points in Warren county.

Mr. and Mrs. Samson and family, of Westfield, have moved into the Dr. J. Ackerman Coles cottage on Union avenue.

The local ball team plays the Westfield Cuban Giants Saturday afternoon on the local diamond.

Miss Elsie Long, of Murray Hill, has been visiting friends in town.

The township committee meet Friday night in the town room.

BUILDING OF THE NETHERWOOD SUBWAY EXPLAINED BY ASSISTANT EDITOR OF THE RAILROAD GAZETTE

While the fact is not generally known, the tunnel now being constructed beneath the New Jersey Central tracks at Netherwood is to be one of the largest and best of any along the road. Its establishment called for several difficult engineering problems, which were met by Joseph O. Osgood, of North Plainfield, in whose office the plans for the subway were drawn. When completed it will have cost the railroad about $7,500, this having been the bid of the contractors, the McCloud Company, of Elizabeth.

A technical description of the tunnel, written by Ralph Davison, of Netherwood, appeared in the last number of the Railroad Gazette, of which he is associate editor. In part it was as follows:

"The tunnel proper is 96 feet long by 6 feet wide at the base and has a maximum height of about 7 feet 8 inches. The side walls have a maximum width of 3 feet at the base and a minimum width of 2 feet 3 inches at the top. They are reinforced, as indicated in the cross section, by ¾-inch medium open hearth steel rods. The roof is reinforced with expanded metal and 12-inch I beams placed at 22-inch centers, resting on 80-lb. rails. The I beams are held in position by means of three ½-inch by 4-inch flat iron strips, as shown. The foundation for the floor consists of 7½ inches of concrete laid on a broken stone foundation. The finished surface of the flooring and steps is of 1-inch cement motar composed of one part Portland cement and two parts of sand. To give this finish a dark color 2 pounds of lamp black is mixed with every barrel of cement. The concrete in the foundation and abutments to elevation, and in all retaining walls and foundations for steps and flooring is composed of 1 part cement, 2½ parts sand and 4 parts broken stone. The stone in the concrete for the footing courses is of trap rock and does not exceed 1½ inches in any direction. Stone not exceeding 1 inch in any direction was used for the concrete in the floor, steps, retaining walls, abutments and the roof of the tunnel. The expansion joints are located as shown in the illustrations and the adjacent portions of the wall are separated by two layers of building paper. The outer surface of the structure, as indicated in the drawing, is waterproofed; the water-proofing being applied as follows: First, a hot coating of "Hydrex" compound was applied; this was allowed to thoroughly dry, and four layers of Hydrex water proofing felt, laid shingle fashion, was cemented together by hot Hydrex compound. A ledge, or shoulder is formed in the side walls of the steps under which shoulder the water-proofing is flashed, so as to prevent water from getting in behind the water-proofing. The drainage system—which is one of the most important features in connection with subway work—is well taken care of. It consists of catch-basins, located as shown, connected with 4-inch drain pipes to a 6-inch main drain pipe having a rake of 2.15 feet in 100 feet and an outlet 210 feet from the mouth of the subway. All pipe is salt glazed vitrified stoneware sewer pipe. The pipe outside of the steps and tunnel bottom is joined by caulking the sockets with rope-yarn gaskets and then filling with cement mortar of one part of cement and two parts of sand. All pipes under the steps and floor of the tunnel are laid with open joints. Five electric lights are placed in the tunnel as shown in the illustration. The center light is wired separately from the others, and the wires for this light are arranged so that it can be turned on by a switch in the ticket office of the station. The other four lights are on one circuit and are also arranged to be turned on and off from the station. The wires for the lights are carried in a loricated conduit of 1 inch inside diameter, built in the concrete walls of the tunnel. In other subways along the line of the C. R. R. of N. J. ordinary 16 c. p. incandescent lamps, held in sockets and projecting out into the subway are used. Considerable annoyance has been ocacsioned by the frequent breaking of these lights, and to overcome this the lights in the Netherwood subway are to be made as shown in the detailed drawing, and placed in recesses in the walls of the tunnel. To facilitate work in the subway during the construction the four main tracks had to be raised 12 inches and carried on a temporary trestle."

AMUSEMENTS

"Finnigan's Ball," the farce comedy to be presented at the Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, is a comedy destined to promote side shaking laughter and a contagion of fun. Its success for the last number of seasons is an indication of its original and infectous composition. Its theme is original and it appeals forcibly to that large class of intelligent theatre goers who prefer to shed tears of laughter over comical sayings, actions and songs, rather than weep over sombre and pathetic melodramatic representations of misfortune in real life. Its present tour is under the direction of Mr. Edwin Franklin, who has secured it from Messrs. Murray and Mack, and it has been staged and produced under the personal direction of Mr. Charles A. Murray, of that team. A company of 20 people, including a bevy of pretty girls, are employed in its presentation.

For the last week of summer, Keith's offers a notable bill, headed by The Great Lafayette, with his entire touring company and military brass band, who contribute a whole hour's entertainment, including Lafayette's humorous impersonations of famous musical directors, and the sensational spectacular pantomime entitled "The Lion's Bride," a living reproduction of the celebrated painting of that title. This week also witnesses the first American appearance of Charles Serra, direct from the Paris Olympia, in his unique gymnastic act on the white column; and the vaudeville debut of William Bonellie, late star of "An American Gentleman," in his original one act farce, "On a String." Others on the big bill are Josephine Gassman and her "picks;" the Ellis-Nolan Trio, eccentric comedy acrobats; Halladay & Leonard, Irish comedians; Klekko & Fravoli, late of the Metropolitan Opera Co., in operatic selections; Jack and Bertha Rich, song and dance duo, and Charles and Kate Gibson, in the one act drama, "The Burglar's Kit."

In "The Legend of the Catskills," a new lyric comedy drama, by Pierce Kingsley, in which Pete Baker, the celebrated dialect comedian, will be seen at the Plainfield theatre Thursday night, is presented a play of the type which has stood the test of time and still continues popular. The musical romance, with a love interest, a child interest and plenty of comedy continues to please, while the others rise and fall in favor. "The Legend of the Catskills" is the first drama of this type in the Dutch dialect that has been seen in this country in several years, and Pete Baker, one of the leading Dutch singing comedians, was the last man to appear in this style of lyric comedy-drama in this country before he left the legitimate stage of vaudeville, three years ago. In his support are two of the prettiest babies in the thespian world today, and they are as clever as they are pretty. Already "Pete Baker's Cherubs" are becoming famous and they are universal pets wherever they travel. The sale of seats for "The Legend of the Catskills" has already commenced, and from present indications the house will be sold out for the performance Thursday.

LITERARY.

Horrible disasters are seldom missing from our enterprising press. The supply is kept up in generous degree by the railroads. The grade crossing has the distinction of being as perilous as it is avoidable, but there are plenty of devices almost as full of danger and as free from any excusing need. During the first three months of this year there were 1,787 collisions and 1,321 derailments. It is reckoned that in the State of New York, where there is a law for the gradual abolition of grade crossings, an end will come, under this beneficent legislation, when 800 years have passed and 100,000 more individuals have been slain. The block system of signalling, which is in full force in Great Britain and several countries on the continent, is almost universally held to be far safer than any merely human agency, and one of the principal causes of safety abroad. The quality and type of the car used in America is also frequently much below what it would be under efficient supervision by the State, and there are a score of undisputed ways in which the excessive danger accompanying American railway travel could be diminished. The only obstacle is the expense to the roads, which find it cheaper to pay what they must for the lives destroyed, after fighting in the courts and compromising with relatives, who have not time, money, or evidence enough for successful legal controversy. Great Britain and Ireland, transporting over a billion passengers, outside of suburban service, to our 750,000,000, killed 25 persons in 1904 to our 4,000, and injured 769 to our 50,000. Railroads in Great Britain are not so free as they are with us to conduct their own business as they deem best.—Collier's for September 2.

The present series with Westfield will go down in history as one of the most memorable of either town.

Every fan is looking forward with great interest to the coming series with Summit. The contests are sure to be red hot.

For the sake of the interest in the games it is to be hoped that there will be no further trouble in the remaining four contests.

In the box score of Saturday's game, published yesterday, Flynn, of the Westfield team, is given credit for five put outs, when it should be three.

"The Dove of Peace" is still hovering about, and now that no indemnity is asked for on either side, there is no doubt but that the series will be finished.

Plainfield will play at Westfield on Saturday and the Pirates will be here Labor Day afternoon. In the morning they play Summit at home in Westfield.

"Red" Waller felt so much relieved after his release on Saturday night that he almost insisted on Patrolman John Payne taking a five spot. Of course, John refused.

Let everyone hope, as Judge Runyon expressed it, that Saturday's episode will "prove a blessing in disguise," and that the best of feeling will prevail in the remaining games.

It is said that it was not so much the throwing of the ball by "Red" Waller that angered Umpire Merity as his use of indecent language to the arbiter. Jack has the reputation of refusing to stand for epithets.

The sporting writer of the Philadelphia North American does not speak in glowing terms of the work of Harry McCormick, who is now with the York, Pa., team. He says that he is not much of an improvement over the player whose place he took in left field.

All honor to Manager Denman and his team, but the latter is not quite strong enough for Plainfield. In the six contests played, Plainfield has made twenty-three runs, forty-eight hits and eighteen errors, against fifteen runs, forty hits and fifteen errors for Westfield.

ROD AND GUN.

Charles Duvier, of West Fifth street, and P. A. McVoy, of East Front street, tried the Fishing Banks with a party of friends in a specially chartered craft Saturday. Mr. Duvier landed a twelve-pound sea bass, but his companion couldn't coax a nibble to his hook.

Miss Lulu Heidloff, of West Front street, has returned from a visit with relatives in Boston.

Miss May Duckworth, of Providence, R. I., who has been visiting relatives and friends here, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sutphen, of Madison avenue, left yesterday for Asbury Park, where they will remain for two weeks.

OMAHA BOTHERED BY PLAGUE OF CRICKETS

SO SERIOUS THAT TROLLEY CARS ARE HELD UP.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 29.—Crickets in great droves are distracting the people of this city. The insect plague is so serious that motormen are having difficulty in operating the street cars by reason of the crickets piling up on the rails.

They are eating up carpets in private homes and hotels, are destroying clothing which has been hung away in closets at night, and so thickly do they gather around arc lights as to make it almost impossible for pedestrians to pass them.

Patrons of theatres are compelled to fight crickets while witnessing performances on the stage. At drug stores, persons are driven away from soda fountains by the insects.

The other morning clerks at Browning, King & Co's. store swept a bushel of crickets out of the store and into a pile on the sidewalk.

Bushels of them were swept out of other stores in the retail district.

A motorman last night on the Hanscom Park Line found the crickets so thick on the rails at Park and Woolworth avenues that he had to stop his car.

Motormen on the Sherman avenue and Walnut Hill lines report similar experiences. The insects are even more numerous in South Omaha than they are in Omaha.

Weather Observer Walsh said yesterday that he knew of no peculiar conditions to which he could attribute a cricket plague.

SCOTTY'S MINE DISCOVERED.

Rush for Death Valley When the Secret Gets Out.

Gold Field, Nev., Aug. 29.—Death Valley has given up her secret. One hundred miles southeast of Lady mountain, in the Bullfrog mining district, is the hiding place of the mysterious Walter Scott, the former Plainfielder who recently broke the railroad record across the continent.

Sunday night there was a stampede in the town of Bullfrog to get to the district. Hundreds of expeditions are fitting out in Bullfrog and before Scotty can reach the spot from San Francisco it is predicted that his mine will be discovered and all the surrounding country staked out.

A man named Miles made this discovery.

He arrived in Bullfrog from a place sixty-five miles southeast of Furace Creek ranch. There he found a chasm surrounded on three sides by towering walls "Scotty's" hiding place.

It was strewn with broken champagne bottles, boxes of canned goods and cooking utensils and bore evidence of having been visited within the past three months. A satchel full of clothing and papers identifying the owner was also found.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Rev. S. Sarasola, of the Belen College Observatory, Havana, Cuba, is visiting Georgetown College, Washington.

Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, widow of Senator Hearst, of California, has sold her interest in the big Chichuahua ranch in Mexico.

Charles William Manwaring, a genealogist of note, has just died at Hartford, Conn. For five years he has been engaged on an important literary work, which he completed while on his death bed.

Dr. W. Wyssling, professor of electrical engineering in the Zurich Polytechnicum, has arrived in New York to study developments of electrical engineering.

The first telegraphic longitude station in Labrador has been established at Chateau Bay by Dr. Otto Klotz, Dominion astronomer, in conjunction with Sir William Macgregor, Governor of Newfoundland.

Prof. Russell, former professor of English at the Northwestern University, proposes to issue a cook book. The text of the book is to be in correct English, and he says that he believes that a girl who has been trained in the classics will find pleasure in reading a cook book that uses good English and is written in a readable style.

Henniker Heaton, who has done so much for the cheapening of postal communication in Great Britain, urges the formation of a league to make the penny post universal. It is, he says, absurd to charge twopence half-penny for a letter to Calais or to New York, when a letter to Canada can pass through New York for a penny.

Mrs. Ella F. Young, one of the best known woman educators in the country, will succeed the late Dr. Arnold Tompkins as principal of the Chicago Normal School at a salary of $5,000 a year. Mrs. Young has been attached to the University of Chicago as a lecturer on pedagogy and has continued with the institution for seven years.

Mrs. Winfield Schomp, of West Front street, has returned from a sojourn at Asbury Park.

Plainfield, N. J., August 29, 1905.

In the excitement of watching the fight for peace at Portsmouth, the man in the junk who furnished the correspondents with "the awful details" of the fray in the East has gotten lost in the shuffle.

It may only be a coincidence but the State's condemnation of five passenger boats plying Lake Hopatcong, within a few days of the anniversary of the City of Trenton disaster on the Delaware river, is significant. In that memorable catastrophe, which occurred off Holmesburg on August 28, 1901, twenty-eight persons lost their lives through the explosion of a defective boiler. The machinery of some of the Hopatcong boats has been declared unsafe and since the owners are still running the vessels it is well for the officials to bear in mind that history frequently repeats itself.

A correspondent of an advertisers' journal argues that occasional purposely perpetrated blunders in spelling and grammar in "ads" are helpful because they attract attention. It logically follows that it would pay a merchant to "skin" his customers right and left because they would soon get to talking about him. Blunders are common enough without premeditation. The advertiser who has to resort to typographical monkeyshines to focus the public eye on his announcements is either using the wrong medium or trying to tell a story that nobody wants to hear.—Philadelphia Record.

PASTORS RETURNING.

Local Pulpits Will Soon Be Occupied by Regular Clergymen.

The time is drawing near when many of the Plainfield pastors will return from their summer outings and again resume their pastoral work. The first to return is Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, who will occupy his pulpit on Sunday.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss will return in time to be in his pulpit on Sunday, September 10. Next Sunday Rev. George A. Francis will preach morning and night.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie will not return until Sunday, September 17. Next Sunday Rev. Dr. Mott, of Elizabeth, will preach in his pulpit and on September 10 Rev. Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, president of Union College, will be the preacher.

Among the other pastors who will return early in September are Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational; Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, and Rev. Dr. Parsons, of Grace M. E. church. Aside from a few short trips, Rev. George Mooney, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, has not been away for any length of time.

THE WEEK AT THE HOME.

Final Meeting of Season Next Sunday Afternoon.

George B. Webb, president of the Epworth League, of the Westfield Methodist church, presided at the meeting at the Netherwood Home last evening. Eric Moraller, of this city, will speak this evening. A delegation from the C. E. Society, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will be present on Wednesday. The Epworth League, of Grace M. E. church, will have some of its members present at the prayer meeting Thursday night. Members of the C. E. Society, of the Congregational church, will be present at Friday night's service.

The programme for Saturday promises to be an interesting one. It will consist of recitations and songs by the children. The service next Sunday afternoon will be the last of the present season. Extensive plans for a big meeting on that day are now in charge of the committee on religious work, which will meet tonight to make definite arrangements.

CHIDSEY CO'S. EFFECTS DISPOSED OF AT AUCTION

Pursuant to an order issued by Judge William M. Lanning, of the United States District Court, the entire contents of the Chidsey Stables, at Prince street and Irvington avenue, Elizabeth, were sold at auction yesterday morning to A. W. Rade, a horsedealer, of New York city, for $15,575. The property consisted of ninety-one horses, thirty-four vans and wagons, eighteen sets double harness, twelve sets single harness, stable and office fixtures and a complete blacksmithing outfit.

R. W. Lewis, of the Union County Trust Company, the receiver for the property, said that he considered the price a good one.

The bidding started at $14,000, and was raised to the selling figure by $50 and $25 bids.

There was a large attendance, and the scenes in and about the great building resembled a country fair. Many would-be purchasers supposed the horses, wagons, etc., would be sold singly, or in lots to suit, and many were disappointed at the decision of the parties most interested to sell all in one lot.

Representatives from several of the large horse-dealing concerns of Newark, New York and other cities inspected the stock, but only a few of them offered bids. The first bid of $14,000 was made by Frederick L. Heidritter, who is a large creditor. The Rankin delivery concern, which has succeeded to much of Chidsey's business, made no bid, much to the surprise of many.

J. M. C. Marsh, of Westfield, was the auctioneer, and after the bidding was started, made the sale in a short time.

Rade bought in the goods on speculation, and will sell all at auction at the same place on Wednesday. The Chidsey Company operated its wagons in this city, delivering goods for many of the New York dry goods houses.

TO HAVE STRAIGHT TICKET

the Mayoralty, refuses to take the nomination? "I honor Mr. Swackhamer for the stand he has taken," declared Mr. Bodine, "but it is up to him to take the nomination. The Democrats have stood by him, now let him stand by them and win out."

These remarks stirred Mr. Swackhamer and led him to speak his mind in a vigorous manner. He said that he would always remember what had been done for him with the greatest pleasure, but he felt constrained at this time to decline the nomination. In the first place he was convinced that a man should not take such a nomination unless he had leisure, opportunity and the ability to fill the position. "I am not in a position financially to take this nomination," declared Mr. Swackhamer, "and it would be unjust to my family and business to go into this fight. I could not think of placing such a burden on myself now even though I was sure of an election and there was a good salary to the office. I want to be honest and frank with you, but if I have any regard for my health I must decline the nomination, but I assure you that I will go out of my way to help some one else get the office, and I ask you not to urge me to accept this time."

Andrew E. Kenney said that the question of the kind of a ticket to run was one of principle and not machines. He declared that the annexation issue is a dead one and while there are a large number of Democrats who favor annexation, he thought this meeting not a place to talk of a citizens' ticket. "If we nominate a straight ticket and lose, that will simply be the principle worked out, but I do not think that any odium should be cast on a Democrat because he favors annexation," said Mr. Kenney.

Justice Smalley made a sharp retort to these remarks by asking what principle amounts to if you cannot elect your candidates. He said that he had never seen a straight Democratic ticket elected in the borough and he had lived there many years.

John Case urged that a vote be taken on the question of running a straight or citizens' ticket. He said that he was willing to stand by the majority vote. He then called for the question and a vote was taken. Twenty-five votes were cast in favor of a straight ticket and nineteen for a citizens' ticket. It was then that Mr. Linbarger's motion to make the vote unanimous was carried, and Mr. Carney appointed a nominating committee.

Among those who are mentioned for the office of Mayor are Samuel Townsend and Deuse VanVliet, while Michael Koller and W. F. Hamilton are mentioned as possible successors to Councilmen Humble and Arnold, whose terms expire this year. It is expected that the nominating committee will complete the slate by tomorrow, when a report will be made to the executive committee.

THE MIKADO GIVES IN Japan Will Make Still Further Concession to Russia in the Interest of Peace.

THE EXTENT UNKNOWN

Indemnity Demand Reduced and May Be Waived—Envoys Meet Again Today.

Portsmouth N. H., Aug. 29.—Japan will make still further concessions to Russia in the interest of peace. This announcement was made last evening by the official spokesman of the Japanese mission, M. Sato, who added that this was in accordance with instructions received from Tokio last evening, which instructions conveyed to the Japanese plenipotentiaries the decision reached by the Mikado and his Cabinet at Tokio yesterday. The envoys will meet this morning, when the Japanese proposition will be laid before the Russian plenipotentiaries. The extent and character of the concessions which the Japanese have been instructed to make are carefully withheld.

It is authoritatively denied that Japan has at any time yielded her demand that Russia defray the cost of the war, either by a payment for that purpose or by paying $600,000,000 for the northern half of Saghalien. Reports to the effect that President Roosevelt, by the authority of Japan advised the Czar that Japan would waive all indemnity or reimbursement and delegate to an arbitral board the valuation of the northern half of Saghalien are declared by Minister Takahira and M. Witte to be unfounded.

That the President suggested that the four articles on which Russia and Japan were unable to agree be submitted to a board consisting of one representative of each of the belligerents and of a third person to be agreed upon by them, but with no obligation on either side to abide by the advice of such board, is true, and it is said that the rumor referred to must have grown out of this fact. The President's suggestion was promptly rejected by the Czar, who declined absolutely to permit his envoys to discuss the Japanese demand that Russia defray the cost of the war.

The impression strongly prevails among the Russians in Portsmouth that the President has departed from the role of the "great and good friend" of both nations. They maintain that he has recently sought almost to coerce Russia into accepting terms in his estimation reasonable. The impression further prevails in this quarter that the report that Japan had offered to submit to arbitration the sum to be paid for the northern half of Saghalien, while abandoning all claim that the cost of the war be defrayed by Russia, emanated from Oyster Bay, but became confused in transmission. The Japanese, on the other hand, speak in the most grateful terms of the President's efforts in behalf of peace, and maintain tnat he has been a faithful and an impartial friend to both belligerents.

She Was Happy.

Lizzie McLaughlin, fifty years old, came from New York yesterday to visit friends here. She celebrated the visit like a petticoated sport, and Officer McKeon found her tacking uncertainly about the streets last night. Judge Runyon suspended sentence on her this morning after a few general observations on woman's proper sphere that made Lizzie wince.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Miss Emma Manning and Mrs. Wilroy Voorhees visited their sister, Mrs. Walter Sisty, today, at Roselle Park.

Mrs. Wilroy Voorhees, of Asbury Park, is spending a few days with her sister, Miss Emma Manning.

ing have not been made, and need not be made until the architect has inspected the building and pronounced it satisfactory under the specifications, the Board considered itself fully protected, and promptly voted the cancellation of the bond.

Before he left, Mr. Smith was instructed to inspect the Watchung school and locate the source of a serious leakage of water into the basement.

The building committee was authorized to repair the closets of the Watchung school.

The reporters were requested to make it plain that the schools reopen on Tuesday, September 12. In some way a general impression has gone about the borough that the schools will not open until September 19. None of the Board or the school officials have any idea where the understanding came from. It has become so widespread, however, that the members were afraid that unless the announcement was made in the papers and emphasized in the regular advertisement of reopening the attendance for the first few days of the new term would be extraordinarily light. Mr. Krebs informed the Board that he had notified all the teachers of the opening date, and had already received replies from all but one of the staff.

Stephen Was Drunk.

Stephen Adams, twenty-eight years old, of Dunellen, was arrested last night by Officer Messler, for drunkenness. Stephen was soused to the limit, and he looked very wobbly when he appeared before Judge Runyon this morning. He was released under suspended sentence, after the magistrate had advised him to cling to the quiet joys of Dunellen and leave the hectic pleasures of the city alone.

Jury for This Suit.

A twelve-man jury will be drawn tomorrow afternoon in Justice Hand's court to try the contract case of George Tobin against James Trimmer. Reed & Coddington will conduct the case for the plaintiff and Louis A. Clement will appear for the defendant.

Gets Big Contract.

James Dawe, of this city, has secured the contract to erect seven two story and a half houses at Cranford for Edward A. O'Donnell. They are to cost from $2,325 to $3,125 each. William H. Clum, of this city, is the architect.

One of the "Old Timers."

Shiloh Convention Over.

The Seventh-Day Baptist conference was concluded at Shiloh, yesterday and today the delegates are enjoying an excursion to Atlantic City. The Plainfield delegates will return home tomorrow.

Preparing to Go Abroad.

Robert Johnston, who has been associated with the Campbell Printing Press Company for several years, has resigned his position, and will travel abroad. He is now visiting relatives in this city.

PERSONAL.

Russel Miller, of Orchard place, has returned from an extended visit in northern New York State.

Anna Sherwin, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Sherwin, of Washington street, is very ill.

The Misses Ida and Bertha Englehardt, of Grandview avenue, have returned after spending three weeks in the country.

William Heath, of Sandford avenue, has returned from a two months' camping trip along the St. Lawrence River.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, are home again after a pleasant month at their summer home, "On-a-Rock," Monhegan Island, Maine.

Albert Utzinger, of L. W. Randolph's pharmacy, who is spending his vacation at Silver Bay, Lake George, has written friends here that his outing has been marred somewhat by ivy poisoning about the face and hands. He will return home the last of the week.

SUN'S TOTAL ECLIPSE IS DUE TOMORROW

WILL LAST OVER THREE MINUTES AND WILL BE VISIBLE HERE.

Astronomers all over the world are looking forward with great anticipation to the total eclipse of the sun which will take place tomorrow. Their unusual interest in this event—for total eclipses are no rarity—is due to the fact that the duration of the totality will be fairly long at the best stations. The complete obstruction of the sun will last for three minutes and 50 seconds, or nearly twice as long as the time of a similar phenomena in many other instances. It will be visible in Plainfield.

Writing of this coming eclipse in the New York Tribune, Sir Robert Ball, LL. D., FR. S, says:

"The eclipse of Wednesday will be visible to some extent over the whole of Europe and the greater part of Africa. It will be visible over the North Atlantic and over a great part of Canada, and doubtless will be noted by many hundreds of thousands of observers. It may here be mentioned that an eclipse of this kind can only be observed on a bright day when the sun is high in a manner which, though it may not be actually instructive from a scientific point of view, is certainly pleasing and picturesque. This observation is made, strange to say, not by looking up to the sun, but by looking down upon the ground. When the sun throws a shadow of a tree on the road the rays of light passing through interstices between the leaves form bright spots, which, though we may not ordinarily notice the fact, are really images of the sun. When a large part of the disk of the sun is eclipsed then the bright part is reduced to a crescent and consequently each of the myriad little solar images on the ground presents to us a beautiful crescent.

"A most satisfactory way of observing the phenomena is to obtain the assistance of a telescope and then arrange that the image of the sun shall be thrown on a screen. By this device a greatly enlarged image of the sun is obtained and the excessive brilliance is suitably reduced.

"But the characteristic phenomena which makes eclipses so important are never exhibited when the phase of the eclipse is no more than a partial one. Complete extinction of the sun is necessary, or, in other words, it is necessary for the observer to take up such a position that the shadow of the moon shall pass over him as that shadow sweeps over the earth. It is with the object of getting into the track of the shadow that astronomers are now preparing for a visit either to Canada, Spain, Tunis or Egypt, for the line passes through these other countries as well as through Spain. The width of the shadow track is approximately one hundred miles, but toward each end of the track the duration of the totality diminishes, so that to see the eclipse under the most favorable conditions a position should be taken as near as possible to the central line.

"At just 12:41 on August 30 the shadow cone of the moon cast by the sun, after rapidly moving through space, first strikes this earth. The place so honored is about Winnipeg, where the rising sun will be a black globe.

"The importance of this will be appreciated when we bear in mind one of the principal problems which it is hoped this eclipse may enable us to solve. The mysterious corona, well shown in the admirable pictures taken on April 16, 1893, by J. Kearney, in West Africa, is certainly not a permanent structure. It is in constant movement, and in the intense energy of solar activity the movements occur with such rapidity that in the space of a couple of hours such large changes take place as would be quite conspicuous on the two photographs taken at such an interval. The experience of former eclipses has shown this to be the case, and it may reasonably be expected that further light will be gained by the opportunities afforded this August. It must be remembered that the corona is never visible unless under the rare opportunity of a total eclipse."

NOTICE!

"In behalf of your proprietary article called AZIENZA CREAM, as a remedy for diseases of the skin, I desire to add my appreciation of its wonderful properties as a cure in a case of Bone Tumor or Abscess of five years growth on my husband's back, which I have cured in less than five weeks time by constant application, and now it is as well as any part of his body. It was cut out once by a specialist and had again grown to a large size, was as hard as a bone and of a very dark purple color. The AZIENZA at once allayed the pain and began to soften it, and in less than eight days, by my pressure upon it, suddenly to my surprise it discharged a quantity of pus, impregnated with a hard, cheesy substance. I kept it open and cleansed it as it discharged and every day would dress it with a plaster of AZIENZA CREAM, until it was entirely healed up. I cannot speak too highly of AZIENZA CREAM and its merits. For inquiry regarding this case you may apply Mr. and Mrs. James, Embury Ave., care Hiller, Ocean Grove, N. J. FOR THE GENTLER SEX

WHEN GIRLS ARE IN LOVE.

Ask any girl who has had half a dozen offers of marriage and she will confess to you that there were at least two over which she wavered—unwilling to say no, and still more unwilling to say yes.

In nine cases out of ten the chances for and against were so even that it was only a mere accident, or what seemed to her like one, that turned the scale and made her cast the die, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Many girls suffer absolute torture in trying to know their own minds in such cases as these. It is perhaps as well for them that men quite fail to understand their hesitation and its reason, or the stronger will would at once bring about a decision, and perhaps there might be even more unhappy marriages than there already are.

How many girls, as it is, fail to know her own mind till the wedding ring is fairly on, and the honeymoon on its wane? How often, alas! she knows it then, and wonders she could have been so deluded as to think a life passed in John's society could ever make her happy.

Sometimes again she gets to know it quite sadly. When she has refused Arthur, and sent him away sorrowing to a distant country, she sometimes discovers that, after all, the world without him is a dreary waste, and nothing but his love is worth desiring. Then, as time goes on, she reads in the papers the notice of his marriage with another woman, she spends her strength in one heart-broken, hopeless cry:

"Oh, why didn't I—didn't I know my mind when I had the chance?"

But does it ever happen that she does know it when the knowledge can do her any good? Oh, yes; fortunately she does. Sometimes she knows it so soon and so certainly that her only agonized apprehension is about him; whether his mind is the same as hers, and whether he means to give her the chance of being the happiest woman in the whole world.

Sometimes the knowledge of her own mind is such a source of pain and anxiety to her that she would gladly be ignorant of it, and able to deceive herself as to what her real feelings are.

She knows it when the right man comes. There is a right man somewhere for every woman, though she doesn't always find him; but when she does she knows her own mind with a certainty that doesn't require her to consult anybody whatsoever upon the subject.

STUFFED CUCUMBERS.

For six or seven persons use four cucumbers of medium size. Pare them and, after removing the end, cut each cucumber in two and take out the seeds with an apple corer. Put a teaspoonful of salt and about four cups of cold water into a basin and then add the cucumbers, and put them in a cool place, where they can remain until the stuffing is made.

Chop enough veal to make a generous half-cupful. About a quarter of a pound of lean veal will be enough. Put a quarter of a cup of milk and one-sixth of a cup of soft stale bread into a saucepan on the stove. Cook the mixture until a smooth paste is formed. It will take about ten minutes. Mix this paste with the veal, and also add half a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of butter, a well-beaten egg, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of thyme.

After removing the cucumbers from the water, wipe them with a soft towel. Fill with the force meat, packing closely. Put them in a stewpan and pour over them a pint and a half of boiling veal stock. If the stock was not previously seasoned, add salt, pepper and a bay leaf. Cover and simmer them for three-quarters of an hour. Serve them on dainty slices of toast.

A sauce made as follows may also be served with them: Mix a tablespoonful each of butter and flour. Then add a cup and a half of white stock, a tiny piece of carrot, a tiny slice of onion, a sprig of parsley, a clove, a bay leaf, a slight grating of nutmeg, half a teaspoonful of salt and one-fifth of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Simmer for a quarter of an hour. When ready to serve add a teaspoonful of lemon juice; strain and send to the table with the cucumbers.

Probably on Man-Killer Island.

It takes a long time to build one of the "floating fortresses" of the present day, but a lucky shot may undo in a few minutes all that years of steady, skillful work has accomplished. It is to be hoped that the New Jersey will be required neither to send nor to receive such a shot, but if a war should arise, not to hit that beautiful punch bowl and tea set.—Newark News.

Dead Rat Killed Ferret.

George Moore of the Salem road, who has a fine flock of poultry, was so troubled with rats that he purchased a ferret to kill them, paying a good price for the animal. He had previously placed rat poison about the place for the rodents without success. Last week he found a dead rat in the yard and fed it to the ferret. The rat had died from the poison, and you can guess what happened to Mr. Ferret.—Burlington Gazette.

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1905, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company).

"Tom," I said, slowly, "Mr. Obermuller is a friend of mine. No—listen! What we've been talking about is settled. Don't bring it up again. It doesn't interest him and it can't chance me; I swear to you, it can't; nothing can. I'm going to ask Mr. Obermuller to help you without telling him just what the scrape is, and—and I'm going to be sure that he'll do it just because he—"

"Because you've taken up with him, have you?" Tom shouted, savagely. "Because she's your—"

"Tom!" I cried.

"Tom—oh, yes, now I remember." Obermuller got between us as he spoke. "Your friend up—in the country that you went to see and couldn't. Not a very good-looker, your friend, Nance. But—farming, I suppose, Mr. —Tom?—plays the deuce with one's looks. And another thing it does: it makes a man forget sometimes just how to behave in town. I'll be charmed, Mr. Tom, to oblige a friend of Miss Olden's; but I must insist that he does not talk like a—farmer."

He was quite close to Tom when he finished, and Tom was glaring up at him. And, Mag, I didn't know which one I was most afraid for. Don't you look at me that way, Mag Monahan, and don't you dare to guess anything!

"If you think," growled Tom, "that I'm going to let you get off with the girl, you're mighty—"

"Now, I've told you not to say that. The reason I'll do the thing she's going to ask of me—if it's what I think it is—is because this girl's a plucky little creature with a soul big enough to lift her out of the muck you probably helped her into. It's because she's got brains, talent and a heart. It's because—well, it's because I feel like it, and she deserves a friend."

"You don't know what she is." It was a snarl from Tom. "You don't—"

"Oh, yes, I do; you cur! I know what she was, too; and I even know what she will be; but that doesn't concern you."

"The hell it don't!"

Obermuller turned his back on him. I was dumb and still. Tom Dorgan had struck me after all.

"What is it you want me to do, Nance?" Obermuller asked.

"Get him away on a steamer—quick," I murmured—I couldn't look him in the face—"without asking why, or what his name is."

He turned to Tom. "Well?"

"I won't go—not without her."

"Because you're so fond of her, eh? So fond, your first thought on quitting the—country was to come here to get her in trouble. If you've been traced—"

"Ah! You wouldn't like that, eh?" sneered Tom.

"Would you?"

"Well, I've had my share of it. And she ain't. Still—I . . . Just what would it be worth to you to have me out of the way?"

"Oh, Tom—Tom—" I cried.

But Obermuller got in front of me.

"It would be worth exactly $1.75. I think it will amount to about that for cab-hire. I guess the cars aren't any too safe for you, or it might be less. It may amount to something more before I get you shipped before the mast on the first foreign-bound boat. But what's more important," he added, bringing his fist down with a mighty thump on the table, "you have just ten seconds to make up your mind. At the end of that time I'll ring for the police."

* * * * * * *

I went down to the boat to see it sail, Mag, at seven this morning. No, not to say good-by to him. He didn't know I was there. It was to say good-by to my old Tommy; the one I loved. Truly I did love him, Mag, though he never cared for me. No, he didn't. Men don't pull down the women they love; I know that now. If Tom Dorgan had ever cared for me he wouldn't have made a thief of me. If he'd cared, the last place on earth he'd have come to, when he knew the detectives would be on his track, would have been just the first place he made for. If he'd cared, he—

But it's done, Mag. It's all over. Cheap—that's what he is, this Tom Dorgan. Cheaply bad—a cheap bully, cheap-brained. Remember my wishing he'd have been a ventriloquist? Why, that man that tried to sell me to Obermuller hasn't sense enough to be a good scene-shifter. Oh—

The firm of Dorgan & Olden is dissolved, Mag. The retiring partner has gone into the theatrical business. As for Dorgan—the real one, poor fellow! jolly, handsome, big Tom Dorgan—he died. Yes, he died, Maggie, and was buried up there in the prison graveyard. A hard lot for a boy; but it's not the worst thing that can happen to him. He might become a man; such a man as that fellow that sailed away before the mast this morning.

CHAPTER X.

THERE I was seated in a box all alone—Miss Nancy Olden, by courtesy of the management, come to listen to the leading lady sing coon-songs, that I might add her to my collection of take-offs.

She's a fat leading lady, very fair and nearly 50, I guess. But she's got a rollicking, husky voice in her fat throat that's sung the dollars down deep into her pockets. They say she's planted them deeper still—in the foundations of apartment houses—and that now she's the richest roly-poly on the Rialto.

Do you know, Maggie darlin', what I was saying to myself there in the box, while I watched the stage and waited for Obermuller? He said he'd drop in later, perhaps.

"Nance," I said, "I kind of fancy that apartment sort of idea myself. They tell you, Nancy, that when you've got the artistic temperament, that that's all you'll ever have. But there's a chance—one in a hundred—for a body to get that temperament mixed with a business instinct. It doesn't often happen. But when it does the result is—dollars. It may be, Nance, shrewdly suspect it is a fact that you've got that marvelous mixure. Your early success, Miss Olden, in another profession that I needn't name, would encourage the idea that you're not all heart and no head. I think, Nance, I shall have you mimic the artists during working hours and the business men when you're at play. I fancy apartment houses. They appeal to me. We'll call one 'The Nancy' and another 'Olden Hall' and another. . . . "

"What'll I call the third apartment house, Mr. O?" I asked aloud, as I heard the rings on the portiere behind me click.

He didn't answer.

Without turning my head I repeated the question.

And yet—suddenly—before he could have answered, I knew something was wrong.

I turned. And in that moment a man took the seat beside me and another stood facing me, with his back against the portieres.

"Miss Olden?" the man beside me asked.

"Yes."

"Nance Olden, the mimic, who entertains at private houses?"

I nodded.

"You—you were at Mrs. Paul Gates' just a week ago, and you gave your specialties there?"

"Yes—yes, what is it you want?"

He was a little man, but very muscular. I could note the play of his muscles even in the slight motion he made as he turned his body so as to get between me and the audience, while he leaned toward me, watching me intently with his small, quick, blue eyes.

"We don't want to make any scene here," he said, very low. "We want to do it up as quietly as we can. There might be some mistake, you know, and then you'd be sorry. So should we. I hope you'll be reasonable and it'll be all the better for you because—"

"What are you talk—what—" I looked from him to the other fellow behind us.

BLOW AT AUTO RACES.

Col. A. A. Pope Withdraws His Cars From Track Contests.

There is a stir in motor circles over the announcement that Col. Albert A. Pope, father of the good roads movement in this country, has withdrawn all his cars from automobile track contests with the hope that racing on circular courses will be discontinued.

"From the outset my judgment has been strongly against track racing for high-power cars," said he. "The great danger to drivers and machines makes me feel that it is an entirely unnecessary risk to life and limb and should therefore be stopped at once.

"I have permanently withdrawn all my cars from track events, and I trust that kind of racing will be so discountenanced by the public as to insure its discontinuance. Racing should be confined to road contests in such events as are free from extraordinary dangers, and which in a rational test, proves something about the valuable points of competing machines."

Among the men who have been driving racing cars for Col. Pope are Herbert H. Lytle, Bert Diggley, both of whom will be in the Vanderbilt Cup race, and the Soules brothers, Charles and George.

Overcharging for Life Insurance.

It is very generally admitted that life insurance companies charge more for insurance than the service is worth. It is this overcharging that has provided means for the wasteful extravagance revealed by the fight for control of the Equitable. This overcharge is based on actuarial tables which discriminate against the insured and by omitting the immense profits accruing from lapses.—Jersey City Journal.

Constitution Same, Practice Different.

It is probable that the convention which drafted the constitution of New Jersey in 1844 had before it and followed the language of the Federal constitution, from which it differs only in the length of time given to the executive for the consideration of a passed bill. The President is given ten days, and New Jersey's Governor but five. The early Governors gave to the words of our constitution the same interpretation which the Presidents and Congress have always given to those of the Federal constitution. The language of our constitution has not been changed, but the practice has.—Trenton Times.

WESTFIELD-PLAINFIELD SERIES TO CONTINUE

NO TRUTH IN IDLE REPORT STARTED YESTERDAY.

The remaining four contests in the series of ten for the county championship will be played by the Plainfield and Westfield teams, the report that Manager Denman would call them off being untrue. Mr. Denman called up The Daily Press office this morning and gave assurances that the games would be played and that last Saturday's trouble would not be permitted to interfere with the schedule. He said that he condemned "Red" Waller's act of throwing the ball at Umpire Merity and would not stand for it, no matter what his opinion was regarding the decision which caused the trouble. Mr. Denman also said that every effort would be made to eliminate all excessive friction in the remaining games and have them played in a fair and square manner. He deeply deplored the trouble on Saturday as well as that on the preceding Saturday at Westfield.

On Labor Day morning Westfield will play Summit, leaders in the Lackawanna League race. Linderman and Farmer will be the battery for Summit, and among the other well known players will be Richardson and "Chick" Cruzius. In the afternoon Westfield will appear on Crescent Oval for the seventh contest in the county series. Plainfield will play at Westfield on Saturday.

Wouldn't Stay at Hospital.

John Remppies, a German, employed as a coachman by L. M. French, of Craig place, was thrown out of the carriage yesterday afternoon, while driving through Putnam avenue, and received a severe scalp wound. The team Remppies was driving became unmanageable and ran away while the coachman was left in the gutter in a semi-conscious condition. He was found by passers-by and taken to the hospital, where Dr. P. B. Cregar gave the proper treatment. Despite the fact that the hospital authorities wanted Remppies to remain he insisted on going to his home on Webster place. The team did not run very far when it was caught and taken home.

Report Premature.

Sinclair Stewart, of Park avenue, says that Dr. M. B. Long has not purchased his property, as stated yesterday. The negotiations are now on, however, and J. P. Emmons, the broker in the deal, says that the papers will be passed tonight.

Miss Nellie Parkinson, of East Second street, has been visiting friends at Somerville.

ANTI-AUTOMOBILE SOCIETY ORGANIZED

MIDDLESEX COUNTY RESIDENTS DETERMINED TO PROTECT THEMSELVES.

Following the example of the autoists who form organizations to protect the interests of individual auto owners or drivers, the farmers and property owners of Middlesex county and vicinity have formed an organization to curb the encroachments of careless and reckless autoists, beside concentrating public sentiment and directing it in such a way as to secure any legislation that may be needed to protect drivers of horses and pedestrians who may be the victims of automobile accidents.

Dr. Joseph C. Higgins, of Bound Brook, has been active for some time past, in interesting residents and taxpayers in such a movement. A meeting of those interested was held Saturday night, at the home of Spencer Weart, of Middlebush, and the Highway Protectors' Association was formed. The following temporary officers were named:

President, William Fitz Randolph, Middlesex county; vice president, Spencer Weart, Somerset county; treasurer, Ardian Vermeule, Middlesex; secretary, Joseph C. Higgins, Somerset county.

Every effort will be made to extend the work of the association. Advertisements have been inserted in the county papers, inviting all interested to communicate with the secretary. Permanent organization will be effected at a meeting to be held in a short itme.

Cases will be pressed against autoists who drive recklessly; the association will engage counsel and fight suits of individual sufferers unable to bear the expenses of litigation, and the influence of the association will be exerted to secure any legislation required to protect users of the highway from reckless autoists. Later the society will extend its protection to include cases of horse stealing. A campaign will be made to secure the formation of similar organization in other counties.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Frank Haurand, of Elmwood place, is ill with an attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hazeltine, of New York, who have been visiting here, have returned home.

Meyer Committed.

Ferdinand Meyer, of North Plainfield, accused of robbing R. J. Shaw and a fellow-workman at the new theatre, has been committed to the county jail in default of $300 bail, pending the action of the Grand Jury.

Dancing Class Opening Postponed.

Owing to the illness of Prof. Eugene O'Reilly, the opening of his dancing class has been postponed until one week from Wednesday, September 6. Mr. O'Reilly has been quite low but is now improving.

GOLDEN EAGLES TO VOTE ON NEW SYSTEM

WILL MEET IN ANNUAL SESSION AT TRENTON NEXT WEEK.

The annual session of the Grand Castle of New Jersey, Knights of Golden Eagle, will be held at Trenton, commencing next Monday, Labor Day, in the rooms of Mercer Castle, No. 23, Ribsam building. Grand Chief Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of the borough, will preside.

It is expected that at least 100 knights will be in attendance, and that the business of the convention will take up at least two days. The principal business to be considered will be the election of officers and the proposition to elect a delegate to the State sessions for every 100 members. This proposed amendment also vests the right of voting in the hands of the regularly elected delegates. At present each past chief has the privilege of voting.

A. L. Clark, of Trenton, a member of Mercer Castle, No. 23, is a candidate for re-election to the office of grand secretary, and he, in all probability, will be returned, as there is no opposing candidate. E. C. Schanck, of Passaic, is the choice for grand chief. William Kirby, of Bridgeton, will likely be the grand vice chief. There are a number of candidates for the office of sir herald, and this office, together with grand high priest and grand keeper of exchequer, will be contested for.

WONT GIVE UP LICENSES.

Say Steamboats Declared Unseaworthy Have Been Repaired.

Trenton, Aug. 29.—The recall by the Secretary of State Saturday of the licenses of the five boats of the White and Black lines on Lake Hopatcong, which were pronounced unseaworthy by Inspector Lewis, has been met with the declaration of George W. Campbell, owner of the Black Line, that he would not return his license to the Secretary of State for cancellation without further protest.

Mr. Campbell says that the report of Inspector Lewis is unfair because he uses the term "unseaworthy." He says that as soon as Mr. Lewis made the inspection resulting in the condemnation of the Lackawanna, the company put a ship's carpenter at work and remedie dall the defects in the hull. He insisted that the company should be advised as to all repairs to be made to the boat, and asserted that Mr. Lewis, while a competent and efficient engineer, was not qualified to pass upon the hull of a vessel.

He did not criticise the statement in the report that the Lackawanna was unsafe because of valves that failed to work properly, but took exception to the statement that she was unseaworthy. The valve, he said, had since been adjusted so as to make the boat entirely safe.

Austin King, owner of the White Line of steamers, said that he would tie up the boats if the inspection found that they were unsafe, but he now wants to run them until after Labor Day.

STOCKHOLDERS SUE DIRECTORS.

New Brunswick Aug. 29.—Twenty-two of the stockholders of the Millstone Building and Loan Association have brought suit in the Court of Chancery against seven of the directors, for the purpose of having them make good the loss alleged to be sustained by the association as the result of the investment of the funds of the association in stock of the Somerville Woollen Mills, which went bankrupt. The directors are Benjamin L. Welsh, Peter V. D. Van Doren, John C. Thatcher, S. O. B. Taylor, V. H. Voorhees, S. Manning Wikoff, Peter Sutphen and Peter Garretson.

The stockholders declare that the directors invested $1,000 of the loan funds in 1895 and $1,500 the next year. On March 1, 1902, it is alleged, the board of directors announced that the association stock had matured, and on that day they ceased to receive payments upon the loan stock. August 15, 1904, the Somerville Woollen Mills was declared bankrupt, and the proceeds from the sale of the mills gave the creditors only 46 cents on the dollar, and left nothing for the stockholders, so that the stock held by the loan association was worthless.

The stockholders charge that the directors have refused to settle up the business of the association because of the failure to realize on the woollen mill stock. The stockholders hold that the investment of the association's funds in this stock was contrary to the constitution and by-laws of the association and of the law under which it was formed and contrary to the laws of this State, and that because of this lack of duty and judgment the directors are personally liable for all losses of principal and interest to the association.

SOMERVILLE ALSO HAS A FISTIC MIX-UP

GOES PLAINFIELD ONE OR TWO BETTER AT BASEBALL GAME.

Spectators who attended the baseball game on Cammann Field, Somerville, Saturday afternoon, between the much-heralded West Ends, of that place, and the New Jersey Central nine, were treated to a feature that was not on the schedule. It was a hot fistic mix-up and for a time it looked as if many of the frantic West End rooters would be whipped by a crowd of fans that had followed the Centrals to the Somerset county seat.

The game itself was played in jig time, and the railroaders had everything their own way. They won 4 to 1. Then they claimed the ball, having won the game. The West End management explained that it paid a big guarantee to visiting teams, and in consequence never gave the ball to the victors. The Centrals persisted that the ball should be theirs.

Then a small boy mixed in and threw a gibe into the pitcher, who very rightly slapped the kid's face. A rooter at that declared he would like to see that blankety-blank do that to him, and the twirler hauled off to soak the offender. He hit out, but the rooter dodged to one side and bobbed up with a crushing blow on the pitcher's jaw. Then the Central player got down to business and was about to lay the rooter out when another rooter mixed in. A Central follower then gave the second Somerville mixer a couple of black eyes, which he carries yet. Then several other rooters got a mixing it up and the affair for a time looked like a cane rush.

The visitors finally ran from the field, and, it is said, some of them reached the station by back streets. Where the police were during this time is considered a mystery.

A noteworthy fact to be noted is that none of the West End players engaged in the disgraceful fracas. They rode from the field in autos, while the rooters were attempting to do up the Central nine, which the West Ends had failed to do.

Next Saturday Pennington plays at Somerville, and it is rumored the Mercer boys wil be prepared to defend baseball and fistic prowess.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Old Glory Council, No. 62, Daughters of Liberty, will hold a regular meeting Saturday night. Three candidates for membership will be initiated.

L. W. Niles, J. Emerson Mowen and James Kermode, representing the local Typographical Union, attended the conference of the eight-hour committee held at Atlantic City on Sunday. They will make a report of the proceedings at the next meeting of the local union.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Vincent Meaney, of Elm place, has obtained permanent employment with J. A. Smith, so he has decided not to return to school.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There will be a special rehearsal of the choir of the Church of the Holy Cross tomorrow night and another one on Saturday night.

The First Presbyterian church will not be reopened for services until September 10. Rev. C. E. Herring will occupy his pulpit at that time.

Keep This in Mind.

In planning to have an enjoyable Labor Day don't fail to accompany the Grocers' Association on its eighteenth annual excursion to Coney Island. The trip will be made by the New Jersey Central to Jersey City and thence by the Iron Steamboat Company to Coney Island. A fine opportunity will be given to see the wonderful electrical display at the Island.

At Camp Wanamassa.

It is expected that there will be a full house at Camp Wanamassa, Asbury Park, over Labor Day. Over thirty Plainfielders intend to spend the day there at that time.

Enjoyed a Social Junket.

Fifty members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., paid a fraternal visit to Somerville Council, last night. The affair was purely a social one.

BIG CONCERT COMING.

Friday Night's Affair to Have Many Features.

Leader Ben LaVere has practically completed all plans for his big concert and fireworks display Friday night. He will have Louis Anderson as cornet soloist and five of the best vocalists in the employ of the New York houses. They are to be Redmond, Murray, Parker, Leever and Fitzgibbon. The pyrotechnic display will be the largest of any yet seen in Plainfield.

This concert will probably be the last of the season.

VACATION DAYS.

Miss Nellie Messenger, of North avenue, is enjoying her annual vacation.

Mrs. F. A. Pope and son, of East Fifth street, are sojourning at Asbury Park.

The Misses Etta Trembly and Ada Westphal are spending two weeks at Asbury Park.

Walter Swain, of Craig place, will spend the first week in September as his vacation, at Asbury Park.

Mrs. W. F. Hamilton and daughters, of Verdon street, will spend the rest of the week at Asbury Park.

Harry A. Bird, of Grandview avenue, will leave tomorrow to stay at Asbury Park until after Labor Day.

Probably Seek Vindication.

It is evident that some members of the Board of Freeholders have not sized up the temper of the people of this county. It is announced that some members of the board, whose skirts are no cleaner than whitewash will make them, talk of standing for re-election this fall.—Toms River Courier.

Cause for Irritation.

Tony Gawrysreshi, of Harrison, who, it is alleged, brutally assaulted Mrs. Leonora Psrybysrewscka, of the same place, walked into the police station and asked for the police justice. He was placed under arrest. The remarkable thing about this incident is not the act of Gawrysreshi, nor yet the unhappy experience of Mrs. Psrybysrewscka, but the names of the pair. If they can pronounce them themselves, ignorant though they may be, they hold no mean station among linguists, while if they can spell them twice in the same way the possession of genius cannot be denied them. Little wonder that persons bearing the burden of such nomenclature are irritable at times.—Newark Advertiser.

CITY JUDGE RUNYON OUT OF SENATORIAL FIGHT

Announces His Withdrawal in the Belief That It Will Bring About Harmony.

FAVORS ACKERMAN

Asks His Friends to Give Him Their Support—His Action Expected to Bring About the Desired Harmony.

Believing that his action would result in restoring harmony within the ranks of the Union county Republicans, City Judge William N. Runyon yesterday announced that he had withdrawn his candidacy for the nomination for State Senator. He has had the matter under advisement for several days past and his determination came after a careful consideration of the facts from every side. The announcement is a great surprise to his host of friends who had determined to stand by him and fight for the nomination no matter at what cost.

Judge Runyon's statement relative to his retirement is based in the following letter given out by him this morning:

Editor The Daily Press:

I hereby announce my withdrawal as a candidate for the office of State Senator from Union county.

While I entered the contest in absolute good faith, and at the earnest solicitation of many friends who desired my success, and while those friends are as ready as ever to work in my behalf, advices received from those who are best informed as to county conditions, and in whose opinions I have the utmost confidence, convince me that my further candidacy will delay, if not altogether prevent, the restoration of harmony in the Republican party in this county, and for that reason alone I deem it my duty, for the sake of the party's success, to withdraw.

I sincerely thank the many friends who have offered me their support, and earnestly solicit that same support in behalf of Mr. Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, whose candidacy I am sure will meet with enthusiastic approval throughout the county, and in whose interests I hereby pledge my best efforts.

Yours truly,
WM. N. RUNYON.

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 29, 1905.

Early in the present political discussions it was given out by the county leaders, or rather it has been so understood all along, that Plainfield should be allowed to name the candidate for State Senator. Judge Runyon's name was at once announced by his local constituents, but almost at the same time Ernest R. Ackerman was suggested for the place by the leaders of the Third Ward. Mr. Ackerman had frequently been spoken of in connection with the office, and though Judge Runyon is the idol of the Plainfield young men, the Third warders held firm for their candidate and the situation at once assumed an aggressive form.

When word that Judge Runyon was in line for the nomination reached Elizabeth, the friends of the late Edward S. Coyne immediately declared war to retaliate for the memorable bolt of two years ago, when the popular Plainfielder was one of the leaders that turned the county Democratic and defeated Coyne and the other Republican nominees for Assembly. Judge Runyon had been especially marked for this, although there were others who had taken just as prominent a part as he, and his enemies at the county seat who still felt the sting declared they would go to any extreme to down him. It was passed along the line then that "Plainfield could have the nomination providing her candidate was acceptable to the rest of the county." As Judge Runyon was not, though he would undoubtedly have secured a solid vote from Plainfield and Summit, the political horizon darkened, and until today Union county faced a disruption that promised to exceed the bolt which resulted in the opposition to Plainfield's favorite.

These facts were all considered by Judge Runyon in determining to withdraw, and his request that all Plainfield's strength be given Mr. Ackerman will be accepted. The latter is an older man, eminently fitted for the office and one who has long been a faithful worker for the party, not only in the city, but throughout the county.

When spoken to about the withdrawal, Judge Runyon said:

"My letter explains all there is to the stand I have taken. The complexities in the Senatorial question gave evidence of producing a feud that would do no good to anyone, and it seemed to me that I was the only one who could set matters right. If my withdrawal will produce harmony that is all I care about but I sincerely hope that all my friends will work with all their might for Mr. Ackerman."

THE DETAILS OF THE PRIMARY ELECTION

Ciey Clerk James T. MacMurray issued the official notice for the primary election which is to be held on Tuesday afternoon and evening, September 12, from 1 to 9 o'clock, in the various wards, to nominate candidates for the following offices:

From each ward a member of the Common Council, a justice of the peace and a constable. From each of the First, Second and Third wards, two members of the county committee and three members of the city committee; and from the Fourth ward, three members of the county committee and three members of the city committee of the Republican party.

Besides there is to be nominated in each election district delegates to the county and city conventions of the respective political parties. The number of delegates to the convention will be as follows:

Republican—Six delegates from the First, Second and Third wards, and nine from the Fourth ward to each convention. Democratic—Three delegates from the First and Second wards, two from the Third ward, and five from the Fourth ward to each convention.

These places have been designated as the place for holding the primaries on September 12:

BIG COURT CALENDAR.

Somerset County's Coming Term Has Many Important Cases.

In the presence of Judge Schenck and Prosecutor Reger yesterday, in Somerville, Sheriff Casper drew the petit jurors to serve at the September term of the Somerset County Courts, which opens on the 26th of next month. This promises to be one of the longest terms in the history of the court. There are a number of prominent criminal cases to be tried, including one for manslaughter and one for murder, and a score or more for minor offenses, besides a very large civil list.

The jurors chosen from North Plainfield were Peter Bowers, Jr., William D. Ackor, Augustus Fiering, Frank T. Miles and George Kirch.

Warren township will be represented by George G. Giddis, John Miller, Benjamin W. Jennings, W. Howard Toms and David T. Codington.

TURNED DOWN GOOD OFFER.

Illinois Wanted R. A. Meeker As State Road Engineer.

Recognizing his ability as a builder of fine roads, State Supervisor of Roads Robert A. Meeker, of this city, has received a flattering offer from the State of Illinois to become its State engineer. The offer was made by a representative of the Illinois Legislature, who was delegated to come here for that purpose, and make the proposition to Mr. Meeker.

Mr. Meeker appreciated the offer very much, but inasmuch as he does not want to leave Plainfield, he declined it. Mr. Meeker has made a reputation in the work of road building and it is no doubt due to the exhibit of the model road at the St. Louis Exposition, which he had charge of, that he received the offer of this responsible position in Illinois.

You Can't Afford to Miss It.

The Plainfield Grocers' Association, in arranging for its eighteenth annual excursion to Coney Island on Labor Day, is leaving nothing undone toward making the occasion one of great pleasure for all who go. The train will leave Dunellen at 7:40, Grant avenue, 7:42, and Plainfield, 7:50, and returning will leave Iron Pier, Coney Island, at 8:40 in the evening. The fare is so low that everyone can afford to go.

Drew Jury For Nothing.

The contract suit of George J. Tobin against James Trimmer, which was to have been tried before a twelve-man jury this afternoon, was postponed suddenly yesterday after Constable Weaver had drawn the jury. The absence of Charles A. Reed, counsel for the plaintiff, from town made the action necessary. The case was laid over for a week.

ODD PEACE BOND DRAWN

Justice Makes Each Belligerent Dependent on Other's Behavior.

ONE BOND FOR BOTH

John Mair and George Becker Dispute Over Manure Pile and Sharp-Toothed Dogs—Stones and a Club.

In settling a dispute between two men whose quarrel over a business transaction was brought before him this morning, Justice Von Minden put into force a peculiar peace bond in his court in Dunellen. In effect the bond makes each man liable for the other's good behavior.

The men involved are John Mair, a farmer, of Fanwood township, and George Becker, a farmer, whose place is on Park avenue, over the Middlesex county line. Mair bought a lot of manure from Becker early in June and in the course of a week or two began carting it away. On one of his trips Mrs. Becker accused him of taking manure from a pile that was not included in the bargain, and a dispute followed. There are a number of fierce dogs on the Becker place, and Mair claims that these attacked him. He shows a wound on his leg to prove his assertion.

On August 24 Mair again appeared on the Becker place to cart more of his manure away. Becker met him on the grounds and a dispute between the two men over the manure question and the trouble between Mair and Mrs. Becker occurred. After this incident Mair decided that some action was necessary and he swore out a warrant against Becker. The hearing was held this morning.

Mair declared that Becker interfered with him in securing the manure belonging to him and snatched a stick from his, Mair's, hands and threatened to break his neck, to kill him, and do other painful and uncomfortable things. He wanted Becker put under bonds to keep the peace.

Mrs. Becker told her side of the first dispute, affirming that Mair ended it by chasing her into the house with big stones. Two stones were placed in evidence. Mair said he threw the stones at the dogs.

Becker's story of the dispute on August 24 was to the effect that Mair drove over his potato patch in entering the field, and in the words that followed his protest against this Mair pulled out a big club and told him he had come prepared for trouble. The stick was shown as Exhibit No. 3. Mair said he brought the stick to the place as protection against the dogs, and that he told Becker so.

William Newcorn, counsel for Becker, asked the court to consider the fact that Mair had come onto his client's grounds armed with a club. He said it was evident that Mair came there looking for trouble, and was clearly in the wrong.

The court, after thinking the matter over, decided that both men were to blame for the unpleasantness. He put them both under bonds to keep the peace, and warned them that swift punishment would follow any infraction of it.

Under his ruling, one bond covers both men. After the hearing Mr. Newcorn said he couldn't see how the responsibility of the two men could be divided under the bond.

"If one breaks the bond," said Mr. Newcorn, "the other will be just as liable. I can't see how it can work any other way."

V. W. Nash, Jr., appeared for Mair.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES.

Real Estate Operator Declares Moderate-priced Ones Are Needed.

Charles H. Hand, of Watchung avenue, declares that there is a scarcity of houses to rent in Plainfield averaging from $15 to $40 and $50 a month. He says that yesterday there were five out of town parties here looking for houses, and it was impossible to locate them to their satisfaction.

It is Mr. Hand's opinion that there is good returns in sight for the men who will erect a number of houses at moderate rent in convenient locations.

An Octogenarian Golfer.

Captain Benjamin Doane and his granddaughter, Miss May Doane, of East Seventh street, will return on Saturday from Vermont, where they have been sojourning. Miss Doane has been away some time and Capt. Doane went there this week to bring her home. While away the captain has learned to play the popular game of golf, and although eighty-two years old, his playing rivals that of many much younger in years.

LABOR DAY AT THE LOCAL COUNTRY CLUB

MEMBERS WILL ENJOY SPORTS AND SOCIAL FEATURES.

Labor Day at the Plainfield Country Club will be marked by the return of a host of members from their summer outings and the opening of the fall season. It is predicted that the day will be one of the best and a large entry list is expected in all of the scheduled competitions, while the social features will be very attractive.

There will be all day play for the Labor Day cup, a special event sure to attract many contestants. At 10 o'clock in the morning there will be a men's handicap, thirty-six holes, medal play, and in the afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a women's competition for the clock golf cup. In addition there is sure to be several other golf events to fill up the day. Tennis will not be a feature of the day, as most of the members will attend the championship play at Elizabeth, but on Tuesday morning, September 5, there will be junior mixed doubles for cups presented by Henry L. Hall, boys and girls under eighteen being eligible. In the evening of Labor Day there will be a dinner dance at the club house, which will mark the resumption of activities in this line. After Labor Day there will be something doing all the time until cold weather calls a halt.

While it has been rather dull at the Park Golf Club, it is expected that commencing Saturday the season will have a lively finish. Several special events are scheduled for Labor Day. In the morning and afternoon there will be play for the men's handicap holiday cup, medal play, eighteen holes. The contestants may play thirty-six holes, the best selected eighteen holes to count, provided the first eighteen holes are started before 11 o'clock in the morning. If thirty-six are played, the contestant may take the best score made on each hole on either round.

In the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock there will be an approaching and putting contest, ball sweepstakes, scratch contest, mixed couples. The entrance fee will be two standard golf balls for each couple, the winning pair to take fifty per cent.; second thirty per cent., and third twenty per cent. of total number of balls contributed.

In addition to the play on the golf course there will also be social features at the club house, including a tea in the afternoon, at which many women will preside.

Special events have also been scheduled at the Westfield Golf Club for Labor Day, and in the evening there will be music and a dance.

DISTURBER PUT OUT.

Theatre Management Determined to Maintain Good Conduct.

A feather-brained young man who held a gallery seat at the new theatre last night took it upon himself to hoot and jeer other people in the audience. He was having a nice time until an attache of the house sent him downstairs to get his money and fade away in the darkness. The disturber took the hint and left without making further trouble.

In speaking of the occurrence today, Manager Counihan said that while the disturbance was not a flagrant affair, he was determined to allow no improper conduct in the house whatever and that his employes had been so instructed. Noisemakers are first to be warned, and in the event of a repetition they would be handed over to the police.

Miss Myra Kelly Wedded.

Many who were charmed last winter at the home of Mrs. Gilmore Drayton, of East Ninth street, by the stories of child life on the East Side of New York, given by Miss Myra Kelly, will be interested in her marriage to Allen Macnaughton, which took place Sunday afternoon in the Marble Collegiate church, New York, Rev. Otto F. L. Mohn officiating. Mr. Macnaughton, who is president of the Standard Coach Horse Company, met Miss Kelly when a guest at one of his coaching parties a year ago. He has a large farm at Teaneck, N. J., to which the newly married couple drove, and where they will reside.

It Was On the Finger.

Mrs. M. B. Gibson, who is better known as Maggie Bell, says that Edward Mundy's dog bit her on the finger and not somewhere else, as mentioned in yesterday's Daily Press. Mrs. Gibson also claims she did not make Judge Doud blush by offering to show him the wound.

Asbestos Curtain Arrives.

The asbestos curtain for the New Plainfield theatre arrived today and will be hung by experts tomorrow. All the other accessories and scenery is at hand and the house will have all its finishing touches by Saturday.

HIT BY "DOLLAR" AUTO

NOT BADLY HURT

Dr. Zeglio Finds Him Suffering From Shock and Bruises But No Further Injuries.

Sixteen-year-old Howard Freeman, of South avenue, was driving the Pope-Toledo touring car he won at the Hospital Carnival last May, down Somerset street yesterday afternoon, when four-year-old Samuel Hirsch, son of Henry Hirsch, a shoemaker, started to toddle across the street. The Hirsch's live at 21 Somerset street, and the father's shop is directly opposite. Samuel was going from the house to the store.

In the middle of the roadway he became confused and wobbled directly in the path of the auto. The young chauffeur crowded on all the reverse and brake things but the machine struck the child and knocked him down. The front wheel passed over him before the auto came to a stop.

Hirsch saw the accident from his shop and reached the child's side before any of the spectators. He snatched the boy up and carried him into the house.

Samuel was bruised and dazed, but not unconscious. Dr. Zeglio was summoned and made an examination of him. He could not find any evidences of serious injuries, but was unable to determine just how badly the boy was injured before this morning.

After examining the child this forenoon the doctor said his injuries did not appear to be very serious.

Officer Overbaugh learned of the accident and started an investigation. As far as he could discover, young Freeman was not driving his car recklessly, and had made every effort to avoid the accident.

A GALA NIGHT.

LaVere's Double Programme Sure to Please.

What will probably be the last band concert of the season is being arranged by Ben LaVere for Friday night at Concert Park, and he promises a gala night for his many friends. Throughout the summer, once a week, Mr. LaVere has delighted the people of Plainfield and vicinity by his popular programmes and that his efforts have been appreciated is shown by the large crowds that have been present each week. The musicians comprising the band are numbered among the best in the country and when it is realized that no other town or city in this part of the State, outside of Newark or Trenton, enjoy these weekly band concerts, Plainfield is indeed fortunate and to be congratulated.

A big feature for Friday night will be the display of fireworks, the largest yet seen in this city. It will include many set pieces of the latest design, while there will be any number of smaller pieces to please and delight the fancy.

In the way of music an exceptional programme has been arranged. Besides Louis Anderson, the celebrated cornet soloist, there will be Messrs. Redmond, Murray, Parker, Leever and Fitzgibbon, five of the leading vocal soloists in New York. Their selections are all of the popular sort and are sure to catch the crowd. It is seldom that so many solists are obtainable for one concert, but Mr. LaVere is particularly anxious to make this event one long to be remembered. Those wishing seats on the grandstand will have to go early for there is sure to be a record-breaking attendance.

Festival at Watchung.

A festival, for the benefit of the piano fund, will be held at Watchung in the schoolhouse, tomorrow evening. Ice cream, sandwiches, cake, fruit, coffee and soda will be served in abundance. Violin selections by the Spear brothers, singing and recitations will be rendered.

Coach Tumbled in Creek.

Miss Genevieve Petrie, of East Sixth street, who is a member of a coaching party travelling in the Adirondacks, had an exciting experience two weeks ago, when the coach, while crossing a bridge, tumbled the whole party in a creek. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Bicycle Stolen.

Jasper Cadmus, of the firm of Cadmus Brothers, left his bicycle outside the drug store at Watchung avenue yesterday afternoon when he returned from his lunch. A short time afterwards the machine was missing. The theft has been reported to the police.

FAST LINE TROLLEYS IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

NO FATALITIES BUT TWENTY PASSENGERS INJURED.

New Brunswick, Aug. 30.—Twenty persons were hurt yesterday afternoon in a head-on collision between a northbound Public Service Corporation trolley car going from Trenton to New York over the New Brunswick "Fast Line" Railroad and a construction car which was being rushed toward it in an effort to reach a siding about two-thirds of the distance between Trenton and this city.

Two of the injured passengers were taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Trenton, for treatment. They are James Gustafson, 30 years old, of Sharon, Pa., and Oliver L. Jenkins, 28 years old, of Washington, D. C. Gustafson sustained a broken leg and other injuries. Jenkins was badly cut and bruised. Both men are machinists. They were going to New York to spend their vacations.

Others injured were brought to this city.

The trolley company has not completed its investigation, but is inclined to blame the crew of the work car for not giving a clear track to the passenger car.

The wreckage caught fire after the wreck, but none of the passengers was burned.

REV. SCOTT WALLACE VICTIM OF HEART TROUBLE

WELL-KNOWN COLORED PREACHER PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING.

Rev. Scott Wallace, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, and one of the best known colored ministers in the State, died at 2:20 o'clock this morning at his home in Madison avenue. Heart trouble was the cause of death. Mr. Wallace was taken ill on Sunday, while preaching in New York. He returned home in the afternoon and soon afterward sent word to Rev. J. W. Mitchell requesting him to preach for him in the evening, explaining that he was too ill to conduct the service. Monday night he attended a business meeting at the church, but his condition was such that he had great difficulty in reaching home. Deacon Spencen Conway assisted him and summoned Dr. Zeglio, who prescribed for him. Yesterday he felt a little better, but early in the evening he had a relapse and sank rapidly until the end. Several deacons of the church were with him when he died.

Mr. Wallace was a Virginian by birth and filled several pulpits in that State before coming North. His first pastorate in the North was at Belmar and he came to Plainfield from that place eight years ago, having been called to the pastorate of the Calvary Baptist church, to succeed the late Rev. Mr. Gibson, who left the Mt. Olive Baptist church, to organize the congregation. Mr. Gibson remained with the church less than a year when he went to Philadelphia.

When Mr. Wallace took charge there was a membership of twenty-six and eighteen cents in the treasury. It was largely through his efforts that the property on Central avenue was purchased and the handsome stone edifice erected. He worked day and night, unceasingly for the congregation and completion of the church building, and today the congregation has a property valued at $11,000, and a membership of 400.

Mr. Wallace was a powerful preacher and was highly regarded by the members of his church and congregation. Through his earnest efforts he was constantly adding to the membership and considering that the people among whom he worked are of ordinary means the results attained are considered remarkable.

Surviving Mr. Wallace are two step-sons, George Jones and Lewis Harris. His wife died three years ago last June.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the home in Madison avenue and 1:30 from the Calvary Baptist church. Several local colored divines will take part in the service.

Funeral of An Infant.

The funeral services of Helen G. LaMair, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. LaMair, were held from the parents' home, Steiner place, yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. W. C. Neilson, of this city, officiated, and the interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Ready to Receive Bids.

The joint committee from the Union and Somerset County Board of Freeholders having charge of the new West End avenue bridge matter, will meet at the Hotel Iroquois on Tuesday afternoon, September 5, at 2:30 o'clock to receive bids for the construction of the new bridge.

CALDWELL WON'T RUN

BULLOCK SHIFTED

Edward Caldwell, who was tendered the nomination as ward councilman by the First Ward Republican Club, organized to fight the "ring" denomination, has declined to become a candidate. His declination was received at the meeting of the club last night, in the form of a communication addressed to Councilman Clarence L. Murphy, secretary of the club.

The letter is as follows:

Clarence L. Murphy, Esq.,
Recording Secretary,
First Ward Republican Club.

Dear Sir:

Confirming my verbal statement of August 25, made to you in the absence of President Anderson, I find that it will be impossible for me to accept the position of ward councilman on your ticket for the coming primary election.

My time is already so fully occupied with my business affairs that I could not properly care for the interests of the residents of the First ward in the Common Council, and I must therefore in justice to the voters and to myself allow you to select someone who is not thus handicapped.

I am heartily in sympathy with any movement for clean, honest, and independent government, and I again thank you for the honor conferred upon me in my selection.

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD CALDWELL.

The declination resulted in a shift of Councilman William Starr Bullock from the candidate as councilman-at-large on the ticket to the vacant nomination. The club nominated a complete slate of city and county convention delegates, and both of them were instructed to support certain candidates. The city delegates will introduce A. W. Anderson's name as candidate for the nomination as councilman-at-large, and the county delegates will support Ernest R. Ackerman for State senator.

Mr. Caldwell's withdrawal was received with great regret. The club leaders, particularly Mr. Bullock and Mr. Murphy, labored hard with Mr. Caldwell, up to the last minute, to induce him to remain on the ticket, but he held firm to his refusal.

"There is no doubt that Mr. Caldwell is sincere in his reasons for withdrawal," said Mr. Murphy, "and I know that he is ready to help the movement along in any other way possible. He has assured me that he is willing to act as a delegate to either of the conventions."

Mr. Russell immediately placed Mr. Bullock in nomination as ward councilman.

"It seems to me, Mr. Chairman," he said, "that the situation makes the nomination of Mr. Bullock the only proper and wise thing to do under the circumstances. I have talked with a number of the voters in the ward and they all say that Mr. Bullock is their choice for the nomination, and the logical man to put up."

"It is rather unfortunate that the situation should resolve itself to this point," said Mr. Murphy, "because Mr. Bullock has been accused of forming or instigating this club for his own benefit. He has done nothing of the sort, and only desires to promote clean politics, and it will be with reluctance, if at all, that he will accept this nomination. As a candidate, however, he has my hearty support. I regard him as a splendid citizen, and his record is one that must appeal to all those who seek good government."

Whether Mr. Bullock will accept the nomination is not known definitely. He was not present at the meeting, and the action taken in regard to his candidacy was not hinted to him beforehand. He was expected to arrive late at the session, but failed to put in an appearence before adjournment. It is generally believed among the members, however, that he will not allow his personal preference to stand in the way of a complete and strong ticket, so his acceptance is looked for.

Mr. Murphy suggested Mr. Anderson, who is president of the club, as the choice for councilman-at-large, in a brief speech of praise. The president is out of town, called away by the illness of his young daughter, but it is assumed that he will abide by the decision of his fellow-reformers as to what is best for the cause, and stand for the office.

There were but twelve members of the fifty on the roll present, and some tall scratching was necessary to fill out the delegates' slates. The

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The taking of the census in Middlesex county will cost about $3,250. The enumerators ascertained that there were 97,036 people in the county and the county must pay 3 cents a name for the work of making the canvass and also whatever additional expense was incurred in having interpreters aid the enumerators in the foreign districts. In the rural sections of the county the enumerators doubtless incurred other expenses in making their canvass as they had much ground to cover, the inhabitants being located on farms and in out of the way places. County Collector Serviss in the last report rendered by him of bills ordered paid by the freeholders for the taking of the census gives a lot of bills amounting in all to $2,863.60. These bills cover the work in all of the districts except Highland Park, Raritan, Piscataway, Cranbury, Metuchen and Monroe. Figuring out the cost of taking the names in these districts upon the population given without adding anything for outside expenses the total amounts to $3,194.99, so that with an allowance for expenses the cost should not exceed $3,250. The freeholders appropriated $4,000 for this work so that there will be a surplus when all of the bills have been paid. In some of the districts which were small, but one man was appointed to take the census and he was given the name of supervisor and enumerator. The fact that he had two titles permitted him to get three cents on each name. He thus fared better than the others as the enumerators in large districts only got two cents, the other cent going to the supervisor who was another individual.

The gang of foreigners, numbering about fifteen, employed at the Garretson & Gray stone quarry and crusher at the top of the mountain, were digging out a pile of earth yesterday afternoon when the roots of a huge elm tree were reached and the tree fell, pinning one of the laborers, a Polak, whose name could not be learned, to the ground. The man was unconscious for more than an hour and the other workmen removed him to his home nearby, where he was soon brought to. The injured man will, it is expected, be out in a few days.

It is rumored by many of the residents here that several complaints have been registered by late riders on the trolley line in regard to the management of the loop. Lately the place has been closing its doors at about 10 o'clock, and as a result those who ride later than that hour and wish to be transferred to other lines have been offered no place to rest or a shelter from inclement weather.

OFFICIALS INSPECT CANAL.

Their Trip Through Waterway Has New Brunswick Guessing.

New Brunswick, Aug. 30.—Considerable speculation has been aroused as to the object of a trip of inspection through the Delaware and Raritan Canal made yesterday by a party of Pennsylvania Railroad officials. It is said that President Cassatt was with the party. The party, of about twenty members, headed by Canal Superintendent H. W. Dunn, of Trenton, was aboard the Pennsylvania Railroad tug Relief. The trip was a deliberate one, the party having arrived only at Kingston at noon.

The inquests for information as to the purpose of the trip it was stated that it was merely a periodical trip of inspection, and that there was nothing significant in the affair. This theory was not accepted by railroad employes and others who noted the personnel of the party, but no way of contradicting it or getting at any ulterior purpose in the inspection is to be found.

—The Public Service Croporation is making repairs to its tracks on West Front street, between Park avenue and Grant avenue, while the city is also repairing certain portions of the macadam.

NO APPLEJACK IN CHURCH LEMONADE

BUT KICKING, OH, YES- MUCH KICKING OVER THE REPORT.

Whitehouse, Aug. 29.—"Somebody put applejack in the lemonade," explained three young women, returning to their fond parents after a church picnic at Annandale not long ago.

If somebody had put dynamite or nitro-glycerine in the lemonade there could not have been a more explosive rumpus than that started by these girls' explanation. They made it to shield themselves; the church lemonade was not tinctured with applejack. But the young women found applejack or something else outside the picnic grounds, and forgot their primness.

The daughters of most respectable people, they went with the younger members of the White House Reformed church to Iron Spring Park, Annandale. The three young women wandered from the park and went driving. When they returned they were in merriest humor; their light feet spurned the earth, so that at moments while three feet were on the ground the other three were high in air.

"B'gosh, I never see higher kicking!" admiringly exclaimed the one young man of Annandale who has the reputation of being "sporty."

The White House pastor took the girls in hand, and when they got home they pleaded: "Somebody put applejack in the lemonade."

The story reached the New York newspapers, the Annandale Reformed church became involved in it. Naturally, the pastor of the Annandale church and all his flock are indignant. For they were not at the picnic, they had no picnic of their own, there was no lemonade at the picnic they did not give, nobody put applejack in the lemonade—which did not exist—and least of all was there any kicking—except at the false reports about them.

PAYS $50 FOR CUP OF COFFEE.

Elizabeth Letter-Carrier Suspended for Drinking It on Duty.

Elizabeth, Aug. 30.—It costs $50 for a cup of coffee in this city to a letter-carrier if he dares to drink one while on duty. Such was the punishment inflicted on Nicholas Flynn, one of the oldest postmen in the employ of Uncle Sam, and who has just been suspended for twenty days because he ventured recently to imbibe a cup of the beverage which a woman offered him when he called at her home on Morris avenue to deliver a letter. Carrier Flynn has been sixteen years in the government's employ, and in all that period, it is said, never had a complaint lodged against him.

He did not think it would be a crime for to accept the hospitality of one of his patrons who on her part deeply regrets the episode. She had not taken into consideration the fact that a cranky neighbor, who was impatiently awaiting the postman's arrival with a letter, would so far lose her temper over a few minutes' delay as to write a letter of complaint to the postal authorities. The carrier's route is through a fashionable residential quarter of the city, and the residents there, with whom he is a general favorite, are much stirred up and indignant over the penalty imposed upon their faithful servant.

100 Griddle Cakes for Breakfast.

There's a family that has so many children it takes 100 griddle cakes to go around at breakfast. Next Sunday's New York World tells all about them. It also contains notable articles on "The Only American King," "What Color Are Your Thoughts," Rev. Dr. Hillis on the Northwest, besides two short fiction stories by famous authors. Be sure to buy next Sunday's New York Sunday World.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, has been visiting her cousin at Bound Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Todd, of East Third street, have returned from their outing at Manasquan.

Mrs. B. A. Brown and family, of Bristol, Conn., are guests of Mrs. L. J. Denton, of Washington avenue.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. G. Lester Leggett, who have been spending several weeks here, returned yesterday to their home in Nebraska City, Neb.

Miss Smith, of I. H. Boehm's dry goods store, will start on her vacation on Monday. She will divide her time between Trenton and Greenville, this State.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Take your machine jobs to the Valentine Gas Engine Company's shop, Sycamore street.

J. J. Leahy, the Richmond street plumber, guarantees all his work and the prices are reasonable.

M. D. O'Keefe, carpenter and builder, promptly attends to all work and cheerfully gives estimates. Try him.

No trucker does his work better or more speedily than H. J. Wierenga, whose office is on North avenue. Try him.

W. H. Pope, the electrician, on North avenue, will do whatever work you have in his line as reasonably as any one.

No matter how hard the job may be, provided it is electrical, E. A. Craig, corner Watchung avenue and Front street, can do it.

Thomas Callahan & Son have a choice lot of fancy canning peaches and Bartlett pears that they are selling at very low prices this week.

If you contemplate purchasing a horse for any purpose whatever, call on Stonewall Jackson, of the borough. He has just what you want.

Bread and cake facts are proved by the standard set by W. W. Warnock's goods. His bread and cake are criterions of worth. West Front street.

When you want something to eat, don't forget Timbo's restaurant on North avenue. Everything in season, well cooked, best service and low prices.

O. M. Dunham, of Park avenue, can please you in men's furnishings, of which he has a large stock. He asks your inspection of his goods and the prices.

By trading at H. Eggerding's cigar store, on Park avenue, you have as large a choice of cigars and cigarettes as can be found in the city at the lowest prices.

Remember that when you need a pair of shoes next time to go and buy a pair at A. E. and A. L. Giddes, whose motto is to give the best wearing goods to the people for the least money.

U. B. Crane, on West Front street, always has carried an up-to-date line of gents' furnishings. He still does the same and at prices that are low enough to suit all classes. Give him a trial.

"Walk easy" is L. W. Randolph's advice to those who are suffering with corns, and to help you do so he offers a corn cure that he guarantees to cure. Don't forget his soda water per excellent.

Lovers of pretty chinaware, brass ware and decorative ware of all kinds regard J. W. Gavett's store on West Front street as the most interesting place in Plainfield. The stock is highly attractive, even to polished connoiseurs.

Summer suits are going out and the fall styles begin to interest the good dressers. Take a look at Harry Werner's stock, West Front street, and find many things that will make your mouth water sartorially. It has been said that if clothes do not make the man, they do make his friends. If this is so, you will be overburdened with friends if you let Werner tog you.

Here is a chance to get fifty-cent stockings for nothing, and at the same time secure the finest shoe dressing made at moderate price. To introduce the matchless Cadet Dressing, M. C. Van Arsdale will give away a pair of fifty-cent Hermsdorf ladies' stockings with every package of Cadet Dressing purchased at his store on Friday. Just for that one day, remember.

When you are looking for a reliable dry goods store as well as one where you can receive the best of service, consider I. H. Boehm's emporium on West Front street. The August clearing sale is now going on and since all summer and spring stock must be sold out to make room for incoming fall goods, there have naturally been a cut in prices, of which you benefit if you trade there.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Every loyal fan should attend Saturday's game and watch Plainfield take the sixth in the county championship series.

A Summit fan, in speaking of the approaching series with Plainfield, remarked that it would be easy money for Summit.

It has been said that when the ball players become unionized they will refuse to play extra innings unless they get an increase of pay.

"Pete" Cregan is practicing with the bat nearly every day in the hope that he may be able to connect good and proper with "Red" Waller.

It was noticed that at times "Willie" Deegan was out of sorts on Saturday, and he frequently showed his displeasure over little things that went wrong.

Another report, said to be true, is that an attempt will be made to arrest "Dave" Driscoll at Westfield on Saturday, in retaliation for the arrest of "Red" Waller here.

A Tri-State League umpire was recently ejected from the field because the players objected to his decisions. He should be engaged for the Plainfield-Westfield series.

Very wisely Manager Denman has assured the public that so far as he is concerned the series will be finished and he will do all in his power to preserve harmony and good sport.

One rule that is constantly being violated, and the umpires take no notice of it, is that of roughing up a new ball on the grass or dirt. Some pitchers always hit the ball a couple of times on the spikes of their shoes so they can dent it.

"Long Tom" Hughes, of the Washington Nationals, who was not considered strong enough for the New York Americans, has been doing great work of late. He defeated Cleveland twice in four days, allowing but six hits, and this week he defeated Chicago, giving the Cubs but three hits. There are other pitchers besides Mathewson and McGinnity.

Manager Denman says that Edward Dooley, who has gained prominence at the ball games by his loud talk and making personal remarks, will not be permitted to attend the games at Westfield, and he suggests that the same action be taken here regarding him. He attributes the commencement of Saturday's trouble as being largely due to Dooley's incessant tongue-lashing of "Red" Waller and other members of the visiting team.

TENNIS.

An event of interest to tennis players will be the championship play at the Plainfield Country Club, September 7-9, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon of each day. This play will be the women's singles for the club championship, and a cup will be presented the winner by Harry A. McGee. On September 9 and 16 there will be the men's singles for the club championship, the cup to be presented by President George P. Mellick.

GETTYSBURG AND WASHINGTON.

Personally-Conducted Tour via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The battlefield of Gettysburg, and the National Capital are attractions so alluring that few would feel like refusing them, especially in the cool fall days. It is to place these two attractions within easy reach of every one that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company announces a tour over the interesting battlefield, through the picturesque valleys of Maryland, and an entertaining stay at Washington.

The tour will leave New York, West Twenty-third street, 7:55 a. m., and Philadelphia, 12:20 p. m., Saturday, September 23, in charge of one of the company's tourist agents, and will cover a period of six days. An experienced chaperon, whose especial charge will be unescorted ladies, will accompany the party throughout. Round-trip tickets, covering transportation, carriage drives, and hotel accommodations, will be sold at the extremely low rate of $22 from New York, $21 from Trenton, $19 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents; tourist agent, 263 Fifth avenue, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address George W. Boyd, general passenger agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia. 8 30 oaw td

MAMMOTH RESORT FOR NEGROES ONLY

COMPANY BEING FORMED TO LAUNCH THE VENTURE—SITES PURCHASED.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—St. Louis is to have a permanent winter pavilion and summer garden for the negroes of the city, from which all white persons will be debarred. A company has been formed, capitalized at $100,000, and fifteen acres of land, or a little more than six city blocks, have been purchased between West End Heights and Forest Park Highlands.

E. P. Christopher, who claims to have been practically raised among the colored people and to know their needs and characteristics, stated that tuere were 86,000 negroes in St. Louis. These spend on an average of about $6,000 a day, unnecessarily, outside of their living expenses. He further states that these negroes are all debarred from the various amusement resorts of the city, both in winter and summer, which makes the need of such a resort all the more imperative.

The resort will be ready for use, it is expected, by next November. A large theatre, with a seating capacity of 2,500, will be erected, as well as a large dining room, barrooms and other booths and concessions.

Mr. Christopher said that he anticipated no conflict with the white amusement resorts, for the management will be strict about prohibiting white persons within the grounds.

It was intimated by Mr. Christopher that a circuit of summer gardens will be formed throughout the various cities of this country, much on the order of a theatrical circuit.

AMUSEMENTS

Manager Counihan's offering at the Plainfield theatre Friday night will be the emotional melodrama, "Why Girls Leave Home." Fred Summerfield, the author, is said to have shown great skill in developing the plot and keeping its tone wholesome, particular emphasis resting on its love story. It has its beginning in the home of a modest family near New York, where a daughter, Pearl Sherwood, is lured to the city by the glare of its social lights. She finds she is the victim of a plot, is abducted and held prisoner and meets with numerous adventures of the kind and in the end her higher sense of right asserts itself. The play carries with it a moral lesson. The production is said to be a very elaborate one, and the several characters in the play are interpreted by people who are well suited to the roles.

Henry Miller, whom F. F. Proctor induced to enter vaudeville, will play a return engagement and bid farewell to that field at Proctor's 23d Street theatre during the week of August 28th. The vehicle which Mr. Miller will use, entitled "Frederic Lemaitre," was written by Clyde Fitch. Miss Laura Hope Crews, who will assist Mr. Miller, is an old favorite with the 23rd Street theatre patrons. Katie Barry is continued as one of the leading attractions due to her remarkable success of last week. Havemann's Original Animal School, freshly imported from Europe, will form an important part of the week's bill. Moore & Littlefield will be seen in "Change Your Act," or "Back to the Woods." This is their last week in vaudeville. Another attraction is the Eight Vassar Girls, a singing ensemble, which has won renown. Eddie Leonard and the Lane Boys will offer a beautiful new plantation singing and dancing act. The Larson Sisters, acrobats; Alf. Grant, monologist; Martini and Maximillian, burlesque magicians, and a set of humorous motion pictures complete the bill.

Appears to Be the Popular Choice.

The men who are opposing the nomination of John Boyd Avis, of Gloucester county, for the Senate, haven't yet given a good reason for their action. Mr. Avis appears to be the choice of most of the people, and when it comes to supplying Senators, the people should be permitted to have the man they want.—Trenton State Gazette.

"De-lighted!"

City Judge William N. Runyon's withdrawal as a candidate for the senatorial nomination from Union county is a great disappointment to his friends, but comes at a time when, in his belief, harmony must be restored at all cost. He has opened the way for it by personally sacrificing his own aims and stepping aside for the only other logical candidate, Ernest R. Ackerman, against whom Elizabeth or no one else can utter a protest. The popular city magistrate arrived at his determination after fully considering the facts, and his action is but another exemplification of his characteristic unselfishness and disregard for himself. That he is the most popular young man in Plainfield today goes without saying, and the situation was shaping itself to the point where he would have gotten the solid support of the local delegates, who would have stood by him with the tenacity of true friendship. He entered the race at the earnest solicitation of friends and was prepared to stay in it until the dictatorial policy of the leaders at the county seat, who raked up the skeleton of the 1903 bolt as an excuse to cause discord, became such that he knew it meant almost an absolute recurrence of that very affair. The Plainfield voters almost to a man would not have stood for his being turned down, and the Elizabethans who seem to think they have a monopoly of Union county offices would have realized more than they did two years ago what power there is in this locality. But, as Judge Runyon says in his statement, "his further candidacy would delay, if not altogether prevent, the restoration of harmony in the Republican party in this county," he withdrew rather than increase the complexities, and though it is keenly regretted in his home town, honor is due him for his view of the turmoil.

Every nation in the world rejoices over the peace between Japan and Russia. The treaty of Portsmouth stops a terrible sacrifice of human life, a fearful waste of treasure, and an incalculable amount of suffering in thousands upon thousands of homes in the land of the Czar and the Island Kingdom. No act of Theodore Roosevelt's full and splendid life will overshadow his work in holding the divided envoys to their task and, by his determined disregard of diplomatic procedure, where the vast cause of humanity entered, bringing the warring nations together on the final agreement to cease from tearing at each other's vitals. Japan has furnished a magnificent example of magnanimity, and to her belongs a glory that makes the consummation of peace as great a star in her national crown as the bloody victories of the battlefields. America, known for her magnanimous treaties of peace, has been taught a lesson in Quixotism. But while Japan has waived much, she is not wholly stripped of the fruits of victory. She has accomplished, for one thing, all that she entered upon the war to win. Russia has been driven from Manchuria; Port Arthur and Dalny have been wrested from her; Corea is under Japan's undisputed control; she has taken the Manchurian railroad; the southern half of Saghalien, immeasureably valuable as a means of commanding the straits through which Russian ships must pass to reach Vladivostok; and she has valuable fishing rights in Siberian waters. These are material benefits. For the rest, the heroic islanders have smashed the navy of her greatest enemy, as if the steel-clad vessels were paper and manned by toys; has driven the huge armies of a vast military nation resistlessly before her; and subdued a city deemed invulnerable. Russia saves an indemnity, but her prestige has sunk to a level that must cause the face of every Russian to draw with pain at every thought of the Eastern conflict. If she ever finds it restored, may it be used in nobler ways than those in which Russian diplomacy has so circuitously worked in past centuries.

Will Attend G. A. R. Encampment.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smith and daughters, the Misses Mamie and Clara Barton Smith, and son, Harry, of Grandview avenue, left this afternoon for Denver, Col., where they will attend the National Department Encampment of the G. A. R. They will be away several weeks and will probably visit California before their return.

PEACE AGREED UPON

No Indemnity And Russia Will Get Half of Sakhalin.

JAP ENVOY WEEPS

Each Side Is To Pay the Other For the Cost Of Keeping Prisoners—War Practically Ended.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 30—Russia's only victory of the war was won yesterday at Portsmouth. Despairing and broken hearted, Baron Komura obeyed the direct orders of the Mikado and conceded every point for which the Russians have contended.

The surrender was made, not in Portsmouth, not by Baron Komura and Minister Takahira, who opposed it to the last moment—it was made Monday in Tokio by Marquis Ito and the three other Elder Statesmen. The war is practically at an end and the peace terms are agreed upon.

No indemnity is to be paid. Only the cost of keeping the Russian prisoners is to be reimbursed to Japan. The Russians had determined that that should not exceed $50,000,000, but they did not have to name their maximum. The Japanese care nothing for that point, having yielded all the rest, and they asked only the actual amount expended by them in caring for the prisoners and proposed that the account be itemized. They will also pay Russia for the cost of keeping the few prisoners she has taken.

There is no sale of Sakhalin. The Japanese are to restore to Russia the northern half of the island without taking any money for it. The boundary is to be the fiftieth parallel. Permission to the Japanese to retain the southern half was given by the orders of the Czar to M. Witte. The envoy himself would never have consented to it but for that.

"We accept your conditions," were the words, sorrowfully spoken, with which Baron Komura ended the three weeks' contest. There was bitterness in his tone, and he seemed to emphasize the fact that it was not a compromise, but the reluctant acceptance by the victors of the terms imposed by the vanquished. After the conference adjourned for the noon recess, and while M. Witte was at the hotel receiving frantic plaudits, Baron Komura was seated in his room at the navy yard weeping.

THE TERMS AGREED UPON

These are the demands made by the Japanese plenipotentiaries upon Russia, together with the final disposition of them:

1. The recognition of the preponderating interest of Japan in Corea.
This was agreed to by the Russians.

2. The evacuation of Manchuria by the Russian and Japanese forces.
This was agreed to by the Russians, who occupy two-thirds of the territory.

3. Transfer by Russia to Japan of the leasehold of Liaotung Peninsula, which includes Port Arthur and Dalny.
This was agreed to by the Russians.

4. The return to China of the civil administration of Manchuria.
This was agreed to by the Russians.

5. The concession of Saghalien Islands by the Russians, the Japanese military forces occupying it by force of arms.
Russia refused and compelled the Japanese to return to them one-half of the island.

6. Transfer to the Japanese by Russia without compensation of all docks, magazines and military works at Port Arthur and Dalny.
Agreed to by the Russians.

7. Transfer of the railroad between Port Arthur and Kunshien.
Agreed to by the Russians.

8. Retention by Russia of main line of railroad from Kunshien to Vladivostok.
Agreed to by the Russians.

9. Russia to reimburse Japan for the cost of the war.
Rejected by the Russians.

10. Russian warships interned at various neutral ports to be turned over to the Japanese.
Rejected by the Russians.

11. The limitation of Russian naval strength in the Far East.
Rejected by the Russians.

12. Granting to the Japanese of certain fishing rights on the Siberian coast.
Accepted by the Russians.

SHRIEVALTY ASPIRANTS' STRENGTH TEST HALTED

VAN VOORHIS AND KIRKLAND TO CLASH AT PRIMARIES SEPTEMBER 12.

Elizabeth, Aug. 30.—Almost at the last minute the forces of Revenue Collector George Van Voorhis and those of Captain Bob Kirkland, the rival Republican candidates at Elizabethport for the nomination for sheriff, decided not to lock horns Monday night, but will fight it out at the primaries September 12.

Each side held a meeting, the followers of Captain Kirkland at Saenger Hall, while those of the revenue collector met at Henry Damm's hall. Each faction selected six men to be voted for as delegates to the county convention. Captain Kirkland claims his nominees are entitled to regularity, because they were chosen at the place designated to hold the ward meeting. Collector Van Voorhis and his backers say, however, that dosn't cut any ice in the political game, but that the primary is the proper place to show the real test of supremacy.

VanVoorhis, in order to make the thing sure, will enter the field by petition, if necessary.

In the First Ward Captain Jack Burns, the Republican war horse and ward leader, was unexpectedly beaten for delegate to the county convention by a German named Holle, a comparatively unknown politician in the ward. Veteran Burns is furious and declares he also will fight it out at the primaries, and vows he will defeat for re-election City Committeeman Rohner, of the First, in revenge for the latter supporting Captain Jack's conqueror.

FIXED COUSTY EXPENSES.

Somerset Freeholders Will Need $130,000 the Coming Year.

A special meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders was held in the Court House at Somerville yesterday. On January 12, 1905, the board resolved to borrow $35,000 on temporary loans to meet a deficiency in consequence of the cost of constructing roads, having exceeded the estimate of the board for that current year. The real deficiency amounted to $24,950, and Clerk Sutphen was authorized to certify such to the Boards of Assessors to be raised by assessment according to law.

The annual appropriation for county expenses, county roads and bridges was fixed at $130,000, which is intended to include the $24,950.

Veterans to Gather.

The twenty-sixth annual reunion of the Fifteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteer Veterans' Association, will be held at Flemington Thursday, September 21. Headquarters will be established at the Union Hotel, where a meeting of the executive committee will be held on Wednesday night, September 20, at 8 o'clock. The business meeting will be held at the Court House at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning, September 21, to be followed by a social meeting of the regiment and its friends. Dinner will be served by the Women's Relief Corps. There will be no parade, the intention of the committee being to have the reunion a family one.

lists had to be completed last night, because there is a good deal of red tape attached to filing them, and they must be in the hands of the city clerk, with the required number of signers, by Saturday night.

The delegations were finally filled out as follows:

City convention: William Symons, J. C. Allen, G. R. Hall, J. B. Hill, J. H. Rowland, Edward Caldwell; county convention: W. E. Dunn, G. W. Taylor, Thomas McDonald, Seely Edsall, Charles H. Russell and W. C. Chamberlain.

It was suggested that in order to keep the independents bracketted together on the primary ballot, and thus make it easier for the county nominees to present themselves to the friends of the ring-busting movement, somebody ought to be endorsed by the delegates for a county office.

There was some hesitation over plunging into the complexities of the county situation, but the atmosphere cleared when Vice President Taylor, who was in the chair, was informed of Judge Runyon's withdrawal in favor of E. R. Ackerman in the senatorial struggle. It looked safe to endorse Mr. Ackerman, and the club took a recess while Mr. Murphy hurried to a telephone booth and called up Mr. Ackerman. He reported that the latter declared his willingness to accept the nomination if it came to him unanimously, and the club promptly made him the choice for senator.

Secretary Murphy had all the necessary forms for filing with the city clerk in readiness and immediately after the meeting the members not on the delegations went to Mr. Murphy's office to sign the petitions. The rest of the signatures—ten in all are required—will be secured by Saturday in ample time for filing.

JERSEY GETTING READY TO THUMP THE BOSSES

NEW YORK TIMES SAYS PEOPLE ARE TO HAVE THEIR INNINGS.

In its issue of Sunday, the New York Times, under a Newark date line, had the following to say of political affairs in various parts of the State:

"This week's primaries, to be held throughout New Jersey under the new law, will provide uncomfortable hours for a lot of political bosses in different localities. The State has never seen the bosses attacked so savagely. The new law gives the people first chance to win in a bout with the party dictators, and the signs are that they are preparing to take advantage of it.

"Under the old system, if a candidate for a seat in a nominating convention whom the boss did not want managed to carry a primary, the boss had his county committee set the election aside and issue the credentials to the man he did want. Under the new law the primaries are no longer a party function, but a part of the State's election officers on duty and all the election safeguards thrown around them. So there is an assurance that if the people turn out to vote their ballots will be honestly counted and tallied and the results honestly declared.

"It only remains to find a way of stirring the people enough to get them out to vote. Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City, gave the boss fighters a cue on that point when Secretary of State Dickinson threatened to throw the whole power of the county Republican machine against his renomination. He arranged to hold a series of mass meetings during the summer all over the city to stir up a popular revolt against one-man domination. Col. Dickinson heard the rumble of a popular uprising in the air, and he prudently withdrew his opposition. This, however, did not forestall the Mayor's crusade. He has publicly lashed the bosses since as mercilessly as if his particular local boss were still standing in his way, and the Secretary is spending all his spare time gathering bouquets for him in the hope of putting him in good humor again.

"The effect of the mere threat of these anti-boss meetings was so marked and immediate in the Jersey City campaign that the boss fighters all over have taken the tip, and the State has witnessed an unprecedented series of red-hot preliminary campaigns all through the torrid season. In Hudson county, Davis, the Democratic leader, has been made the object of as savage an attack as that which Mayor Fagan was prepared to make on Dickinson.

"The row in that camp is over the shrievalty nomination. Under Sheriff Heavey wants it, but Davis has promised it to ex-Mayor Egbert L. Seymour, of Bayonne. Mr. Heavey got after him with his mass meetings, and has stirred up a row that makes the outcome of the rivalry at the primaries a question of doubt.

"Here in Essex county, Gardner Colby, who is fighting Major Lentz, the Republican boss, for a seat in the State Senate, is applying the mass meeting specific with even more promising prospects. His plea is that Major Lentz will not allow his party machine to help him to the nomination because the Major is a lobbyist for the railroads, and Mr. Colby himself is for curbing the corporations. His campaign has been notable for its thoroughness. He has addressed a meeting, and sometimes two, every night for the last five weeks, and has held noonday meetings at the luncheon hour in many of the larger industrial establishments. He has frightened the Major into taking the stump against him, and the Public Service Corporation, which he has particularized as Major Lentz's favorite corporation has barred his political signs from its trolley cars.

"Over in Union county, the Republican bosses are having the time of their lives in the effort to get their man for State Senator through the coming primary. When Senator John Kean and his associate bosses at the Elizabeth end of the county said that Boss MacMurray of the Plainfield end might select the nominee this time, there arose a great hue and cry among the Plainfielders against Boss MacMurray's being allowed to do anything of the kind.

"The fight against this particular dispensation of the machine has spread all along the line, and the Plainfield folks will not let Mr. MacMurray choose even a town councilman. The strife over MacMurray has become so strenuous that Senator Kean may try to bring the Senatorial nomination back to Elizabeth, and has even offered his brother, Hamilton, on the sacrificial altar as a compromise candidate. Ex-Mayor Randolph, of Plainfield, who used to be president of the Petroleum Exchange in New York, is leading the independent forces.

"In Somerset county, Alva Clark, the Democratic boss, is the father-in-law of ex-Senator Reed, the Republican boss, and both are getting it right and left from their respective parties. The family control of both parties has never been altogether pleasing to the men of either party, and there is a strong independent movement for the nomination of candidates for State Senator that neither of the Clark family leaders favors.

"The contest in Somerset is a straight struggle against the local bosses. In other places other issues are incidental. Fagan in Jersey City says that Dickinson, and here Colby says that Lentz, is the servant of the corporations, and Fagan has addressed two or three of Colby's anti-monopoly meetings. Heavey says that Davis, the Hudson county Democratic leader, has led the party only to certain defeat in all recent campaigns, and that he should not be trusted to make the nominations again. In Plainfield there is a story that a 'Man Higher Up' has been selling liquor licenses and that the machine will name only the men for local offices who will help him deliver the goods.

"The indications are that in the four counties named, the most important in the commonwealth, the coming primary elections will be more fiercely contested than any in all the previous history of the State."

THE VICE-VERSA IDEA.

If you were the hired girl—

Would you like to serve five breakfasts between 7 and 8 o'clock and be rebuked if they are not all hot and crisp?

Would you like to warm up dinner, after your dishes were all washed, to oblige a careless member of the family who had not been working, but had merely stopped for a little longer chat with a friend?

Would you like to hear your mistress discuss your shortcomings with every stranger within her gates?

Would you feel inclined to handle silverware, cut glass and dainty china with loving care when the room in which you rested and slept looked either like a poorhouse dormitory or an incipient rummage sale?

Would you feel enthusiastic over your work when your faults were painted in rich, glowing colors and your little successes and achievements were passed unnoticed and unappreciated?

Would you feel like stopping in the midst of your regular duties to wash and iron a shirt waist for a thoughtless young girl who forgot to put it in the wash on Monday, and who needed it at once for a picnic?

Would you enjoy being sent to the grocery around the corner two or three times a day, simply because your mistress was slovenly and careless in her ordering?

Would you think that it was quite fair if you were forced to take care of the baby night after night while the parents went to card parties, dances, the theatre, etc., when you were engaged for general housework, with no hint of duties as a night nurse?

Would you not appreciate a rocking chair in your room or in a sunny corner of the kitchen, also the right to entertain an occasional caller on the side porch or in the dining room?

Did you ever stop to consider how a girl waiting on the table must feel when she hears the following conversation day after day: "Mother, is there more of this in the kitchen?" "No, dear, but you take that piece if you want to, Mary can fry herself an egg."

If you had just one afternoon and evening out in the seven days of the week, do you not think that you would feel irritable when your mistress asked you to come back in the evening because she had forgotten it was your day out and invited a few friends in for cards and a rarebit, which you must prepare?

Let the girl go for a fortnight and you will treat her differently when she comes back.—Washington Star.

HINTS ON BUYING FOOD.

Much trouble will be saved and much time gained by making out the bill of fare on Saturday for the following week. Make two lists, one for perishable and the other for dry materials. Write down under each heading the necessary ingredients to supply these bills of fare. Do your marketing on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Do not live from hand to mouth and order just enough for the day. As soon as the marketing and grocercies come home put all the dry materials into receptacles, either glass jars or cans made for the purpose and plainly marked. Put the cheese in a cool place, but not in the refrigerator. Cut the long end from the steak and put it at once through the meat chopper and then in a bowl and set in refrigerator. Put all vegetables in the cellar, if you have one. Trim the outside leaves off and throw them away. Plunge the cabbage into water for a moment and shake it. Put the other vegetables in boxes or baskets, or still better, in bins made purposely for them in the cellar. On the floor or lower shelf of refrigerator place the butter and milk, and put the eggs nearer the top. Wash parsley, put it into a little bag and at once on the ice. Separate the heads of lettuce, wash thoroughly, put them in a cheesecloth bag and then on the ice. This insures cold, crisp salads and saves time. As milk and butter are easily contaminated by odors or flavors, keep them in covered vessel. The air current of a refrigerator usually descends on one side, crosses the bottom and goes up and out the opposite side. Put foods with decided flavor on the upper shelves on the upper current side. This will insure a sweet, clean refrigerator. To ascertain the upper current side, place a candle at one side, close the door to a crack, and observe the direction of the flame.—Boston Globe.

NOTICE!
"In behalf of your proprietary article called AZIENZA CREAM, as a remedy for diseases of the skin. I desire to add my appreciation of its wonderful properties as a cure in a case of Bone Tumor or Abscess of five years growth on my husband's back, which I have cured in less than five weeks time by constant application, and now it is as well as any part of his body. It was cut out once by a specialist and had again grown to a large size, was as hard as a bone and of a very dark purple color. The AZIENZA at once allayed the pain and began to soften it, and in less than eight days, by my pressure upon it, suddenly to my surprise it discharged a quantity of pus, impregnated with a hard, cheesy substance. I kept it open and cleansed it as it discharged and every day would dress it with a plaster of AZIENZA CREAM, until it was entirely healed up. I cannot speak too highly of AZIENZA CREAM and its merits. For inquiry regarding this case you may apply to Mr. and Mrs. James, Embury Ave., care Miller, Ocean Grove, N. J. Signed, July 12, 1905: Mrs. C. W. James, Mr. C. W. James." Leading Druggists, 25c-50c

FOR THE GENTLER SEX

A SLEEPING ROOM.

If possible, should be maintained as a sleeping room and not converted into a den or sitting room or parlor, and in choosing its furnishings the thought should be rather one of lasting beauties than selections made in consideration of color or fabric.

The color and design of each part lends a hand in securing the quiet and repose that should distinguish the room used for sleeping and retirement.

The general tone of the room should be settled, and then all things conform to that.

The size and length of each room must be considered for the best use of color. Certain colors produce certain effects. Yellow and red lighten and warm a dark or bare room. Floods of sunshine can be tempered, and the atmosphere cooled by the light tints of green, blue or gray: If the woodwork and furniture can all be in harmony, white is satisfactory for a sleeping room.

Any color, however, must be dealt with carefully. Too much color robs a sleeping room of its motive to produce a subdued atmosphere with a sense of space and complete freedom from crowded effects.

Of course, polished floors and small rugs are the thing for sleeping rooms. These admit of daily cleaning without undue labor.

Do not have too many pieces of furniture or too large ones in the room. This must be regulated by the capacity of the room, which must not be overcrowded even at the price of banishing some fine piece of furniture.

In fact, the true way of decorating a sleeping room is to place therein only that which is necessary.

There is an endless variety of pretty muslins and cretonnes and chintz that may be used for draperies and hold the advantage over other materials in that they may be cleaned with soap and water.

Accessories that are likely to catch and retain duet and impurities should be exiled, and upholstered pieces could be put away with impunity. Closet doors and doors between adjoining rooms may well be replaced with pretty, fresh chintz curtains.

Last, and by far most important, is the bed—the mattress and springs—and this is the real "feature" of the sleeping room. For the sake of comfort, as well as for the sake of economy, have the mattress and springs the best to be had. Let other things go if necessary but have a good bed.

The bed linen should be fine and the supply large.

The bed should be placed so that the head does not touch the wall and all sides are easy of access.

At its foot a low couch draped prettily (although it may be inexpensive drapery), containing the linen, is convenient and practicable.

There is no room in the house more worthy of care and ingenuity than the sleeping room.—Washington Star.

THE FORMATION OF A CHILD'S CHARACTER.

Children are usually more observing than they are given credit for being. They mimic their elders in both speech and actions. They delight to dress and talk like mamma or big sister and many of their musings start, "When I am grown up I shall do ——."

The power of imitation is strong in every child. It is the fundamental basis of their knowledge. It is an instinct and as such needs development.

Therefore great care should be taken by the mother to put such things before her child that are worthy of imitation. If you wish your little girl to grow into an upright, sweet-tempered woman, be sure to be so yourself, for she will invariably model herself after her ideal feminine being—her mother.

There is an old fairy tale of a little girl whose mother was very unfractious. The mother had her old mother living with her. Grandma was queer and garrulous. Her mind was feeble and she had no longer control of her muscles. Mother refused to let grandma sit at the same table with the rest of the family, but placed her in the chimney corner with the cat. Grandma did not have a china cup and saucer, but one made of wood, so that it would not break.

One day the little girl was found by her mother busily shaving a block of wood. When asked what she was doing she replied:

"Why, I am making a wooden cup for you so that when you get old like grandma you may sit in the chimney corner and drink from the cup."

Fairy tales are legends handed down from time immemorial. What was true of the child centuries ago is true of her in the present age. The child will mold her character largely after that of her mother.

Will Jar Newark.

Vice Chancellor Bergen's decision will come as a shock to the city of Newark, which has always prided itself upon foresight in paying six millions for the river which was stolen by the East Jersey Water Company to the detriment of Paterson.—Paterson Guardian.

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1904, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company).

He leaned a bit farther forward then and pulling his coat partly open, he showed me a detective's badge. And the other man quickly did the same.

I sat back in my chair. The fat star on the stage with her big mouth and big baby-face, was doing a cake-walk up and down close to the foot-lights, yelling the chorus of her song.

I'll never mimic that song, Mag, although I can see her and hear it as plain as though I'd listened and watched her all my life. But there's no fun in it for me. I hate the very bars the orchestra plays before she begins to sing. I can't bear even to think of the words. The whole of it is full of horrible things—it smells of the jail—it looks like stripes—it . . .

"You're not going to faint?" asked the man, moving closer to me.

"Me? I never fainted in my life. . . . Where is he now—Tom Dorgan?"

"Tom Dorgan!"

"Yes. I was sure I saw him sail, but, of course, I was mistaken. He has sent you after me, has he? I can hardly believe it of Tom—even—even yet."

"I don't know anything that connects you with Dorgan. If he was in with you on this, you'd better remember, before you say anything more, that it'll all be used against you."

The curtain had gone down and gone up again. I was watching the star. She has such a boyish way of nodding her head, instead of bowing, after she waddles out to the center; and every time she wipes her lips with her lace handkerchief, as though she'd just taken one of the cocktails she makes in the play with all the skill of a bartender. I found myself doing the same thing—wiping my lips with that very some gesture, as though I had a fat, bare forearm like a rolling-pin—when all at once the thought came to me: "You needn't bother, Nancy. It's all up. You won't have any use for it all."

"Just what is the charge?" I asked, turning to the man beside me.

"What!"

It was Obermuller. He had pushed the curtains aside; the crashing of the orchestra had prevented our hearing the clatter of the rings. He had pushed by the man standing there, had come in and—he had heard.

"Nance!" he cried. "I don't believe a word of it." He turned in his quick way to the men. "What are your orders?"

"To take her to her flat and search it."

Obermuller came over to me then, and took my hand for a minute.

"It's a pity they don't know about the Gray rose diamond," he whispered, helping me on with my jacket. "They'd see how silly this little three hundred dollar business is. . . . Brace up, Nance Olden!"

Oh, Mag, Mag, o hear a man like hat talk to you as though you were his kind, when you have the feel of the coarse prison stripes between your dry, shaking fingers, and the close prison smell is already poisoning your nostrils!

"I don't see—" my voice shook—"how you can believe in me."

"Don't you?" he laughed. "That's easy. You've got brains, Nance, and the most imbecile thing you could do just now, when your foot is already on the ladder, would be just this—to get off in order to pick up a trinket out of the mud, when there's a fortune up at the top waiting for you. Clever people don't do asinine things. And other clever people know that they don't. You're clever, but so am I—in my weak, small way. Come along, little girl."

He pulled my hand in his arm and we walked out, followed by the two men.

Oh, no! It was all very quiet and looked just like a little theater party that had an early supper engagement. Obermuller nodded to the manager out in the deserted lobby, who stopped us and asked me what I thought of the star.

You'll think me mad, Mag. Those fellows with the badges were sure I was, but Obermuller's eyes only twinkled, and the manager's grin grew broad when, catching up the end of my skirt and cake-walking up and down, I sang under my breath that coon song that was trailing over and over through my head.

I gave one of those quick, funny, boyish nods the star inside affects and wiped my lips with my handkerchief.

That brought down my house. Even the biggest fellow with the badge gigeled recognizingly, and then put his hand quickly in front of his mouth and tried to look severe and official.

The color had come back to Obermuller's face; it was worth dancing for—that.

"Be patient, Mag; let me tell it my way."

There wasn't room in the coupe waiting out in front for more than two. So Obermuller couldn't come in it. But he put me in—Mag, dear, dear Mag—he put me in as if I was a lady—not like Gray; a real one. A thing like that counts when two detectives are watching. It counted afterward in the way they treated me.

The big man climbed up on the seat with the driver. The blue-eyed fellow got in and sat beside me, closing the door.

"I'll be out there almost as soon as you are," Obermuller said, standing a moment beside the lowered window.

"You good fellow!" I said, and then, trying to laugh: "I'll do as much for you some day."

He shook his fist laughingly at me, and I waved my hand as we drove off.

"You know, miss, there may be some mistake about this," said the man next to me, "and—"

"Yes, there may be. In fact, there is."

"I'm sure I'll be very glad if it is a mistake. They do happen—though not often. You spoke of Dorgan—"

"Did I?"

"Yes, Tom Dorgan, who busted out of Sing Sing the other day."

"Surely you're mistaken," I said, smiling right into his blue eyes. "The Tom Dorgan I mentioned is a sleight-of-hand performer at the vaudeville. Ever see him?"

LITERARY.

Charles Wagner, author of "The Simple Life," is still engaged in "strongly writing his 'American Impressions.'" Realizing this time the importance of copyright he is bound that the new book shall be properly protected; and his vivid use of recently acquired English makes his comment on literary pirates sound like a whisper in melodrama: "The robbers' eyes are always open to steal." In evidence of the spontaneous and straight-from-the-heart way he does his writing, comes the statement that "the book is not symmetric. I say what I have to say, without taking measure." "It is delightful," he goes on, "from the window of my little cell where I work like a monk, I do not see anything but trees and turf. The summer is coming and, as outburst the leaf and flowers, all my American days come back to me. It is the very time to build the book."—McClure's Magazine.

The egg and poultry earnings of the United States for one recent year amounted to $280,000,000. Such an amount is sufficiently amazing as it stands, but you don't get its full significance until you study the relative financial values of other "industrials." We find, for instance, that the total value of the gold, silver, wool and sheep produced in America during the year in question was $272,434,315. The sugar production of the country the same year was but $20,000,000. That part of the wheat crop used at home, which many consider the most valuable of all our agricultural products, was worth $229,000,000. The great American hog, as consumed at home and abroad, brought $186,529,035. The value of the oat crop was $78,984,900. Potatoes grown in the United States were valued at nearly as large a sum as were the oats. The product of tobacco plantations was estimated to be worth $35,579,225. Cotton, the dethroned king of staples, could show only $259,161,640, as against the magnificent earnings of its feathered rival. The crops of flax, timothy, clover, millet and cane seeds, broom corn, castor beans, hay, straw and so forth, couldn't, all told, come within a measureable distance of many millions of the poultry earnings. The hen's eggs produced in this country annually would fill 43,127,000 crates, each of the latter holding 360 eggs; also, a train of refrigerator cars to carry these eggs would be nearly 900 miles long. Furthermore, it would take 107,818 such cars to make up this train.—Franklin Forbes, in Success Magazine.

Miss Lulu Drury was a passenger on the 10:19 train this morning for Chicago.

Mrs. D. K. Reinhart left this morning on the 10:19 train for home in Bluffton, Ind.

Moritz Roth was a passenger on the 10:19 train this morning for a short business visit at Neponset.

Rev. Ario Brown, who has been here since yesterday, returned to Atkinson on the 10:19 train this morning.—Kansas Courier.

A TRUE GHOST STORY.

This is a true ghost story of an unconventional kind. A young lady arrived late at night on a visit to a friend. She awoke in the darkness to find a white figure at the foot of the bed. While she watched, the bedclothes were suddenly whisked off and the apparition vanished. After an anxious, not to say chilly, night, the visitor went down with little appetite for breakfast. At the table she was introduced to a gentleman, a very old friend of the family, who had, she learned, also been sleeping in the house. He complained of the cold, says the Gentlewoman.

"I hope you will excuse me," he said to his hostess, "but I found it so cold during the night that, knowing the room next to mine was unoccupied, I took the liberty of going in and carrying off the bedclothes to supplement my own."

The room, as it happened, was not unoccupied, but he never learned his mistake.

It was reported yesterday that Captain Mallen would soon cease to be a member of the Westfield team.

So far as Westfield is concerned, the question of the county baseball championship will be decided on Saturday, when Plainfield will meet the Pirates in the seventh of the series of ten contests. If the Daabsters are successful it will mean that the pennant is pretty sure to come here, for it is not believed that either Dover or Summit, to say nothing of the Elizabeth teams, can wrest the honors from the local aggregation. The Plainfield team has played great ball this season, consistent throughout, with only four defeats, one of which was administered by the Westfield team. In taking five of the six contests played to date, the Daabsters have done just what a majority of the fans predicted. It must be conceded that the local team is stronger than the Deamanites and the playing has proved this, although the scores have been close. The Plainfield boys have outclassed their opponents in hitting and run getting, and many times through clever work have worked out plays that meant victory. There was some doubt early in the season as to whether Beck would be strong enough to oppose Westfield. He did good work when used, but he was not quite fast enough in fielding. When Manager Daab decided to use Deegan, the Plainfield stock took a big jump, and the wisdom of his action has been shown by the fact that "Willie" has not lost a game to Westfield and he has faced them in three contests and finished another game started by Beck. The rest of the team is doing good hard work and making every effort to win out. This is shown in the fielding and batting departments, and not a single player has been a disappointment to the management or the public. It is Mr. Daab's intention to finish the season just as strong as it began, and his team has instructions to win every game played. That has always been Mr. Daab's policy, no matter what the score may be. As previously stated, it is possible that Charlie McKenna, the former Orange A. C. twirler, may be secured to finish the season with Deegan, and should this be true, he could be depended upon to do his share in piling up victories. Saturday's game will be one of the most important in the series, as it means a whole lot to either team who wins. Managers Daab and Denman will present their same lineups as last Saturday.

WALLER DOESN'T REGRET THE LOSS OF HIS TOOTH

TELLS MANAGER DENMAN HE WAS GOING TO HAVE IT PULLED ANYWAY

Manager Denman informs The Daily Press that his team will be greatly strengthened for Saturday and that every legitimate effort will be made to win. He realizes that it is now impossible for Westfield to do more than tie the series, and he is determined to do this.

"The Peace Arbiter" also says that "Red" Waller was fined $10 for not punching Umpire Merity. He willingly paid the fine, and in doing so told his chief that he doesn't mind the loss of the tooth, as he was going to have it pulled anyway, but he would rather have it pulled than knocked out by Merity. "Red" feels a little sore physically as well as mentally, but assures Manager Denman that he will be right there with the goods on Saturday. Captain Mallen has also given assurances that the best players obtainable will be secured for the contest and that there will be something doing.

PISCATAWAY POLITICS.

Three Leading Republicans Are Out for the County Commission Job.

There will be a public meeting in the Lincoln school house, Piscataway township, on Friday evening, for the purpose of demanding recognition on the new Board of County Commissioners that will succeed the Board of Freeholders this fall. Piscataway township thinks it ought to have one of the commissionerships. G. S. Bunting, of that township, is an aspirant for the Republican nomination and Alexander Manning, now a freeholder, has been spoken of as an available candidate. It is thought, however, that Piscataway's ambition in this respect is apt to be hardly contested by possibilities from Perth Amboy, Metuchen, Woodbridge and Raritan township, on that side of the Raritan River.

Piscataway is fairly alive with candidates for commissioner, and the politicians are busy. Besides Assessor Bunting, the candidates are ex-Freeholder Henry G. Garretson and John C. Morris.

ASBURY'S CARNIVAL.

Greatest Week at the Resort Now in Full Swing.

Asbury Park, Aug. 30.—The carnival attractions for today are the firemen's parade in the afternoon and the masque fete in the evening. The parade will form at 2 o'clock in Railroad square and the line of march will take in the chief residential streets of the city.

Tonight and Thursday night musical programmes will be rendered in the Ocean Grove auditorium and will end the concert season. Tonight there will be moving pictures and a concert of miscellaneous numbers. Miss Jeanette Fernandez, who sang at the concert July 19, will be one of the soloists. Thursday night the children's festival chorus, the adult chorus and the orchestra will combine in presenting a fine programme. The auditorium will remain open two more Sundays.

Thomas B. Dover Dead.

Thomas B. Dover, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dover, of West Fourth street, died last night after a lingering illness from lung trouble. Funeral services will be held from his late home tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, and at Mt. Olive Baptist church at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery.

Funeral of Louis Pleydell.

The funeral services of Louis Clevde Pleydell, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Pleydell, were held from the home of the parents in Grandview avenue yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, conducted the services. Interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Miss Nettie Holmes, of West Third street, an employe at Debele & Stahl's confectionery store on Somerset street, is confined to her home with an attack of influenza.

THE ITNESS OF THE IS.

(A Denmanesque Contribution.)

I would rather be a Could Be,
If I cannot be an Are;
For a Could Be is a May Be,
With a chance of reaching Par.

I would rather be a Has Been
Than a Mighty Have Been by far,
For a Might Be is a Hasn't Been
But a Has was once an Are!

Also an Are is Is and An!
A Was was all of these!
So I would rather be a Has Been
Than a Hasn't just now, if you please.

WANY PLAINFIELDERS IN ELIZABETH TOURNEY

F. W. GODDARD, THE ONLY LOCAL MAN IN PRELIMINARY.

Play in the championship East Jersey tennis tournament was started yesterday in singles on the courts of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club. Many defaults sifted the number of contestants to a comparatively lesser number, and the matches that were played were fast and quickly decided.

F. W. Goddard was the only Plainfielder to contest in the preliminary round of singles. After playing only part of one set, but still leading, 5—4, he defaulted the match to E. H. Frank, Jr., of the Bergen Point Club.

The first round in singles starts today, and the Plainfielders entered are Wylie Brown, of Plainfield C. C., against G. H. Miller, Roselle, L. T. C.; H. J. Cochran, Plainfield C. C., against Hugh Tallant, West Side T. C.; H. D. Buckley, of Plainfield C. C., and partner (unknown); S. O. Miller, Elizabeth Town and Country Club, and T. O. Gavett, Plainfield Bronx Club.

Plainfielders entered in the doubles matches are George W. Case, Cranford, and H. S. Cochran, Plainfield; Howard Carter and F. W. Goddard, P. C. C.; O. H. Fleming and T. M. Day, Jr., P. C. C.; Chester H. Briggs and Monroe H. Long, Plainfield Bronx Club.

Those from this city in the mixed doubles are Miss S. Schuyler and T. M. Day, Jr., of the Country Club. The Plainfielders entered are considered the best in the city and judging from their previous play should make any of their opponents work hard to win.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Choir practice will be resumed at Trinty church on Friday night.

Rev. J. W. Musson will have charge of the prayer meeting at Faith chapel, tomorrow night.

The choir of the Church of the Holy Cross will hold a special rehearsal at the church tonight.

The First M. E. church choir will take up rehearsals again Friday night, after the summer suspension.

A Danish meeting will be held tonight in the Swedish church, at New and Sixth streets, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Rev. George B. Snaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, is home from the conference held at Shiloh and he will occupy his pulpit on Sabbath morning.

Miss Harriett Halloway, of the Crescent Avenue church, will address the Christian Endeavor meeting at Hope chapel tonight. She will give a report of the Silver Bay missionary conference.

"Sign of the Cross" Pleases.

The "Sign of the Cross" company, that played at the New Plainfield theatre last night, was one of the best that has yet appeared in this city. The production was superbly mounted and the costumes were magnificent. The work of the actors and actresses showed them to be thorough artists and their efforts were greatly appreciated by the large audience.

Old Pals to Meet.

Edward Cranston, of Grandview avenue, will pay a visit to his old friend, Arthur Pryor, leader of Pryor's band, at Asbury Park, tomorrow. Cranston and Pryor were old companions in the West about fifteen years ago, but they have seen nothing of each other since that time.

Machinist's Hands Lacerated.

Thomas Boyle, aged seventeen years, of Manson place, employed at the Pond Machine Tool Works, received a lacerated wound of the finger while at work yesterday. He went to the hospital, had the finger dressed and went home.

—All bills against the city must be in the hands of City Clerk MacMurray by tomorrow night to insure payment at the September meeting of the Common Council.

ANNUAL SMITH PICNIC ON AT PEAPACK TODAY

HOSTS GATHER EARLY DESPITE THE THREATENING WEATHER.

Bernardsville, Aug. 30.—The thirtieth annual celebration of the time-honored Smith family reunion of New Jersey is being held today on the famous Smith picnic grounds near Peapack. With each recurring year this vast assemblage of Smiths and thousands that are not Smiths furnishes an occasion than which none throughout the State is more fruitful of out-door enjoyment and general merrymaking.

The interest taken in this unique custom peculiar to the Smith family is widespread, and, as a natural consequence, strenuous efforts are put forth to make each succeeding celebration more attractive than any of its predecessors.

The present event had been heralded by the announcement that Rev. Thomas M. Simanton, pastor of the Reformed church, Gladstone, would be the orator of the day and that other prominent speakers would deliver addresses.

The Raritan Crescent Band is furnishing the music and diversions of various kinds have been provided for the amusement of the crowd.

The extensive grounds have been appropriately decorated and care taken to leave nothing undone to guarantee the success of this festal occurrence that gives prominence to the marvelous fertility of the Smith strain.

Townley Post Office Looted.

Elizabeth, Aug. 30.—Thieves some time between midnight Monday and yesterday morning broke into the post office at Townley Station, on the line of the Lehigh Valley, in Morris avenue, Union township, two miles from Elizabeth, forced open the safe and got $6 in money and a quantity of postage stamps. The robbers failed to get most of the stamps in the place, and also quite a sum of money which was hidden away in a secret receptacle in the safe. There is no clue to the burglars.

Vacation Days Over.

Vacations among the firemen of the North Plainfield department are now all completed. Ambrose Campbell returned yesterday from a week spent at Flemington and Easton.

Mrs. Hezekiah Hand, of East Sixth street, is confined to the house by illness.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The Misses Katie Kelly and May Hogan, of West Third street, have accepted positions at the Crescent Embossing Works.

—For those who are canning, Neuman Brothers have a splendid lot of Bartlett pears and Niagara plums. The latter are selling at 40 cents a basket.

—Many cases of constant headache and neuralgia are caused from eye strain. If you have headache, look to your eyes. Consult Stiles & Co., eye specialists, at 105 East Front street, tomorrow. Free consultation.

VACATION DAYS.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson, of East Second street, are spending a few days at a Massachusetts resort.

Clambake to Celebrate Birth.

Marksboro, Aug. 30.—The people of this place, it is said, will hold a big clambake to celebrate the advent of a new baby in the town, the first that has made its appearance in five years. The citizens have gone nearly crazy over the birth and the little one is likely to be suffocated with presents of all kinds. It is even said that the local preacher has given thanks for the "succor that has come to the village." Mrs. Garrison, the mother of the baby, is overwhelmed with congratulations. She has not yet decided what to name the little girl.

Killed in Peculiar Manner.

Freehold, Aug. 30.—Charles F. Applegate, nineteen years old, a rural free delivery carrier, was killed near here yesterday in a peculiar manner. His horse ran away, its bridle having fallen from its head. Applegate climbed out on the shaft and was making an effort to reach the bridle when the horse stumbled and fell. The boy lay beneath the horse, with a shaft of the wagon pressed into his neck. When the horse was brought to his feet it was found that Applegate's body was lifeless, he having been choked to death.

Just a Statement.

It is authoritatively stated that the Republican faction of the anti-annexation forces in the borough, say that if S. S. Swackhamer will accept the nomination for mayor they will make no effort to defeat him, in fact they will do all they can for his success.

The ruined gamblers who kill themselves at Monte Carlo are buried together in a cemetery within half a mile of the Casino.

Miss May Duckworth, who removed to Providence, R. I., a year ago, has resumed her residence here.

Counsellor Francis J. Blatz has returned from a stay at Lake Hopatcong. An important business engagement broke the lawyer's vacation short. He may return to the resort later in the week.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., will hold a peace festival at its meeting next week.

It is expected that there will be initiation at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr O. U. A. M., tomorrow night.

Welcomed at New Home.

The beautiful new home of State Supervisor of Roads Robert A. Meeker, on Belvidere avenue, corner of East Seventh street, Netherwood, was the scene of a pleasant gathering last night, when Mr. and Mrs. Meeker entertained a few friends and received congratulations upon their new possession and wishing them long and happy lives. Mr. and Mrs. Meeker were residents of West Front street for many years, but recently purchased this handsome residence in the Netherwood section, where they are delightfully located. So pleasant and congenial was the gathering that the evening passed all too quickly. During the evening flinch, whist and other games proved a happy diversion. Before the guests departed refreshments were served.

MAYOR SMALLEY A CANDIDATE FOR RE-NOMINATION

NOT AT MEETING

Charles W. McCutchen and Other Prominent Men Turned Down Nomination—Arnold Refuses to Be Mayor.

Mayor Smalley will again be a candidate for the mayoralty of North Plainfield. Following a conference of borough organization Republicans last night, the announcement of his willingness to make the run was made. Mr. Smalley confirmed it this morning.

The change of front regarding his candidacy for office was brought about by a number of his fellow Republicans who had canvassed the situation thoroughly, and who decided, at the conference referred to, that he was the only available candidate of sufficient weight to size up to the office. While they were at it the conferrees decided that they might as well discuss the subject of candidates for councilmen and finally centered upon two who seemed excellent. They are Clifford W. McGee, of the First election district, and Edward P. T. Smith, of the Second district.

The conference was held in the office of former Senator Charles A. Reed, in the Smalley building. Between thirty and forty Republicans were present. Mayor Smalley knew of the meeting and that the mayoralty situation was to be discussed. He did not attend it, but dropped in after the matters in hand had been thoroughly threshed out.

All the conferrees agreed that Smalley was the one and only candidate in sight, and that the situation demanded his nomination. He has not been the first choice of the borough Republicans in the accepted sense, nor has there been the slightest tendency to the Smalley-before-anybody-else idea. Several prominent boroughites, eminent citizens and excellent mayoralty timber, have been approached and urged to take the nomination by the leaders of the party councils, but declination after declination was returned to the tenders. Charles W. McCutchen was approached, but he pleaded lack of time. Robert Clark, Jr., as has already been made public, declined on the score of business interests. Peter Emmons and former Councilman Charles L. Nichols were given the opportunity to become the candidate, but both found it impossible to accept the honor. James K. Arnold, whose name has been mentioned as the popular choice for the office, absolutely refused to consider the nomination. He said he would not accept it if it was thrust upon him.

With such a dearth of candidates facing them, the Republicans felt that only one man could be looked to, particularly as it was his own methods of administering the office that made it so hard to find candidates. All the men who were tendered the nomination declined on the ground that they had not time to attend to the duties of the office. Mayor Smalley's energy in office has resulted in a standard of executive work that seems forbidding to men whose business interests demand their attention out of town during the day. Mayor Smalley is so situated that he has time, as well as the inclination, to devote day, as well as night, to the duties of the office.

When Mr. Smalley dropped into the conference all this was pointed out to him, and he was made to understand that they were unanimous in the belief that he owed it to the community and the party to put aside his personal preferences and stand for office again.

Mr. Smalley was reluctant to accept. He said he had no desire to hold office or to run for it again, and he had so announced. If there was any way out of it, he would be glad to find that way. But if they felt that nobody else would serve, he would not hold himself in the way of party success or the desires of his friends.

The meeting broke up in an atmosphere of cheerfulness. It was felt that as strong a candidates as can be secured for regular Republicanism was presented to the party, and that the general outlook for a successful campaign was very bright.

The necessary forms for filing with the borough clerk were on hand, and steps were taken at once to have the required ten signatures placed upon them. While it is not known positively that Mr. McGee and Mr. Smith will accept, there is hardly any doubt in that direction.

BAD NEGRO GETS LONG TERM IN COUNTY JAIL

NO ROOM FOR YOUR KIND IN THIS CITY, SAYS JUDGE RUNYON.

Officer Overbaugh, standing at Second street and Park avenue yesterday afternoon, saw Halstead McElveen, colored, lurching down Second street. The man's face was working and his lips were moving as though he was talking to himself. Overbaugh crossed the street and halted him at the Iroquois.

"What's the matter?" asked the cop.

McElveen jerked his arm loose.

"I'll kill that ———," he said. "So help me God, I'll cut his life out!"

He looked as if he meant what he said. Overbaugh decided that it would be a good thing for whoever the man was talking about to put him behind bars, and placed McElveen under arrest.

At Front street and Park avenue the negro slipped his arm behind him toward a passing colored man. Overbaugh detected the movement and jerked McElveen sharply. A razor dropped from his sleeve to the sidewalk.

"I guess I didn't make any mistake in picking you up," said Overbaugh, as he pocketed the weapon.

When Judge Runyon heard the officer's story he looked sternly at the prisoner.

"You are the brand of colored man we don't want in this city," he said. "There is plenty of room and work for decent colored men, but there is no room for your kind. Fifty dollars and fifty days."

McElveen was arrested early in the year for annoying a white woman and ended a long term in the county jail only a few days ago. The police believe he is morally depraved, and an effort will be made to have him put away for good.

PHYSICAL TRAINING FOR COPS WILL GO ON

The local police force will be required to resume regular gymnasium exercises early in the fall. The experimental class of bluecoats drilled at the Y. M. C. A. last spring was found to be so successful in keeping the men in fit physical condition that the classes have been made a permanent feature of the department. The Y. M. C. A. will continue to be the place for the new development of cop muscles, and the new physical director, Charles Boardman, will be in charge of the class.

There is talk of arranging a separate and special contest in gymnastics for the cops. Suitable prizes will be awarded, if the plans go through, and the winner of the departmental championship will receive a silver medal.

Among the other features of the class will be a regular basketball team. There is material enough in the department to turn out a fast combination, and there are some old scores to wipe out against the Business Men and the school teams to keep the cops busy all through the season.

Bare Feet and Hot Ashes.

Thinking to put them away where they would do no harm to anyone, a Fritts place resident yesterday put a pan of hot ashes on top of a woodpile. A few moments later Charles Hewitt, a small boy, barefooted, wanted to make a short cut, and climbed the woodpile to get into another yard from his own. His unprotected feet plumped into the pan of hot ashes and today the junior Hewitt is propped up in a chair and has his meals brought to him. Last week the same boy fell in Stony Brook and would have drowned but for the arrival of his father just in time to pull him out.

Think It Over.

You cannot enjoy yourself in any better way than by going with the Grocers' Association on the eighteenth annual excursion to Coney Island on Labor Day. This will probably be the last opportunity this season for a day's outing, and it will cost but a trifle to spend the day at this popular resort.

Orchestra to Resume.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra will resume rehearsals on September 11. Martin A. Korff will continue to lead the organization.

George Cose, of Grant avenue, left this afternoon to spend several days at Asbury Park.

'REGULARS' SPRUCING UP

OTHERS PLANNED

First Warders Addressed Last Night by Mayor Buckle and J. T. MacMurray—No Mention of Independents.

The "regular" Republicans of the First Ward, feeling that the time has arrived when something should be done toward making up a ticket, held a conference last night in the law offices of William Newcorn on West Front street. There was a very large turnout, headed by Mayor James F. Buckle and City Clerk James T. MacMurray, with all the "faithful ones." There was an unusually large attendance of colored voters, one room being filled by them, while their white friends were sufficient in numbers to fill two rooms. Dr. Olin L. Jenkins called the meeting to order and was afterward made chairman, and his brother-in-law, George Hallock, was made secretary.

The time was devoted to discussing the political situation in the First ward, particularly, and the city in general. It was unanimously decided to renominate William L. Gloak for ward councilman, and he was promised the united support of every one. His excellent record during his two terms in office was referred to and it was the opinion of all that no stronger candidate could be picked in the ward, especially as his friends feel sure that he will be able to pull the machinist vote in that ward.

Speeches were made by Mr. MacMurray, Mayor Buckle, Horace G. Adams and several others, urging harmony and loyal support of the straight Republican ticket, but there was no public reference made to the work of the Independents or their ticket. This was considered significant, and would indicate that the "regulars" do not consider their opponents of sufficient strength to warrant much attention in public.

Those nominated for members of the city committee were Henry Hansen, William Dougles, Sandford Robinson, Samuel P. T. Wilbur, Alvah Carey and Herbert Templin. Those selected for the county committee were as follows: Percy McVoy, Amos Andrews, Caspar Stadele, George Ballantyne, Uzal B. Crane and E. B. Maynard.

Amos Andrews and Mayor James F. Buckle were nominated for members of the county executive committee, and Mayor James F. Buckle, Dr. O. L. Jenkins and Horace G. Adams were nominated for members of the city committee.

The Second ward "regulars" have been very busy during the past week, although they have been exceptionally quiet. There is no indication that they will have an independent ticket to fight against, and, in fact, they much prefer entire harmony in the ranks. Informal meetings were held on Saturday night and again on Tuesday night, when the situation was discussed. It was the wish of those present that former Councilman George P. Mellick, of East Seventh street, be the ward nominee this fall, and it is known that he is almost sure to accept the nomination, if it is the wish of the Republicans of his ward.

Mr. Mellick made a good record while in the Common Council, and he is so prominently identified with the interests of the city that his friends predict a good big majority for him should he decide to stand for the nomination.

Those nominated as delegates for the city convention are Dr. T. S. Davis, F. E. Hammann, W. W. Coriell, John E. Keely, Charles B. Morse and Robert A. Meeker. The delegates nominated for the county convention are as follows: Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, Charles H. Hand, Edward Willis, William N. Runyon, F. L. Montgomery and Ralph Miner.

For members of the city executive committee William Townsend, J Hervey Doane and John E. Keely were nominated, and for members of the county committee William Townsend and J. Hervey Doane were selected.

There is no doubt but that Leslie M. Daniel, now president of the Common Council, will receive a renomination as ward councilman from the Third, while Joseph M. Shellabarger is prominently mentioned as the nominee at large.

Thus far no disaffection has been shown in the Fourth ward. By reason of his removal from that ward to the First ward, Councilman Clarence L. Murphy cannot expect any further honors from the West End, in fact, he declares that he is out of politics and will accept no office at the expiration of his term this year.

His vacancy in the Fourth ward, as a member at large, will probably be filled by Herbert W. Buxton, of

HERE'S FRENZIED FINANCE

Awful Plunging in a Crap Game Stopped by Cop Higgins.

CENT A THROW

William Branch, twenty years old; Clarence Thornton, sixteen years old; Richard Scudder, twenty-six years old, and married, all colored; and Fritz Nessler, sixteen years old, but who looks twelve, white, were arraigned by Officer Higgins in the city court this morning, for shooting craps on West Third street, near Liberty street, yesterday afternoon.

"These big fellows get these boys to shoot with them pretty nearly every afternoon, just to get their pennies," said the officer. "I've been watching for them and caught them at it yesterday."

Judge Runyon looked over the quartette.

"What about that?" he asked, and his eyes rested on Fritz.

"Well, it was this way," said Fritz with winning candor. "Clarence and me were playin' marbles, and Clarence said 'let's go over there and shoot a cent, and we opened the game. I had four cents and Clarence had six. After we were at it a while Scudder here comes in for a cent. That's all he has, and we takes it away from him.

"'Throw in a feller,' he says, an' we threw him in for a cent. Then Branch comes along and tries to horse the game with ten cents."

At this point Fritz's narrative was interrupted by the laughter of everybody in the court room. Judge Runyon made a heroic attempt to preserve the dignity of the court, but was forced to give way as Officer Higgins' grins exploded into a guffaw that rattled the furniture. When quiet was partly restored, the magistrate asked Fritz for the rest of the story.

"Did he horse the game?" he queried.

"Naw," said Fritz with a grin. "Clarence cleaned him out," and the dignity of the court collapsed again.

"How did you make out?" asked the judge.

"I had a cent left when the cop broke up the game," said Fritz sadly. "I had a rich hand in the beginning and cleaned up two cents, but Clarence made the killing."

The court made a rapid count and figured Clarence's winnings at fourteen cents.

"Fellows," he said, "I'm going to be easy on you, and you can thank your friend Fritz for it. He broke up the dignity of the court, and it is rather hard to get it back. But I want you to cut gambling for high stakes out; it is injurious to morals. You may go.

"Fritz," he added as the quartette started for the door," you're a great pleader."

"Thanks, Judge," said Fritz with a grin, and followed his fellow gamesters out.

FOR A NEW SCHOOL.

Jacob Kriney Has Secured 500 Names to a Petition.

Jacob Kriney, of West Front street, who has had much success in getting up petitions and securing the extension of the trolley, the water mains and various other improvements, has just completed another petition containing 500 names, which will be presented to the Common Council at the September meeting. The petition will ask the Common Council to erect a new school house on or near West Front street and Clinton avenue, to accommodate the children in that rapidly growing section of the city.

The population of the Fourth Ward is now 7,000, or two-fifths of that of the city population, and yet it has only one public school, the Irving, which is located on West Fourth street and Monroe avenue. It is contended that the distance is too far for the children living on the west side of the railroad, and that the number of children living on that side demands a school closer by.

Home After Reunion.

J. B. Hurlburt, of Lincoln place, returned yesterday from Utica, N. Y., where he attended the reunion of his regiment, the 117th N. Y. Vols. He also visited relatives at Rome and in Lewis county. In the latter place he visited his sister, who is eighty-eight years old and very active for one of her years. Mr. Hurlburt was accompanied by John A. Colburn, of Rahway road.

Will Camp at Murray Hill.

Companies I and M, of the First regiment, of Newark, will go into camp at Murray Hill Saturday for two weeks. The men will march through Scotch Plains on their way to the camp ground.

MISS MABEL LEEK A BRIDE

MANY GUESTS PRESENT

Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck—Floral Decorations Pretty.

Miss Mabel Crane Leek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Leek, of East Fifth street, and William Gaston Tunison, of Somerville, were married at the bride's home at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of guests from Morristown, Somerville, Newark, Hamden, Princeton, Brooklyn, New York, Washington and this city. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which the bride is a member, was the officiating clergyman.

The house was profusely decorated with greens and pink and white flowers. In the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, there was a large bower of greens and flowers, beneath which the bridal party stood. The dining room was also attractively decorated, the table being garnished with roses. In the hallway and along the balustrade there was a pleasing arrangement of greens and flowers.

The bride's attendants were Miss Edythe Laura Leek, a sister, as maid of honor; Miss May Marsh Toms, of Morristown, and Miss Elizabeth Tunison, of Somerville, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. The best man was Philip W. Tunison, of Somerville, brother of the groom, and the ushers were George W. Pope, of this city, and Charles S. Carrell, of Morristown, cousin of the groom.

The bride was gowned in Brussels net with a veil and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor's gown was white silk mulle, while the bridesmaids wore gowns of pink silk mulle and carried bouquets of carnation pinks.

While the wedding march was being played by Miss Cornelia Sampson, an intimate friend of the bride, the bridal party descended the staircase and entered the parlor. The ushers led the way, followed by the bridesmaids, maid of honor and the bride escorted by the groom. The party took its position beneath a bower of greens and flowers, where the officiating clergyman stood waiting to receive them. During the ceremony Miss Sampson played the selection "O Promise Me" on the piano.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Tunison received the congratulations of the guests, after which a supper was served. Early in the evening the couple left to enjoy a honeymoon. They will be away about a week. The bride's going away gown was navy blue with hat to match. Upon their return they will reside for the present at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is very popular in a large circle of acquaintances as well as in Trinty Reformed church, where she is a teacher in the Sunday School and a member of the Christian Endeavor Society. She was a former resident of Somerville, and it was there that she and Mr. Tunison became acquainted. The groom is engaged in business as a custom tailor, being associated with M. Weinberger, of West Front street. He has a host of friends both here and in Somerville, and all wish him and his bride many years of happiness.

In the exchange of gifts among those of the bridal party, the bride received a brooch set with pearls from the groom, while the maid of honor received a gold locket and the bridesmaids gold beads from the bride. The groom's gift to his best man and ushers were gold stick pins.

The bride also received many gifts of use and great value, including furniture, silverware, cut glass, bric-a-brac. The gift from the groom's mother was a handsome quartered-oak bed room suit.

When the couple left the house they were showered with confetti, and many of the guests, thinking they were going to take a train from the Netherwood station, hastened there to give them a good send-off. On the contrary, Mr. and Mrs. Tunison took the 6:29 train from the North Avenue station to Newark, from which place they left for Atlantic City.

Back to Their Desks.

Secretary Harry Manning and Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie, of the Y. M. C. A., will be back at their desks tomorrow after their annual vacations. Mr. Manning has been spending his outing in South Cairo, N. Y., and Mr. Robbie has been staying in the Berkshires. Mr. Manning arrived in town last night. Mr. Robbie is expected back some time today. In their absence Physical Director Henckel has been in charge of the association offices.

WORK PROGRESSING ON BOROUGH IMPROVEMENT

Contractor Mobus is making steady progress with the improvements in the West End of the borough, and it is expected that within a short time the avenue from the Green brook bridge to the property of W. J. Buttfield will be laid out the full width of one hundred feet. Then will follow the work of grading the boulevard and sidewalks preparatory to macadamizing the former. The hill near Mr. Buttfield's residence has been cut down two feet and the dirt has been used to fill in at other points along the road.

The Board of Freeholders will meet Tuesday afternoon, September 5, at the Hotel Iroquois to receive bids for the construction of the new bridge over Green brook, and when the contracts are awarded West End avenue at that point will be shut off for travel until November 15, the time fixed when the structure must be completed.

As soon as the work on the avenue progresses a little farther, the large force of workmen will commence to clear out the meadowland preparatory to making a lake there. It will require some time to clean the property of trees and underbrush prior to the actual work of making the lake and straightening the course of the brook. As the land is filled with innumerable springs it will not be a difficult matter to put a small body of water there. It will be egg shaped, 1,500 feet long and 300 feet wide at the widest point. Mayor N. B. Smalley is personally supervising the work and every detail is carefully being looked after by him.

EARLY MORNING FIRE CAUSES $250 DAMAGE

Mrs. Margaret Bader, of Orchard place, was awakened shortly after 4 o'clock this morning, the house being filled with smoke. A hurried investigation showed that a fire was in the basement, used as a kitchen. Her calls aroused Thomas Lynch, who lives next door, and he sent in an alarm from Box 46. After the firemen had worked for an hour the fire was extinguished. The damage will not exceed $250.

Opinion as to the fire is divided between spontaneous combustion and mice and matches. It started in a basket of damp clothes which stood beneath a mantelpiece, upon which was a box of matches. It is thought that possibly mice might have started the fire, while the other theory is just as probable.

ROMANCE OF CHURCH

Two former Plainfielders, Rev. Dr. A. E. Main and his son, George A. Main, figured in a triple wedding at Shiloh yesterday afternoon in which three sisters became brides one after the other. They are the daughters of John T. Dixon, of that place, a well known member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The ceremony came directly after the annual conference convention of that denomination and was witnessed by many of the delegates, among them several Plainfielders and members of Dr. Main's former congregation here.

With Nature alone as the background, and rose-laden bushes and greens in lieu of chancel and altar, the ceremony was performed on the lawn of the brides' father.

First, Miss Anna Dixon was led forth by John H. Austin. They were married by Dr. Main, who is dean of the Theological Seminary at Alfred University. Mr. Main was in turn married to Miss Mattie Dixon, the eldest sister, by the Rev. Booth C. Davis, of Alfred University. Then, as a fitting climax to the unusual ceremony, Mr. Main's son, George A. Main, was married to Miss Mabel Dixon, a third sister.

It had been known for some time that Miss Anna Dixon had been betrothed to John Austin while she was visiting at Westerly, R. I. Invitations had been sent out, announcing the marriage for yesterday but not the slightest intimation was given that Cupid had pierced two other hearts in the Dixon home.

When the delegates for the convention arrived it was noticed that Dr. Main, his son and Mr. Austin went straightway to the Dixon home; but as Mr. Dixon and his daughters have always been active in church work, nothing was even surmised. Great was the surprise then when Dr. Main announced his engagement to Miss Mattie Dixon.

All Shiloh had known that Miss Mattie Dixon had attended Alfred University to pursue a special course in theology, but no one knew that she had taken a degree in love at the same time, and that her venerable gray-haired instructor, the dean, had won her heart.

"I'm going to be married, too, and my wife will be your daughter, as well as your daughter-in-law—"

"Explain."

"Well, I've won the hand of Mabel Dixon."

"Let's all be married at once," suggested Miss Anna. "I'll turn my wedding into a triple one and save the folks at home all this bother and fuss of triple preparation."

"Agreed," chimed the chorus of three eager bridegrooms.

Preparations were speeded, and the ceremony was performed without the slightest delay. Mr. and Mrs. Austin will live in Westerly, Mr. and Mrs. George Main in Chicago, and Dean Main and his bride at Alfred, N. Y.

SUES FOR DIVORCE.

William C. Chamberlain Seeks Separation from His Wife.

A petition has been filed in the Court of Chancery by William C. Chamberlain, of this city, for absolute divorce from his wife, Mary D. Chamberlain. He alleges statutory grounds.

In the petition filed Chamberlain charges that he was married on July 3, 1883, to his present wife, whose name was Mary D. Martin, at Bound Brook, that both he and his wife lived together until February 9, 1905, that they lived in Raritan for fourteen years and then removed to Plainfield.

Chamberlain also sets forth that they have one child, a married daughter. Chamberlain is a contracting painter.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The members of the Dunellen Republican Club held an informal meeting in the Garretson & Gray store, Wednesday night, and talked over the party's prospects for the coming election. Although the entire plan for the ticket, as decided upon, has not as yet been made public, it is generally understood that Wilson Fredericks will be the choice for mayor. The Democrats have, up to this time, done nothing but talk and have shown very little activity. It is likely, however, that Mayor Wykoff will stand for election on the Democratic ticket, and is prepared to fight the Republicans and their choice. Of the present Council, those who intend to run again for the office are Albert Randolph and Newton Apgar. The other new party candidates for the Council are George Canuter and Charles Pennock. Since the change in Middlesex county from the Freeholders to Commissioners has been made, a vacancy has arisen, which must be filled by a resident of the county. The Republicans of the borough and throughout Piscataway township seem to favor Henry Garretson. Until the Democrats hold some kind of an organization meeting, it is hard to see how much of a fight there will be here this November. From present indications, the Republicans seem to have a ticket which may well hold its own. At the meeting Tuesday, William Sanford and Charles Coriell were appointed to attend the Republican county convention, next month, as representatives of the borough.

The Wykoff barn had a narrow escape from burning to the ground, yesterday afternoon. Some boys in the neighborhood were making a fire in the vicinity of the place, and the flames crawled along the ground unnoticed, until they reached the barn. The spreading flames were detected by workmen in the field, who put them out before further damage could be done.

AMUSEMENTS

The attraction at the New Plainfield theatre on next Saturday night will be that ever popular success, "Finnigan's Ball." The production this season is promised full of color movement and melody. The company is headed by a clever duo of comedians, Messrs. Edward F. Niner and H. B. Riggs, who play "Finnigan" and Casey, the principal parts. Almost every member of the company is a performer of more or less prominence. A bunch of pretty girls with good voices is also a strong feature. The musical numbers are culled from the recent New York successes and the costuming and scenic requirements are more than adequate. No expense has been spared to make this production the equal of if not to surpass the previous productions this famous farce comedy has enjoyed. It has been staged under the personal direction of Charles A. Murray of Murray & Mack, who starred in it for a number of seasons.

A horse belonging to John Ottis, of Glen Gardner, ran away Tuesday, just below Lincoln, and continued in its flight until it reached Taylor's hotel, where it was stopped by a bystander. The wagon and harness were badly damaged.

Miss Anna Ayres has returned from a month's stay at Mt. Pocono.

The game here Saturday between the local team and Cuban Giants, of Westfield, should be a good game, as the colored team defeated the locals several weeks ago in a twelve inning battle.

It is reported that there is a vacancy in the corps of teachers at the public school, Miss Osgood, who has been a member for several years, having tendered her resignation.

Miss Anna Earl, of Elizabeth, spent Wednesday with Miss Susie Parse. Miss Earl is a former teacher in the public school.

One more band concert. Tomorrow night the lovers of music will be able to enjoy their weekly treat again at Plainfield.

The Misses Billings, of Brooklyn, who have been spending the summer with Mrs. L. W. Miller, have returned to their home.

There will be initiation at Twilight Council's, Jr. O. U. A. M., meeting tonight. A full attendance is desired.

Miss Edith Marsh has returned from a two weeks' stay at Block Island.

Northern New Jersey's Output Will Exceed Former Years.

The peach-growing district in northern New Jersey and southern New York State has begun to market its product, and it is already evident that the total output will be far the largest in three years. Last year's crop was "winter killed," and the crop the year before was not a success. Practically all the peaches sent from this district to the metropolitan section are handled by the Wells-Fargo Express Company, which now estimates the total of the fall shipments at about 300,000 baskets.

The fact that the peach crop up Jersey and in New York State is unusually good this year is especially gratifying because of the failure of the crop in Maryland and Delaware. There has been more than the ordinary amount of hustling among commission men, but the indications are that the markets hereabouts will be amply supplied. Had it not been for the rains of the last three weeks, succeeding a period of hot and dry weather, the supply would not be up to the demand.

Pete Baker and His "Cherubs."

"Pete" Baker, long known as "the king of Dutch singing comedians," after three seasons in vaudeville, during which time he has completed a tour of the world as well as playing a great number of the cities in this country, has returned to the legitimate, and is making his reappearance in "The Legend of the Catskills," a comedy drama by Pierce Kingsley, under the direction of the Manchester & Kingsley Company. He will appear in it at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. "The Legend of the Catskills" is a play with a new idea along old lines. The picturesque legend of old "Rip Van Winkle" gives the title to the play, for it is around it that the plot is built, and the principal incident of the legend is preserved. He is not the drunken, shiftless vagabond portrayed in the original play, but a man of different type, a happy-go-lucky, whole-souled, tender-hearted Dutchman, a character modeled especially for and to fit the particular talents of the star. The well known vocal abilities possessed by Baker have not been forgotten, and there are a number of pretty, quaint, old-fashioned songs, also modeled especially for Baker. His principal support are two clever little tots, who take an interesting part in the play, and some of the songs which will be sung to the children by the comedian are pretty in the extreme, simply little lullabys and childhood songs with melodious airs, such as best fit the voice of Baker and helped to win him fame.

VETERANS TO GATHER AT RAHWAY NEXT MONTH

FOURTEENTH N.J. VOLS. TO BE GUESTS OF THOMAS POTTER.

The twenty-seventh annual reunion of the Fourteenth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry Association will be held in Rahway on Tuesday, September 19. The veterans and their wives will be entertained by Thomas Potter at his home, on Hazlewood avenue, overlooking the Rahway river. Mr. Potter has fifteen acres, most of which has been transformed into a park, with well-kept lawns, beautiful shade trees, winding paths, artistic flower plantations and a pretty little lake.

A more desirable place could not be found for a day's outing. Mr. Potter's large residence and the grounds will be at the disposal of the visitors. Refreshments will be served in a large tent on one of the lawns. Music will enliven the occasion. There are something over one hundred members of the association, who with their wives and some Rahway guests of Mr. Potter's will bring the total number at the reunion up to 250 or more. The programme for the day will include a short business meeting, at which officers for the ensuing year will be elected, and an address will be made by the Rev. Dr. T. C. Maybaum, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, of Rahway. Daniel G. Urmston, of Union street, Rahway, is now president of the association, and Colonel John C. Patterson, of Ocean Grove, is secretary.

The Fourteenth Regiment was recruited in Union, Monmouth and Middlesex counties. Company E came from Rahway and its first officers were Captain James L. Bodwell, First Lieutenant Isaac S. Tingley and Second Lieutenant James O. Bedell. The last commander of the company was Captain James H. Putnam, of Rahway, who is the only surviving commissioned officer of Company E. Mr. Urmston, the president of the association, was a sergeant at the close of the war.

The regiment was mustered into service on August 26, 1862, and left Freehold for the field on September 2. The regiment was in command of Colonel William S. Truex, who had been major of the Fifth and then Lieutenant-Colonel of the Tenth Regiment. The second in command was Lieutenant-Colonel Caldwell K. Hall. The regiment's activities were confined largely to guard and picket duty and bridge building up to June, 1863, after which it was given more important work, being ordered to the front. On July 9 the Fourteenth having been assigned to the Third army corps, it joined the main army, of which it was a part until the close of the war.

The regiment did not see much fighting, however, until the following November, when for the first time it became actively engaged at Locust Grove. The regiment fought with great steadiness for four hours, at one time gallantly charging and driving the rebels from their position, with the loss of several prisoners. The loss of the regiment was sixteen killed and fifty-eight wounded, its first losses in battle. Previous to this, however, nearly 100 had died of disease.

The next heavy fighting that the regiment experienced was in May, 1864, when General Grant advanced with his entire army against the enemy, which was concentrated in the Wilderness. General Morris having been wounded on May 9, Colonel Truex was placed in command of the First Brigade of the Third division. On June 1, at Cold Harbor, the Fourteenth lost in two hours 240 killed and wounded. The regiment saw some more severe fighting at the battle of Monocacy, where it also had serious losses. A month later found the regiment engaged in the Shenandoah, and in the fighting that ensued continued to display great gallantry, and suffered in the matter of killed, wounded and prisoners.

At no time during the war did the Fourteenth Regiment give better evidence of the splendid calibre of its officers and men than in the final contest before Petersburg, in 1865. The regiment assisted in the attack upon the rebel fortifications, sweeping everything before it. When Petersburg was evacuated the Fourteenth joined in the pursuit of the enemy and was on the scene at the surrender of Lieutenant-Colonel Ewell and his command, at Sailor's Creek.

The Fourteenth was formally mustered out of service at Washington on June 19. The regiment had been gone nearly three years, leaving New Jersey with 950 active men, and returning with 230, some of whom were new recruits. During its service the regiment traveled by rail 1,051 miles, by water 628 miles, and marched 2,015 miles.

C. H. SCHERMERHORN, VETERAN OF THE KEY

INTERESTING CAREER OF WELL-KNOWN PLAINFIELD TELEGRAPHER.

In New York City yesterday the convention of the Old Time Telegraphers, Magnetic and Historic Society assembled in convention to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary. This organization is composed of men who have been engaged in the telegraph business for a period of twenty years, or who have been closely identified with the progress and development of telegraphy since its inception. Many of these are today the officials of telegraph and telephone companies and steam and electric railroads, while others are acting in the capacity of managers of local telegraph offices or are still working at the key.

Among this aggregation of men to whom credit is due for the highly developed telegraphic facilities of today, New Jersey has a unique representative at the convention in Charles H. Schermerhorn, of this city, who is ranked as an "old timer of the old times," and to him this rank justly belongs, he having been an operator since 1848, when he started in as a messenger boy and assistant to Joseph Worl, who at that time was in charge of the telegraph office at New Hope, Pa. Mr. Schermerhorn was then a lad of seventeen. One year later he was placed in charge of the office and remained there until 1851, when he was transferred to Princeton.

In those days there were but few telegrams handled, and the offices at New Hope, Pa., and Princeton were used principally as testing stations, from which all wires running north and south were tested, and it was a part of the operator's work to do repair work on the line when necessity required it, after a sleet storm or a high wind.

Mr. Schermerhorn has often walked from New Hope to Philadelphia, carrying a pair of iron climbers, a small coil of wire and other equipment used in repairing broken wires. The Western Union Telegraph Company was practically unknown at that time. The Magnetic Telegraph Company did all business between New York, Philadelphia and the South. In 1853 Mr. Schermerhorn was transferred from the Princeton office to New York City, where he worked in several branch offices as operator, and was later made manager of the office located in Barnum's Museum.

He also worked for some time in the main office, which was then located on Hanover street. The operating force consisted of six operators and the manager at that time. Early in 1856 a cable was laid across the East River and a telegraph office was opened in Brooklyn, with Mr. Schermerhorn as manager. The office was only doing business about two months, when a schooner passing up the river picked up the cable, tore it loose and put the office out of business. Messages were then delivered by boys, who traveled to the City of Churches via the ferry.

Owing to the delay in delivering telegrams in this way the company abandoned its Brooklyn service temporarily. In 1857 an office was opened at Burlington, and Mr. Schermerhorn, then working in the office at New York, was transferred to the new office and made its manager, continuing as such until 1863, when he was transferred to Beverly, where the soldiers were in encampment during the war.

During this period business was very heavy at this office, hundreds of messages being sent by soldiers to their families and sweethearts. While in charge of this office Mr. Schermerhorn was ably assisted by his wife, who acted as receiving clerk, taking in all messages offered for transmission and collecting the money for them. The family of General Grant was living at Beverly at this time and his children attended the Episcopal Sunday school, where Mrs. Schermerhorn was their teacher. General Grant was a personal friend of Mr. Schermerhorn's, who often would sit up all night in the telegraph office handling telegrams for the general.

Mr. Schermerhorn was also personally acquainted with Generals Sherman and Sheridan, to whom he had been introduced by General Grant. The introduction is one, the old man says, he will never forget. When General Grant presented him to the other distinguished generals he said:

"Gentlemen, this man has kept me in close touch with the situation at the front. He has been a great help to me."

After the troops were taken from Beverly, Mr. Schermerhorn was returned to the office at Burlington. In 1870 a number of new offices were opened in the State, among them being the one here, and Mr. Schermerhorn was given his choice of the lot. At this time his wife was in ill health, the doctor having ordered her to a change of climate, where the air was not so damp as along the Jersey coast.

After a month's deliberation he chose Plainfield and has been here ever since. He is respected by every one that has the pleasure of his acquaintance. He is a man of pleasing personality whose kindly ways have won for him the friendship, admiration and respect of his fellow townsmen and business associates. Mr. Schermerhorn is now nearing his seventy-fifth birthday. Notwithstanding his advanced age he attends to business regularly every day and is on duty from 7 o'clock in the morning until the same hour in the evening. He has two assistants and seven messenger boys and handles the major portion of the telegraph business done in this city of 25,000 inhabitants, with the astuteness and agility of a man of thirty years.

He has never been confined to his bed by any illness more serious than a heavy cold, although he has always done the heaviest kind of telegraphic work. His grip on the key is as firm today as it was twenty years ago. To a Daily Press reporter he said that he would attend the old-timers' convention for three days this week, and that he never felt better in his life. When told that he was an open defiance to the theories advanced by Dr. Osler, he said:

"If Osler and his kind would devote some of their time to bettering the conditions of their fellowmen instead of suggesting they be killed at a certain age this would be a much better world. It is men in the doctor's condition of mind that make the struggle in this world a hard one."

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Have you put in your winter supply of coal yet? If not place your order with TenEyck & Harris.

Anything that you need in the hardware line can be reliably purchased of Worth & Marsh, Somerset street.

Good music for social affairs is hard to get. Secure A. F. Naylor, East Fifth street, and the difficulty is solved.

Better work on machine jobs than that turned out by the Valentine Gas Engine Co., Sycamore avenue, is not to be obtained in any shop.

W. W. Dunn is the grocer on Lincoln place, who serves his customers politely and with the best goods. You too should become a customer and get his prompt service.

Fall goods are coming in fast now in the gents' furnishing line and in order to get the new styles, you should see J. R. Blair, Park avenue, who always has the latest.

If you have never met Harry G. Adams, the hustling representative for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., you have no idea how cheap you can get a first-class policy.

The seafood sold by Fred Ivamy, of East Second street, is always fresh. There are no doubtful fish in the Ivamy store. Mr. Ivamy's deliveries never call for complaint.

Besides carrying one of the best and freshest lines of meats and fowl in the city, Smalley Brothers, North avenue, are ready to serve you with a fine line of cold cuts, ready to serve at once.

The Hotel Kensington, North avenue, is full of attractions for the comfort-loving man. The accommodations are of the best and the service and cuisine equal those in the highest grade hostelries.

There is one good way above all others to save your earnings and at the same time get liberal interest. That is by opening an account at the Dime Savings Institution. This is a safe and conservative banking institution.

Does your carpet or rug look shabby and as if it needed replacing? If it does you ought to get a new one, as nothing cheers a home in winter as much as a cheerful rug, and the best in this line can be found at Shirley & Johnson's, West Front street.

Start an account with the First National Bank without further delay. It will be handled in the safest and most skilful methods known to modern banking. The First National has a high and well deserved reputation in the banking and financial world.

For the best groceries and meats go to S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street. This firm handles only first-class groceries and the best cuts of fresh and salt meats. Hundreds of customers will tell you this from experience and besides the prices are so reasonable that everyone can afford to have the best.

It is always bargain day at the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's store on West Front street. Coffees, teas and spices of the finest grade may always be purchased here cheaper than in other stores of the same high standard. The service is unsurpassed, with prompt attendance and as prompt delivery.

Jimmie Montross will pitch the Labor Day morning game for the West Ends, of Somerville.

Weatherwax, of this city, who has been playing with the West Ends, of Somerville, has been released.

Honors are now even between Umpires Merity and Henning, and they, too, have extended the glad hand.

It will be a novel thing to see the pennant floating in this city, and will inspire the fans to greater things.

"Red" Waller has taken the pledge, agreeing to be good in the future. That $10 fine did the trick.

Only hand-clapping will be allowed at Westfield Saturday. Any boisterous rooting will be stopped at once.

A vote of thanks is due Umpires Merity and Henning. They are heroes in every sense and deserve a Carnegie medal.

Now that Japan and Russia have agreed on peace terms, the least Plainfield and Westfield can do is to follow the same example.

The results of Saturday's game, as well as the one on Labor Day afternoon, will tell the story, and both teams will do their utmost to win.

Now that Manager Denman and Captain Mallen have promised a greatly strengthened team for Saturday, hope is revived in the breast of the Westfield rooter.

"The Dove of Peace" assures all lovers of the game that there will be no disturbance on Saturday. Patrons will be given a check assuring them of a finished game.

There will be no morning game here on Labor Day, and a good big crowd of the record breaking sort should greet Plainfield and Westfield in the afternoon on Crescent Oval.

The tooth which "Red" Waller lost during the "late unpleasantness" has been given to Manager Denman, who will see that it occupies a prominent place among the club's relics.

Some one has said that "Red" Waller wagered his season's salary that he would defeat Plainfield in the series, and that the slight chances for doing this worked on his nerve.

At the commencement of the series Manager Daab said that he felt confident his team would take a majority of the games, and it looks that way now. No false prophet about Mr. Daab.

"Dave" Driscoll says that he is sorry for the occurrence at Westfield two weeks ago, and Waller says that he is doubly sorry for Saturday's outbreak. With such a spirit of forgiveness, why shouldn't the series be finished.

The Pirates will try hard to take a fall out of Summit Labor Day morning, to make up for some of the games lost to Plainfield. Linderman and Farmer will be the opposing battery. It is not known whether Waller will pitch in the morning or in the afternoon against Plainfield.

Plainfield, N. J., August 31, 1905.

The Dove of Peace must have flown straight from Portsmouth to Union county.

It is needless to state that the laundrymen's convention, now being held at Philadelphia, has placed itself on record as standing for clean politics.

Elizabeth is sending broadcast the fact that it has a millionaire chief of police in office temporarily. It's not the fault of some of the chiefs elsewhere that they can't measure up to him as they certainly have tried every possible method of getting there.

It would take all day to drive a railroad spike into a tie with an ordinary hammer—as a matter of fact it probably couldn't be done at all. With a sledgehammer the same spike could be driven to the head with half-a-dozen blows. There are advertisers who fail to make the most economical use of the force at their command because they choose the clawhammer to do the sledgehammer's work. The money they expend in light-weight mediums would do the work in a twinkling if applied to the purchase of space in a widely circulated newspaper. The first-class city newspaper is the sledgehammer of publicity.—Philadelphia Record.

The Elizabeth Daily Journal, which never lost an opportunity to bring out the opposition to Judge Runyon at the county seat discussed his retirement from the Senatorial field as follows, yesterday:

"The retirement of Judge Runyon will be received by the Republicans of the county with great interest. It comes as a clearer of the atmosphere, remover of incipient dissension [illegible] out immediately upon the [illegible] Runyon's name in announcement o[illegible]rship. It connection with the senat[illegible] makes it certain the 1905 Union county convention will be a harmonious gathering, disturbed by no other internal trouble [illegible] than the usual and health[illegible]ul contests between aspirants for office. It removes from the sphere of probability to that of almost certainty the candidacy and election of Ernest R. Ackerman as senator from Union county. Now that Runyon has withdrawn, the rivalry that sprung up between Elizabeth and Plainfield has disappeared. It no longer possesses a basis for existence. Elizabeth never opposed Plainfield for itself. It stood against Judge Runyon because Runyon made what was looked upon as the unpardonable error of going back on his party two years ago, when he helped defeat the Republican ticket and put in the Democrats. The county leaders in this city have always recognized the right of Plainfield to the senatorship this year. Ackerman, acceptable to Elizabeth, and receiving no opposition from his own city and the townships, will no doubt get the unanimous nomination of the convention. The development of affairs removes the candidacy of former County Chairman Hamilton Fish Kean from the field of possibilities. Mr. Kean stated that the nomination should go to the townships only in the event of Plainfield not being able to agree upon a man. He permitted his name to be hinted at in the sole light of a peace-maker. With Runyon out, a mediator is unnecessary. There is litle doubt but that with Runyon now in line for Ackerman, the latter will be the uncontested choice of Plainfield."

SISTER ADREA DEAD.

Had Taught in Local Parochial School Nine Years.

Sister Adrea, who was one of the original teachers at St. Mary's Parochial School when it was established, thirteen years ago, died last Saturday in the convent at Madison. She remained in Plainfield nine years and was greatly liked by the parishioners as well as the pupils at the school. She was taken sick about four months ago and went to the convent to recuperate.

The funeral was held at Madison Monday and was attended by Father Delehanty and several of the Sisters from St. Mary's.

CHANGE OF DIRECTORS

Mr. Henckel Will Sever Connection With Y. M. C. A. Tonight.

NEW POST TOMORROW

Successor Will Take Charge at Same Time—Classes in Gymnasium a Little Late Reorganizing.

Physical Director F. A. Henckel, of the Y. M. C. A., who has resigned to accept the position of assistant director at the Central Branch of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., will sever his connection with the local institution tonight. He will enter on his duties in Brooklyn tomorrow morning.

Mr. Henckel will not wholly disassociate himself from the work here. He is much interested in the Plainfield association, and has made many friends here. It is his intention to visit the local association occasionally and keep himself in touch with the work going on within it.

On their part, the members of the association regret the going of Mr. Henckel very much, and a number of them have planned to visit him in his new headquarters.

Closer relations between the physical departments of the two associations are expected as a result of Mr. Henckel's connection with the Brooklyn association. Basketball matches between the teams have been a feature each winter for several years, and these will probably be increased in number the coming winter, while matches in other departments of indoor athletics will probably be arranged.

Mr. Henckel's successor, Charles A. Boardman, is expected to arrive tomorrow morning to assume charge of the department. He will find one of the best organized and equipped physical departments of any Y. M. C. A. of equal size in the country. Good as it has been in past years, Mr. Henckel has strengthened and enlarged it during his administration, and Mr. Boardman will have all the external elements of a strong and successful work at his hand.

The various classes of the gymnasium will probably be resumed on October 1. Had there been no change in the physical directorship they would have started up for a new term sooner, but Mr. Boardman will require a few weeks in which to familiarize himself with the field, and a resumption of class activity can hardly be looked for before the expiration of his first month.

YE BACHELOR CLUBBER AND HIS LADY FRIEND

CAN LOVE AND HIGH IDEALS OF CELIBACY MIX? ASKS SHE.

Trouble for at least one member of the newly organized Bachelors' Club has come from the formation of the organization. The young man in question, who is well known about town, has been paying assiduous and accepted court to a very nice girl. The girl and all the young man's friends have come to regard the possibilities of the case as at least promising.

When the Bachelors' Club was organized the young man was among its enthusiastic supporters and charter members. None spoke more valiantly and fervently for the freedom of man from the designing wiles of husband-hunting woman.

The day after the organization was effected the girl heard that her swain was one of its prime movers, and her frame of mind immediately resolved itself into a throbbing if intangible question mark. She lost no time in hunting the young man up.

What was she to think of his attitude toward her in the light of his membership in a Bachelors' Club? she wanted to know. Could a member and an enthusiastic organizer of such a club consistently entertain matrimonial intentions? If he had grown tired of her why didn't he come out and say so like a man? He was a mean, hateful, tricky creature, and she despised him and never wanted to speak to him again, so there.

The young man sparred for wind and made a stammering and wobbly reply. He felt his vows slipping away from him, and a stern and chilling aloofness toward all feminity seemed no longer such a fine and splendid thing. The girl sniffed and flounced away, leaving a young devotee of celibacy in an agonized frame of mind.

And now the resignation of a prominent member of the club is threatened every minute.

"Billy" Murray at Hill & Shupp's.

An unusually good concert has been arranged for the Hill & Shupp store for Saturday afternoon and night. "Billy" Murray, the well known band concert vocalist, will sing, and Arthur E. Mosher will give selections on the violin.

—From a large assortment offered them, Neuman Brothers have selected a splendid lot of Niagara plums, just the thing for canning and preserving. Their equal is not to be had in the city.

FIFTY MILES BY AUTO TO REACH HIS DESK

IN ADDITION MR. SAVAGE RIDES TWENTY-FOUR MORE BY TRAIN.

Frang Savage, a prominent New York broker, and intimate friend of former Mayor Alex. Gilbert, of West Eighth street, who is spending the summer at Elberon, has adopted a novel and healthful manner of commuting to New York. Mr. Savage is the owner of a fine big Mercedes automobile of considerable horse-power and early in the season he decided to make the machine profitable to him and his friends.

As a result he makes the trip from Elberon to Plainfield every morning, where he boards the 8:30 club-car train to the city. Mr. Savage leaves his home every morning at 6:15, stops to pick up a couple of neighbors, who are also in business in New York, and then makes the run to this city, a distance of fifty miles. The usual time allowed for the trip is two hours, but occasionally it is made in less. This morning the party was ten minutes late in leaving home, but arrived at the North Avenue station on time, 8:15, the trip being made in one hour and fifty minutes.

Mr. Savage is an enthusiastic automobilist and outside of business hours spends most of his time in travelling about the country. He does not mind or tire of the daily morning trip, but on the contrary says that it is delightful and refreshing.

Hurt at Tennis Tournament.

A distressing mishap occurred to J. W. Goddard, of the Plainfield Country Club, in his match with E. H. Frank, Jr., of the Bergen Point Lawn Tennis Club, at the Elizabeth tournament yesterday. In the first set, when Goddard was leading, five games to four, his shoe caught on the turf when he was going after the ball and he turned his left ankle so as to inflict a severe sprain. He was obliged to discontinue play at once, and Dr. Bailey, of Elizabeth, was summoned to attend him at the club house.

Three-Dollar Reminder.

Charles Gorman, a young machinist, was arraigned in the city court this morning under a charge of helpless drunkenness. He has been arrested on the same charge twice before this year, and Judge Runyon fined him $3 as a reminder that judicial mercy to the frequent jagist is not everlasting.

WIFE SAVED HIM.

She Needs His Support, So Judge Releases Colored Brute.

Taylor Cooper, colored, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning charged with beating and abusing his wife. He acknowledged striking her, and she testified that he gave her no more money than was absolutely necessary to run the house.

"Cooper, I would like to send you to jail," said the magistrate, "but the condition in which your wife is makes you necessary to her support. You are nothing but a big brute, and I'll hang sixty days in jail over your head. If you are brought here again on this charge I will send you down the line."

A. W. MOORE QUESTIONS LIMITED FRANCHISES

LOCAL PROPERTY OWNER SENDS OPEN LETTER TO ASSEMBLYMAN COLBY.

A. W. Moore, who until recently was the head of an extensive jewelry manufacturing company in Newark, and who is now the president of the Home and Investment Building Company, of the same city, on August 24 wrote the following letter to Assemblyman Everett Colby, who is now making an independent campaign for the nomination for State Senator in Essex county:

"Dear Sir: Your campaign being conducted in such a creditable manner and your frequent invitations to free discussion of the principles involved encourage me to submit the following conditions to you. I own eighty acres of land, with a long front in Plainfield avenue, which runs from Plainfield to South Plainfield. This is a very fine macadamized avenue, but my property is worth no more now than it was fifty years ago. In connection with other interested property owners I have for some time been trying to get Public Service to run the trolley line along Plainfield avenue, but have not been successful. There is a cash price at which I would gladly sell my property, but would refuse three times the amount if trolley service was there. I am not only anxious to give Public Service an unlimited franchise, but would guarantee to build not fewer than ten houses on my land, within one year, if they would run the trolley past it. Now, if we could thrust this "valuable franchise" upon Public Service, my property would be much more valuable, the municipality would be able to collect several times the present amount of taxes, beautiful sites for homes would be made accessible, and I would like to know who, according to your theory, would be injured? In view of the present conditions of our politics, it is not likely that a man of your intelligence would advocate municipal ownership, so what remedy would you suggest in place of unlimited franchise? I am not acquainted with Thomas N. McCarter, have no 'political aspirations,' and have no more interest in Public Service than has the general traveling public or the property owners who desire their service. With much respect, I am, your truly.

"ARTHUR W. MOORE."

Referring to the above letter, to which he had not as yet received a reply, Mr. Moore said:

"My open letter to Mr. Colby states facts that many suburban property owners can appreciate, and the impression is growing that Mr. Colby had pounced upon this temporary cry of 'limited franchises' just to attract the workingman's vote, and that he has no serious confidence in it himself, for his business judgment must show him the fallacy of it, and there is no doubt that when he examines this subject carefully he will change his opinion, as he did regarding the bill that he confesses to having voted for without knowing what it was, though afterward, when he found out its purpose, he voted against it."

SNOW PLOW COLLISION.

Winter Recalled By An Accident Near Trenton.

Trenton, Aug. 31.—A collision between a snow plow and a passenger coach on an electric road on the 30th of August would sound like a message from Greenland, yet that is just what happened yesterday afternoon at Mill street and Trenton avenue, Morrisville.

The snow plow, which is used for hauling freight on the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Traction Company's Newtown line, ran into a Philadelphia, Bristol and Trenton Street car just after it crossed the Calhoun street bridge.

The Bristol car was coming toward Trenton and the freight car was coming down the hill. The brakes of the latter would not hold and it crashed into the former with sufficient force to break the handrails and cornerpost.

No one was injured, but the passengers were quite badly frightened for a moment.

PERSONAL.

Sept. 3: "The Abundant Life; How to Get It; How to Use It"—John x, 7-10; Rom. v, 19-21.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

"I came that they may have life, and may have it abundantly."

How long a person may live is a matter of importance, but is not the supreme consideration. What of good comes to one in the passage of the years is the principal thing.

Health of body is greatly to be desired. Vigor and soundness of mind are yet more highly valuable. Above and beyond all this is the spiritual nature of affection and devotion toward mankind and God.

Life is barren of its best harvests when one passes the years of his existence without having had the depths of his nature thrilled by some high and worthy love and all the powers of his nature called into active exertion by resistance to danger or necessity of some sort.

To be placed where the heroic qualities of soul are aroused and some high and worthy deed is performed is recognized by all of us as more satisfactory than to pass one's days on a dull level of easy duty or common gratification of the senses, which never brings consciousness of worth in character and gains no recognition of nobility from others.

The hunger to grow in soul worth and dignity is more imperative than the desire for food or sleep. This is far more than the thirst for recognition by our fellows, more than the wish to be known and famous merely. It is a craving for the fullness of life, for the supreme satisfaction of the whole nature, for the abundant life.

Glimpses of this ideal come at times to most of us when we are young. Some may call these aspirations only visions and empty dreams, but they are the stuff out of which the highest things in human nature are shaped, and woe to him who loses the power of dreaming these ideal things and shaping in the inner chambers of his soul forms more beauteous and perfect than his eyes have ever seen.

Whoever has reached the place where he longs for nothing beyond his present condition, who feels no spirit of noble discontent within, has ceased to grow. He has not exhausted the possibilities in the world of being, but he has exhausted his own possibilities of advancement. He has all he can get.

For the life possible for us is as wide as the universe and as deep as the nature of Deity. We may have sickness for a time. What of it? By it we may learn of patience, tenderness and a whole world of fact worth knowing, but which without it we could never know. Every incident and experience which comes to us bears something of value in the making of manhood if we will use it rightly.

How shall we get the abundant life? We must first recognize that there is such a life and that we can live it if we will. We must then by comparison with all other modes of living come to recognize it as the most desirable for us. It is altogether too common for folks to have a vague idea that it is in some way quite right and the really proper thing, of course, to do right and be good, but, then, it is so difficult and hardly to be expected of the ordinary person that he should seriously apply himself to any such achievement. This cuts the nerve of all endeavor. No deed of worth, no character of value, was ever yawned into being with a wish. To enter into life will take all your strength and resolution. If you ever know the abundant life within it will be because you have desired it above all other things, with an intense desire that is stronger than all other appetites and passions and will not be swerved from its aim.

It is certain that many, perhaps the most, of people have not clearly conceived that there is for them any such satisfaction in living as this abundant life promises to those who attain it, but the New Testament is full of this very thing. Jesus announces it as his purpose in coming into the world to bring this abundance within reach of every one. John understood the Master and entered into the experience of the fuller life by his loving confidence in Jesus. Paul speaks of the same matter and sees in the different abilities given men the intention of God to provide for the full development of all possible powers of manhood until we all come to the fullness of the measure of the stature of Christ Jesus. Peter agrees with John and Paul in his estimate of the meaning of this life we are now living.

Sentence Sermons.

Nowhere do souls sour quicker than in an icebox church.—Henry F. Cope.

It will starve any poor soul to death to feed upon the faults of others.—Jared Paterson.

I believe more follies are committed out of complaisance to the world than in following our own inclinations.—Lady Mary Montague.

Thank God that good women are born with greater souls for trial than men; that given once an anchor for their hearts they hold until the cables break.—Gilbert Parker.

The most valuable result of education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you ought to do when it ought to be done, whether you like to do it or not.—Huxley.

Christianity wants nothing so much in the world as sunny people, and the old are hungrier for love than for bread, and the oil of joy is very cheap, and if you can help the poor on with a garment of praise it will be better for them than blankets.—Henry Drummond.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 3.

By REV. S. B. DOYLE.

Topic.—The abundant life. How get it? How use it? (Consecration meeting.)

Christianity is a life. It is not simply a religious creed or a set of ethical laws, but the life of Christ in the heart and life of the believer in Christ. No one can become a Christian by subscribing to a code of ethics or by an intellectual acceptance of certain theological doctrines. The Christian is born again; the inward living principle of his life is changed. Christ testifies to this fact when He says, "I am come that they might have life," and Paul says, "I am crucified with Christ, and it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me, and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me." A Christian has well been defined as "one whose soul is in living touch and contact with the Lord Jesus Christ." Christianity necessarily involves ethics and doctrines, but these do not make the Christian. One is a Christian only when he has received the life of Christ within himself, and, as a result of the coming in of this new living principle, the life of self, of sin and of worldiness has been crushed out.

Christianity is not only a life, but an abundant life. "I am come," says Christ, "that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." Spiritual life existed before Christ came, but He came to give it to men and more abundantly than they had ever possessed it before. "Moreover," says Paul, "the law entered that the offense might abound, but where sin abounded grace did much more abound." Life and grace are therefore abundant. God has made more than ample provision for our spiritual wants, as He has for our physical wants. Life is more abundant than we need. Grace abounds. We have it now. "He that hath the Son hath life." It also extends throughout eternity. It is "eternal life." It more than meets the needs of our spiritual natures. Through it we can come off more than conquerors over sin and can live lives that will be acceptable to God. Moreover, there is sufficient for all men. None need be without life because there is a lack of life. There is no lack. Christ can save all and dwell in all if they will accept Him by faith and consecrate their lives to Him.

The life principle of Christianity is a gift of God through faith in Christ. The Holy Spirit in answer to expressed desire, based upon faith, changes the human heart. He convicts us of sin, enlightens our minds, renews our wills and persuades us to accept Christ as He is freely offered to us in the gospel. And when life abounds in us we are to impart it to others. "If Jesus has found you, tell others the story." They need Him. Therefore let the life of Christ which is in you so manifest itself that it may touch the lives of others that they may receive life and may receive it more abundantly.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. xvi, 11; xxx, 5; cxxxiii, 1-3; Prov. viii, 32-36; John i, 1-4; v, 24-27; 39, 40; vi, 47, 48; xiv, 1-6; Gal. ii, 20; I John v, 10-15; Rev. ii, 10.

An Australian Idea.

The following suggestion taken from the Australian Golden Link is in point whenever, as often happens, the Christian Endeavor topic deals with the happiness of religion, or it may be substituted for one of the regular topics. In order to get every one to look on the joy side of Christian service announce that the song service will consist of the most joyful songs in the book suggested by the members, to be followed by a season of joyful prayer, all thanksgiving and praise, and joyous testimonies, each one telling the brightest experience in his whole Christian life. Pass around slips of paper, on which invite the members to write the most joyful Christian word of which they can think with one reason for thinking it so. Give two minutes for free expressions as to how we may show our joy in service, in face, tone, touch, manner. Give another period to having named some of the chief joys to which we look forward in Christ's service in this life and the life to come.

The Society of Spiritual Exercise.

Almost everything else within the work of the church is for instruction, but the Christian Endeavor society stands unique and almost alone upon the platform of training by service for larger service. It is the society of the givers and not of the getters, the society of spiritual exercise, the society of doers of the word and not hearers only. If I know anything about the history of the past four and twenty years, this is the idea that has assured the blessing of God, that has multiplied that first society sixty-thousand-fold, that has sent it into all the world with its message of constant service and service for all.—Dr. Francis E. Clark in Christian Endeavor World.

The Society's Needs.

Christian Endeavor needs those who, after having taken the pledge thoughtfully and prayerfully, will throw their best efforts into the prayer meeting and all work of the society, unsatisfied until they have done all and more than has been promised.—W. F. Rea, President Fourth District, New York City.

Christian Endeavor.

Must meet the world's great need;
Not impulse fair and futile,
But swift, entreating deed.

Not prayer alone of longing,
But prayer in action wrought;
Not dreaming, but endeavor,
With blessed fruit is fraught.

—Edith H. Kinney in Louisiana Messenger.

"In behalf of your proprietary article called AZIENZA CREAM, as a remedy for diseases of the skin, I desire to add my appreciation of its wonderful properties as a cure in a case of Bone Tumor or Abscess of five years growth on my husband's back, which I have cured in less than five weeks time by constant application, and now it is as well as any part of his body. It was cut out once by a specialist and had again grown to a large size, was as hard as a bone and of a very dark purple color. The AZIENZA at once allayed the pain and began to soften it, and in less than eight days, by my pressure upon it, suddenly to my surprise it discharged a quantity of pus, impregnated with a hard, cheesy substance. I kept it open and cleansed it as it discharged and every day would dress it with a plaster of AZIENZA CREAM, until it was entirely healed up. I cannot speak too highly of AZIENZA CREAM and its merits. For inquiry regarding this case you may apply Mr. and Mrs. James, Embury Ave., care Hiller, Ocean Grove, N. J. FOR THE GENTLER SEX

IT PAYS TO BE KIND.

Cultivate kindness of heart; think well of your fellowmen; look with charity upon the shortcomings in their lives; do a good turn for them as the opportunity offers; and, finally, don't forget the kind word at the right time.

How much a word of kindness, encouragement or appreciation means to others, sometimes, and how little it costs us to give it.

We do not need to wait for some special occasion. When calamity overtakes a friend, words of sympathy and encouragement are offered sincerely enough, yet in certain respects, as a matter of course. Such an occasion calls for expression on our part, and we naturally respond. But why wait for an occasion? Why not speak the kind word when there is no special occasion?

In the course of our lives there must be many times when thoughtless words are spoken by us which wound the hearts of others. And there are also many little occasions when the word of cheer is needed from us, and we are silent.

There are lives of wearisome monotony which a word of kindness can relieve. There is suffering which words of sympathy can make more endurable. And often, even in the midst of wealth and luxury, there are those who listen and long in vain for some expression of disinterested kindness.

Speak to those while they can hear and be helped by you, for the day may come when all our expressions of love and appreciation may be unheard. Imagine yourself standing beside their last resting place. Think of the things you could have said of them, and to them, while they were yet living. Then go and tell them now.

THE MATCHMAKER.

The matchmaking mother is becoming more and more prominent in our Eastern States, to the horror of all marriageable daughters. Nothing is shunned and objected to more strenuously by the modest girl than to see her mother "a-hunting go."

In Europe this practice is customary and is thought nothing of. In fact there are men whole sole business it is to arrange marriages. The girl has little or nothing to say. It is arranged between mother and the would-be suitor. The girl yields graciously, most generally.

In our country this practice has not gained such prominence and is usually an arrangement between the young people. Matchmaking mothers are the horror of all young people, but the tactless matchmaker is a person to flee from. When a man is conscious of being run after, he doubles his pace and runs the harder in the opposite direction. Nothing is so distasteful to him as to know he is sought. One of the tragedies in life is trying to get the things you can't have. As soon as you find the thing you prized most fairly hurled at you, you cease to prize it, and no longer want it.

The girl who is sought for most by men is the one who tempts and then flees. If matchmaking mothers would make their homes attractive and pleasing, treat the man as a friend, and make no apparent attempt at matchmaking, they would accomplish their object more readily. The daughters are usually able to bring about their matrimonial affairs.

TROUBLE STORIES ABOUT WOMEN.

Harrison county, Kentucky, comes to the front with perhaps the most prolific family in the State. Mrs. E. W. Walden, who recently gave birth to twin girl babies, has three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Haley, Mrs. Eli Miller and Mrs. B. Haley, who are each the proud mothers of twins.

The people of Marion, Ind., are in a panic over a prediction of a woman that the city soon is to be destroyed. Hundreds of families are leaving. Some months ago she predicted there would be a great change in Marion in respect to crime, and since then forty saloons have been closed, all gamblers have been run out of the place, and poolrooms are shut. She says she does not know in what form the disaster will come, but she has been warned by signs in the sky that it may come at any moment.

A woman walking along serenely unconscious of the fact that her fine spring hat was on fire attracted the attention of a brakeman on the Terminal Railroad at Allentown, Pa. He tore the piece of millinery from her head and then apologized. The hat had been set on fire by a spark from a nearby smokestack.

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1904, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company).

"N—no."

"Clever fellow. You ought to. Perhaps you don't recognize him under that name. On the bills he's Prof. Haughwout. Stage people have so many names, you know."

"Yes, so have—some other people."

I laughed, and he grinned back at me.

"Now, that's mean of you," I said; "I never had but one. It was all I needed."

It flashed through me then what a thing like this might do to a name. You know, Mag, every bit of recognition an actress steals from the world is so much capital. It isn't like the old graft when you had to begin new every time you took up a piece of work. And your name—the name the world knows—and its knowing it makes it worth having like everything—that name is the sum of every scheme you've planned, of every time you've got away with the goods, of every laugh you've lifted, of every bit of cleverness you've thought out and embodied, of everything that's in you, of everything you are.

But I didn't dare think long of this. I turned to him.

"Tell me about this charge," I said. "Where was the purse? Whose was it? And why haven't they missed it till after a week?"

"They missed it all right that night, but Mrs. Gates wanted it kept quiet till the servants had been shadowed and it was positively proved that they hadn't got away with it."

"And then she thought of me?"

"And then she thought of you."

"I wonder why?"

"Because you were the only person in that room except Mrs. Gates, the lady who lost the purse, Mrs. Ramsay, and—eh?"

"N—nothing. Mrs. Ramsay, you said?"

"Not Mrs. Edward Ramsay, of Philadelphia?"

"Oh, you know the name?"

"Oh, yes, I know it."

"It was printed, you know, in gold lettering on the inside flap and—"

"I don't know."

"Well, it was, and it contained $300, Mrs. Ramsay says. She had slipped it under the fold of the spread at the top of the bed in the room where you took off your things in Mrs. Gates' presence, and put them on again when no one else was there."

"And you mean to tell me that this is all?" I raged at him; "that every bit of evidence you have to warrant your treating an innocent girl like—"

"You didn't behave like a very innocent girl, if you'll remember," he said, dryly, "when I first came into the box. In fact, if that fellow hadn't just come in then I believe you'd 'a' confessed the whole job. . . . 'Tain't too late," he added.

I didn't answer. I put my head back against the cushions and closed my eyes. I could feel the scrutiny of his blue eyes on my naked face—your face is so unprotected with the eyes closed; like a fort whose battery is withdrawn. But I was tired—it tires you when you care. A year ago, Mag, this sort of thing—the risk, the nearness to danger, the chances one way or the other—would have intoxicated me. I used to feel as though I was dancing on a volcano and daring it to explode. The more twistings and turnings there were to the labyrinth, the greater glory it was to get out. Maggie, darlin', you have before you a mournful spectacle—the degeneration of Nancy Olden. It isn't that she's lost courage. It's only that she used to be able to think of only one thing, and now—. What do you suppose it is, Mag? If you know, don't you dare to tell me.

When we got to the flat Obermuller was already there. At the door I pulled out my key and opened it with a flourish.

"Won't you come in, gentlemen, and spend the evening?" I asked.

They followed me in. First to the parlor. The two fellows threw off their coats and searched that through and through—not a drawer did they miss, not a bit of furniture did they fail to move. Obermuller and I sat there guying them as they pried about in their shirt-sleeves. That Trust business has taken the life out of him of late. All their tricks, all their squeezings, their cheatings, their bossing and bragging and bullying have got on to his nerves till he looks like a chained bear getting a drubbing. And he swears that they're in a conspiracy to freeze him and a few others like him out; he believes there's actually a paper in existence that would prove it. But this affair of the purse seemed to excite him till he behaved like a bad schoolboy.

And I? Well, Nance Olden was never far behind at the Cruelty when there was anything going on. We trailed after them, and when they'd finished with the bedrooms—yours and mine—I asked the big fellow to come into the kitchen with Mr. O—and me, while the blue-eyed detective tackled the dining-room, and I'd get up a lunch for us all.

Mag, you should have seen Fred Obermuller with a big apron on him, dressing the salad while I was making sandwiches. The Cruelty taught me how to cook, even if it did teach me other things. You wouldn't have believed that the Trust had got him by the throat, and was choking the last breath out of him. You wouldn't have believed that our salaries hadn't been paid for three weeks, that our houses were dwindling every night, that—

I was thinking about it all there in the back of my head, trying to see a way out of it—you know if there is such an agreement as Obermuller swears there is, it's against the law—while we rattled on, the two of us, like a couple of children on a picnic, when I heard a crash behind me.

The salad bowl had slipped from Obermuller's fingers. He stood with his back turned to me, his eyes fixed upon that searching detective.

But he wasn't searching any more, Mag. He was standing still as a pointer that's scented game. He had moved the lounge out from the wall, and there on the floor, spread open where it had fallen, lay a handsome elephant-skin purse, with gold corners. From where I stood, Mag, I could read the plain gold lettering on the dark leather. I didn't have to move. It was plain enough—quite plain.

MRS. EDWARD RAMSAY.

Hush, hush, Mag; if you take on so, how can I tell you the rest?

Obermuller got in front of me, as I started to walk into the dining-room. I don't know what his idea was. I don't suppose he does exactly—if it wasn't to spare me the sight of that damned thing.

Oh how I hated it, that purse! I hated it as if it had been something alive that could be glad of what it had done. I wished it was alive that I could tear and rend it and stamp on it and throw it in a fire, and drag it out again, with burned and bleeding nails, to tear it again and again. I wanted to fall on it and hide it; to push it far, far away out of sight; to stamp it down—down into the very bottom of the earth, where it could feel the hell it was making for me.

But I only stood there, stupidly looking at it, having pushed past Obermuller, as though I never wanted to see anything else.

And then I heard that blue-eyed fellow's words.

"Well," he said, pulling on his coat as though he'd done a good day's work, "I guess you'd just better come along with me."

BRIEF CHRONOLOGY OF THE RUSSIAN-JAP WAR

RUSSIA NEVER WON A VICTORY IN THE CONFLICT.

Feb. 7—Japan occupies Masampo, Korea.
Feb. 8-9—Togo cripples the Russian fleet at Port Arthur. Uriu destroys the Variag and Korietz at Chemulpo.
May 1—Kuroki crosses the Yalu, defeating Zassalitch.
May 3—Togo reports he has "bottled" the Port Arthur harbor.
May 5—Oku lands at Pitsewo to isolate Port Arthur.
May 26-27—Oku takes Nan Shan Hill, the first of Port Arthur's defenses.
June 14-15—Oku crushingly defeats Stakelberg at Vafangow, and Nogi's army lands about the same time to invest Port Arthur.
July 4—Count Keller loses 1,000 men at Motien Pass.
July 9—Oku occupies Kaiping.
July 26-30—Japanese take Wolf Hill, at Port Arthur, opening the way for a general assault.
July 31—Oku, Nodzu and Kuroki advance, driving the Russians to the outer line of defenses surrounding Liao Yang.
Aug. 10—Rear Admiral Withoft, who makes a sortie with the Port Arthur fleet, is killed, and his fleet is scattered and damaged, most of the vessels returning to Port Arthur.
Aug. 14—Vice-Admiral Kamimura defeats the Vladivostok squadron, sinking the armored cruiser Rurik.
Aug. 19-24—Nogi makes the first general assault on Port Arthur, losing 14,000 men.
Aug. 30-Sept. 5—Battle of Liao-Yang is fought, the Japanese capturing the town.
Sept. 19-21—Nogi makes a terrific assault on Port Arthur, capturing Fort Kuropatkin, which commands the water works.

POSTAL CARD LAW MAY BE REPEALED

ITS FLAGRANT VIOLATION BEING TAKEN UP BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31—So flagrant and general have become the violations of the postal laws by the improper use of the post cards, that high postoffice department officials are in favor of a repeal of the law, passed two years ago, providing for the post cards.

The violations arise from the sending through the mails of post cards upon which are pictures or language of an indecent character.

The authorities are finding it most difficult to stop the nuisance. Postmasters all over the country are confiscating the cards and every week the dead letter office destroys several bags of them.

Postoffice inspectors are being assigned to various cases in hopes of prosecuting the senders. They are hampered in this, however, by the fact that the sender rarely signs the name.

The department is considering the appealing to municipal authorities to stop the sale of the cards. In the large cities and popular summer resorts the cards are on display, where certain magazines not nearly so offensive are excluded from exhibition.

Should no other remedy be found, it is possible that a recommendation will be made to Congress to repeal the post card law.

TENNIS.

Entries in the junior mixed doubles of the Plainfield Country Club, which begin on Tuesday, September 5, at 10 a. m., will close with T. M. Day, Jr., chairman of the tennis committee, on Monday, September 4. Last year the play in this tourney was fast and well contested, and as most of the same contestants are again entered, some excellent play may be looked for. Boys and girls under eighteen years of age are eligible to enter. Handsome cups have been presented by Henry L. Hall, so that interest ought to be stimulated. A club tournament in women's singles for the championship of the Plainfield Country Club will begin on Thursday, September 7, at 2:30 p. m. A cup for the winner has been presented by Henry A. McGee, and the club will also give a cup to the runner up. Entries close with Miss Sarah Schuyler, 316 East Seventh street, Wednesday, September 6, at 6 p. m. Several excellent women players are members of the club and some fine exhibitions of the game may be expected.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Summit fans are getting that "chesty" feeling and are already predicting victory in the coming series of three games. The team will be accompanied by a big crowd of rooters, who will have plenty of money to back their aggregation.

SUNDAY AT THE HOME.

Special Programme Arranged for the Last Meeting of the Season.

The committee on religious work for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, composed of Miss Florence Hawkins, chairman; Miss Ella Benedict and George E. Hall, met Tuesday evening to plan for the final meeting of the season, on Sunday. George E. Hall, one of the most devoted workers in the interests of the Home, will be in charge.

The programme will be unusually long and elaborate, starting with several talks by close followers of the work. Reports regarding the work throughout the season will be made by the chairmen of the various committees. Vocal and cornet solos, as well as music by a male quartette from Elizabeth, will be rendered. Everyone is urged to attend as this will be the last meeting this year.

Death of Mrs. Winn.

Mrs. Ella N. Winn, wife of Charles R. Winn, aged twenty-nine years, died last night at her home in Linden avenue, following a long illness, which terminated in tuberculosis of the bowels. Mrs. Winn was born at Quakertown, Pa., and was married there ten years ago. She is survived by a husband and two children. The funeralservices will be held from the late home Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and the interment will be at Millington. Rev. Edward Love will have charge of the services.

Camp Children Entertained.

The children of the Netherwood Home spent one of the most enjoyable evenings of the season on Tuesday. G. E. Hall entertained the mothers and children with tricks and games. As this was the last meeting of the season over which he will have full charge, he provided candy and souvenirs for all.

LA VERE'S BIG PROGRAM

FOUR SOLOISTS

The programme arranged by Leader Ben LaVere for his band concert and pyrotechnic display tomorrow night is one that will bring joy to the Plainfielders who have attended the series during the summer. It will eclipse anything of a similar nature yet held in the city, or, as the circus men would put it, "bigger, better and grander than ever."

The affair is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock, and it will continue without any waits until at least 10:30. For the musical part, the band men will play nearly all new selections and there are to be four soloists, "Billy" Murray, who will do a double turn; Eddie Weston, Nick Parker and Louis Anderson. All are to introduce new selections. It was originally planned to have "Billy" Redmond attend also, but word was received from him today that he preferred to have "Billy" Murray do two turns, because of his popularity in Plainfield.

Experts from New York are to have charge of the fireworks, and they will be set off between the concert numbers. There are to be eighteen set pieces and double that number of aerial rockets. The bombs are to be fewer in number, as the terrific detonations were not enjoyed by many of the spectators at the exhibition two weeks ago.

The coming affair is being undertaken by Mr. LaVere at his own expense, and should his receipts even cover expenses he will conduct one or two more before the season closes. Owing to the increased cost of fireworks, the admission to the grandstand is to be increased to twenty-five cents. Camp chairs are to be placed in front of the stand, so that nearly everyone who attends will be sure of a seat.

The concert programme is to be as follows:

March—Pride of the Baritone. King

Overture—Morning, Noon and Night. Suppe

Vocal Solo—(a) Starlight. Madden-Morse
(b) Yankee Irish Girl. Morse
Eddie Weston.

Medley—Frost on the Pumpkin. Von Tilzer

Cornet Solo—Tramp, Tramp, Tramp. Rollinson
L. R. Anderson.

(a) The Circus Parade. E. T. Paull
(b) Happy Heine. Lampe

Vocal Solo—(a) Happy-go-Lucky Is the Way to Be. Silver
(b) Yankee Doodle Boy. Geo. Cohan

Selection—The Star. O'Hare

Vocal Solo—(a) Vacation Time. Von Tilzer
(b) Every Little Bit Helps. Von Tilzer
Nick Parker.

Hunting Scene. (By request).

Vocal Solo—(a) You Must Think I'm Santa Claus. Silver
(b) Give My Regards to Broadway. Cohan

SMALLEY A CANDIDATE

The two outgoing councilmen are Mr. Humble and Mr. Arnold. The latter, who is an ardent supporter of the regular organization, was urged to accept a renomination, but steadfastly refused. Mr. Humble was elected on the Citizens' ticket to fill out an unexpired term. Both the new candidates for the nomination are young men. They are the sons of men who have been prominent in borough affairs for years, and their names are familiar to every resident of North Plainfield.

Those who made up the conference want it understood that there has been no attempt to "make a slate" or to force a ticket upon the party. It was necessary that somebody be named for the offices, and when they saw the time for nominations dwindling away without signs of positive action, they, as citizens interested in their community and their party, felt that it was time they did something to inject a degree of positiveness in the situation.

Men who are posted on borough politics say that this year offers the Republicans a clear and unimpeded path to victory. Harmony, so ardently talked of without avail last year, has become an accomplished fact so far as the great majority of the organization members goes. Annexation is a dead issue, and "Smalleyism" has been shorn of reproach. Men like Charles W. McCutchen, who was a strong and prominent opponent of annexation, are saying now that the best man for the mayoralty is Mr. Smalley. When Mr. McCutchen was approached on the subject of the nomination himself, he said then that Smalley was the one man, and personally urged the mayor to run again. He assured him that he would work for him and do all in his power to ensure his re-election. Practically the only unharmonized Republicans are a few men who want office or patronage.

The prospects of a Citizens' ticket are so slim as to be almost unworthy of consideration, according to one man who has studied the situation.

"I doubt if the disaffected ones could marshal 100 Republican votes. They are very weak. They never were strong in the Republican ranks, and the refusal of the Democrats to mix has about killed them."

It was stated authoritatively this noon that Mayor Smalley's candidacy would receive the support of the leading members of the Citizens' Association, which was organized during the annexation fight.
